Six Compete For Homecoming Crown

All Classes Represented in Contest; Freshman Choice Ineligible for Title

By DON BERNHARDT

Beauties boasting the colors of seven different campus affiliations have been nominated for Homecoming Football Queen.

The lovely lady that wins the gridiron crown also wins the privilege to reign over a gala parade to Reitz Bowl, the annual football coronation at halftime of the Valparaiso encounted next Friday and a unique Homecoming ball in the Student Union Building. Voting will be conducted in the Union Building.

The attractive candidates are: Ethel Hamilton, of Beta Sigma Omicron; Billie Jo Inglis, of the Independent Student Association; Imogene Merritt, backed by Alpha Kappa Alpha; Joanne Moore, the Frosh class selection; Carolyn Murray, Chi Omega's hope; Douglass Rowe, of Alpha Omicron Pi, and the Phi Mu contestant, Suzette Spiegel.

Beauties Seek Football Throne

One of the above beauties will be elected Homecoming Queen by the student body next Friday. Pictured in front of the Union Building are: Joann Moore, Susie Spiegel, Douglass Rowe, Imogene Merritt, Billie Inglis, Ethel Hamilton, and Carolyn Murray. Joann, Gama Delta representative, will not be eligible for the queens crown but will be included in the court.

Former Contender

For the second time is as many seasons, Miss Hamilton is going after the royal position. The diminutive brunette was a candidate for both Homecoming and Basketball Queen last year. She also ranks highly in scholastic achievements and serves the student council as chairman of the Fine Arts committee.

Nursing is the foremost interest of Miss Inglis and much of her professional and social life revolves around it. The tall blond is a graduate of the Deaconess nursing program and a hospital employee besides working as EC's medical administrator.

Miss Merritt, better known as "Jeanie," is a junior physical education major. She is president of her sorority, AKA, vice-president of Women's Athletic Association, treasurer of Alpha Phi Delta and a member of the Homecoming committee.

Central Queen

Miss Moore, Central High School's 1951 football queen and secretary of the Freshman class is the only candidate who cannot ascend the throne. (Frosh are ineligible for the title.) Miss Moore has black hair, brown eyes, stands 5'7" and weighs a trim 123 pounds.

A petite blond with big blue eyes, Miss Murray, hopes to keep the pigskin honor with the Chi O's. Miss Murray, a member of the Dean's List, was a majorette last season and is active in Thespian and Philharmonic work.

Miss Rowe, a senior music major, last spring was elected Honorary Lieutenant Colonel of the ROTC. "Doug" is corresponding secretary of her sorority, a member of the choir, the Dean's List and a piano teacher with 17 pupils.

French named Suzette Spiegel is a tall strawberry blond. She is president of the Newman Club, pledge director of the Phi Mu's, chairman of the social committee of the Union Board and plans to teach elementary school.

Mum's the Word

Mum will again be the word for Homecoming. An EC Mum is a large white chrysanthemum with a purple ribbon and purple "E" in the center. They will be worn for corsages at the dance and go on sale at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

They are priced at 75 cents and the small profit from sales will be used in helping Union Board members attend conferences of the Association of College Unions.

Rapid Turnnover

Naturally, every school newspaper experiences a rapid turnover in personnel each year when compared to the uptown and round-state publications, but we feel that we outdid a school paper this time.

When last year's editor, Marv Fox, put out his last Crescent last spring, and turned the job over to Ralph Weber, present editor, the man behind the men behind the typewriters, the faculty adviser, i.e., was John Allen Boyd.

He had had a "Boyd's-Eye" view of the Crescent for five years when he resigned to accept a position at Indiana State Teacher's College in Terre Haute. Mr. Boyd's resignation left the Crescent without an adviser and the college without a professor of journalism.

But not for long. Harold VanWinkle, director of public relations for the college, and Emmy Seegmueller teamed up and have assumed Mr. Boyd's journalistic duties here. Mr. VanWinkle comes to us with a wealth of weekly as well as daily newspaper experience. Miss Seegmueller is a 1952 graduate of Evansville College and a former columnist and reporter for the Evansville Press. Mr. Boyd's shoes have been amply filled.

We who worked with Mr. Boyd will miss that easy-going, dry-witted, intelligent young man, but at the same time we wish him the best of luck at State.

Rah, Rah, Rah— But Louder

Ever listen to one of the Big Ten football games that are broadcast on Saturday afternoons? Ever listen to broadcasts of city high school games?

If you have, you have also heard the tense excitement that is prevalent at the scene of action. This is usually called spirit.

It may be team, school, or individual spirit, but it is there and it is being hard.

Now to our own situation here at the college. Most of us all agree that something is missing. That something is called spirit.

Many people think that they are too old or too educated to show a little enthusiam for their alma mater and its team. But have these people taken the time to realize that the members of the teams are the same age as those who sit in their easy chair in the living room to listen because "it takes less energy."

Several years ago the Purple Pepper Pods organized some first-class yelling. After the first year the interest died in that group and nothing has been done since.

We need to re-light the flame under our burners and be proud of our defeats as well as victories in the field of sports.

A Loss To All

Sharon Hurst and Mary Nell Ringham, both students here last spring, left this world of ours for another during the summer. Nell, as she was known by friends, was not a full-time student, attending classes during the early part of the day and holding down a job in the evening.

Consequently, she was probably not as well known on campus as Sharon, who was active on campus committees and one of the more frequent visitors of the Union Building. Both girls were graduated from Bosse High School and Sharon came here on academic scholarship.

To say that they will be missed is probably an understatement; in fact, anything we mortals say about Death has a way of sounding trite and meaningless, no matter how we say it.

But one thing we do know: no matter whether you knew them or not, the loss that is so great to the families of these two girls is also a great loss to the college.

Help Wanted, Male or Female

The Evansville Chapter of the American Red Cross is recruiting 150 new volunteer workers to expand its services in Evansville and Vanderburgh County. Volunteers may contribute as much time as they are able, either on regular schedule or special assignment.

Here's your chance to do something that is as interesting as it is helpful in an organization that has played many a vital role in serving the people of the world. Give them a buzz or drop them a line and find out what you can do to help.

Complete details may be had by visiting or telephoning the Red Cross Chapter House, First and Cherry Streets — phone number 5-3341.

A Pat On The Back

Three or four years ago our parking lot was in a deplorable condition and until just recently the improvements had been only temporary in nature. One winter it was so bad that students threatened to cut classes in order to fish in some of the deep holes resultant from the winter weather.

Probably no one complained about it more than the Crescent, so just for the record, we want to express our appreciation to the administration for correcting a long-standing ill. Now we'll have to find something new to complain about.

SGA President Previews Program

By RALPH WEBER
President, S.G.A.

First of all, I would like for each and every one of you to take a gander at the story on student committee appointment on page one of this issue of The Crescent. A pretty strong line-up, eh? We think so too.

By we I mean Billie Jean Miller, Ed Fly, and myself. Billie Jean is your Student Association treasurer and Ed is the veep. We had a secretary, Mrs. Jeanette Yates Covington, but she decided to become a homemaker and consequently won't be with us this year. A special election will be held for that office shortly after the furor connected with the upcoming class elections and Homecoming activities has died away.

And speaking of Homecoming, it's just next week you know, so check the schedule on that and plan to take it all in. Rog Shanner, chairman of the Homecoming Day committee, has things shaping up fine for the occasion and it should be one of the best yet.

Although we plan to keep in close touch with the student body throughout the school year via The Crescent as well as the S.G.A. Bulletins, I would like to briefly mention some of the things we are planning for now which we hope will benefit you later in the schiol year.

First of all, athletics committee chairman Bob Haug, plans to give the on-again-off-again intramural sports program a much needed shot in the arm. Most of you have become acquainted with Bob watching him perform as a yell leader for the past couple of years.

He's hung up his megaphone this season to devote more time to other duties, so give Bob your support and we'll all have a good time with intramurals.

Next, we would like to awaken the dormant school spirit from its lethargic state and convert the student body into some eight hundred screaming Ace boosters at every pep rally, football, and basketball game this season. The pep assembly last Friday proved to me that school spirit does exist here — it just hasn't been too much in evidence of late, and you do have a good crew of yell leaders, so let loose and let them hear you.

Also on our program is a plan to explain the students' vs. administration's viewpoints concerning the card playing rules in the Union Building. We'll let you know more about this one later.

Incidentally, this isn't all we plan to do for the year but it'll do for a starter.

Finally, we invite your suggestions, and criticism; this includes any of the committee chairmen as well as the officers, Remember, 800 heads are better than just a few.

You Go Pogo?

Dewig Announces Set Up Of Campus Pogo Club

The quickest way to end a heated political debate over the present presidential campaign is to stand up confidently, smile to the orators and state "I Go Pogo." Immediately all indignation ceases and an intelligent discourse on the latest capers of this swampland refugee is begun.

Most of the true Pogo fans have found ready sympathisers in the newly formed "I is a Pogo fan" club on campus. The club is being sponsored by the journalism department with headquarters in the office building.

Officers for the club will be elected at the first meeting of the club. This meeting will be Oct. 17 at 10 a.m. in the Crescent office, announced Paul Dewig, noted Pogo authority.

"Walt Kelly, creator of the comic strip, will frequent the campus and talk to the members of the club," said Mr. Dewig. "Anyone wishing to join the club may do so by dropping in at the Crescent or LinC office and signing the register," he continued.

Student Jobs Listed By Placement Bureau

All students are urged to utilize the services of the placement bureau for either full or part-time work, it was announced Monday by Everette Walker, director of student personnel services.

The bureau, which is located in Room 108 of the Administration Building, is now accepting applications for "on call" jobs. These include such jobs as yard work, baby sitting, and other odd jobs.

Job lists are posted daily on the bulletin board in the first floor of the Administration Building and also on the bulletin board in the placement bureau.

Further information may be obtained concerning jobs and applications by visiting the placement bureau office.

Ike And Adlai Stump Evansville

By FERMAN LANE

Last week, presidential candidates Dwight David Eisenhower and Governor Adali Ewing Stevenson, visited Evansville in their bid for the White House.

Thousands of people jammed the streets to hear and see the candidates. Both candidates were accompanied by bus loads of newspaper reporters who were kept busier than the candidates.

While the candidates were speaking the reporters were writing their stories and sending telegrams to their news outlets so the entire nation could be informed of what they said. History was being made and written before our eyes.

If the peoples behind the iron curtain could see only this phase of American life the Kremlin would lose their hold on the subjugated people behind the iron curtain. If they could see the vast crowds, a two party system, and a free press they would never believe the propaganda of the communists.

Anything at All

by Walt Prickett

Walking on campus for a week, I've reached one conclusion: The only thing different I saw was Prof. Moon riding in a postwar car. I couldn't find out if it was his. (To the uninitiated: Prof. Moon took delight in having the oldest running auto on campus.)

Everything else, though was the same. That includes the taste of the coffee in the Wooden Indian – as well as the lined up customers there at noon.

Registration for Journalism class picked up after Emmy Seegmueller (the Pride of Darmstadt) was appointed journalism prof. After all, who could get much inspiration from gazing at John Allen Boyd! No reflection intended, he just wasn't built that way. (Correction, there were two new things on campus, not just one.)

Since school has started, the morning meetings of the Pogo Coffee, Stitch, and Chatter Club has resumed.

Members are under an added handicap this year – walking around with those blanked eyeballs. On campus there is no "Man's Best Friend" to leap to the rescue without regard for self. soul, or the fact you're not supposed to take a bath until Saturday night anyhow. Do you really think Lil' Arf and Nonnie will get across that rapid, widely swelling river? Since that was in last week's strip you should know by now, dumbkopf. (The last word is used in deference to German exchange students on campus who might not undestand certain picturesque phrases common in the Indian.)

I wonder if the short, black-haired girl in the quilted gray skirt ever got registered. She was sooooo very disappointed to find out that line was for the bookstore.

Evelyn Nussmeier tells the one about a redhead (she-type student tall) who ambled into the public relations office and tried to register for evening college.

Freshies will learn – When in the Indian it's better to look around before bouncing up from a table. Hot coffee down the back of the neck may take off the dirt, but it may take off the hide, too.

After listening to Pat Martin describe her feeling when told she has the lead in "Grammercy Ghost," it's obvious why she got the part.

Everybody heard "You Belong To Me" by Jo Stafford (who else?) over the Union juke box last week. But who heard it by Vera Robinson and Joyce Wiggers? (besides me, that is.)

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE IN THE CLASS ELECTIONS!!

McKown Lectures About New Bible

Utilizing the greatest store of material that has ever been at the disposal of scholars who have translated the Bible, Dr. Edgar McKown states that the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible is "Treasures, Old and New."

This was the topic Dean McKown used as he spoke to the residents of Tell City, New Harmony, and Fort Branch on September 28, 29, and 30, respectively. Dr. McKown ,the president of the mid-west section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors, spoke at these communities during their observance of the publication of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

In his talk, Dr. McKown told of the recent discovery of a manuscript of the book of Isaiah which is reputed to have been written approximately 150 B.C.

He also pointed out that many of the translations made by Tindale, prior to the King James version, are used in this new translation. Pointing out further that the new Bible is written in modern English, Dr. McKown concludes tha it is truly "Treasures, Old and New."

Radio Council Operates Station WEVC for Educational Purpose

Prof. James Shutt, director of WEVC, the FM educational voice of Evansville and the Tri-state, announces the establishment of the Radio Council to operate the station for the coming year.

Membership to the council is open to all students regardless of educational background or experience in the radio field, and Mr. Shutt urges all departments, as well as individuals, to use the station to develop ideas for the betterment of the school and the department.

The station is especially attractive to students majoring in journalism because of the close relationship between the two. Journalism majors edit newscasts for the air, and write and direct programs to be broadcast. These opportunities are not for journalists alone, however.

"A sum is taken from the student activity fee to operate the station," stated Mr. Shutt, "and therefore, the station should be used for the betterment of the students. All students are urged to participate."

Students may obtain valuable experience in directing announcing, writing, music, sound effects, engineering, newscasting and sportcasting. Local radio stations have been taking students still in college to work in some of these fields.

The station is associated with the NAEB tape network, which is a division of the American Education Association, and has a range of about a sixty mile radius.

All students interested in any phase of radio work should watch the student bulletin board for announcements or see Mr. Shutt.

Sol H. Esarey Gives Books To Library

Sol H. Esarey, Indianapolis, contributed 1000 books from his private collection to the Evansville College Library this summer.

Mr. Esarey became interested in the library and made his first gift of books in 1920 when the college was located at Moores Hill.

Two outstanding books were chosen for the gift collection by Thomas Harding, head librarian of Evansville College. "The Book of Mormon," published in 1830, and "General William Booth Enters into Heaven and Other Poems," published in 1913, are both first edition copies. The remaining books were more recently published.

Mr. Esarey has spent 60 years gathering the 5000 volumes in his library. It consists mostly of books on legal history, European history, American history, English history, American humor, religion and botany.

The library was started when Mr. Esarey, who was studying law at that time, gained a number of law books. As his interests spread into various other fields, books on these subjects were added to the library.

The late Logan Esarey, who wrote "The Indiana Home" and "History of Indiana from its Exploration to 1922," was Mr. Esarey's brother.

Mrs. Wesley Shepard entered Deaconess hospital on September 2 to undergo a major operation.

During her period of recuperation, Mrs. Shepard plans to spend some time each day helping to advise and, in a limited capacity, to direct the choir.

Until such time as Mrs. Shepherd is able to completely resume her duties, it is reported that Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Erickson would continue to assist.

Six Faculty Visit Local Company

Six faculty members from the business and economics staff of Evansville College will visit the Orr Iron Company on October 10.

To acquaint management with the problems of today is the purpose of the visit. Each faculty member will take over the duties of one of the management at Orr's. This is called a professor management quiz and has been going on for the past two years.

Participating faculty are Trygve Aageson, Lawrence Anderson, and Claude Slusher. James Julian, Agnes Thompson, and Dean Long complete the list.

Camera Enthusiasts To Take Field Trip

Virginia Scott, president of the Camera Club, has announced a field trip to Audubon Park this Sunday.

All who are interested in photography are urged to attend. Those who wish to go should meet in front of the Administration Building at 1 p.m. Sunday. Transportation will be furnished.

Plans for the year include more field trips, a Slide Night and Model Night. The Camera Club is going to sponsor a Picture-of-the-Month Contest and it will be open to everyone on campus.

Dues are one dollar per quarter; and for this, the member may use the college darkroom and enlarger.

Regular meetings are held every Wednesday at 10 a.m. in Committee Room Two of the Union Building.

Philo's Sponsor First Pep Session of Year

Pi Epsilon Phi, social fraternity, sponsored the first pep assembly of the year last Friday at 10:00 a.m. in the Auditorium.

Bob Schmidt, sophomore, acted as the master of ceremonies before a half-filled auditorium. A large crowd of students viewed the pep session from the hallway of the Administration Building. The Philo band supplied the music for the program.

The pep assembly for the Evansville College-Western Kentucky game opened with a number played by the band. When the band had completed its number Mr. Schmidt appeared on stage. After a few jokes the band again played. Then the emcee introduced the yell leaders who led the audience in several yells.

The next song was dedicated to Dave Pellow, who has a disc jockey program on WJPS, and who had given the Philos recognition on his show the night before.

After the third song had been played by the band the cheerleaders again lead yells. Next on the program was yell leader tryouts and then the Philos ended the assembly with the Evansville College pep song.

Opening Daze

Shown above are a group of none-too-happy looking freshmen as they were taking part in a maneuver of mass confusion we refer to as registration day. The first-year students registered September 16 and the upperclassmen the following day. One consolation: the process won't be quite this complicated again until next fall. Winter and spring quarter registration is accomplished almost entirely with the students adviser only.

Former Student Compares EC Favorably To Ohio State

Mrs. Dorothy Erk Zehner, 1950 graduate of Evansville College, who is now living in Columbus, Ohio, visited the campus last week.

The alumna said that the college looks better in many ways than it did when she was a student here.

Mrs. Zehner, who prefers a small liberal arts college to a large university for undergraduate students, said that Evansville College compares very favorably to Ohio State University.

"The personal contacts and the closer student-faculty relationships are definitely in favor of the small college," said Mrs. Zehner.

According to Mrs. Zehner, the College is doing an excellent job in preparing undergraduate students to do advanced study at the graduate schools. "Here," she said, "we have instruction by people who have done graduate work, there the instructors are often graduate students."

While on the campus as an undergraduate student, Mrs. Zehner was a library assistant. She later served as secretary here to Thomas Harding, librarian.

Mrs. Zehner is now an assistant at the main library of Ohio State University. She said that her experience here in the library has meant much in enabling her to do her job there.

Mrs. Zehner went to Columbus with her husband, Ralph Zehner, who is in his junior year at the Optometry School of Ohio State. Mr. Zehner also attended Evansville College.

The Zehners like the University very much now that they have become adjusted to it.

Dufford To Speak To Phi Mu Alphas

Dr. Ray Dufford, head of the department of physics will speak before the Evansville College chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary music fraternity, at their Founder's Day Banquet at the Homestead Monday evening, it was announced by John T. Wilson, fraternity president. The banquet will start at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Dufford, who joined the Evansville College faculty this fall, comes to us from Missouri Valley University.

ROTC Uniforms Issued To Cadets

Uniforms have been issued to members of the expanding AFROTC unit on the campus.

First and second year men have been issued flight caps as a part of the uniform. Third and fourth year men have been issued service caps as a part of the uniform. The service cap has the visor.

Cadet Officers will have been assigned by next week. They may be recognized by the epaulets worn on the shoulder straps to denote rank. Cadet non-commissioned officers will wear chevrons denoting grade on the sleeve of the blouse.

With the addition of 134 freshmen, the total enrollment of the ROTC unit has risen to 286, including 93 sophomores, 47 juniors, and 12 seniors. This is an increase of 112 cadets over last year.

Ten cadets from the local unit attended summer camp. They were: John Beard, Ed Goebel, Robert Green, John King, William Miller, Arthur Millspaugh, Donald Rausch, James Eenters, Phillip Shannon, and Billie Walters.

Hi ya, fellows and gals (and others)! Again we have the privilege of displaying our intelligent faces around the pool tables and classrooms.

Some changes have been made this summer. Bernie Connolly and Margaret Martin were married. Red Walters and Gloria Fleener took the final step, as well as Pat Whitehead and Gale Miller. Vera Grabert became Mrs. Irvin Renschler.

New diamonds have appeared during the summer. Sharon Meier and Malcolm Stuart are engaged. Richard Springer and Cora Gill are also making plans for a wedding. Betty Oie and Finis Norris are to be married tomorrow.

Jeanette Yates and Bob Covington were married early this summer. The Beta Sig's gave Jeanette a shower at the Y.W.C.A. this week.

The Women's Council gave a coke party for the Gamma Delta members. Norma Jean Robinson was in charge of arrangements.

By the way, Eunice Maier and Emily Manning celebrated the third anniversity of their acquaintance over a coke — tied up in a blue ribbon.

Have you noticed the "totem poles" in the wooden Indian? The summer art crasses combined their "talents" and finally finished them.

The Thespians are busy working on their first play of the season, "Grammercy Ghost." Tickets went on sale this week.

The Methodist Student Movement had a get-acquainted party at Bauer's Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roessler, the former Pat Johnson, are going to add the third member to their family. Pvt. and Mrs. Jim Thompson, the former Frances Huff, are also making plans for a nursery.

See you around about this time next week.

Potential Pledges To Register Soon

All men who are interested to pledge to a fraternity this quarter are urged to register in the Union Building next Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, it was announced by the Inter-Fraternity Council early this week.

A table will be set up outside the Wooden Indian for eligible men to register. Freshmen who entered school this fall will not be eligible to pledge this quarter.

Evansville College boasts four fraternities: Acacia, Phi Zeta, Pi Kappa and Pi Epsilon Phi.

Plans were also made at the council meeting to get the fraternities and sororities to give stronger backing to the football team at the home football games.

The fraternities and soroties plan to sit together at the Evansville-Indiana State game tomorrow night to insure a stronger yelling section and also to lead the Ace squad onto the field in a manner similar to that used by Western Ky. State yell leaders and fans last Saturday.

An invitation to all members of the freshmen class to sit in this reserved section has been extended by the Council.

Walters Missed At Pep Assembly

Now they're asking where Red Walters was during the pep assembly last Friday.

Red is the guy who originated the oo-wah-wah yell for the Aces, and leading it at pep assemblies was his speciality more than once last year.

As one student said "John Moening (Ace yell leader), did a good job leading the yell, but Red gives it the same thing a band leader gives to one of his own songs."

Another said, "And he does it in technicolor, too!"

Maybe Red will give it that "certain something" at the pep assembly today.

Campus Profs Attend Meeting

Purdue University will be the site of a meeting of the Indiana Academy of Social Science today and tomorrow.

Several of the instructors from our campus will attend the meeting. Among them are Dr. Wade David, head of the history department; Orville Jaebker, assistant professor of history; Trygve Aageson, professor of accounting; Lawrence Anderson, associate professor of economics; Dr. James Morlock, head of the sociology department; and Dean Long, head of the business administration department.

Cheer Leaders Chosen Friday

Cheerleaders for the school year 1952-53 were chosen last week during the Philo pep assembly.

Marilyn Bartlett, Janie Haug, Bob Cravens, Sam Laubscher and John Moening were selected as yell leaders.

Mr. Laubscher is a sophomore and Mr. Moening is a senior. Both were members of last year's pep squad.

Miss Bartlett, Mr. Cravens and Miss Haug are freshmen. Others who entered the competition were Nancy Bollinger, Marilyn Kleiman and Barbara Moore.

Each student tried out individually and then in groups. A committee composed of seven faculty members and four students made the final selections.

Howard Keene ,the sophomore fullback from Galesburg, Illinois, at last report was the leading ground-gainer for the Purple Aces.

In the 32 times he has carried the ball he has gained 112 yards while losing 37 for a net gain of 75 yards.

Close behind in net yards gained is Captain Bob Wooley who, in 21 attempts, has gained 98 yards while losing 25 for a net gain of 73 yards.

In the passing department, quarterback Charlie Fisher has assumed the burden of the load. Fischer has attempted 42 passes, completed 12 and has a net gain of 151 yards.

Don Folz is the team's conversion man with two points in two attempts.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

It was proved last Saturday that aces aren't much good unless a person has more than one in his hand. Going on this assumption, that aces are good when they ,at least, come in pairs; maybe we can look forward to a more favorahle evening tomorrow than we have had so far this season.

Last week the individuals who played the game just couldn't get together enough to make a good team, hut the major reason for this is that Wooley, the captain, was on the hench; Charley Fisher could hardly run; and the rest of the group was so sore they could hardly move. And they didn't.

The starting lineup for the Aces was in doubt until just before the game because of so many injuries. In fact, hefore the game the Mentor said that they were in for a good licking because so many of the mainstays were to stay on the bench for the evening.

When a team starts off the season like Evansville has started off this year, people start yakking ahout setting some kind of record, hut rest at ease, the Aces have a long string of games to lose hefore they can match the season set by the '37 squad.

These boys didn't win, didn't tie, and didn't score all season long. In fact they received national recogni-

But, some of the not so sentimental members of the student hody who follow the sports picture closely say, "Uh uh."

They say the Aces have two winners this season, Ball State and St. Joe. That is, if they have enough players left hy the time they play these two teams.

But if the Aces would change their attitude a little bit toward the game and give it the old college try, we could have at least six more wins this season — we have six games to play. tion for their achievement that year.

Bill Parish, who suffered a hroken ankle in the Butler skirmish, has been honored hy the Downtown Quarterhack Cluh. The hefty firehall from Central High has been given an honorary membership in the club.

Looking into the game tomorrow evening with Indiana State — who tied Valporaiso 0-0, people closely connected with the players, the ones still ahle to walk, say the Aces will bring home the bacon.

Bob Young, former EC student and statistician for the Purple Aces foothall squad, journeyed to Pittsburgh last weekend to see the Philadelphia Eagle-Pittsburgh Steeler pro foothall game.

Ray Bawel, who starred playing the end position for EC for the past three seasons, played the entire game defensively for the Eagles who won the game.

Toward the end of the game, Ray intercepted a Steeler pass deep in Eagle territory and got loose for a 35-yard jaunt, according to Mr. Young.

Aces Seek First Win Against State

The Purple Aces, still seeking their first victory of the season, will play the Indiana State Sycamores tomorrow night. The game will be played at Reitz Bowl with the kickoff slated for eight o'clock.

The Sycamores opened their season by romping over Illinois Normal 33-7. Last week the young Indiana State team held the Valparaiso Crusaders for a scoreless tie that ended a 22-game winning streak for Valpo. The game was marked by three field goal attempts by State and one by Valpo. The Aces will play Valpo in the Homecoming game here next week.

Fumbles Hurt

The Aces, plagued by fumbles and the time clock, dropped their first game of the season to the Morehead Eagles 14-0 at Morehead. A fumble by Tom Dillon, freshman from Washington, Ind., was recovered by the Eagles on their own 20. The Eagles moved on the ground to the Evansville 43. There Morehead quarterback Chuck Porter completed three out of four passes with the last one good for the touchdown. There was only time for the kickoff and one play before the half.

The second touchdown was scored late in the last quarter on a short plunge by Eagle fullhack Frank Bloss. The running of Captain Bob Wooley and the passing of Quarterback Charlie Fisher stood out for the Aces.

The Aces lost a heartbreaker to the favored Butler Bulldogs in their second game 25-20. The hard fighting Aces led the Bulldogs 20-19 with 42 seconds left in the game.

Lethal Toss

It was then Butler quarterback Fred Davis faded back and uncorked a long pass to Don Kelley who caught the Evansville defense napping and scored with 22 seconds remaining in the game. Boh Wooley scored the first Evansville touchdown on a three yard plunge after Norm Heard had raced 41 yards to set up the score.

The Aces moved two yards in five plays with Bill Parish plunging over from the five. Parish later suffered a hroken ankle which will sideline him for the rest of the year. Howard Keene scored the third touchdown on a ten-yard sweep around left end, and Don Folz added the second of his extra points to put the Aces ahead 20-19. But the Bulldogs were not to be denied and Evansville had been handed their second defeat.

Third Straight Loss

The injury riddled Ace squad dropped their third straight game to Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers 39-0. The small Evansville squad, playing without many key men, could not penetrate the Western 27-yard line. Quarterhack Jim Feix of Western was their hig gun on offense passing for three tallies.

The Purple Aces felt the loss of Bill Parish hoth on defense and offense. Captain Wooley could only play offense and Fisher could only he used sparingly.

Clifford Memorial Garden Completed

The group of trees and shrubs located on the corner of the horseshoe curve and the driveway to the parking lot has been designated as the Clifford Memorial Garden.

The garden is the result of gifts of people who knew and loved Mrs. Emily Orr Clifford who died in February 1952. She was the wife of the late George S. Clifford, "Father of Evansville College."

Flowering shrubs, bushes and approximately 200 daffodil bulbs have been planted on the plot.

A stone bench inscribed with Mrs. Clifford's name will be placed in the garden with other outdoor furniture.

A familiar figure who aided in the planting was Dr. A. B. Cope who taught psychology here for many years before retiring last spring.

CHESTERFIELD

FIRST PREMIUM QUALITY CIGARETTE

TO OFFER BOTH REGULAR & KING-SIZE

BOTH regular and king-size Chesterfields are premium quality cigarettes and come in the smart white pack.

BOTH contain only those proven ingredients that make Chesterfields the best possible smoke: the world's best tobaccos, pure, more costly moistening agents (to keep them tasty and fresh), the best cigarette paper that money can buy — nothing else.

BOTH are much milder with an extraordinarily good taste and, from the report of a well-known research organization — no unpleasant after-taste.

BOTH are exactly the same in all respects. There is absolutely no difference except that king-size Chesterfield is larger — contains considerably more of the same tobaccos — enough more to give you a 21% longer smoke, yet costs little more.

Homecoming Activities Begin Today

Local Fraternity Going National

By ED FLY

Pi Kappa, the "big-little" fraternity on campus has decided to venture forward. As of Nov. 8, they will be installed as one of the new chapters of Delta Kappa, formerly a national professional fraternity for education majors.

Last year, during the time Pi Kappa was corresponding with the Director of National Expansion for Delta Kappa, it had 15 chapters. They are processing approximately 18 more this year.

Change Was Needed

Alumni and members attending college at the present voted in favor of going national shortly before the end of the spring quarter. The members felt that a change was needed, due to the loss of a considerable number of graduates and to interest more of the younger men on campus.

Pi Kappa, meaning "fidelity to friendship," has always been a small organization stressing good fellowship rather than political aims. It has never had any social, religious or racial creeds and hazing is limited to projects of a constructive nature, usually of some benefit to the college.

Organized in the fall of 1946, by a group of vets who felt the need of another fraternity on campus, it was not recognized by the college until the spring of 1947.

Tentative plans for the installation ceremony includes a dinner and entertainment for the delegates of Delta Kappa, alumni and members of Pi Kappa who are to be installed in the new chapter.

Perry Strasser, Charles Hildreth and Clarence Werzner will serve on the reception committee; Paul Phelps and Joe Emerson are in charge of entertainment. The exact time and place has not ben decided.

Member of British Parliament To Speak At Convocation Oct. 14

Formerly scheduled to speak was Marriner S. Eccles, former head of the Federal Reserve System. Because of his health, Mr. Eccles has canceled all speaking engagements for several months.

Tentative plans call for Mr. Eccles to appear on the campus next March.

Both of these men will be guest lecturers at meetings of The Citizenship Forum in the Great Hall.

Six Forum meetings, conducted by Evansville College in cooperation with the Junior Service League of Evansville, are scheduled this year.

Committee Chairman of New Revised Bible To Speak at Vespers Oct. 19

The Reverend Luther A. Weigle, Dean Emeritus of the Yale Divinity School, will speak at the college vesper services on Oct. 19.

Mr. Weigle has served as chairman of the Revision Committee for the Standard Version of the Bible since the work was authorized in 1929.

Serving the Yale Divinity School, as dean for 21 years, Mr. Weigle retired in June, 1949. He is recognized as one of the foremost religious educators in the United States.

Dean Weigle has maintained many positions of importance in Protestant religion. He has served as president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, chairman of the World Council of Christian Education, in addition to being chairman of the committee revising the Bible.

During the administration of Dean Weigle, which began in 1928, the Yale Divinity School had its greatest period of expansion. However, Dean Weigle's work in improving religious education has not been limited to Yale. For many years he was chairman of the Executive Committee of the American Association of Theological Schools. This association worked out standards for accrediting theological schools.

Six Vie for Football Crown Election in Union Building

Revlon Rose Bowl Tilt This Afternoon Parade, Valpo Contest, Dance Tomorrow

by DON BERNHARDT

Many students, fans and alumni are coming to Homecoming this weekend and the bustling activity of the annual football festival gets under way today with the election of the Homecoming Queen and the clash between two girl gridiron teams in the Revlon Rose Bowl.

The tempo then picks up with a bonfire and pep rally tonight, the colorful parade to Reitz Bowl, the Evansville-Valraraiso tilt and coronation of the queen tomorrow afternoon, and the climaxical HC ball tomorrow from 9-12 p.m., in the Union building.

Seven girls have ben nominated for the HC throne but a rule making freshmen ineligible to receive the honor rules out Joanne Moore, who last week was crowned "Miss Icebreaker" at the first fall dance.

Six Competing for Crown

The six competing contestants are Ethel Hamilton, of Beta Sigma Omicron, Billie Jo Inglis, the Independent Student Association's choice, Imogene Merritt, of Alpha Kappa Alpha, Carolyn Murray, Chi Omega's hope, Douglass Rowe, of Alpha Omicron Pi and the Phi Mu nominee, Suzette Spiegel. The winner will be crowned twice this year — first at halftime of the Valpo game by football captain Bob Wooley and finally at the dance by SGA president Ralph Weber.

Ready for Rose Bowl Tilt

Grunts, groans and gnashing bones will echo from the practice field at 2:30 p.m. today when two groups of rival sororities don football uniforms to crash headon in the fourth annual Revlon Rose Bowl contest. The two-handed tag tilt has been keenly contested the past three seasons and reports from opposing camps say that both elevens are "prim," "sharp," "in shape" and ready for a battle royal.

The Beta Sig's and Chi Omega sororities comprise one team while Phi Mu and AO Pi join forces to furnish the opposition.

Highlighting halftime ceremonies is the coronation of the HC King who is eleeted by the four affiliations from the football squad. And the King is usually fairly fatigued when third quarter play resumes since every girl on both squads takes her turn in line to buss the blushing brute.

The pep rally is set for 8 p.m. in the auditorium and the bonfire will be immediately afterward behind campus on East Side park. Cheerleaders will derect yells and attempt to get some pep in the noisless EC student body, according to head cheer leader John Moening.

Twelve Floats in Parade

Twelve floats are scheduled to roll onto campus tomorrow at 11 o'elock to line up for the winding trip at one o'clock to the bowl. Trophies will be awarded in both men and women's divisions for the outstanding float and the outstanding campus display. In past years only two trophies were available but donations by Ruth Hush and Lois' Fashion Shoppe have made the awards in women's division possible.

Unique Dance Pattern

A unique arrangement of the Homecoming dance will make it possible for a couple to enter the Union and never stop dancing until they leave. Two bands, Art Engles and Glenn Gregory will perform at the same time — one in the Great Hall and the other downstairs in the Patio with staggered intermissions. Tickets are $2. Mums will substitute for corsages, and the dress is formal for women and optional for men.

PiKappas Head Chest Drive On Campus

Pi Kappa fraternity will assume leadership of the Community Chest fund drive on the campus this year, according to information released by Clifford Kraft, Alumni Secretary of the college.

The drive is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mr. Kraft will be general chairman and will be assisted by Perry Strasser, a member of Pi Kappa, in carrying out the program.

Arrangements have been made to place a table downstairs in the Union building at the entrance of the Wooden Indian. Faculty members will also participate in the drive by soliciting in their classrooms.

Mr. Kraft expressed hope of exceeding the amount of money raised in the drive last year and has urged all workers to work vigorously to make this year's campaign a success.

Clarence Werzner, president of Pi Kappa, announced that the fraternity is undertaking the responsibility of the drive for its fall project.

Election for SGA Secretary Oct. 17

In accordance with the provisions set forth in the constitution of the Student Association concerning vacancies in government offices, a special election is slated for Oct. 17, for the office of Student Association secretary, a post vacated this fall by Mrs. Jeanette Yates Covington who was elected last spring.

Nominations should be recorded with Billie Jean Miller, Ed Fly, or Ralph Weber, SGA treasurer, vice-president, and president respecively, not later than Tuesday, Oct. 14, 1952 by 12 noon.

AO Pi National Vice-President, Dorweiler, Visiting Evansville

Mrs. Louis C. Dorweiler, national vice-president of Alpha Omicron Pi, a social sorority, is the guest of the AO Pi actives and alumnae in Evansville this wek.

Mrs. Dorweiler arrived Wednesday and will be here until Sunday while making a tour of active and alumnae chapters.

Yesterday the AO Pi national veep had conferences with the administration and the individual members of the sorority.

Last night she was the special guest at a forum in the Great Hall of the Student Union. The theme was "Presenting National Issues of 1952," with Herman L. McCray, respesenting the republicans, and Vance Hartke, representing the democrats, speaking. The forum was followed by a question and answer period, conducted by Mrs. Henry F. Rohmann, AO Pi alumni.

Mrs. William Knopsnyder was chairman of arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Clifford Kleymeyer, Mrs. Vance Hartke, Mrs. Bruce Thompson, Mrs. James Keenan and Mrs. Jack LeMond. All are alumnae.

Today the AO Pi actives are taking her to see their homecoming float and tomorrow afternoon she will ride to the game in a convertible immediately behind the AO Pi float.

Tomorrow night an alumna will act as hostess to Mrs. Dorweiler for dinner.

Sunday morning the AO Pi's are having a formal meeting, followed by a luncheon and discussion, after which Mrs. Dorweiler will leave.

Any Team Needs Student Support

Tomorrow afternoon EC will play Valparaiso University in what we consider the most important game ot the season.

Evansville will go into the game with a four lost and no win record while Valporaiso boasted a 22 regular season winning streak until they were tied by Indiana State 0-0 two weeks ago. Indiana State, as you may have heard, fairly trounced the Aces last week, 40-7.

But comparative scores don't tell the story in football, nor do they in any other sport for that matter.

There's no getting around it; the Aces played lousy last Saturday night. The students know it, the players know it, and the coach knows it. Everybody knows it — State just wasn't that good.

Everyone has their own explanation concerning the Aces failure to win this season — the reasons range from lack of student support to the number of injuries on the squad.

We don't think their is any one reason, but rather a combination of reasons, and even these aren't strong enough to keep the Aces from turning into a winning team.

We were rather proud of the way the students responded to their yell leaders gestures last Saturday night; we are asking that you respond just as well tomorrow afternoon, loudspeakers or no.

A winning team needs student support to keep winning; a losing team must have it, and plenty of it, to "lift them up" as Coach Ping says.

Let's all come to the Homecoming Dance tomorrow night with hoarse voices.

What's Your Share?

Are you Community Chest conscious? You are? Then perhaps you can answer this question also — how much is your share of $477,230?

We don't expect you to answer that but we hope you will give it some thought.

The above mentioned sum might seem like a tremendous amount of money, but after it is distributed among 18 different agencies throughout Evansville, it begins to seem small in proportion.

In order for these agencies to function another year, it is imperative that the Community Chest reach its goal, and we as responsible members of the respective communities in which we live are expected to help.

Maybe there are questions in your mind such as — who benefits from it and what are some of its agencies.

Indirectly we all benefit from it. Recent statistics released by the juvenile court to show a decline in juvenile delinquency which makes our community a better place in which to live.

This is made possible through the Community Chest fund. We have worthwhile character-building agencies at work, such as : YMCA, YWCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Carver Community Center, Child Guidance Center, Goodwill Industries, Service Men's Center, Catholic Charities, and others.

In addition to the many people who will be helped through your contributions, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you are helping to build a greater Evansville.

We therefore propose to adopt the following slogans for the two-day drive on campus: "Let's give a lot to help the tiny tots" and "Eat a little less, don't be so greedy, give some of that money for the old and needy."

Remember Monday and Tuesday the Pi Kappas will be looking for you in "every places" to give you your red feather . . . after you make your contribution, of course.

Activities Day Should Be Repeated

Activities Day proved to be a worthwhile venture which we feel should be repeated in the future. We congratulate the Union Management Board for the origination and organization. We also wish to credit the organizations who took the time to work out their attractive displays. Yet, we wish to reserve the right to a little skepticism on the ultimate outcome.

Some unsuspecting and innocent students went from line to line signing up for whatever organization and committee who would hand him a pencil and show him the roster. It's impossible to be an active member of six Union committees at one time, plus two or three other campus organizations. Should such an individual try to be loyal to each, he'd be working both day and night without time to go to college.

We hope some means can be worked out to avoid this situation in the future. A close check between organizations and committees can help this over eager individual adjust himself to a well balanced social life.

As Squirrels Become People

The Red Menace Rears Its Ugly Head

(Editor's note—This is the first in a series of articles depicting the troubles a carefree group of squirrels could get themselves into if they tried to model their lives after the manner of our civilization of today. Bob Green, Feature Editor, wrote these articles last spring and has consented to let The Crescent publish them.)

By BOB GREEN

Not far from here is a big woods. It's a swell-elegant woods, speaking from a squirrel's-eye view; that is, has a lot of natural resources, such as oak, hickory, pecan, beechnut and hackleberry trees, not to mention surrounding grain fields to be raided at will. Why, it's a regular Utopia to a squirrel; food for the gathering and plenty of den trees. Even a poor squirrel can afford to move into a nice apartment in a dead oak tree when he marries.

Democratic sort of place too; all the squirrels recognize the fact that all squirrels were created equal and that each has a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Since time began they have lived in the big woods, greys and reds side by side in complete harmony, bothered only by the men who came to shoot at them once a year. All was going well with them until early August of last year, when a great calamity befell the little tree-dwellers.

It all began with the coming of a fastidious hunter from the city, one Elmer Bullfiddle. Elmer was a firm disciple of the "still hunting" school. ("Still" hunters slip into the woods, sit down under a tree, wait till they spot a squirrel, BOOM, meat for the pan!) Fastidious Elmer, having on a brand new pair of $2.98 hunting pants he didn't want to get soiled, brought along some old newspapers to sit on while he waited for his supper to appear.

Elmer had excellent luck. He spotted Jonathon Nutcracker and his wife running along a limb on their way to the pecan grove for lunch. The shots awakened Sammy Chatter from his afternoon nap and he decided to take a run over to see his girlfriend; he ran into a load of number sixes instead.

A little later on Seth Acornchewer met Slinky Pecanlover high up in a beech tree and started scolding Slinky for flirting with his wife. Elmer's hearing was good, his aim was true, and Slinky and Seth made five for the pot and Elmer went home.

He left the old newspapers lying in the woods. Foul man, foul deed. The murder of the five squirrels was the smallest part of his dastardly deeds that day.

The next day Highbrow Chatter, the late Sammy's brother, happened to pass by and lingered on to broaden his education and world outlook. In the space of a few days every squirrel in the big woods had read the papers from cover to cover. They read about the new tax bills up in Congress, about Korea, plush government jobs, mink coats, deep freezes, the RFC, old age assistance, defense bonds, Dick Tracy, the coming World Series, and the easy money to be made in the Internal Revenue Department.

This would not have mattered much, except for the fact that squirrel nature is a lot like human nature. Even in squirrel society there are the would-be gangsters, hoodlums, politicians, thirsters for power, social climbers, and the dope fiends who pick up a discarded cigarette butt and go on a nicotine binge.

They read about the "Red Menace." Worse yet, some few recognized it as a springboard to power and prestige.

From the start two squirrels emerged as the leaders, began to organize their forces and start a whispering campaign. "Watch out for the Reds," whispered Fluman, a sly little Grey. "They want to take all the nuts we've worked so hard to gather and divide them among everybody!"

He was a convincing talker, for he was telling the truth, and he had experience in influencing squirrel opinion he had gained while peddling a necktie he had found in the woods some years back. Very shortly the Greys were watching the Reds out of the corners of their eyes and thinking only the worst of them.

The whispering campaign made use of racial prejudice. Racial prejudice made sense to the squirrels. After all, who would want to associate with a yellow, purple, or sky-blue squirrel, or, for that matter, with a Red — if you were a Grey? Hate and ill feelings festered and grew on both sides.

Still, perhaps the trouble would have blown over if it hadn't been for a big Red squirrel, Fosheph Fallin, who was a disciple of the late lamented Fienen, who had been a very Red squirrel indeed.

Fallin saw the opportunity for a smart squirrel to get ahead, to become a power in the woods and to have the other squirrels gather his nuts, run his errands and do his bidding, and provide him with a very lush living. With the Greys already shying away and looking askanse at the Reds, Fallin began to talk up the idea of community living for the good of all the Reds, and to mutter of the dire threat posed to the peaceful Reds by the capitalistic and warmonger Greys.

Soon the big woods had become a divided camp. Where there had once been simply squirrels, now there were Grey squirrels — and there were Red squirrels. Both factions realized that with conditions as they were, a strong central government and organization for defense was a necessity.

Among the Greys, a democratic form of government was adopted. A committee of the leading citizens formed and drew up a constitution providing for a two party system and the election of a president and congress to guide the destiny of the United Grey Squirrels.

The two parties shaped up rapidly. Fluman, taking advantage of being in on the ground floor, easily won the presidential nomination when the Femocrats held their convention in a smoke filled hollow tree. The other party, the Fublicans, nominated Faft. Taking their cue from what they had read in Elmer's papers, both candidates began an intense campaign.

Opinion Here Divided On Series Outcome

This week the Inquiring Reporter asked the same question that people all over the country, even over a great part of the world, were asking: "Who is going to win the World Series?" Or will the Brooklynites be crying in their beer or dancing in the streets? Will Yankee pitching beat Brooklyn batting?

As this went to press, the issue was still in doubt, but now it is history. Nationally, the Yankees were eight to five favorites to be the World Champions for the fourth year in a row.

Opinion here was divided; of 16 questioned, 8 favored the Yankees and 8 favored the Dodgers. Their opinions of how many games it would take to decide the issue ranged from four to seven. Those bold enough to hazard a prediction were:

Ed Fly—Dodgers in 7.
Charlie Fisher—Yankees in 6.
Pete Rowe—Yankees in 5.
John Beard—Yankees in 4.
James Senters—Dodgers in 6.
Jerry Crane—Dodgers in 6.
Don Gay—Yankees in 6.
William Luttrull—Dodgers in 7.
Marvin Fox—Dodgers in 4.
Jack Combs—Yankees in 5.
Bill Rhodes—Dodgers in 6.
Ronnie Kemmeling—Dodgers in 6.
Anne Stocks—Yankees in 7.
Dick Nicholson—Yankees in 7.
Don Bernhardt—Yankees in 7.
Professor A. C. Spence—Dodgers in 4.

Summer in South America Is Cool, Comments Leich

Miss Gertrude Leich didn't mind the hot weather in Evansville this summer. She was enjoying winter in South America.

During a six weeks vacation, Miss Leich travelled 10,000 miles visiting the countries she has taught about.

"Of outstanding interest was the political situation in Chili. General opinion of the U.S. military pact was dislike," said Miss Leich. There was also the campaign excitement in anticipation of the presidential election.

While in Montevideo, Uruguay, Miss Leich visited Mireille Demolin, a former student of Evansville College. Mireille, a sociology major, is now employed in the American Embassy there.

At Lima, Peru, Miss Leich toured the ancient villages of the Incas. "The Lost City," Macchu Picchu, sits at a tremendous altitude upon a mountain and blends into the land-scape which probably accounts for its not being discovered until the twentieth century," continued Miss Leich.

At Argentina, Miss Leich reports that there was evidence of the country's mourning for Mrs. Eva Peron. At the airport, all plane passengers were required to keep a moment of silence in Mrs. Peron's honor. People in Argentina were courteous, but not too friendly.

As Miss Leich was travelling alone, she had the opportunity to take several field trips into the interior of the country. At all times, she spoke Spanish in her contacts with the native people. "It was much easier to travel with an understanding of the language being spoken," reports Miss Leich.

Miss Leich was invited to speak to high school groups about the United States and Evansville in particular. "Many of these countries need technically trained personnel with a knowledge of Spanish," concluded Miss Leich. "There are splendid opportunities for those qualified for the positions."

Anything at All

by Walt Prickett

There are times when a feller needs a friend — the football team faced one of those times last Saturday night. It got mighty lonesome in the student section during the last quarter when most of the loyal pupils of the college trotted out. (No doubt afraid the cokes wouldn't stay cold at the College Corner.)

The team had on its yellow uniforms for the game, and Coach Ping had on his traditional yellow sweater. It's regretable a major portion of the students reflect the color and drift away before the final gun was fired. (It was fired twice, yet.)

Among those seen leaving the stands early were Kenny Lensing, Harry Kritser, Bob Fink, Charles Ross, Marvin Fox and Gene Byers. (Wet-type tears).

The freshmen cheerleaders acquitted themselves nobly. Bob Cravens showed more pep than any three cheerleaders I've seen since June Tremor, Jerri Steinmetz Scholz and Jim Cooper stopped leading yells.

Here's a pome to the Shouting Sixteen,

Five were cheerleaders, the rest, students keen,

We got looked down the nose at,
By pupils who thought that,
Those who cheered for
The team wer old hat.
But we really had fun, yelling, by darn,

And we were all hoarse (11 students, that is) on Sunday morn.

No criticism of the team will appear in this column. If I thought I could do as well, I'd try out for the team.

Other towns have their Marciano-Walcott bouts, their Graziano-Davies bouts, but the Wooden Indian has fights between Bob Carter and the cigarette machine. The coffin-nail vendor wouldn't cough up smokes or the two-bits. It was a hard fight, maw, but, Carter won.

Now that I arrive at 8 a.m. five days a week, I can't figure out who students say there is a parking problem. There's just oodles, and oodles and oodles of space at 8 a.m. Occasionally I wake up a few birds when the car bumper bumps into a divider pole.

Why? Am I the only student in the comparative anatomy laboratory with a touch of sinus trouble on chilly mornings. Everyone else is immune from the scourge of the Ohio River Valley and can't stawnd the smell from the pickled specimens. As a result they play freeze-out. Brrrrrr.

It's for real — Bob Young is back in school. Of course, it's only night school, but he's still back. He flew to Pittsburgh a couple of Sundays ago to see the Philadelphia Eagles-Pittsburgh Steelers pro-football game. Ray Bawel, '52, played the entire defensive game for the Eagles as defensive halfback. (You may have read that last week on the sports page!)

Dr. Norman Long left coeds starry-eyed the other day when he explained a chemical reaction in terms of a stag-line at a dance. Dreaming of Homecoming already? (Remember, this thing's written a week ahead of time and the incident happened a week before that.)

Radio Council Varies WEVC Schedule

The recently formed Radio Council is in the process of creating a varied assortment of programs for WEVC listeners. In addition to the regularly featured programs, plans are being made to broaden the station's scope to include drama, news and feature shows.

The council with a total of 26 members is completing plans for the presentation of a weekly drama with Barbara Moore, freshman, as director. Another recently formed feature is the daily news broadcast. Ronald Shook, also a freshman, presents a brief summary of campus, local and national news every day at 6:30 p.m.

Three disc-jockey shows are in session. Bob Steele remains with his regular program "Jobby Bo" at 5 p.m. daily. Newcomers are Jack Schaffner, presenting "Jumping with Jack" at 5:30 p.m. daily, and John Powell.

Gilbert Bumb is directing the members of the Student Christian Association for a weekly program on Thusday at 6 p.m.

Words To Live By

Dr. Mearle P. Culver, director of religious life, has submitted the following Bible quote for the guidance of students on campus.

The quote, taken from the newly revised Bible, is the first of a series to be presented by Dr. Culver.

"All scripture is inspired by God and profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction and for training in righteousness, that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work."

Electing Queen

If the above picture is any indication, it would seem that women take a more active interest in elections than men. The picture was snapped at the Student Association booth last week during Activities Day. The election was for "Miss Icebreaker of 1952" who was crowned two days later at the Icebreaker Dance at the Armory. (Picture of "Miss Icebreaker" on Page 6). Ed Fly, SGA vice-president, seated, is checking tthe freshman eligibility list while Ralph Weber, SGA president, right, initials the ballots.

600 Students, Faculty, Others Visit Union for Activities Day

By PAUL DEWIG

Painted ping pong balls, a Hebrew Bible, a complete stage setting for "Gramercy Ghost," and a multitude of "I Go Pogo" buttons were just a few of the props around the great hall on Activities Day last week.

More than 600 students, faculty and just plain people visited the organization and committee displays. Individual displays were set up by 33 different campus organizations.

One of the nicest displays was set up by the International Relations Club. This club has an open membership which afforded interested students a chance to become acquainted and join.

Pogo Club Most Popular

Of course, the most novel display was sent to the journalism department by that swampland refugee, Pogo. The Journalism department (Crescent, LinC and Pi Delta Epsilon) are sponsoring the "I Go Pogo" club on campus with a registered following of more than 250 Pogoites.

Some of these 250 Pogo lovers, including faculty and students, stood in line for five minutes to register for the club and receive the official "I Go Pogo" pledge pin. The club plans to hold its first meeting Oct. 17 at 10 a.m. in the Crescent office (0-144) to elect officers.

The first project of the club will be to bring the creator of the comic strip, Walt Kelly, to the campus for an assembly before the club members. Of course, all members of the club are avid Pogo readers.

The wide awake Student Government officers made Activities Day the opportune time to hold elections for the Icebreaker Queen, besides giving the students an insight into the workings of the Association.

Union Board Has Biggest Display

The Union Management Board, which never misses a chance to latch on to prospective helpers, by far had the biggest block of displays. Each committee was well represented by a decorative display. And each had pencil and paper ready to sign up any volunteers. These committee do a lot of work and need good workers. The idea and organization of Activities Day itself was one of the "brain childs" of the combined Union committees.

The other organizations with displays were: The Thespians, having a complete scale model of the set to be used for "Gramercy Ghost." The Student Christian Association and Kappa Chi displayed the artifacts of their organizations. The Newman Club, composed of all Catholic students on campus, readily supplied answers to all questions about the club. Typewriters and pamphlets were displayed by the Secretarial Science Club.

The Camera Club, Accounting Club, Alpha Phi Omega, Arnold Air Society, Automobile Club, Camera Club, Electronics Club, Engineering Club, Panhellenic Council, Pre Med Club, Women's Athletic Association, Women's Council, Tau Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Iota and Pi Mu Alpha, and Alpha Phi Mu were represented with displays representative of their respective organizations.

Vera Robinson New President of AOP;

Vera Robinson has been elected president of Alpha Omicron Pi, social sorority.

Natalie Joest is the vice-president of the sorority, while Jackie Varon is recording secretary. Douglass Rowe is serving as corresponding secretary with Shirley Slusher as treasurer.

Pat Whitehead Miller is AOPi's delegate to the Panhellenic Council and Alma Dean Wilson is social service chairman.

Delores Schaber is serving as publicity chairman, with Toni Reitz as doorkeeper. Completing the list of officers are: Marlene Day, fraternity education chairman; and Bess Mullet, rush chairman.

Mrs. Charles Ross, the former Betty Stofft, was elected president in the spring, but she was married during the summer and did not return to school. As a result AOPi had to choose a new head.

Hi ya, fellow students and loafers!

Pins are already floating around. Roberta Becker has accepted one from John Thole.

Have you noticed a different look about Dr. and Mrs. Harris Erickson? They became grandparents at the birth of a grandson last week.

Mrs. Howard Espenlaub, the former Marilyn Harper, is making preparations for the arrival of a new baby.

Bess Mullett was made an aunt when an eight pound boy was born to Mrs. Bill Woods.

Pat Martin has gone in for the "new" look. She had the birth mark removed from her face.

Bonny Smith and Carl McClure became Mr. and Mrs. this past summer.

Phi Zeta fraternity is having a breakfast tomorrow in the Union Building. The Phi Mu's are planning a brunch in the Union Building tomorrow.

Don't forget to attend the big pep rally tonight on the campus at 8 p.m. The traditional bonfire will be lit. (That is, if someone doesn't decide to light it ahead of time, as they did last year.)

Natalie Joest is wearing a diamond on the third finger left hand given her by Sgt. Richard Molter. Sgt. Molter is stationed at Camp Breckinridge.

One of the catastrophes of the summer happened to Alfred Spillman. It seems he got his head in the way of the lawn mower and all his hair was clipped off.

The Evansville College Thespians are planning a party in the Fine Arts Building on Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to come. The foods free, so see you at the party.

Jo Dorweiler, first vice-president of the national organization, will visit the AOPi's during Homecoming week.

Dr. F. W. Werking is working awfully hard to get the students to attend the Evansville Philharmonic Concerts. I wonder if he is working on commission or if he just has the students interest at heart.

Buenas dias, au revoir, good-bye—anyway you want to say it, I'll see you next week.

Walker Tells Students Of Revised Handbook

Freshmen students will be required to keep their academic records in the back of their student handbook as part of their course in Sociology 101, 102 and 103. This is the comment made by Everette Walker, Director of Student Personnel Services.

Mr. Walker went on to explain the benefits of the handbook as reference material in later life. He explained how this material, if properly accumulated over the period in college, would prove helpful in planning the students' program, both to the student and to his advisor.

Mr. Walker commented on the fact that many students do not know the amount of hours they have accumulated, the point average they have or the subjects they have taken.

He went on to say that he knew that much of this was because there was no standard way for the student to keep this information up to the present time, but that he thought the new handbook would correct this situation.

New Craft Shop Enlarges Growing Art Department

When the art department moved last spring room was made for a craft shop in the north end of the Reserve Library Building.

The craft shop contains tools and materials for ceramics and ice boxes to store the wet clay objects, also a set of lockers for students taking craft courses.

Along the windows is a long, high table with tall stools, which is used for a work bench. There are also places to erect still life composition and a book and magazine racks for crafts.

Formerly the whole jewelery department was in the Engineering Building, but it has ben moved to the craft shop. A cabinet for storing tools, plus a welding table, jewelry polisher and buffer may be found there.

Adjoining the craft room is another room, used for painting and figure drawing classes,

A kiln for baking and glazing clay has been ordered but has not yet arrived.

Personal Counseling Given by Erickson

Troubles and worries seem to bother all, and one tries to conquer them himself. But if you can't seem to find the right answer, perhaps Dr. Harris D. Erickson can help you.

Dr. Erickson, professor of philosophy and religion, broadcasts over radio station WEOA every Friday night from 11:30 p.m. until midnight. He will give personal counseling to any who will call in with his problem.

The name of the person calling will not be revealed — in fact, the caller need not even mention his name. Telephone conversation will be strictly confidential, and a private line has been installed at WEOA so that calls do not have to go through the station switchboard. Persons wanting aid may dial 3-5393.

"The most fascinating type of counseling I have ever attempted," related Dr. Erickson, "you can never tell what sort of question you might have to answer and it is all so surprising. We receive about eight calls a night, most of them pertaining to the Bible, the teachings of Jesus or problems of every day life, such as marriages and divorce."

Dr. Erickson is an ordained Baptist minister. Before joining the Evansville College faculty in 1947 he was a professor at Seattle Pacific University. He has a Master of Theology degree from the Berkeley Divinity Suhool and a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Washington.

ROTC News...

Promotional examinations will be given for aspiring ROTC cadet officers and non-commissioned officers Monday and Tuesday.

To be eligible for promotion a student must have passed the examination for the preceding rank to the grade to which he wishes to rise.

The passing mark on the examination will be 70. This, however, does not mean that any student passing the examination will be automatically promoted. Promotions are on a competitive basis, going to those students with the highest exam grades.

There will be a meeting of all potential members of the ROTC band on Oct. 15, Major Meek announced.

The entire band will consist of 20 playing members plus the band director and the drum major, making in all 22 members. There is hope that all the members of the band will be able to be placed in one drill section.

The ROTC department will furnish all instruments and music. Nicholas Cannici, assistant professor of clarinet, will be the technical supervisor.

Transportation To Murray Planned

Bus transportation will be furnished to the Murray-Evansville football game Oct. 8 if enough students are interested in the plan. The proposed plan was discussed at a Student Council meeting this week.

The plan was proposed in an effort to bolster student spirit concerning the lack of students following the EC football games. A list will be posted in the main hall of the Administration Building for anyone interested in making the trip. At least 35 or 40 students must sign up or the bus cannot be chartered.

Keene Leads Aces In Total Yards

Carrying the ball for a net gain of 171 yards in 49 attempts, the sophomore fullback Howard Keene continues to lead the Purple Aces in yards gained rushing.

Charley Fisher has the passing department all to himself. In 51 attempts Fisher has completed 13 for a net gain of 141 yards.

In the pass receiving category, Charley Kendall has caught five for a total of 67 yards, while Parish has taken two for a total 55 yards.

Going back to punt for the Aces 19 times, Jim Giovanetti has punted a total 582 yards. The other Ace punter is captain Bob Wooley who has punted for 306 yards in 11 attempts.

In the scoring column, the Ace scorers run like this: Wooley has one touchdown for six points; Keene has touched pay dirt twice for 12 points; Bill Parish has scored Evansville's only other T.D. for six points. Don Folz has scored two points on two conversion attempts, while Harold "Duke" Schneider has scored one in one attempt. This combination has produced four touchdowns and three extra points for a grand total of 27 points.

Aces Face Valpo At 2 p.m. Tomorrow

By JACK COMBS

The Purple Aces will try to end their four game losing steak against the Valparaiso Crusaders in their annual homecoming game tomorrow afternoon.

Kickoff time will be at two o'clock at Reitz Bowl. The Homecoming parade will leave Evansville College at 12:30.

FootballerNow Coaching Aces

In this day of commercialized college sports it is encouraging to be able to point out the example of Jerry Schmitz, former member of EC football team.

Jerry who entered EC in 1948 as an engineering student under the Co-Op program which takes five instead of the usual four years, also went out for football. Having had little high school experience Jerry played only two plays in his first year.

Jerry was placed on a football scholarship after the first year and played three years for the Aces. After the first game of this season it was discovered that those two plays Jerry had played in his first year constituted a full year of eligibility, therefore making Jerry ineligible for this season.

Rather than remove Jerry from his scholarship, Jerry was added to the coaching staff as assistant line coach which makes him eligible to retain his scholarship.

The Aces and Crusaders haven't met on the gridiron since 1938, that game ended in a 19-19 tie. Valpo leads in the series with three wins, one loss, and one tie.

The Aces lost their fourth straight game last Saturday night to Indiana State's Sycamores 40-7.

The Aces looked like world-beaters on their first play from scrimmage as Howard Keene, Evansville fullback, took a pitchout and went around right end for 59 years and an Evansville touchdown. From then on the Aces couldn't seem to do anything right. Evansville ended the game with 10 fumbles to their credit.

Aces Score Early

State scored their six touchdowns on plays covering 53, 26, 70, 26, 81 and 1 yards. They added a safety in the third quarter on a blocked punt.

Numerous Penalties

The referees seemed to be the most consistent ground gainers, rolling up 155 yards against the Aces and 80 yards against the Sycamores. Numerous penalties were turned down by both teams to stop the drives of the referees.

The college band put on a fine show at half time, featuring the fancy stepping of their four majorettes, the band waged a political battle of their own.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Well, the Aces are still in the midst of their losing streak; the first fruits of the school's anti-athletic program. But losing games isn't what really burns the team up. It's the trouble they have getting to the games.

They don't mind the band getting the ultra-modern buses while they get stuck with the old cracker boxes. But when the band gets a police escort, and they must fight their way through traffic – that's the last straw.

If orchids were given here as reward for a job well done, they would be in order for Sidney Barker, the best that Evansville had on the field last Saturday. She was the pert majorete who showed more action during the short time she was on the field than the entire team did in four quarters of play.

One thing about our wonderful capitalistic way of doing things — we get no more nor no less than what we pay for. Hence, it costs a little more to go first class. Should anymore be said about the officials for the game last week.

It got so bad at times that every time the whistle blew, acting captain Moss would say, "Well, what does this one cost." The officials were as confused as to what to call as the Aces were as to what to do.

Indiana State, who apparently would rather play football than paint up campuses, held Valpo, whom we "play" tomorrow, to a scoreless tie three weeks ago.

If the Aces play the same brand of ball as they have in the past, it looks like we're in for a pretty chilly game tomorrow.

College, WEOA Offer Training In Television

A television workshop, the first ever held in this city or the Tri-state area, will open at Evansville College Monday evening, Oct. 20, according to President Lincoln B. Hale.

The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint and give some training in television to those who will be connected directly or indirectly with this medium. This is in preparation for the time when the Federal Communications Commission grants one or more TV channels to applicants here and broadcasting begins.

The workshop will be conducted by the Evening College in cooperation with radio station WEOA, where laboratory sessions will be held.

The workshop has been designed with four aims, stated President Hale, which are: to brief the history and development of TV to date, to give acquaintance with the basic programming and mechanical aspects of TV; to define present and future career opportunities in television; and to provide basic laboratory experience in television studio functions.

"The workshop in television would be valuable to three groups of people who will be working in television in some capacity as soon as a station goes on the air here," President Hale said.

Among these are the people who will be working for the station in some respect. Certainly many career possibilities are being opened up by television with its demands for talent and skill in great quantities.

"Merchants and businessmen who will be faced with the problem of the most effective presentation of their advertising need to know about TV.

"Also civic, church, school and other public service groups will want to use television as a means of presenting their story to the public."

All adults connected with these groups or occupations are invited to enroll in the workshop, Dr. Hale added, as well as others interested in television. College credit will be granted to those who wish it and meet the college requirements for such credit.

Howard A. Hill, who spent the past summer doing graduate work in television at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, will be director of the workshop.

Other officers are Betsy Barth, vice-president; Mary Jane Nendel, secretary-treasurer; Norma Jane Robertson, sponsor. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens is advisor.

A major plan of the sorority is to initiate a hospitality committee to secure housing accommodations for out-of-town girls who would like to stay in the city over night for special occasions.

The sorority will be represented in the Homecoming parade along with the other organizations. The sorority is also planning to enter the campus display competition tonight.

Meetings of the organization are held every Monday at 10:00 a.m.

'Theatre-in-Round' Directed by Class

Mr. Howard Hill has given a new twist to speech 243, (play directing).

To prevent graduates of the future from running into some of the troubles that usually confront a new English teacher, Mr. Hill has undertaken to see that each of his students will have a full knowledge of play directing.

Each Student Directs

Each student in Speech 243 will have to select a one act play (35 to 40 minutes) and completely direct the production.

This will include detailed layout of all character actions, lighting and sound effects, the selection and staging of all properties and — in general all the small details that go into the production of a play.

Audience Encircles Stage

All productions will be in the "theater-in-the-round". In this type of production, the stage is in the center of the room and the audience completely encircles the stage.

All plays will be presented in the second week of November in the Fine Arts Building.

Mr. Hill expresses the hope that the experience gained by this group will save the students many of the headaches which confront all inexperienced directors.

NOSE, THROAT, and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

The Zeta's float was comprised of a big head swallowing players saying "Eat 'em up Aces." Their float placed second in the men's division.

Spiegel Elected Homecoming Queen; Moss Crowned By Revlon Squads

By GLORIA WATSON

Getting Homecoming activities off to a good start last Friday afternoon, members of four sororities combined their athletie skills and battled to a scoreless tie in the Revlon Rose Bowl.

Chi Omega and Beta Sigma Omicron sororities combined forces to vie against the united team of Alpha Omicron Pi and Phi Mu. At halftime Diane Bentley, Chi O, crowned John Moss, senior, King, and presented him with the traditional kiss.

Band Performs

The band, under the direction of Bill Hart, drum major, performed at halftime and formed an "R" for Revlon.

Following the feminine football game, a pep rally and bonfire Friday night climaxed the day's festivities to encourage the students to show more enthusiasm at the game on Saturday afternoon.

Saturday morning there was much scurrying around on campus by the organization having floats in the parade, putting the last minute touches on their floats and getting ready for the long ride to Reitz Bowl.

Big Upset

Spectators at the Homeeoming game were pleasantly surprised when the Aces trounced over the Valporaiso Crusaders 13-7. More school spirit was shown at this game than any other one this season. EC students formed an aisle through which the players could enter the field.

Bob Wooley, football captain, crowned Suzette Spiegel, Phi Mu, as Homecoming queen. Attendants to Miss Spiegel were: Ethel Hamilton, of Beta Sigma Omicron; Imogene Merritt, Alpha Kappa Alpha; Carolyn Murray, Chi Omega; Billie Jo Inglis, Independent Student Association, Douglass Rowe, Alpha Omicron Pi and Joanne Moore, Gamma Delta.

The marching band, under the direction of Bill Hart, drum major, did a splendid job, both in playing and in making formations. When the Homecoming queen was crowned the band formed a crown to pay tribute to the strawberry blonde.

Zeta's Win

Honors for campus displays went to Phi Zeta fraternity in the men's division and to Gamma Delta and Chi Omega in the women's division. Awards for the best floats went to Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity and Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. This is the first year that separate awards have been given to the men and to the women, because of awards donated by the Ruth Hush Shop on Lincoln Ave. and Lois' Fashion Shop in Ross Center.

Before a large number of students at the Homecoming Dance Saturday night, Miss Spiegel was crowned for the second time, this time by Ralph Weber, president of SGA. The dance brought to an end another Homecoming.

Homecoming Preparations Bear Fruit

The weeks of laborious preparations for the Homecoming celebrations were well rewarded with a winning football team and a very successful dance.

Perhaps this win was due to the enthusiasm shown by the student body at the game. For the first time this year, the student section could be heard above the voices of the cheer leaders. We wish to commend the students for this show of school spirt. We hope this spirit will continue.

Our congratulations go to Phi Zeta fraternity, Chi Omega and Gamma Delta sororities on winning the trophies for the best campus displays, and to Philo fraternity and Alpha Omicron Pi sorority for having the best floats in the parade. We also wish to commend the other campus organizations who entered displays and floats.

Hats off to Roger Shanner and his committee and the All Campus Dance committee for the successful Homecoming Dance which added a fitting climax to the festive weekend.

Although the parade, campus decorations, Rose Bowl Game and dance were the spectacular events, all are subordinate to the victorious football team. Not only did the students come out of the slump to display a little pep, the football team came from the "dark celler" to rout the Crusaders. We congratulate Coach Ping and the squad on a very well-played game.

We congratulate Susette Speigle, our Homecoming Queen, and her attendants.

Homecoming 1952 is an event that will be regarded as one of the biggest highlights of the 1952-53 year. It will be remembered by all, who contributed in any way, as a huge success. We hope the atmosphere and spirit of this homecoming season will last throughout the year.

Attitude Toward Elections

According to the outcome of two recent elections on campus, students are more interested in the melodramatic activities than the academic, if those two words can be used descriptively for this purpose.

Approximately two hundred votes were cast for election of class officers; close to four hundred votes were cast for the Homecoming Queen.

Perhaps the students feel a certain amount of lethargy enveloping them when their minds dwell too long on such "bookish ideas" as class officers. Then too, it could be the drudgery that they feel is connected with the above offices.

On the contrary, it is quite the opposite. These offices have to be filled, we cannot have a Homecoming every two weeks, and there is no intention of holding elections for class officers more often than is required by the statutes in the student handbook.

Part of your college training is to prepare you to accept responsibility. Try to take a little more interest in campus activities; don't refuse to participate because it does not directly affect you.

The spirit that needs to be cultivated more on campus was demonstrated Saturday during the Homecoming Parade. Let's develop that same spirit for the "not-so-glamorous" activities too.

Crescent's Deadline for News Releases

Most students, and some faculty members too, are amazed when they learn that The Crescent's deadline for receiving news releases from departments, fraternities and sororities, clubs, etc., is 10 days prior to the date of publication.

That is, if your club or what-have-you should want a story pertaining to them in, say the Oct. 31 issue of The Crescent, we would prefer to have that information by Wednesday morning Oct. 22.

There are, of course, several exceptions to this rule, but for the sake of planning and doing your story justice, the sooner we get the information the better.

So, for your information, here are our deadlines: For pages two, three, and four, the Wednesday morning 10 days before the publication date, but in some cases as late as eight or nine days (Thursday or Friday).

The deadline for pages one, five, and six is also the Wednesday 10 days prior to the publication date, and in most issues as late as Friday or even Monday.

"Late News Breaks" will be received by us as late as Wednesday noon the week the paper comes out.

As Squirrels Become People
They Follow Proven Political Paths

(The story so far: When Elmer Bullfiddle goes hunting, he leaves behind in the woods some old newspapers. The squirrels in the woods, heretofore happy and carefree, read the papers and decide (after being urged on by a few power mad squirrels) that there is something to racial prejudice.

Soon Reds and Greys hate, distrust, and fear each other. Fluman, a sly little Grey, advocates a strong central government as the only defense against the Reds. A Constitution is drawn up and candidates nominated for president and congress.)

By BOB GREEN

The presidential candidates accompanied by those running for congress in the different districts, stumped the woods, delivering flowery speeches making wild promises, and outlining their platforms.

In more private meetings and banquets after their speeches they drew aside squirrels who controlled blocks of votes and promised them soft jobs in return for their support.

Election Day

Election day dawned clear and bright. The election workers were up before dawn, holding their meetings and being assigned the sections where they were to "get out the vote." Neither party overlooked any angle. Pecan beer and acorn whiskey flowed freely. The price of a vote went from a half pint and five nuts when the polls opened, to a quart and 25 nuts as the day wore on with the issue still in doubt.

Squirrels dead the past ten years voted that day. Vacant den trees suddenly became possessed of tenants, who were, of course, bona fide voters; a few squirrels even had writers cramp for the next week, they voted so often.

After the election was over, the papers made quite a play out of the loser's contentions that all had not been as it should be. A few charges were filed. but were later dismissed because of lack of evidence or a legal technicality in the warrants. The truth of the matter was that both sides got together and agreed to repress the matter.

Although there was actually no lack of evidence, bringing the matter into court would only have resulted in an overflow of jail facilities, and both factions would have been well represented.

The Femocrats won the election, mainly because they secretly promised the same jobs to 15 or 20 different squirrels, while the Fublicans had thought it sufficient to promise each position to only eight or ten. Then too, perhaps the Femocratic platform was a little more inclined to social security.

Congress Meets

President Fluman convened congress in a pecan tree. The first bills passed were tax bills, and the Federal Bureau of Internal Nut Collection was set up to collect the taxes.

Laws and provisions were made for military defense and a draft system to provide the manpower, with a rider attached providing that rich squirrels' sons could be deferred to attend college.

They set up an RFC, to provide capital in individuals and/or corporations to set up a business necessary to national welfare, such as a snake farm.

Under the influence of defense contracts, industry sprang up all over the woods. However, production was not as fast as it could have been, since the governments contracts were all let on terms of "cost plus ten."

Congress could get little accomplished, and that only after prolonged and windy debate. This was the fault of both parties, as each strived to put through laws that reflected good for it. whether or not they were necessary and for the good of the nation. If it appeared that a certain measure up in the house would be a great vote getter in the next election, both tried to claim all the credit and get it passed. If it was a needed law, but unpopular, it was tabled, pigeonholed, and generally delayed until after the next election.

Squirrel Politicians

The squirrels fast became adept politicians. Charges and mudslinging flew from both sides; such words as: mink, red herring, deep freeze, five-percenters, lobbyists, and influence peddlers became part of every squirrels vocabulary.

Bungling and red tape were commonplace. Nevertheless, national defense and the production of war goods forged ahead; a group of top scientists began work on the Fanhattan project; business boomed, and although taxes were high, the acorn crop was good that year and nearly every Grey was prospering and getting a few nuts ahead.

Reds Not Idle

One mustn't get the idea that the Reds were idle all this time; on the contrary, they were very busy indeed.

While the Greys were getting alarmed about the Reds, Falin and his cohorts were working under cover, warning the Reds about the designs of the Greys, preaching centralized governmental control, advocating youth movements and gymnastics, and in general preparing the Reds for acceptance of the "coup de maitre" they had planned.

Science Fairs in Germany Differ From Those Here

Prof. James Sears, head of the physics department, now on leave as a specialist in electronics for the United States government, is now in Germany. In a recent letter from him to Dr. Hale, he tells of visiting a Science Fair in Nurmberg and states that science fairs are common in Germany, although they differ some from those held at Evansville College.

Dear Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

During the five years I was at Evansville College I kept hearing complaints about the parking situation. Now that I am at Indiana State Teachers College I am beginning to wonder what that was all about. I can't find a parking place here within four blocks of the campus. Of course I understand that ice skating is better here in the winter, so maybe that evens it up.

Yours for better publications,
John A. Boyd

(Editors Note: Mr. Boyd was adviser to The Crescent and an assistant professor of journalism during his stay here before leaving for Indiana State this past summer. That was B.P.A.-O.C. (Before Pogo Arrived on Campus), but Mr. Boyd reports in another letter that he has received his Pogo pin so maybe with that he can impress some school official enough to reserve a parking space for him.)

Anything at All

Deflation has set in. The student enrollment has dropped — by one student as far as I'm concerned. A student I thought was identical twins turned out to be the same boy who has two different-type calling names. Who? Joe Ron Dodge.

Is Don Nelson practicing somnambulistic learning? Perhaps he's just sleepy.

I do hope Bull Moose has found a job by the time this column appears. It's a long hard stretch to be out of work since 1912. Has anyone seen John Meisenheimer and Jim Coldfelter go through their "Arise! And Say in a Great Voice!! Arrff! Arrff!" act? All they need is a boat and water.

Since we're on the Pogo subject, I want to know if anyone has an authentic I Go Pogo pin from the Okeefenokee Swamp. Pat Edwards (blonde, female) sports an authentic I Like Ike pin. She claims it came from Abilene, Kans. Just can't be more authentic than that.

Bess Mullett wears white gloves to class. Always thought they were reserved for weddings, funerals, and christenings. Bess is right cool-headed. The day she became an aunt she returned a book she borrowed for summer school. Don't tell her it's real George that she's an aunt cause that's his name. (She is a nephew-type aunt).

Don't guess there were any repercussions, but during registration (way back in the middle of September) I saw a student put "occasionally" down the blank that said sex.

Did you notice that more girls than ever before are blossoming out in sweaters? (I know, donbezozilly.) (Apologies to W.W.W..)

Students aren't the only characters running loose in the Union building. The night of Oct. 7 Cliff Kraft was coffeeing with a lulu. The karrakter was tall, unshaven and unhaircut, wearing cowboy boots and an electric-blue string tie. Oooops, almost forgot — he had on the socially required shirt and pants, too.

Overheard: Pat Harris telling passersby she "hates" corsages. Just doesn't like to mess with the old things.

A table of boys in the Indian last week bought a whole box of donuts — took away the breakfast of half the student body.

There is a petite, dark-haired girl in a snug-fitting gray wool dress with a black stripe around it about eye level. Last week she had on a necklace as big as she was. (What made me notice? Why you old silly crazy you.)

The most embarrassing thing for persons making cracks about Milo Brines' antiquated auto is: It Runs. In case you don't know, it's painted brilliant blue and is usually parked at Lincoln and Frederick.

Student yelling picked up at Homecoming. It was great — just ask Bob Cravens, freshman cheerleader, how much he liked it. Just goes to show what student backing and an inspired team can do.

Don Roth Elected WEVC Manager

Donald H. Roth is the newly elected manager of radio station WEVC. He now holds the office of president of the Radio Council and general manager of the station.

A special meeting of the Radio Council was held Thursday, Oct. 9, for the purpose of electing officers of this governing body of the Evansville College Educational F-M Radio Station.

Others Elected

Other officers elected were: Robert Steele, vice-president and program director; and Delores Schaber, secretary-treasurer and continuity director of the station. Other department heads will be appointed by this executive board, and will be announced at a later date.

Works At WEOA

Mr. Roth has worked in commercial radio for three years and is currently employed as an announcer for radio station WEOA. He graduated from Bosse High School in 1950 and is a junior at Evansville College. Don is majoring in history and political science and is minoring in speech.

This year will mark his second year on the staff of the college station. His program, "Problems of Today," was a regular feature presentation of WEVC during the past school year.

Marine Recruiter To Be on Campus

Lieutenant Clifford Brokaw, District Marine Procurement Officer, will be at Evansville College on Thursday, Oct. 23, to interview prospective marines.

A graduate of Yale in 1950, Lieutenant Brokaw served with the First Marine Division in Korea and now interviews prospective candidates for both the Marine Platoon Leaders class and Officers Candidate course.

Both these programs, one for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors; the other for seniors and graduates, provides a complete draft deferment and lead to a commission as a second lieutenant.

Men thus enrolled attend no drills during the college year whatsoever. The PLC's go to two six weeks summer camps, the OCC's go to one 10 weeks summer camp. Both groups have but two years of active duty required.

All students interested are urged to drop around and see Lieutenant Brokaw, and discuss the program, on campus. Mr. Gordon Stien's office will be able to provide you with more detailed information.

AOPi National Veep Likes EC Campus

During homecoming week-end, Alpha Omicron Pi entertained their national vice-president, Jo Dorweiler.

The main purpose of the visit was to observe the AOPi's on campus.

From councils with the members of the administrative board and sorority members, Mrs. Dorweiler rated the group in comparison with other AOPi sororities in Indiana.

Mrs. Dorweiler was favorably impressed with the AOPi's and Evansville College in general. She remarked she particularly liked the friendly and courteous attitude of the students.

Pleasure as well as business was included during Mrs. Dorweiler's visit to Evansville College.

An informal meeting was held Thursday evening while sorority members completed the work on their prize-winning float.

Due to Mrs. Dorweiler's scheduled visit to Indiana University, she was unable to remain for the game Saturday. The formal meeting scheduled for Sunday was postponed until a later date.

'Wonder Boy,' Frank Stuart Must Keep on the Move

By ALLENE LAMBERT

There's a "wonder boy" on the Evansville College campus.

He's Frank Stuart, a senior English major.

Mr. Stuart is married, has two little boys, is carrying 12 hours, and works the second shift at Seeger Sunbeam. He works six days a week from 4 p.m. -12:30 a.m. plus overtime. Mr. Stuart, who is employed in aircraft production, said he is going to cut out the over-time, however.

Last year the "wonder boy" worked the 11 p.m.-7 a.m. shift at the Evansville State Hospital and carried 18 and 19 hours for two quarters.

Mr. Stuart said he considers the 12 hours he is now carrying a full load because he is practice teaching at Bosse High School. Aside from studying for his other courses, Mr. Stuart said he spends approximately one and one-half hours reading and grading paper each night.

"When I'm studying at home I have a lot of distractions," said Mr. Stuart, "but I have become accustomed to them. I can study, shake off the kids, and carry on a conversation with my wife at the same time," continued the senior.

Mr. Stuart is a Cadet Lieutenant Colonel in the ROTC and belongs to the Arnold Air Society, an educational fraternity for ROTC members. The society only meets twice a month but Mr. Stuart said that those two hours count when you have very much to do.

"I find very little time for recreation," he continued, "but no matter how busy I am I always find time to play with the boys a little."

Mr. Stuart said he doesn't get too much sleep during the week so he catches up on the week ends.

The "wonder boy" said that last fall he strained his eyes from reading so he now wears reading glasses to keep his sight good.

Mr. Stuart is a veteran of World War II and a graduate of Central High School. The Stuarts live on the campus in the veteran housing project.

Pogue Fills Position As EC Accountant

Larry Pogue, senior, has assumed the duties of accountant in the business office this fall, announced Ralph Olmsted, business manager.

Mr. Pogue is extending his last year in college in order to work part-time in the business office.

The new accountant is a former resident of Crossville, Ill., but he is now living on the campus with his wife and two children. He is also treasurer of Pi Epsilon Phi, social fraternity.

Arthur Wardelman vacated the position of accountant last summer to join the firm of William Kadick, public accountants. The Kadick accounting firm is located in the Old National Bank building.

Walker Leads 300 Pupils In Research

Everette Walker, Director of Student Personnel Services, is to conduct a research project of three hundred students at Evansville College this month.

Research of this nature is needed for two reasons. The first is to provide the college with information about the student population at the close of the first one hundred years' existence of EC.

Winkley Here

During the next two months John Winkley '05, a Moores Hill College graduate now living in California, will be at the college and visiting in Indiana, gathering data about the early students. Moore's Hill College is the predecessor of Evansville College.

The second reason is to make available information about students at a typical "Urban Type College." Evansville College has been selected on a number of occasions as a typical urban or community college.

Mr. Walker said that the tests would include a questionnaire on what the student has done since he has been in college and the names of clubs and organizations to which he has belonged. No freshmen or transfer students are included in the survey.

Series of Tests

One hundred students at a time have been scheduled for three different sets of dates. The first series of tests were Monday and yesterday in the Auditorium. The second are next Monday and Thursday and the last series of tests are on Oct. 27 and Oct. 30. All tests are at 10 a.m.

If a student cannot keep the appointment he is asked to contact Mr. Walker in A-108.

Chi O National Officer Visits Activities, Alumnae

Mrs. George C. Carroll, Chi Omega national representative of Terre Haute, Ind., has been visiting Evansville this week.

Mrs. Carroll met with the actives on Tuesday and Wednesday.

ChiO alumnae had Mrs. Carroll as guest speaker at their meeting on Thursday night in the home of Mrs. Allen O. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, chairman of the hostess committee, was assisted by Mrs. Dave Bernhardt, Mrs. Byron Nugent and Miss Ann Mattingly.

Billie Jean Miller, president of the active chapter, arranged for a series of conferences between Mrs. Carroll and active members, with Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's counselor, and with alumnae advisors.

Scale Model of New EC To Be Shown

A scale model of what one day may be the new Evansville College has been made and will soon be on display for the student body.

The plan includes all the present buildings, a new library building, a new music building, a chapel, a new gymnasium, a business administration building, and a men's and women's quadrangle dormitory.

Planting of Trees Planned

So complete is the scale model that all of the present trees and shrubs, in addition to new ones, have been put into the plan.

The model will be put on a specially constructed table in a glass enclosure in the foyer of the Union Building for display as soon as the table and cases are completed. Later, it will be taken to local banks to be displayed to the Evansville public.

Architects Made Model

McGuire and Snook, Evansville College architects, of Indianapolis, made the model. It was brought to the college by Lincoln B. Hale, president.

Billie Jo Inglis, school nurse, may be found in the Health Center daily from 2:45 to 5 p.m.

The student Health Center has facilities for emergency accidents, first aid, illness, and consulting service. It is located in the northeast corner of the Office Building, room 154.

Membership in EC Band Open To All With Musical Ability

By RICHARD NICHOLSON

So you want to join the band! No, they don't need anyone to play the radio, but if you have played or do play any musical instrument, you are eligible for membership in the Evansville College band.

Wesley Shepard, professor of music, urges any student who possesses musical ability, to stop in and see him. It is Mr. Shepard's belief that there may be a number of students capable of playing in the College band that are not playing because they do not know the requirements for admission.

Play It Pretty

All you have to do is register in the music department, according to Mr. Shepard. If he knows that you have played in a band, no audition is necessary; if he doesn't know you or the needed information is not available, all you have to do is 'play a simple melody'.

Mr. Shepard expressed his belief that the band should be a cross-section of the student body; that all departments of the college should be represented in the band. He pointed out that membership is not confined to music majors only, and and that it gives students in other departments a chance for extra curricular activities.

Certain Tooters Needed

If you play a french horn or a saxophone and don't play in the band, don't be surprised if Mr. Shepard leaps from behind a bush and throws a band uniform on you, because there is an acute shortage of these in the musical unit.

The band leader also stated that he could use an additional drummer or two and a couple of tuba tooters. He added that there is always room for a clarinet or any other woodwind instrument player.

Cornet, trombone and baritone positions are well filled, according to Mr. Shepard, but if you play one of these instruments, he extends an invitation for you to join the band. The balance in different sections has a small bearing on membership, but if you have musical ability Mr. Shepard will do his utmost to find a spot for you.

Limited Engagements

A note to students who believe they do not have the time to play in the band: Mr. Shepard points out that the Evansville College band makes fewer public appearances than the average high school band. They do not play for assemblies due to the small space in the auditorium, he said, and added that high school bands spent most of their time doing this.

So hurry, musicians, down to the music department and join the Evansville College band-wagon.

Davis Criticizes Foreign Policy In Book 'Peace, War and You'

"Peace, War and You"
Jerome Davis
By BILL BOSSE

"Peace, War and You" is a book designed for peace. The ordinary citizen has little opportunity for justifiably condemning or praising or even forming an independent judgment as to the merits of his government's action. Here is a book intended for that kind of reader.

Here is a book based on the thesis that war can be prevented but that we Americans are in danger of promoting the very steps which make war increasingly imminent. It is a criticism of America's foreign policy and America's attitude toward the Kremlin and the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain.

The author might be termed a pacifist for his idealistic appraisals. Although he points out Russia's errors, his primary purpose is to reveal ours to us.

The tone of the author's purpose is the ultimate downfall of our foreign policy. Mr. Davis feels that war does not depend on the Kremlin alone but that the bulk of the responsibility lies with us, the American people. According to Mr. Davis, the present official conduct is not a very reassuring means of preventing war.

Designed as a peace measure, our rearmament policy looks to various other countries like an ominous threat and an attempt to control their policies and actions through fear of us. In the author's mind, the bolstering of the economy of their countries in proportion to their willingness to rearm is another threat toward war — a very timely statement in view of France's rejection of a huge loan thrust upon them by the United States.

The author has centered on the foreign policies and practices of the United States because he is addressing his plea to an American audience.

He believes we have a better chance to change our own policies than those of Russia. If we were to revise our policies toward a more reasoned and intellectual outlook, we are more likely to achieve a better response from our foreign neighbors.

Slightly prejudiced in an idealistic point of view, the author's attempt is an impassioned lyric rewarding the reader with a correct sense of direction and a renewal of faith in man's potential for good.

The author cries for peace, for faith in his fellow man — a Christian appraisal of what should be done. Idealistic? Yes. Practical? Maybe. Whatever the answer, this is a book worth reading, both inspirational and rewarding.

This book and many others dealing with pertinent subjects are available in the college library.

A class in English composition is being conducted this fall at nearby Camp Breckinridge.

Eighteen officers and enlisted men are taking time out from "studying war" to brush up on their grammar.

William Jardine, principal of Carpenter School in Evansville, is the instructor. The class is being conducted at the camp by the Evening College at Evansville College.

Evansville Invades Murray Tommorow

By JACK COMBS

Evansville College, seeking their second victory of the season, will play the Murray Ky. State Thoroughbreds tomorrow at Murray.

Murray, coached by Fred Faurot, has 17 lettermen returning from last year's OVC championship squad which won eight games and lost one. The loss was to the Purple Aces, who defeated Murray 14-13.

The Aces looked the same as always as they ran on the field between the two rows of cheering students last Saturday.

dents last Saturday. But after the start of the game it became apparent that this wasn't the same team that was beaten in their first four games.

Halted Win Streak

Evansville stopped the 24-game winning streak of the Valporaiso Crusaders with a 13-7 upset in the Homecoming game for the Aces.

Evansville took the opening kickoff and marched 72 yards for their first touchdown without giving up the ball. Fullback Howard Keene smashed over from the one yard line to give Evansville a six point lead. Freshman Harold "Duke" Schneider's try for the extra point was blocked.

Crusaders Tally

The Crusaders came right back with a 77 yard drive of their own to tie the score. Left halfback Floyd Henderson scored the touchdown on a 20 yard sprint through the right side of the Evansville line. Norman Arnold kicked the point to give the Crusaders their only lead in the game 7-6.

The remainder of the first half was played on even terms until Valpo quarterback Ernest Mirich's pass from deep in his own territory was intercepted by Charles Fisher. Fisher carried the ball back 10 yards to the Crusader's 25 yard line.

Saucer Scores

Fisher's pass to Milo Brines put the ball on the five yard line. Keene lost two, but Willie Saucer ripped through for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Schneider's try for the extra point was good to give Evansville their 13-7 lead.

Valpo outplayed the Aces in the second half, but determined, alert defensive play stopped the Crusaders drives.

Revlon Bowl Game Is Scoreless Tie

By JIM YORK

The fourth annual Crescent Revlon Rose Bowl game was played to a 0-0 tie as Mary Jean Lockwood and her Beta Sigma Chi O teammates staved off a fourth quarter drive by an underdog AOPi-Phi Mu team.

In a game which featured outstanding defensive play by both teams and saw Miss Lockwood, Roberta Becker and Diane Bentley bearing the blunt of the AOPi-Phi Mu drive in the final quarter. Joyce Wiggers and Bess Mullet steadied their team early in the game when it seemed the Beta Sig-Chi O squad sparked by Miss Lockwood was going to run rampent over the inexperienced AOPi-Phi Mu team.

The highlight of the game was the fine punting of Miss Becker and Captain Toni Reitz of the Phi Mu's as Toni numerous times punted from deep in her own territory throughout the first half, but it was all Miss Becker's show in the second half as she unleashed some punts that would be envied by some local punters to ward off the desperate drives of the AOPi-Phi Mu crew late in the game.

The Music department is to be highly praised for the picturesque half time program which could only be classed as modernistic. It probably never happened before and should it ever happen again the participants may be under the servialance of mental officials.

Meet King John

John Moss, senior tackle for the Purple Aces, is shown above wearing the king's crown after the coronation ceremonies for the Revlon Rose Bowl last Friday. He was crowned by Diane Bently at halftime and greeted enthusiastically, to say the least, by members of both teams, following the ceremonies. Was his face red!

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Coach Ping isn't the only person on campus who is happy to have his Aces back in the fold. Everyone was happy to see them turn Aces of a different color, and, the way it looks from where I sit, we won't see another loss the remainder of the season.

Many persons on and off campus have wondered what was wrong with the team, the same boys who have beaten stronger teams than the ones they lost to this year. It is old philosophy that a house divided will not long endure.

But now that the differences have been ironed out, and the members of the squad pat each other on the back and give words of encouragement instead of frowns and curses; it's time the students gave them the thanks that they deserve for their proud performance on the field. Valpo had a big, strong, and well organized squad.

This thanks can work both ways. Members of the team, and now we can honestly call them a team, want to express their thanks for the swell turnout of screaming supporters before, during, and after the game. Not many persons left the stands early last Saturday.

Last week many persons took offense at what I said about the buses, and about what I said concerning Sidney Barker, the most energetic of the majorettes.

The band got mad because I said they took off with the police escort, and the team had to fight its way through traffic. Why not wait for the team if they're late? The game won't start until they get there anyway.

But when I said Sidney Barker showed more action than the team, I didn't dream the band would think I meant she out-shined their halftime activities. We have a wonderful band. The only thing that a person can possibly say about the smartness of the group is why not take off the civil war uniforms and get something to dress them up?

Tomorrow the Aces go South to visit a pretty tough Murray team. If you have the chance to make the trip — don't miss it! It isn't that they necessarily need your help to win the games. They will need your help to protect them from the citizens after Murray is beaten. It's happened before.

Quintet Starts Season Nov. 27

"We definitely expect an improved season over last year," Coach Arad McCutchan said after the first week of basketball practice.

The Purple Aces open a 23-game schedule this season against Oakland City College in the National Guard Armory here Nov. 27.

Last season the team slumped considerably due largely to the graduation of the quintet that had led the Aces for several previous seasons. McCutchan feels that the team is far more seasoned this year.

When practice began on Oct. 1, 26 men reported for drills. With several former high school stars vieing for positions on the team, several of the regulars may be hard pressed to keep their positions.

With the record dropping off to only seven wins against 20 losses last season, the Aces scored victories over: Oakland City (twice), Morehead, Valparaiso, Indiana State, Ball State, and Tennessee Tech.

Coach McCutchan expects his quintet to start a winning season when they open against Oakland City.

Freshman Halfback Back on Campus

By RICHARD NICHOLSON

Since his injury which occured in the waning minutes of the Butler game early in the season, Bill Parish, freshman halfback, has been waiting patiently until he can again don the Purple and White on the gridiron.

Bill suffered a broken ankle in the Aces futile attempt to down Butler in the second game of the season. The Pingmen were hurt badly by the loss of the hard running all-city halfback.

Plays Hard

The big gun in the Evansville attack until that fatal moment, he possessed the fighting spirit and determination that many of the Aces lacked.

It is doubtful as to whether Bill can regain the form this fall that carried him to the starting backfield position when he has the cast removed from his leg, but one can safely say that the speedster will come back in spring practice with the same untamed fury he has already shown.

For his superior ability and sportsmanship, Bill was given an honorary membership in the Quarterback Club to add to the honors he has won on the gridiron.

Students Give Ike Edge On Adlai in Campus Poll

Dwight D. Eisenhower led Adlai Stevenson by a majority of 138 to 47 as choice for president in a recent poll of the students on the campus.

The poll was taken the day class officers were elected. Eisenhower totalled 138 votes, a 64% majority over the democratic candidate, Stevenson, who polled less than 24% of all votes cast. Whether or not this is a representative poll remains to be seen.

Polling by classes showed the juniors giving Ike the most support; Ike polled 36, Adlai four, and four undecided. The junior-senior group, 100 voting, cast 72 for Ike and 15 for Adlai with 13 undecided.

The frosh-soph group, 107 voting, cast 61 for Ike and 32 for Adlai with 14 undecided. Ike had a clear cut majority throughout the entire poll.

Even with Stevenson winning the undecided votes, the only narrow margin would be found in the sophomore class.

Thirty-three soph ballots were cast for Ike. Adlai totaled 17, while 11 did not commit themselves. With the undecided votes Adlai could poll only 46% of this class. However, the ultimate accuracy of this poll will only be determined on Nov. 4. The students polled represent approximately 25% of the student body.

Kaywoodie Contest To Open Oct. 16

Kaywoodie Pipe Company has designed a contest to encourage new and exciting designs in pipes, announced Morris L. Levinson, president.

First prize in this contest is $1000; second prize brings $500; and third prize pays $250. Five honorable mentions have awards of $100 each.

Kaywoodie is tiring of the conventional design in pipes and hopes to encourage any aspiring and artistically inclined person, who may be interested in trying to win a little extra money, to come to the forefront with a new and entirely different pattern.

Automobiles change, refrigerators change, but the pipe remains the same. Kaywoodie hopes that this contest will prove this rule wrong.

Here are the rules:

1. Competition begins Oct. 16, 1952
2. Entries must be postmarked no later than Jan. 31, 1953
3. Entry blanks and tags may be obtained by writing to the Sculpture Competition Director, Kaywoodie Co., 6400 Broadway, West New York, New Jersey.
4. Any medium may be used.
5. Minimum and maximum lengths of entries are three and 18 inches, respectively.
6. Entries will be judged for artistic excellence rather than commercial design.

Foreign Students Learn 'American Way' at Hale's

Foreign students at Evansville College became acquainted with American ways of living last Sunday evening in a discussion at the home of President Lincoln B. Hale.

This discussion was the first in a series of discussions to be held at the Hale's and was entitled, "Means of Communication." Counselors for the evening were Harold Van Winkle, public relations, and Ralph Olmsted, business manager.

Several American students attended in order to get acquainted with the foreign students and also to give American viewpoints on certain questions.

An article in last week's Crescent stated incorrectly that Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college, and Miss Lucille Jones, professor of education, would head the first discussion, while Mr. Van Winkle and Mr. Olmsted would lead "Educational Systems."

It should be noted that Mr. Van Winkle and Mr. Olmsted led "Means of Communication" and Dr. McKown and Miss Jones will counsel for "Educational Systems."

The next discussion will be Sunday, Oct. 26, from 7:30-9 p.m.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Lord 'Closes Case' on Coombes

Thespian Play To Tell Details Wednesday

By DON BERNHARDT

(SPECIAL)

An Evansville College student working under cover for the Federal Bureau of Investigation for the past three months, barged into The Crescent office last night and told the staff that he has solved a ease that has had the capitol in an uproar since the Revolutionary War.

An authority on ancient war characters, Bill Lord senior speech major, was called out of summer school by officials at Washington, D. C. and assigned the baffling case of Nathanial Coombes, a soldier charged with treason under the command of General George Washington.

"Hero" Relatives Contend

Mr. Lord said the the case was brought to a head when Coombes' descendents appeared in Washington and demanded that the Coombes name be cleared in all military records. It seems that Coombes was delivering urgent messages to General Washington about the position of the British forces when he stopped for a rendzvous with a eurvaeious barmaid.

He was caught and killed by the Red Coats but as Coombes relatives point out, no word was ever released that he forfeited the message when overtaken and his relatives contend that he died for his country defending the information.

"My job," said Mr. Lord, "was to find the message which Nathaniel was carrying, to help decide the validity of the Coombes case and finally and most difficult, to find the spirit of old Nathaniel since a report from General George said that "Nathan" has failed to make the roll call up there in all these years."

"Well what were the results and how did you break the ease," the staff anxiously quipped.

See "Gramerey Ghost"

On this question Mr. Lord balked. The mystery sleuth said that he had given The Crescent "an exclusive" on the inside story, but he was saving the final solution and details of the 175 year old case for release Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Thespian production "Gramercy Ghost."

Mr. Lord said that he will direct the play under the supervision of Howard Hill, assistant professor of drama and speech, and the produetion will also run Thursday and Friday nights at 8:30 p.m.

England's Alfred Edwards Worth Hearing

Alfred Edwards, famous English industrialist and parliamentarian who spoke during the convocation period last week, proved to us that the English don't have such a bad sense of humor after all, even if it was someone else's joke.

The joke we refer to was the one that ribs England's famous "open palm policy" toward the U.S. It goes: "When Winston Churchill flew in from Great Britain to visit the U.S., Harry Truman was on hand at the airport to greet him. 'How do you feel, Harry?', Winnie asked as he got off the plane. 'Like a million,' Harry replied. 'That'll do for a down payment,' was Churchill's punch-line."

The polished speaker didn't come here just to tell jokes however; his topic was "Where Are We Heading" and if you didn't know when you came out of convocation you at least had plently of food for thought.

We are glad to report that there was a reasonably good turnout to hear Mr. Edwards, even if most of the students were compelled to go; i.e. the freshman class. With such speakers as Mr. Edwards there should be standing room only.

The college, in cooperation with the Junior Service League of Evansville, is bringing several other top-notch speakers here to participate in The Citizenship Forum, which will feature five other internationally know guests lecturers throughout the school year.

Even if you miss that cup of coffee during that 10 o'clock hour, it will be well worth your time to attend. It would have cost you one scarce dollar to hear the same person speak that evening.

Dr. Hale's Discussion Groups Miniature UN

Last week a few members of the Crescent and LinC staffs were invited to attend one of the Sunday evening discussion groups held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hale for the purpose of acquainting the foreign students here with various phases of American life as compared to life in their homelands.

The subject discussed that evening was "Means of Communication, Radio and Newspapers." And five will get you ten that these foreign students, whether from Tel-Aviv or Berlin, can tell you more about the newspapers in their countries than you can tell them about the papers here.

The most interesting thing we noted throughout the evening, was how much understanding could be accomplished in such a short time among people from all over the world.

We are certain that if every student but had the opportunity to sit in one one of these discussions, they would never doubt the value of the United Nations.

And today, by the way, is United Nations Day; turn to page six and see what some of our foreign students have to say on that subject.

Should a Few Have To Do All the Work?

Soon after the fall quarter started, a list for committee members for "Gramercy Ghost" was placed in the main hall of the Administration Building.

Last week's Crescent ran a story listing all the students who had signed up for committees. The results were rather startling. Of the 854 students enrolled in Evansville College only 14 offered their aid.

True, it isn't wise to neglect your studying for extracurricular activities, but surely, working on one of these committees could not involve too much of your time.

As it is, those 14 students will have to do more than their share in order to make the play the success it should be.

Why should a few have to assume all the responsibilities? Wouldn't it be much easier if everyone shared the duties?

Being on a committee is not all work — it can actually be fun. You not only have the feeling that you are doing something for your school, but you make many new friends as well.

Next time the Thespians ask for your help on committees, let's help them.

Aces Lose, But With Honor

Well, the Aces lost again Saturday.

But this time with honor; the boys played hard down at Murray Saturday before a large Murray Homecoming crowd, and with a break or two could have extended their winning streak to two games. As it turned out, Murray eked out a 14-10 victory.

And the general consensus of opinion among Evansville fans who saw the Murray game was that as long as the Aces fought like that in every game, losing wasn't so bad. We agree. The Aces are a changed team, let's keep backing them!

If He Only Knew . . . . . How Proud Guiseppi Would Be

Rolando Anzillotti, a college professor with a liking for children, promised the people of Pescia a huge monument of the hand carved lad if he were elected mayor.

Unable to cope with the enthusiasm of the townspeople shown toward this new project, the communist party was decisively beaten.

Contributions from school children all over the world, in answer to an appeal sent out by the new mayor, have been pouring into the village rapidly, and Signor Anzillotti says he is confident that construction can start by spring.

It was in Pescia where a penniless newspaper man wrote the story of the little puppet on the marble top of a table between newspaper assignments.

Would you like to be entitled to one fib a week? Well, the mayor of Pescia has proposed a contest in which children will send in sketches of their conception of the monument. To the winner will go a Pinocchio certificate signed by the mayor, and the privilege to tell one fib a week—without having your nose grow.

How proud Guiseppi, the little old woodcarver, would be if he were around today. His own real life son, who courageously conquered the deep blue ocean to save his weary father, recently, seventy years later, helped conquer the ever engulfing waves of communism.

Pinocchio, the fib-telling idol of small children all over the world, "nosed" the Communist party out in an election held in his own home town, Pescia, Italy.

Why Women Are Like Newspapers

1. They have forms
2. They have a large circulation
3. A back issue is not in demand
4. They come in all types
5. They stack up well
6. Some can be picked up on street corners
7. You can't believe half what they say
8. They aren't worth much
9. You should have one of your own and not borrow your neighbors.

As Squirrels Become People . . . Reds Elect Fallin Glorious Leader

(The story so far: A group of squirrels find some papers in the woods and read about the ways of civilized men. Two power-thirsty squirrels see a chance to set themselves up as leaders and live off the work of others. Under their urging, Red and Grey squirrels grow to hate and fear each other. Fluman Grey organizes the democratic United Grey Squirrels, gets himself elected president; Fallin Red warns the Reds of the capitalistic and warmonger Greys and paves the way for his rise to Glorious Leader.)

By BOB GREEN

Several days prior to the election held by the Greys, the Reds held their own version of a democratic election.

In the grey dawn hours, party workers "got out the vote" by knocking on doors and informing the sleepy Reds that there would be a spontaneous demonstration of the people at dawn under the big hackleberry tree. Even the sleepyhead Reds decided to be "spontaneous" after looking down the barrel of a burp gun.

Spontaneous Cheering

So dawn's first light found every Red assembled under the hackleberry tree, breaking into a great cheer at the appearance of Fallin, resplendant in his uniform covered with medals and looking fiercely over his flaring mustaches.

The cheers grew louder and longer as Fallin's agents, spotted through the crowd, nudged ribs with gun barrels an hissed, "Louder comrade. Louder!"

Fallin, surrounded by his henchmen, stood on a stump and smilingly accepted the cheers as his due. Finally he raised his arm for silence and began to speak.

Refrigerator Worshipers

A master rabble rouser, he was at his best. The Reds shuddered in horror as he spoke of the Greys. Warmongers, capitalistic dogs, butchers and murderers who worshiped refrigerators and motor cars. Fiends, who killed their mothers and fathers just to watch them kick.

And the peace loving Reds? Yes, the Greys had designs on them. Terrible, unspeakable designs. Their only salvation was a united front; an iron curtain, and central government, that must, under a strong leader, direct the work of the people for the common good and defense of all.

Fallin Volunteers

Who would that leader be? Fallin made the supreme sacrifice. He would volunteer in the Motherland's hour of need. We would put his name on the ballot. Now, did anyone else care to enter the race for the office of Glorious Leader?

One ambitious Red tossed his hat into the political ring. He was promptly liquidated. A free election was then held, and Fallin and his appointed candidates for the different commissar offices were unanimously elected.

Before the election was hardly over, pictures of the Glorious Leader were plastered over every tree trunk, limb, and stump in the Red's part of the woods.

Hammer and Sickle

Under his picture was the symbol of the party, a crossed hammer and sickle. which according to Fallin, represented the power of the workers. A few Reds thought, though they dared not voice their thoughts, that the symbol was more of a warning, the hammer symbolizing they would be beaten into line, and the sickle that they would be cut down should they stray from the pathway specified by the Glorious Leader.

Fallin and his MVD took over immediately. Young squirrels found themselves in the army and air force. The government owned everything. People were assigned to factories and nut harvesting communities. Woe unto he who didn't fill his quota; he became a salt miner in the Fiberan part of the woods.

Secret Mission

An important Red General was detailed to command a secret mission. Fortunately for him, he succeeded, for Fallin did not smile on failure. Those who failed usually sickened, died, and were given a heroes funeral.

The General's command staggered back late one afternoon bearing a bulky, covered burden. All the Reds wondered what it was.

Korean Studying Government Here

"It has been my ardent desire to go to a college in the United States of America ever since I can remember . . . to be permitted to attend school there would be the crowning glory and outstanding achievement of my life."

This is a statement made by Chong-do Hah of Pusan, Korea, prior to his coming to the United States.

Mr. Hah is now a student here at Evansville College. He is studying political science in order that he may held his own country when he returns there after his study here is complete.

War Taught Something

Mr. Hah believes that the present crisis in Korea has taught the South Koreans something — what the communists are really like.

The Korean also holds the conviction that the presence of American troops in Korea has shown his people what a true democracy really it. "American enlisted men and officers are all ambassadors there in a way," the South Korean said.

Went to School in Seoul

Mr. Hah was born on the island of Koje where his mother is now living. Mr. Hah, Chong-do's father, died in 1947.

At the age of 12 Chong-do went to Seoul, capital of Korea, where he attended primary school, middle school, and college. He specialized in politics, economics, and English and was graduated in 1950.

Work Has Varied

In 1946 Mr. Hah served as Interpreter-Translator for the Kyung Nam Provincial government and in 1947 he was employed by the Kyung Nam Provost Court, USAMGIK, Pusan, as attorney and chief clerk. In this capacity he gained wide experience and found much interest in the foreign official business, the U. S. Government itself, and its military occupation policy and law.

Since he left college in 1950, Mr. Hah has worked for the U.S. Army as an administrative assistant and later worked for the Pusan Ice Manufacturing and Cold Storage Company.

Mr. Hah is residing with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rosencranz, 844 East Powell avenue, while studying here. Their son, Albert Rosencranz met him in Korea and helped him to come here.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Hah will present a Korean's view of the United Nations in the Great Hall at 10 o'clock this morning.)

Brown County Oils On Display in Union

Several oil painting are on display in the art gallery of the Union Building from the collection of W. C. Bussing, president of the Evansville Press.

The oils, with the exception of one, are painted by a group known as the Brown County artists.

Outstanding among the collection is George Inness' "Delaware Water Gap." Mr. Inness is considered by authorities as being one of the greatest landscape painters America has produced.

Theodore Steel and John Bundy are two other well-known Indiana artists. They are especially noted for their scenes of the seasonal changes at Brown County.

The painting not among the Brown County group is a portarit of Mr. Bussing's Chinese Pug, a recognized dog champion.

Gamma Delta Has Halloween Party

Gamma Delta freshman sorority had a Halloween party in the patio of the Union Building yesterday evening. It was an informal date affair.

The room was decorated with jack-o-lanterns, corn shucks, and candles. The colors were carried out in the traditional Halloween colors, orange and black. For entertainment there were games and dancing. The committees were appointed by Jackie King, president. Ann Wyber was in charge of decorations with Patricia Courtleigh as co-chairman. Mary Thurman and Marilyn Leucht headed the food committee. Working as chairmen of entertainment were Louise Hobgood and Pat Dorst. Carol Kerr was head of the chaperone eommittee.

Determination and Effort Help Shutt Attain Goals

By PAUL DEWIG

Determination and effort with the desire for education sums up the background of one of the most interesting success stories of a member of the college faculty, James W. Shutt, assistant professor of speech.

Mr. Shutt was born in Canton, Ohio. There he completed his elementary education and one year of high school. Perhaps the decisive factor in the determination of his life's career was established in his mind during the first five weeks of his sophomore year in high school.

Math Troubles

During these weeks it was evident that he had a definite block in mathmatics, and although he tried to master the subject, he found he could not, without individual attention from the instructor. This individual instruction was not given him, but rather a constant discouragement. It finally resulted in misunderstandings between them, and untimately Mr. Shutt dropped out of school.

Both bitter and disillusioned he rationalized that he would get a job and help his family. For seven years he worked in the steel mills, during which time the desire for education was building up and gradually he determined to go to college. By the time he was 24 and making plans to enter college the second World War intervened.

Wins Prize

Mr. Shutt spent the next four years in the paratroops. Three and a half years of this time was spent overseas. His yen for a higher education lingered and grew during these service years. Also during this time he developed an interest in writing poetry. One of his poems won first prize rating in a national contest.

Within two months after being discharged he was married and entered in Ohio University on the GI Bill. About a month after he had entered college it was discovered that he had never received a high school diploma, but they allowed him to continue. Mr. Shutt received his B.A. degree in two and a half years, his M.A. degree in one year and has completed one year of his doctorate. After being away from school for a period of 12 years, Mr. Shutt completed his college education with better than a 2.9 average.

Taught in New York

While getting his M.A. degree he worked as a graduate assistant and taught as assistant in debate while studying for his Ph.D. His first teaching job after graduation was at New York State Teachers College in Albany, New York. Before coming to Evansville he taught at State University Technical Institute, Alford, New York.

Former Student Missing in Korea

Marine Corporal Robert Dewitt Wilder, a former student at Evansville College, has been reported missing in action in Korea.

His mother, Mrs. Evelyn Wilder, said that the defense department telegram informed her that he had been missing since Occt. 6.

Mr. Wilder graduated from Central High School, attended Evansville College and Indiana State College at Terre Haute before he entered the Marine Corps on July 14, 1951.

His basic training was received at Parris Island, S. C. He was later stationed at Camp Pendleton, Cal. He was sent from Camp Pendleton to Korea.

After arriving in Korea on June 17, he was assigned to the Seventh regiment, First Marine division. It was with this group that he was attached when reported missing.

Veterans Must Turn In Certificate of Eligibility

Korean veterans attending college under Public law 550 should contact the office of Student Personnel Services and turn in a certificate of eligibility, it was announced today. This certificate must be received before the Personnel office can issue a report which entitles the veteran to receive his schooling allotment. The Student Personnel Office asks that this be done at the earliest possible time.

Study of Axis Proves To Be Exciting Story

"The Rome Berlin Axis"
Elizabeth Wiskemann

By BILL BOSSE

This is a book primarily for the scholar, to be read for instruction rather than relaxation. Nevertheless, the study of the Rome Berlin axis is both colorful and dramatic and the author, through brilliant biography and analysis has woven these facts into a book which could easily be mistaken for fiction.

The value of Miss Wiskemann's book is that is not only provides a study of pre-war diplomacy, but that it carries the story of Hitler and his colleagues right through the tragic end. A book of this type naturally contains numerous footnotes, references to sources, and one might easily believe that this might lead to dull reading. It is only the skill of Miss Wiskemann as a historian that saves this information from falling into that category.

Miss Wiskemann has made an intelligent study of this material in its historical sequence, and correlated the accounts on both sides into a work designed to be both enlightening and informative.

In writing such a book the auhtor is faced with an almost insurmountable problem. Undoubtedly there are still documents which will in time, throw more light on the entire matter. It is because of this that the author possibly relies too much on material which has not been substantiated.

The average reader has read much of the official evidence which has come out of Nuremberg and elsewhere, of the letters, diaries and memoirs of the important actors in the melodrama of the past war. This book is for that type of reader. This is a straight forward account of what happened and why, by an author who knows Central Europe. A thorough book, The Rome Berlin Axis is both informative and melodramatic.

Officials Visit EC En Route to Big ROTC Meeting

President Lincoln B. Hale served as host to a group of college deans and ROTC commanders here last Tuesday. The group represented seven institutions from nearboy states including Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky. The group was the guest of President Hale at a luncheon.

The men were on their way to Montgomery, Alabama to attend a conference at Headquarters ROTC. There they discussed plans for the 1953 school year. Secretary of Defense Finletter and General Hoyt Vandenberg spoke at the conference. The group representing the nearby colleges met with personnel from approximately 90 other institutions. The meeting was two days in length with a total of about 188 schools represented.

The men who represented schools from the nearby states were: Father Reinert and Col. Commentator from the University of St. Louis; Dean Beck and Major Gentry from Parks College in St. Louis; Dr. Collins and Col. King from Indiana University; Dr. White and Col. Davis from the University of Kentucky; Dean Oppenheimer and Col. Anderson from the University of Louisville; President Morris and Lt. Col. All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Tough fight, Mom, we did our best, but they had that lucky break. Just couldn't be helped. And that is the truth. There isn't a person on campus who can truthfully say that the Aces didn't play their best last Saturday — down in the hostil Southland.

But most of the students and friends of the Aces were a little disappointed. They bought tickets to see tow hard fights, and they saw only one. Murray has definitely reformed its citizenery.

The game was hard fought from the opening whistle until the final bang, and, again, there weren't many, if any, who wanted to leave the stands before it was officially called over. Even though the Aces were having a little trouble with their offensive play.

Maybe this was partly because the Ace's star ground gainer, Howard Keene, was injured during the first quarter, or because Norm Heard's passes, although he did get off some good ones, weren't hitting too regularly.

Whatever the case, they made up in defense what they lacked in offense.

The cheering section for the team wasn't its usual self, but they made their presence known about the fast-horse homestead. In fact, they made as much noise as the throng of Murray mouthers.

Tomorrow the Mentor's maulers travel up to Collegeville way to play the low team on the ICC totem pole, St. Joe. The Aces, oddly enough, are two teams up the ladder. On the St. Joe roster is one of the Mentor's ex-gridders, Bob Walton. Bob is a former Memorial quarter back who played on the freshman squad here before transferring to St. Joe.

While the Aces are playing St. Joe, the championship of the ICC will be decided at Indianapolis between Butler and Indiana State. If these two teams play the same brand of ball they played when they visited Southern Indiana, we can all write a letter to John A. Boyd, who directed publications here for five years, congratulating him on picking a winner long before the race began.

Here's a blow to the Hilltoppers of Western Kentucky and the rest of the basketball-minded world Ed Diddle, head basketball coach at Western for 31 years, has retired because of ill health. Mr. Diddle, who has led the tall Kentucks to New York many times, is 57.

Ping Pong Tourney Gets Underway

Play in the annual Union House Committee ping pong tourney started Wednesday.

Competition was slated in five divisions; men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles. Trophies will be presented to the winneds of all divisions.

It was feared that the women's doubles would be dropped due to the lack of entrants, according to Pat Whitehead Miller, chairman of the committee.

The only champion returning from last year is Quenten "Pete" Rowe, teamed with Bob Kemmeling to capture the men's singles and turn the men's doubles.

Imogene Merritt, who was runner-up in the women's singles division will also play this year. All players who reached the quarter final last year are seeded in this years tourney.

ICC Championship Red Hot Battle

The championship race in the Indiana Collegiate Conference has settled down to become a red-hot battle for top honors as the series of gridiron clashes heads in to its seventh week.

Butler and Indiana rate as the top choices to step in and take the championship away from the Valpo Crusaders, who won it last year. No top team is mathematically out of the race, however, and Valparaiso has a chance of repeating its championship performance of last year.

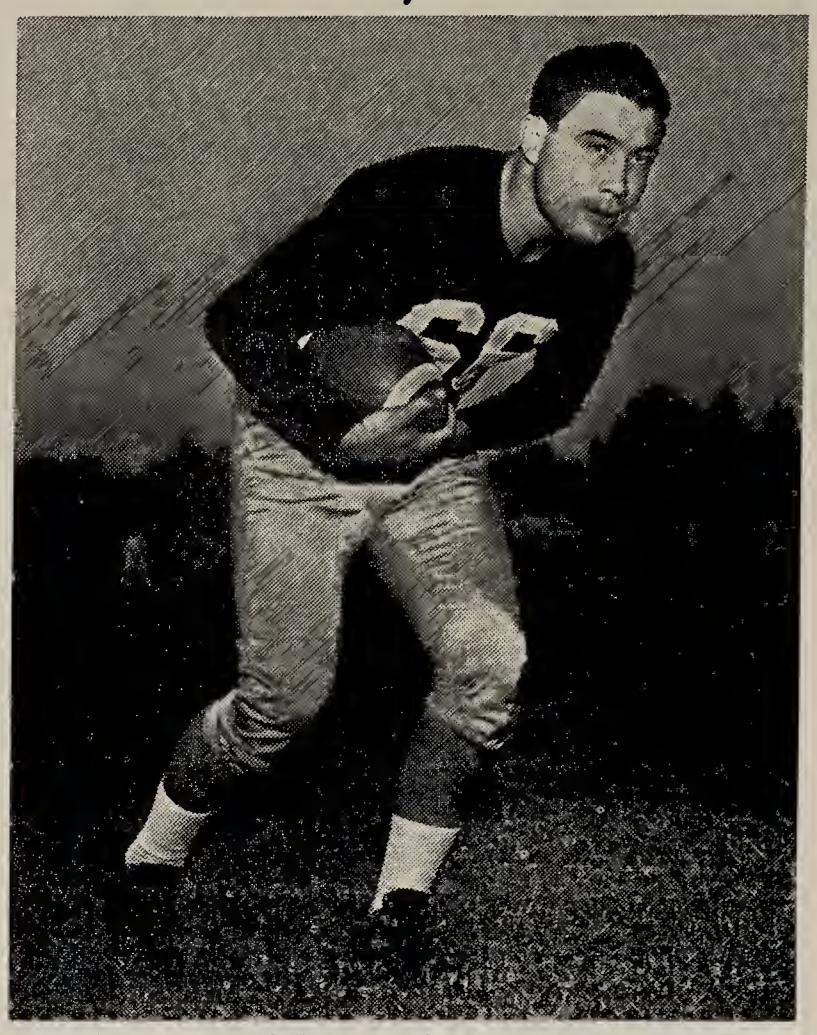
Don Vrabel of Indiana State leading the rushing and total offense statistics and shares the honors as top scorer in the ICC with Butler's Norm Ellensberger. Vrabel has an average of over eight yards per carry in 40 tries.

Fred Daves of Butler leads the conference passers with nearly 50 per cent of his pass attempts completed for 267 yards and two touchdowns.

John Pindell, a veteran end from St. Joseph's, is the leading pass receiver currently having grabbed six passes for 83 yards.

Aces Travel To St. Joseph

The Big Train



Howard Keene, Ace fullback pictured above, continues to lead the Evansville ground attack after six games. Howard is a product of Galesburg High School, Galesburg, Illinois. Here he was named all-state for two consecutive years. Keene, a sophomore stands 6' 1" and weighs in at 215 pounds.

Late Murray Rally Erases Ace Lead

By DICK NICHOLSON

Evansville's rejuvenated gridmen, fighting hard to follow-up their upset of Valporaiso with a triumph over their most bitter rival, fell victim to Murray's equally determined Thoroughbred's last Saturday in Cutchin Stadium in Murray.

The Aces staved off Murray drives in the initial stanza, harnessing the Racers on the 7 and 12 yard lines, before breaking the scoring ice in the second quarter. The Pingmen tallied on a field goal by guard Bob Scott from the four yard line, after advancing the ball from the Murray 30.

Thoroughbreds Take Lead

Covering 62 yards on a punt return and a pass, the Thoroughbreds took the lead with less than one minute remaining in the first half.

Halfback John Bohana returned an Evansville punt 34 yards to the Purple and White 28 yard marker. Quarterback Ray Lafser fired a pass to Bohna, and when Bernie Behrendt added the extra point, Murray held a half time lead, 7 to 3.

Wooley Scores

Taking advantage of a Racer backfield miscue, the Aces drove 52 yards with Bob Wooley, Ace captain, scoring from eight yards out. Hal Schneider added the extra point and the spirited Aces again held the lead, 10 to 7, at the end of three quarters.

With victory looming nearer and nearer, the Aces fought hard to retain their lead. However, with seven minutes left in the final stanza, an intercepted pass turned victory into defeat, sending Evansville down to their fifth loss against a single win.

Murray Takes Lead

Racer end Claud Thorn pulled in a pass from Jim Giovanetti to start the final drive for the 'Breds. Nine plays later Murray held a 14 to 10 lead and their second win in four starts.

Tomorrow the Aces go to Rennessalear to invade the St. Joe Pumas in quest of an ICC victory. The Pumas were bolstered by 15 returning lettermen this year, but injuries have plagued coach Gene Fetter's squad until the head mentor is unsure of a starting line-up.

The Aces have met the Pumas but once on the gridiron, in 1940, when St. Joe defeated the Purple and White, 26 to 7.

There are several former Evansville prep players on the Puma roster.

Annual Philo, Phi Zeta Grid Battle Date Set for Nov. 9

Sunday, Nov. 9, at 2 p.m. has been set as the date for the 15th annual Pi Epsilon Phi-Phi Zeta intra-fraternity football game to be played at the college practice field.

John Moss, senior, tackle on the EC football team has been chosen as coach for the Philo squad, with Ex-Ace gridiron star Don Weston at the helm of the Zeta crew.

The game, which in the past has been played on the Sunday following Homecoming, was postponed to the later date due to the early date of Homecoming this year. Since the game is played under college rules and with the required eleven players it was felt that sufficient practice time was not available to round the two teams into shape in time to play on the usual date.

This 15th edition of the rivalry shows promise of being one of the most exciting games due to the large number of players taking part this year that played in last year's tilt.

The series which now stands 11-3 in favor of the Philos, who won eight of the first nine games played prior to the last war. Of the five games played since the war the Zetas won the 1947-48 games by the identical scores of 7-6, the Philos have ran rampent over the Zetas since 1948 having won by the respective scores of 7-0, 18-0, and 24-0 last year.

Foreign Students Express Diverse Opinions of UN

By ED FLY

Today the United Nations will celebrate its seventh anniversary. The Crescent thought it might be an appropriate time to get the opinion of some of the foreign students concerning the United Nations.

The following questions have been asked several of these students: Do you think the United Nations, up to the present time, has been a success or failure? . . . On what background do you base your opinion?

Their answers are as follows: Benjamin Arnon, Israel — "Yes, I feel very strongly that the UN is on the right track. The "Unesco," I.R.O. and other UN agencies did a great job in the fields of health education, and peace. The mere fact that the UN was the first International organization which came out together to stop the aggressor in Korea shows us that it is a strong organization and the only hope for peace today.

"The job of the UN which I observed in the middle east . . . helping the backward Arab countries, and technical help. In Europe the great humanitarian job the UN did in helping people after the war and the UN action in Korea are reasons supporting my belief."

Nancy Lai, China — "Neither." "One of the main purposes of the United Nations is to hring peace to all nations and up to the present time this has not been accomplished, hut the UN has and will continue in its attempt for a world peace."

Raimund Damaske, Germany — "Yes." . . . "In my opinion the UN has been a success, though most of us may think different on account of its apparent failure in Korea. In Korea too much is at stake: the material and moral victory or defeat of the free world over Communist aggression. Two of the most powerful representatives of either side have thrown full support for their ussues.

"But, aside of that the UN succeeded. What about Iran in 1946: Russian troops evacuated northern Iran. March 1949: settlement of the Palestine enmities. In 1948 and 1951: border conflicts of Greece and Parkistan with their neighbors were subdued."

Ahdul Kamara, Sierra Leone — "Yes and No." "In certain aspects the United Nations has been a success . . . for example, UNESCO and UNRRO. Otherwise the UN has become a forum of semantics. Facts and wishes of the so called minority Nations are ignored to suit the atmosphere and interests of imperialists. . . . Affairs relating to powder keg areas like the Union of South Africa, Morocco, Tunisia, etc., have been deliberately ignored. Britian and France being partners and the United States haphazardly supporting their interests.

"With this display of political deceit, the colored world the world over seem to regard the USSR as a friend . . . although herself more imperialistic than the West."

Filippus Goeltom, Indonesia — "Yes" and "No." It has heen a success by protecting human rights, creating a better understanding among the nations today, but not effective enough to determine peace.

"It may fail because of the usage of the government system in theUSSR . . . newcomers hesitate to follow the steps of the United States or the USSR who are against each other.

"If the UN is ahle to maintain peace, should it not make the country which is fighting for its freedom give it help? . .. What about the countries that are also memhers of the UN, England, France, Belgium, the Netherlands; are they willing to give their colonies thier freedom without any conflict as the United States did in the Philippines?"

"Which country of the above mentioned will follow the USA? The USSR starts again to colonize the world, but in a different way, for example . . . what has happened in China and elsewhere?"

Manuel Lopez, Dominican Republic — "Yes." "As of now the United Nations is the best known way to achieve world peace and harmony, and for that end it is striving, most times successfully although we hear little about them. Like most things in this world, the UN is not perfect. It is now undergoing a maturing development. Its success cannot be pressed hastily — just remember that America itself underwent innumberable hardships before it succeeded as a nation and that in the UN there are sixty countries."

In the hope that the United Nations may attain a more personal significance, the International Relations Club will present Chong-Do-Hah of the Republic of South Korea in a program this morning at 10 a.m. in the Great Hall of the Student Union Building. Mr. Hah, who arrived three weeks ago from Korea, will present a Korean's view of the United Nations.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

'Hell Week' Ends Today for 13 Pledges

WEVC Gives Live Play, My Client Curly

WEVC will present "My Client Curly" next Wednesday from 7-7:30 p.m., announced Barbara Moore, director.

Miss Moore said that the play has a human interest story. In the play a theatrical agent discovers a tap dancing caterpiller and gives him a lot of publicity.

Song Written

A song is written about Curly and everything possible is done to publicize his talents. Even international relations enter into the scene when a song and dance concerning international affairs is written for the extraordinary caterpillar.

Curly becomes so popular that Walt Disney offers to make a movie illustrating his life, so the story goes.

Just when everything is going right for the agent and his client, Curly, the latter disappears. The entire country is panic stricken — clubs are organized called "Find Curly Clubs;" but it is all useless. The reason? Curly is no longer a caterpillar, but has now turned into a butterfly.

Nine Do 35 Parts

There are 35 speaking parts, but 9 people do all the acting in the production. They are: James Shutt, assistant professor of speech, Marion Postleweight, Jack Schaffner, Delores Schaber and John Powell. Bill Hill, Helen Tolliver, Bob Cravens and Lucy Baggett are also in the play.

This is the first time that WEVC has ever atempted a "live play"; that is, it is not being taped before the actual program and played back on the air. Instead, each actor's voice will be heard directly from the microphone into the radio speaker.

Don Roth is the manager of WEVC; he also is president of the Radio Council. Other officers are: Bob Steele, vice-president and program director; and Miss Schaber, secretary-treasurer and continuity director.

On the Air-"My Client Curly"

Soldier of George Washington Visits Campus Last Time Tonight at 8 p.m.

By KEN WILL and GLORIA WATSON

Were you ever in a room by yourself? Did you feel that someone else was in that room with you? Have you ever felt that someone was looking over your shoulder? Well, this is what has been happening the last two nights in the Thespian production of "Gramercy Ghost."

Nancy Willard, played by Pat Martin, finds herself the object of an amorous ghost, the earthbound messenger of George Washington. It seems that Nathania Coombs, a Pennsylvania volunteer, didn't carry out an assignment, and the spirit is earthbound until the task is completed for him.

Emerson in Fine Form

Joe Emerson's splendid portrayal of the amorous ghost is indeed delightful. His entrances were anticipated by the spectators.

Charlie Stewart (Bob Rundell) and Parker Burnett (John Wilson) find themselves matching wits with the Revolutionary spook. Their performances, individually and collectively, add much to the color of the production.

Lord's Work Commendable

Bill Lord is to be congratulated on the fine job he has done on this production.

Although the costumes had not yet come in and there was want of a few props this did not detract from the the quality of the play since all members of the cast handled their assignments in a professional manner.

Many side comments included in rehearsals will be missing from tonight's performance. such as Pat Martin's not infrequent outbursts of, "This couch has got to go."

Other Players

Also in the cast are Barbara Moore as Margaret Collins, Patsy Darst as Augusta Ames, Ben Reading as officer Morrison, Ned Conder as Irv, Jerry Jewell as Rocky, Toni Reitz as first ambulance driver, Lou Woltz as assistant driver and Myra Kasey as the girl.

For you who have not seen this play, these reporters highly recommend that you take a couple of hours to see "Gramercy Ghost." Curtain goes up at 8:30 p.m.

Philo Hopefuls Undergo Rough Week; Kappas Initiated Sunday

By RICHARD NICHOLSON

Two of Evansville College's fraternities have been giving their aspirants a full dose of 'Hell Week' during the past five days, with the third, Phi Zeta, scheduled to hold their activities during December.

Pi Epsilon Phi has sent their ten hopefuls through a hectic week, all of which started with a scavenger hunt on Monday night. Tuesday night the pledges were given a long one way, all expense paid trip to some unknown parts of this huge world, and left alone to trust their sense of direction.

Walking Men

More travel was the theme of Wednesday's activities, the men tramping up and down main street, attired in peculiar dress and making weird noises, until the soles of their shoes were worn thin.

Thursday was a second paradise for the weary pledges, the fraternity members leaving the courageous hopefuls to their text books and professors. However, the pledges were brought to a horrible awakening, as they were brought before a Kangaroo Court on Friday and told of all their faults and shortcomings. They were given a fair trial by jury and sentenced. (Naturally the verdict returned was guilty!)

Free Car Wash

Saturday will be cleanliness day for Philo pledges, the active members of the fraternity being the benefactors. All those fortunate to own dirty cars will be given a free car wash, with the pledges donating their time and energy.

Sunday, which is set aside as the day of peace, will be in direct contrast insofar as the Philos are concerned. "Rough-house" will be on tap for the ten men then, and if they live through the day and have been good sports during their pledge period, they will be formally initiated the following Sunday, at a breakfast in the cafeteria of the Union building.

Kappas Initiate Three

Pi Kappa inducted and initiated three new members into their organization last Sunday afternoon, with a party being held at the Golfmore Restaurant to formally welcome the pledges. Pi Kappa was more conservative with their "Hell Week", limiting it to the one day. Clarence Werzner, president of the fraternity, was in charge of the initiation.

Students, Faculty To Debate Card Rules in Assembly

Evansville Colleges' version of the Korean Truce talks has been set for Nov. 10 in a special assembly open to all students and faculty in the Auditorium.

The object of discussion here is card playing which has been tossed about for the past three years and unlike the Korean talks, both sides hope to come to an agreeable conclusion.

The SGS Speech committee which is sponsoring the assembly, will have a panel comprised of two teachers and two students debating the subject with SGA President Ralph Weber serving as moderator. The students representatives are Bob Wooley and Vernon Potts while Dr. James Morlock and president Lincoln B. Hale present the administration's viewpoints on the subject.

Ever since the recreation facilities were changed from the old Temporary Union Building to the new Union, the administration has banned card playing until after 2 p.m. They contend that gambling enters the picture and that students skip classes to remain with the "cardboards."

Mr. Potts and Mr. Wooley will present the students' viewpoint at the assembly. Students in the audience will also have an opportunity to address questions to President Hale and Dr. Morlock.

Gettin' the Lowdown

Kraft To Lecture At Nov. 9 Vespers; Second of Series

The second vesper service, Sunday, Nov. 9, will mark the beginning of Religious Emphasis Week at Evansville College. The Rev. Virgil A. Kraft will be the speaker.

Mr. Kraft is the Chaplain and Director of Methodist Studies at the University of Chicago. He conducts two radio broadcasts weekly and is affiliated with the University of Chicago radio station. He is a popular speaker who often is called upon to give 20 or more addresses a month.

Religious emphasis week will begin Sunday afternoon and continue through Wednesday noon. On Sunday evening there will be a joint meeting of college-age groups from the Evansville churches and Evansville College.

Mr. Kraft will visit several classes on Monday, and on Monday evening will conduct a retreat for the Methodist youth of Evansville.

Even If It Rains . . . .

Next Tuesday people from all walks of life will take time out to exercise one of the greatest rights ever gained by man, the right to vote.

We of The Crescent staff are very optimistic concerning the turnout of Evansville voters next Tuesday. This is due mostly to the superb job done by our local newspapers and radio stations on covering the campaigns of both major parties.

We really don't have any historical basis for our optimism however. Voting on the national scene in the past has been sad; voting this fall in three different school elections (class, SGA secretary, and Homecoming Queen) has been downright pathetic.

One of the reasons given for the poor turnout for the 1948 election, in the Evansville area, was the fact that it rained that day and kept many voters inside. A certain almost neglibible minority may be excused for that; for the rest that is a pretty weak excuse.

Certain groups of American voters Tuesday will use the absentee ballot. One such group voting by this means will be our fighting men in Korea. The first snow has fallen over there already, and it's cold, bitterly cold; many of the boys are living outside, or practically outside. Their bunkers don't have automatic heat either. The only thing hot over there now is the fighting, and that's not the comfortable heat you get by the fireplace.

And when they go to vote Tuesday, it will probably mean trudging back to their battallion headquarters or command post; down a steep trail slick with snow; with the threat of sniper fire hanging over them all the way there and until they return to their holes.

But they will vote. Those who can.

We hope that those here who are eligible to vote Tuesday will — even if it rains . . .

New Organization on Campus: INCA

A recent flourish of posters containing the letters "INCA" have probably caused considerable speculation among the student body at Evansville College.

"INCA" is a new student organization on campus, with the letters standing for Independent Campus Association. The purpose of this organization is threefold:

(1) to stimulate all campus school spirit; (2) to provide extensive social activities for the Independent student; and (3) to give the Independent student a voice in student government.

The recent elections have demonstrated the lack of school spirit, for less than 30 per cent of the full-time daily students voted for their class officers.

For the last three years the independent students have had little or no voice in student affairs. Since they represent a majority of the students this is a situation that should be remedied.

Feeling that ISA was a dead organization on the campus, a group of students cooperated in the founding of "INCA." We urge the student body to cooperate to the utmost in helping this organization to further their aims, which, if carried out, will be for the betterment of the entire school.

With this in mind, we wish this new association good luck, feeling that if it succeeds, we shall all, organized and independent, profit from its existence.

"INCA" is an all new organization — let's give it a push and make it a success.

Why Bother?

At times it's hard to understand why certain students attend college.

All too frequently one finds the classroom dozer, the habitual class-cutter, the fellow with an aversion to study of any kind, and the chronically late to class.

College is the last carefree period in the young person's life, the last time dad pays the bills. He does so because he thinks college will polish his offspring, instruct him in his chosen field, and fit him for the business of earning a living.

We should realize that this is our last chance to form good habits and to prepare ourselves for the future. It is extremely doubtful that one will find an employer who will stand for frequent absences, sleeping on the job, being late to work, or an employee who has no interest or little knowledge of his job.

Inquiring Reporter Finds Eisenhower Preferred By Students Interviewed

With the campaigning period for the coming elections rapidly drawing to a close, the Inquiring Reporter wondered what the opinion of the student body was. The following result was brought about by asking, at random, the opinions of passers-by.

Billie Ingliss: I'm voting Republican because Eisenhower isn't for socialized medicine.

Al Franke, Jr.: I'm for Ike. I fought under his command in Europe; might just as well fight under his command in the U.S.

E. L. Overfield: I had the misfortune of growing up under the Republican rule. I am voting for Adali.

Ado Blackman: Republican. I am entirely sick of the corruption in government, especially the five percenters, such as General Vaughn, the president's military aide. I am also sick of all the unnecessary government jobs, created just as a means to secure votes and perpetuate the party in power.

Carrol M. Rickard: I'm voting for General Eisenhower because under the world conditions I believe the country needs a president who understands both the military situation and foreign policy.

Donald Goben: General Eisenhower will be my choice since I feel that the policy of the present administration has been one not conductive to economy, peace, and democratic futherance.

Loren E. Maxwell: I'll not vote a straight ticket, but I prefer Eisenhower because I believe he has a broader knowledge of world affairs. Some of our better presidents have been military men, such as Washington, Jackson, and Teddy Roosevelt.

Robert Carey: It's hard to say which I'll vote for. Neither has expressed or said what they intend to do for the next four years, if elected. Both men seem to be busy digging up dirt about the other.

Al Schmidt: I think it is time for a change. Taxes are too high, expenditures are too great. Our country has been run by the same group of politicians for over 20 years. What is democracy? I'll vote for "Ike."

Bill Downing: Eisenhower because — he has shown his leadership ability, both in war and in peace. I am not necessarily in favor of militarism, but it seems logical that, with the threat of war hovering over us as it is, we need a leader who can make the right decisions in such matters. I believe that Eisenhower's record as an American speaks for itself.

As Squirrels Become People
Red Iron Curtain Starts Cold War

By BOB GREEN

Before darkness fell that afternoon, Fallin's secret police (the MVD), checked to be sure that all the Reds were on their own side of the woods. All the rank and file of the Reds were herded into groups and closely guarded throughout the night. They were released at dawn.

Daylight provided them with the answer to what the bundle brought back by the secret mission had contained. Down the middle of the woods the screening wire ran, extending from treetop level to the ground, its fine wire mesh glistening in the sun, defying even a fly from the Grey's part of the woods to penetrate the Reds Domain.

The Iron Curtain had fallen!

No Grey could get in. No Red could get out. Spies were everywhere. There were the secret police of the MVD, there were spies to spy on the MVD, and spies to spy on the spies who spied on the MVD.

Reds Grow Powerful

Children went to indoctrination schools, that taught them there was no power higher than the Glorious Leader, that they should inform on their parents, and that nothing mattered but the Motherland. No one dared to speak out against Fallin. Even the trees and the walls had ears, any of your own children would be happy to turn you in to the MVD, for the glory of the Motherland and the brass heroes medal awarded to informers.

Fallin geared the Red economic system to an all-out defense effort. He expanded the military forces and increased the industrial output to equip more and more army divisions and wings of the Red Flying Squirrel Airforce. More and more divisions massed behind the regular border guard stationed along the Iron Curtain.

Guns and Butter Too

The fall of the Iron Curtain shocked the Greys into realizing that the Red Menace was real and immediate. They were shocked even worse when Red spies were uncovered in positions high in the government service.

The two factors did serve to speed up defense production to some extent. However, the Defense Department based their hopes on a stepped up program in the Flying Squirrel Airforce and the almost completed work on the Fanhatten Project. Underestimating the power of the people to make sacrifices for their own good, they played politics and so adopted a policy of defense best described as one of "guns and butter too."

Since the Greys did not adopt an all-out defense effort, the Reds pulled ahead of them in the armaments race.

The Bomb

Then one night, President Fluman stood beside a bonfire and delivered a fireside chat to the assembled Greys, telling them they need not worry about the Red Menace. If they would look to the southwest they could see why. They looked, and beheld the explosion of the first Atomic-Nut Bomb, brainchild of the Fanhatten Project. Indeed they did not need to worry, with it, their inferior military forces could annihilate every Red in the woods!

FlacArthur Fades Away

Fears thus lulled, Congress even went so far as to reduce the then existing military machine. Their actions so conflicted with the logical military mind of the UGS Chief of Staff, battlescarred old General FlacArthur, that he became so voluable in his denunciation of politicians that they dismissed him from his command. So, with a speech that tore the heartstrings of the nation, an old soldier faded away . . .

Anything at All

by Walt Prickett

Six hundred runny-nosed Evansville College pupils acted like mentally retarded morons at the last Student Government election and failed to vote. Approximately 860 persons are enrolled in school, and only 225 students voted. The remaining pupils stayed barked on their too-broad back porches.

In a month these same little idiots, still parked on the their same too-broad pack porches, will gripe, gripe, gripe about the way the election turned out.

Three Student Government-supervised elections have been held this year. About 250 brave souls trudged up the stairs to the second floor of the Union building to vote for class officers. Almost 400 made it to the polls to vote for Homecoming Queen. Only 250 braved the dizzy heights of the second floor of the Union to vote for S.G.A. secretary.

The priviledge to vote carries an obligation to vote. Get into the habit while in college and it will carry through life.

Perhaps the 600 dear little pupils who didn't vote in the last election are still children. Children are notorious for copying bad habits from adults. But even adults usually manage to get out 50 per cent of the eligible vote at election time. Two hundred and fifty is not 50 per cent of 860!

The lack of proper home training could result in students failing to vote when eligible. Probably the proper training was there, but was lost on those 600 empty-headed nincompoops who didn't vote.

Failure to vote is criminal — in the moral sense. By not voting when eligible a student openly admits he or she has no moral standards or values and absoluely no sense of moral obligations. Such students try to get something for nothing. Life just doesn't play that way.

Voting in school elections and public elections when the student is over 21 years of age, would make an excellent requisite for passing political science courses.

I don't care for whom you vote in future elections. Just Vote!!

Crime Manual Proves Novel

"Autobiography of a Professional Criminal"
By Frank O'Leary

On moral grounds, this book might be attacked as a crime manual. Although the lessons are a bit antique, a novice in crime could absorb much criminal know-how in a half dozen fields of crime, plus details on how to plan and execute a prison escape.

It is safe to say that hardly anyone reading this will become a thief, yet an amateur with aspirations toward crime would find this entertaining volume extremely helpful.

From Good Family

The criminal of our story, now 45, was the product of a good family in Chicago. But early in life the lure of the "fast buck" turned his career toward crime until now he admits that he has committed most of the major crimes.

A factual document in the lingo of the underworld, the author's story is gripping. The most startling feature of the book is the reader's peep into the mind of a real criminal whose diversified talents have led to success in so many fields of his "art."

Clearly he loves his work, admires his own particular kind of genius and repeatedly states that he is a completely unreconstructed rebel against society. His health is the only factor preventing him from further developing his talent. As a crowning touch our subject is now a night watchman in a bank.

Clearly entertaining, the book nevertheless lacks depth. The reader is never really able to feel the emotions that the criminal undergoes in his criminal successes. To be read for entertainment only, the reader must not associate this criminal, a professional, belonging to a special caste, with the majority of our undedicated lawbreakers.

Chit 'n Chat

by lou anne inskeep

Hi ya, fellow human beings and other earthly beings! I suppose everyone is going out and haunt the town tonight. From the looks of some of the windows, I would say some of the kids already have a good start.

I have more details on the new student organization. It is to be called INCA, which is short for the Independent Campus Association. The coat-of-arms is a square inside a circle with clasped hands inside the square. You have probably seen the name INCA on posters hanging around the school the past week.

Marion Tuttle, '52 graduate, visited on campus last week. He was teaching in Richmond, Indiana, until he received greetings from Uncle Sam. He is now enjoying (?) life in the army.

If you have not made plans to haunt any special grave yard tonight, you should go see "Gramercy Ghost." This is the last night for it. If you have not seen it, you are missing a good show.

How would you like to spend next summer in Europe? Evansville College is planning just such a trip for the students and other interested parties. Dr. and Mrs. Harris Erickson are to be the chaperones. There will be more details in the next issue of the Crescent.

The song "It's In the Book" seems to be going like nylons at a bargain sale. Personally I prefer the nylons.

During the election year we hear a lot about politics and the work of the politicians. We all have our various opinions and Hilaire Belloc expressed his very nicely in verse:

Here, richly, with ridiculous display
The politicians corpus was laid away,
While all of his acquaintance sneered and slanged
I wept; for I had longed to see him hanged.
Or maybe you like this one better:
This the last ornament among the peers,
Bribed, bullied, swindled, and blackmailed for years,
But Death's what even a Politicians fail,
To bribe or swindle, bully or blackmail.

Advice of the week — Never tell a girl that her stockings are wrinkled, she may not have any on.

The staff of The Crescent has been revamped. The staff writers have turned into page editors and vice-versa. As a result, this will be the last week for my writing this column. Big relief isn't it?

Well so long and happy haunting grounds to you.

Four Week Tentative Grades Completed

Four week tentative grades have been completed and turned in to advisors and counselors, announced Everette Walker, personnel director.

Only grades of freshmen and new transfer students have been estimated at this early date, Mr. Walker said. This is done in order to help the new students at Evansville College know in what courses he needs to concentrate more.

Course for Executives Started Monday Night

A Corporate and Management Seminar especially for executives opened last Monday night at Evansville College.

The course is to operate on the seminar plan with the proup meeting at 6 p.m. each Monday night for 18 weeks in the private dining room of the Union cafeteria.

Union cafeteria. The College is offering the course in cooperation with the Evansville Manufacturers and Employecs Association.

Julian Long Leads Seminar

Leaders of the seminar are Professors Dean Long and James Julian from the business and economics department. Both hold graduate degrees in business from Harvard Graduate School of Business. The seminar discussions are held on the case method basis, a method the Harvard School of Business uses exclusively.

The cours is limited to men who are now contributing to policy formation in their respective companies although some may not be officially of the management group charged with overall responsibility.

For example, those eligible for the course might include vice-presidents, general managers, office managers, treasurers, chief engineers, works managers, and secretaries and superintendents of large firms.

Case Method Used

The case method of instruction is being used. Each case assigned consists of a history of the company and all pertinent data, financial and other, bearing upon the policies under discussion in the case. No solutions to the problems are given in the book nor does the instructor give solutions. For text material, "Policy Formulation and Administration," by George Albert Smith is being used. Mr. Smith is a professor of business administration in the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

The participants study the cases assigned, determine what problems are involved and endeavor to solve them or make recommendations in the course discussions.

Despite Ancient Origin, Halloween Rites Exist

By BILL BOSSE

Tonight is the eve of Halloween. The mystic rites and ceremonies with which Halloween was originally observed had their origin long before the dawn of the Christian era. The name is of Christian origin and refers to the eve of All Hallows or All Saint's Day.

There are many naive and humorous antics ascribed to have had their origin on Halloween. Various methods of divining the future were used on Halloween and their results were accepted in all seriousness. In Ireland, several objects, a ring, thimble, doll and a coin were added to the ingredients of the main dish and when it was served the one who found the ring was to be married within a year, the finder of the doll would have children, the one who got the thimble would never marry and whoever was fortunate to get the coin would have wealth.

Marital Guide

Mariatal prospects are still among the principal rites at Halloween. To the girl who is beset by the problem of which of her suitors will prove true, try this test. Put three nuts on the coals of a fire place, one for yourself and one on each side of the middle nut for your suitors. If one of the nuts burns quietly beside the middle nut, it means that the lover will be true to you, but if the nuts separate, both will prove untrue.

Naturally no Halloween would be complete without the traditional black cat and the witches. The belief in witches survives in most surprising regions. German farmers in eastern Pennsylvania paint magic signs on their barns as a warning for the witches to keep away. The origin of the belief in witches goes back to Scotland.

On the eve of Halloween, the witches held a party and the women who seemed like other people during the rest of the year, would put a stick annointed with the fat of murdered people in their beds. This would change itself into their likeness and they would fly up the chimney where they would meet the devil at an arranged meeting place.

Practical Joke

The story of the origin of the Jack-o-lantern dates back to Ireland. It seems that a stingy man named Jack was barred from heaven because of his miserliness, and forbidden to enter hell because of his practical jokes on the devil so he was condemned to walk the earth with his lantern until Judgment day.

Belief in witchcraft was once common in America. The witches were charged with making waxen images of their victims and causing death or illness by sticking pins in the image. This is an old superstition entertained by the savages in Africa and by the American Indians. It was believed that iron was a protection against the power of the witches and that it was especially potent if in the stape of a horseshoe.

When families from the Old World came to America they brought their Halloween customs with them. Many of the customs have survived with variations but the magic lore and

We Like Pogo . . . Pogo Club Chooses Nicholson President

Although today is Halloween and everyone's thoughts are turning to ghosts and goblins, there is one small creature down in Pogofenokee that should not be forgotten by true fans. He calls himself Pogo.

Members of the Pogo Fan Club met last Friday in the official headquarters, Crescent office, and despite the loud cheering for the presidential candidate (Pogo, that is!) they finally settled down and chose the following students for offices.

Three Veeps

Dick Nicholson is president of Pogo Club with Gloria Watson assisting him as first vice-president. Second and third vice-presidents are Jim Rose and Walt Kelly, respectively. Kelly is the originator of the cartoon.

Joan Springer is secretary, while Jim Schreiber is treasurer. Anne Stocks is sergeant-at-arms and Ron Hamilton is the deacon.

Parliamentarian is Walt Prickett and Marlon Rayburn was selected as historian.

Many Officers

Paul Dewig will act as student sponsor and Ralph Weber will act as custodian. Miss Gerturdue Leich, instructor of Spanish, will be the good will ambassador.

Chief of the boy bird watchers is Don Bernhardt, with Bill Lord and Dr. Daniel Boughner, professor of English, assisting him.

Sidney Barker and Sally Morris are acting as cowbirds, and completing the list of officers is Bill Bosse as the mascot.

Bawel Scores In Pro Game

Ray Bawel, 1952 EC graduate, proved highly instrumental in the Philadelphia Eagles victory over the New York Giants last Sunday.

Bawel scored for the Eagles five minutes and seven seconds before the end of the first half. Bawel took Tom Landry's punt on his own 48 and raced 52 yards to hit pay dirt. Bawel was knocked down on the 30-yard line but struggled to his feet and raced on for the first TD for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Before a crowd of 21,458 spectators at the Polo Grounds in New York, the hard driving Eagles shattered the New York defense and dropped the Giants to the tune of a 14-10 loss.

The defeat dropped the Giants out of a three way tie in the American conference with the Cleveland Browns taking over undisputed first place as a result of their 19-15 victory over Washington.

Willie "Flying" Saucer is the leading scorer for the Aces. After three TD's last Saturday, he has a total of 24 points. In the passing department Charlie Fisher leads fifth a total of 206 yards.

Norman Head leads in the combination passing and running department with 200 yards. Charlie Kendal has received the pigskin seven times for 81 yards.

Joe Giovanetti leads the punters, with a total of 1089 in 34 trys. Jim has had two punts blocked, but still has an average of 32 yards per try.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

The crew really did a good job last week — even though they loafed through the last three quarters. But if they play that hard during one quarter, I guess they deserve a little rest and peace of mind that comes from knowing that they had it in the bag.

Here's hoping that the one next wek will turn out the same way. But it looks like Ball State has improved since the first of the season, or maybe, Valpo just can't get back in the groove since the trouncing that the Aces gave them. Whatever the case, State and Valpo played a pretty rough game last week. It ended up with Valpo just one point better, 13-14.

Whatever the case, a bunch of over-their-wounds Aces will be back in the saddle on the 15th, pretty eager to put the finishing touches on a battered season record which would look much better with one more win.

But in between now and the last game, which will be at Reitz Bowl, two very friendly fraternities whose principle aim is the betterment of society — their own — will have their 15th annual scramble on the practice field. Out of the pas tilts, these deuces have had some pretty fine ball games. Nothing polished, of course, but a tilt worth seeing, especially if you are a wrestling fan. This phenomenon of physical frustration will take place Nov. 9.

On the morning of Nov. 15, at 10 o'clock there will be a pep assemby, either in the Auditorium or the Great Hall, for the purpose of giving out with some noise for the team, and for the student body to have a lot of fun, mostly the latter. We have fun even though it's next to impossible to give the team a lift out of the game room to get them to a pep assembly to give them a lift.

Everyone who is at least a freshnomore remembers the always-smiling face of Ray Bawel, the first guy in the history of the college to win four major letters. Ray is still playing the same kind of ball with the Philadelphia Steelers as he did while he was here. Ray played a major role last Saturday in the Steelers first victory of the season.

Philo, Zeta Teams Round Into Shape

Sunday has been set for the final practice date for both the Pi Epsilon Phi and Phi Zeta football teams, that will take part in the intra-fraternity game, to be held Nov. 9, at 2 p.m. at the college practice field.

Little comment is available from either camp as the date draws near. Coach Don Weston of the Zetas would only comment that "We will show up with 11 players for the game." Coach John Moss of the Philos would only give a "No comment," statement when quizzed about his squad.

Brines Enters Hospital With Chronic Allergy

Milo Brines, Ace halfback, was confined again early this week to Deaconess hospital because of the reoccurence of a swelling of the hands, arms, and feet. Mr. Brines is allergic to the material used to make football shoes. This allergy which has plagued him most of the year was especially troublesome to him early in the season.

Intra-mural To Be Organized Nov. 10

All those interested in intra-mural athletics are invited to attend a meeting of the Athletic committee, Nov. 10. The purpose of the meeting is to organize intra-murals on the campus.

At a meeting of the Athletic committee last Monday, it was decided that all organizations on the campus, including the Independents and freshmen, will have three members on the committee if they choose.

Tentative plans include a basketball, a bowling, a softball, and possibly a swimming league on the campus.

Trophies will be awarded to the winning teams in each of the respective sports, it is not known whether or not individual trophies will be awarded.

Evansville Plays Eastern Tomorrow Afternoon

By JACK COMBS

The Evansville College Purple Aces, seeking their third vicctory of the season, play the Eastern Kentucky State College Maroons at Eastern tomorrow afternoon.

The game will be played at Hanger Stadium in Richmond, Ky., home of the Maroons, at 2 p.m.

Tied by Morehead

Eastern, coached by Tom Samuels, former all Big Ten tackle at the University of Michigan, has won four, lost four, and tied one. The tie came at the hands of Morhead last week.

Last year the Maroons won seven and lost three. Evansville won last years game 7-6.

Aces Crush Pumas

The Purple Aces, playing the type of football they are capable of, crushed the St. Joe Pumas 41-20 last Saturday at Collegeville, Ind.

Capitalizing on five St. Joe fumbles and four pass interceptions, Coach Don Ping's Aces rolled up the biggest score of their present campaign.

The Pingmen, led by Willie "Flying" Saucer, who scored three touchdowns, tallied in all but the last period, and rolled up 347 yards to tame the Pumas.

Saucer Scores

Evansville scored the first touchdown after two minutes of the first quarter was played on a seven yard pass from Charlie Fisher to Saucer. The score was set up on a St. Joe fumble which was recovered by Evansville end George Topper.

The Aces then kicked off to St. Joe, who again fumbled and Evansville recovered on the 2 yard line. Norm Heard scored the touchdown on a one yard drive thru the line.

Interceptions Help

An intercepted pass set up the third Ace touchdown. End Ron Miller intercepted on the Puma 29 yard line and Milo Brines scored the touchdown on a one yard plunge after the Aces had moved the ball to that point.

The fourth Evansville touchdown was also set up on an intercepted pass, this time by Charlie Kendall. After moving the ball down to the 12 yard line, Rod Clutter faded back and fired a bullseye to end Ron Whittaker for the score.

Willie Romps

Willie Saucer then took over in the scoring department for the Aces. Saucer scored his next two touchdowns on runs of 51 and 65 yards.

The outstanding offensive player for St. Joe was former Mater Dei All-City end and Captain Merle Effing. He caught two passes for touchdowns and played good ball throughout the game. Bob Walton and Bill Ballard, former Memorial players also saw limited action for the Pumas.

Team Trainer Leaves Aces

James "Snuffy" Hallinan, Aces athletic trainer, has left Evansville to accept a position in Robinson, Ill., in the insulation business.

Mr. Hallinan will be associated with Bob Gerhardt, former Evansville College football player who graduated in 1949.

Snuffy was a student manager at EC for four years while in college, where he also acted as trainer. This year he worked at Briggs but at 3 p.m. was on the field taking care of the many bruises and aches of the football team.

"He has done a good job," Gene Robinson, athletic business manager at the college said Friday, "and is very well liked."

William "Mouse" Yokel will succeed Hallinan as manager of the team for the rest of the year.

Low Scores, Close Games Highlight ICC Battles

Butler's Bulldogs scored a disputed touchdown in the last 10 seconds of play to tie Indiana State by a score of 13 to 13 last Saturday, insuring the Indianapolis eleven of at least a tie in the Indiana Collegiate Conference.

The Bulldogs were forced to come from behind twice to tie the Sycamores, who scored all their points in the first half. State stopped Norm Ellenberger, the state's leading scorer, but a pass from Fred Davis to Charles Johnson, which State claimed hit the ground first, evened the score for good.

Elsewhere, Valpariso edged Ball State in another close game at Valparaiso, with the Crusaders holding on to second place in the conference standings. Governor Grady, a freshman left halfback from South Bend, scored all of Ball State's points.

Standout of St. Joe's attack in their loss to the Aces was Merle Effing, ex Mater Dei captain, who scored two of the Pumas three touchdowns.

Evansville College, WEOA To Hold Video Workshop

In cooperation with Radio Station WEOA, Evansville College will hold a two hour television workshop for the fall quarter.

The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint and give some training in TV to those who will be connected directly or indirectly with this medium, in preparation for the time when the Federal Communications Commission grants one or more TV chanels to applicants in Evansville and the broadcasting begins.

To Conduct Workshop

Evening College will conduct the workshop and laboratory sessions will be held in station WEOA.

The weekly workshops will be supplemented by special screening sessions. Advanced courses in TV will follow in the winter and spring quarters, according to present plans.

Aims Outlined

Over the three quarters the workshop has been designed with four aims: to brief the history and development of television to date; to give acquaintance with the basic economic, programming, and mechanical aspects of television; to define present and future career opportunities in television; and to provide basic laboratory experience in television studio functions, with actual studio equipment.

A number of applications have been filed for TV channels in the community and FCC hearings on them are expected in the near future.

Howard Hill, assistant professor of speech and drama, who spent the past summer doing graduate work in TV at Western Reserve University, is director of the workshop.

Dad's Day Program Set for Nov. 15; Rose, Chairman

Dad's Day, a day honoring dads of all Evansville College students, will be Nov. 15, the date of the EC-Ball State football contest, according to Jim Rose, chairman of "The Day."

Mr. Rose said that the salute to the dads which was initiated last year and was such a huge success, will be repeated again this year. The festivities of Dad's day will open at 2:30 p.m. and continue until 6 p.m.

The program includes movies at 2:30 p.m., table tennis, a billiard tournament at 3:30 p.m. with a dad and son or dad and daughter competing with other fathers and offspring, and an evening cabaret dinner at 5 p.m. with entertainment furnished by college students, Mr. Rose asserted.

After the dinner, all dads will be issued a ticket free of charge to the game where they will sit in a block and be "saluted" by the band during halftime. Also set for the halftime program is the presentation of the "Outstanding Dad of the Year" award, which is awarded to the outstanding father of a student on campus. Votes of football players determine the winner, Rose concluded.

Aiding Mr. Rose with the dad's event are faculty and student representatives.

Student-Faculty Federation Committees To Have Dinner

Committee members of the Student-Faculty Federation will be entertained at a dinner Monday, Nov. 24, at 5:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Student Union building.

The event is an annual affair. President of the Student Government Association, Ralph Weber, will be Master of Ceremonies, with Lincoln B. Hale, president of the College, giving a short talk.

"The purpose of the meeting is to present the reports from the nine standing committees," stated Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the College. "These reports are from what the committees have undertaken or what they have planned for the school."

Mr. Weber has announced that there will also be some sort of musical entertainment on the program.

NOSE, THROAT,
and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

EC-Ball State Tilt To Climax Annual Dad's Day Activities

Dad will be honored in a special way Nov. 15, for that day has been set aside to honor the dads of all Evansville College students.

"Dad's Day" will begin at 2:30 p.m. and continue through the Evansville College-Ball State football game. Movies will be shown at 2:30, followed by table tennis and billiard tournaments, with father-son or father-daughter combinations competing for top honors.

A cabaret dinner in the Great Hall at 5 p.m. will begin the early evening festivities, entertainment being furnished by college students. The dinner in the Great Hall will be limited to father and son or daughter combinations, with the cafeteria open for mothers and children not attending Evansville College.

'Dad' will sit in a separate block at the game and will be honored at half time by the EC band, at which time the outstanding dad of the year award will be given to the oustanding father of an Evansville College student.

Jim Rose, chairman of 'Dads Day,' has been assisted by faculty and student representatives in preparation for the event.

Next Pep Assembly Sponsored by Philo

"If we get hep and the team gets pep" . . . Philo will sponsor the final pep assembly of the eurrent football season next Friday, and according to Marv Fox, they are going to try to get the Aces full of pep.

The Philo band will play four selections, including 'The Nearness of You' and 'Ebony Rhapsody'. Shirley Heines, vocalist for Charlie Kroener's band, will provide the voeal entertainment, with Bob and Al Schmidt displaying a comedy act.

Prof. A. C. Spence will emcee the affair which will be held in the Great Hall of the Union Building Nov. 14, at 10 a.m.

Card Playing Rules Topic of Assembly

A special assembly featuring a panel discussion of the card playing rule will be next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Auditorium.

The assembly, sponsored by the SGA Speech Committee, will consist of two faculty members representing the administration and two students representing the student body.

Dr. Lincoln B. Hale and Dr. James Morlock will present the administration's view-points concerning the 2 o'clock ban on card playing.

Representing the students will be Bob Wooley and Vernon Potts. Presiding over the group as moderator will be Ralph Weber, president of SGA.

Agreement Hoped For

The purpose of this meeting is to clarify the reasons as to why card playing was ruled out until after 2 p.m. As a result of the discussion, an agreement is hoped to be reached between the students and administration.

After each side has presented their various opinions, the students in the audience will be given the opportunity to ask questions of the group.

The rule was put in effect in September of 1950 while Dick McKasson was serving as SGA president.

Gambling Caused Change

At that time it was the opinion of the administration that there was too much gambling among the students. This led to the inevitable class-cutting.

Since the regulation was made, the present Union Building was opened with other recreational facilities.

Independents To Approve Constitution

INCA, the all new, Independent Campus Association, will hold a constitution assembly of all its members Nov. 13. When the constitution has been ratified by the members of the association, the members will arrange for election of officers.

A membership drive is now underway. All independent students of the campus are invited to join. The only requirements for membership in this organization are: 1) the student must be carrying a minimum class load of 12 class hours, 2) the student may not be affiliated with any organized group on the campus, that is, he or she may not be a member of any SOCIAL fraternity or sorority, 3) the student must pay the quarterly dues of 1.00. Dec. 1 is the deadline for the membership drive. Students joining after Dec. 1 will have to pay dues of $1.50 per quarter.

INCA has made reservations for a Christmas party in the early part of December. It is the plan of the organization to provide one big party and two small parties per quarter for the independent students. There will be three big parties per year and if there are enough students attending summer classes a party will be planned for the summer session also.

Staff Views On Card Playing Issue

A considerable amount of controversy prevails on campus at the present time concerning the card playing situation. Questions have been fired at virtually every member of The Crescent staff for the past three weeks in an attempt to learn how we feel about this matter.

Most of The Crescent members resent the restrictions placed upon the student body; they feel that the college should recognize them as being more mature and capable of knowing how far to go in all forms of social behavior. In the following paragraphs are summarized their varied opinions.

Upon entering college a student reveals his desire to broaden his scope of life; he has reached the age that awakens him to his future duties and responsibilities to his community. How is he to learn to overcome his defects if he is to be guided as a child, step by step, and told just how and when to spend his time?

All education is not to be found in books. If a student, after spending too much time for recreational purposes, falls down in his studies and does not voluntarily discontinue some of his leisure time activities, he does not possess a sense of responsibility and no amount of parental guidance is subject to change him.

True enough, there are two important factors to take into consideration: the parents' interest in their children's activities on campus, and the policy of the school in determining what form of recreation shall be allowed on campus.

Students have access to the pool and ping pong tables at 10 a.m., but they must wait until 2 p.m. to play cards. Why? Is it because the college realizes no income from the card games? It is said that cards are more likely to influence gambling than pool and ping pong. In what respect can that statement be verified, or is it mere conjecture?

The above statements represent the diversified opinions of a few, but if you have anything to say about this problem say it at the special assembly Monday morning a 10 a.m. in the auditorium—or forever hold your peace.

Noted Speaker To Boost Religious Week

One of the outstanding religious speakers in the country will be here on campus to boost Religious Emphasis week beginning Sunday and there is no excuse why the majority of EC students cannot turn out for one of the many scheduled programs.

Affiliated with religious life at the University of Chicago, Reverend Virgil Kraft, is noted for his vibrant religious radio programs in Chicago. The Reverend has been in great demand for his secular orations for several years and has been averaging 20 addresses per month. It would be a shame for an EC student to be on campus and not hear Rev. Kraft at least once, remarked Dr. Merle P. Culver, EC religious instructor.

In the past, many EC students have declared that they were unable to attend Chapel or Vesper services because the religious programs were conducted at times conflicting with their crowded schedules. However with programs planned every day from Sunday to Wednesday morning nearly every student will have an opportunity to absorb some of his teachings.

The Sunday evening gathering has been designed for all college age people and will be a discussion of various problems confronting youth.

More Cheering Needed

The school spirit is steadily rising on the campus. For this, the students are to be commended. As a further step to raise the spirit, a pep club is being organized. To make EC more than bearable, let's give the pep club a boost.

Kay Bondus is organizing the pep club to give campus life a shot in the arm. But to be successful, she needs the support of every student on the campus.

Nothing is so disheartening to an athletic team than to hear the thundering of the opposition's backing while their own is completely lacking. A good team with a poor cheering section is only mediocre. There is nothing which instills the will to win more than a good peppy cheering section. With a few good, lusty cheers at the right time the team can come through the tight spots.

So, let's each and everyone get out and give the pep club a big boost.

As Squirrels Become People
Greys Play Politics While Reds Arm

(The story so far: A group of squirrels find some papers in the woods and read about the ways of civilized man. In a short time, Fallin Red and Fluman Grey have the squirrels divided, Reds and Greys hating and fearing each other. Fluman becomes president of the United Grey Squirrels; Fallin becomes Glorious Leader of the Reds. The Reds erect some screening wire as an iron curtain along their border. When the Greys perfect the Atomic-Nut bomb they feel safe and the politicians ignore the advice of General FlacArthur and cut down their armed forces. When the General objects to this, he is obliged to fade away . . .)

By BOB GREEN

Shortly after General FlacArthur faded away, his words of wisdom came back to haunt the politicians who had dismissed him.

He had advocated war with the Reds while the Greys possessed the advantage of the Atomic-Nut Bomb. Wise old soldier that he was, he knew it was only a matter of time until the Reds also had the bomb, and he was well aware that Fallin would never be satisfied with anything less than control of the whole woods.

Danger Threatens Greys

Less than six months after his farewell speech one part of his predictions was proven. A terrific explosion was heard all over the woods. It came from a deserted part of the Red's domain—proof positive that the Greys no longer were sole possessers of the bomb.

Fluman and Congress realized the danger this posed to the Greys, that a program of all out defense was not only necessary, but mandatory.

Politics and Prayers

Had the situation arisen at any other time, doubtlessly they would have followed the only course compatible with common sense. However, knowledge that the Red's possessed the bomb came only a few months before elections. The Femocrat Policy Making Committee decided that the rigorous controls and sacrifices the people must be subjected to by such a course of action might cause them to turn to the Publicans in the November elections. So they stuck to the policy of "guns and butter, too," and prayed it would hold the Reds in check until after the election.

"Something for Nothing"

They further wooed the voters with new laws, (and the expansion of already existing laws,) which provided for unemployment insurance, aids, grants, unnecessary government jobs, and other "something for nothing" measures of far reaching socialistic significance.

The order of the day was tax and spend, but in such a manner that the average voter was fooled into thinking he was getting something for nothing. Few squirrels stopped to realize that if they were the government, and the government was giving them something, then they were really paying for what they got, and in the governmental process of taxing to give, one of every two nuts was being lost in the shuffle.

The loafers and deadbeats, who pay taxes on, were getting somthing owned nothing and earned nothing to for nothing. They never had it so good, and they knew it. The run of the mill worker realized that he had more luxuries than ever before, and never stopping to consider that they were but the natural outcome of technological advances, believed Fluman when he loudly proclaimed that it was his party's farsighted policies that made them possible.

The working class favored the Femocrats. The more well-to-do favored the Fublicans, who promised a cut in taxes. The Femocrats again won the election.

FlacArthur Was Right

And then, early in the Spring, Fallin proved that General FlacArthur's second prediction was as correct as his first had proven to be!

Civil Service Opens Student Aid Exams

The U.S. Civil Service Commission has announced the acceptance of applications for a Student Aid Trainee examination in the fields of physics, chemistry, mathematics, metallurgy, and engineering, for duty in navy and army establishments in Washington, D.C., and nearby Maryland and Virginia. Salaries range from $2,750 to $3,175 a year.

This examination is open only to persons who have completed one-fourth, one-half, or three-fourths of a college engineering course or who expect to complete such study within nine months of the date of filing application. A written test will be given.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the U.S. Civil Service Commission and from first and second-class post offices.

SGA News

By BILLIE JEAN MILLER

The Student Government Association will, starting this week, have a column in The Crescent to keep the students on campus informed as to what the Administrative Board, Student Council, and the committees of SGA are doing. The four SGA officers, Ralph Weber, Ed Fly, Ethel Hamilton and Billie Miller, will be responsible for writing this column. We hope the students will realize the purpose and follow it throughout the year.

Card File Organized

According to Vera Robinson, the Social Life Committee is working on the Student Organization Cards in the SGA file. These cards are used in contacting any organization on campus or for any information about the organization.

Don Rausch, chairman of the Assembly Committee, informs us that there will be a pep assembly November 14th sponsored by the Philo's for the last football game of the season. Don is trying this year to start a little "school spirit" but how can anyone have school spirit if the students aren't willing to show themselves at the pep gatherings? In case some students weren't interested enough to find out, we have had several good pep assemblies at which the attendance was so small, it was practically useless to have it. Come on students — these assemblies are for you!

New Lettering Set

The Fine Arts Committee bought a lettering set for the fine arts board on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. The Welfare Committee has received a student application for welfare aid, which was approved and submitted to the Dean's Office for payment.

The Religious Life Committee has been working hard on Religious Emphasis Week and also on the regular Vesper Services. Ethel Hamilton, Les Knopfmeier, and Janice Morgan are the chairmen for these committees.

Card playing on campus before 2 p.m. will be discussed fully in the assembly on November 10th. Arrangements for this assembly have been through the Public Speech Committee, Bess Mullett, chairman.

Anything at All

by Walt Prickett

Winter's in the air and the brisk is out. (Brisk. That's when all the boys meet the requirements to be a passionate Eskimo midget.)

The chilly atmosphere lends an added zest to life—especially mine. I'm one of the unfortunate persons who generate static electricity charges. Got quite a rise out of The Hon. Br'er Fox, my esteemed, highly thought of, renowned, noted, laudable and lauded co-columnist. Just brushed against him and a spark the size of an alligator egg bobbed him one. The Hon. Br'er Fox reared his hackles and growled. I crackled a few more sparks. We almost set the office building on fire with all those sparks and had to leave.

Getting into and out of cars is a major chore unless I manage to ground myself first. (Ground yourself and you'll never get high.) There ought to be a way to de-electrify cars. They are so shocking, and I don't mean pink.

Shaking hands with someone who also builds up a strong static electricity charge in cold weather knocks you both out for a couple of minutes. Maybe that's why the Chinese started the custom shaking hands with themselves — since you wouldn't shock yourself. (Well, not hardly.)

The Hon. Br'er Fox (Marvin "Seminole Sam" Fox, that is) suggested I could (1) work out a financial arrangement with SIG&ECO to sell excess electricity so I wouldn't shock him and (2) use the excess energy to keep his car battery from running down.

You can see anything in a chemistry laboratory if you wait long enough. Diane Bentley in goggles, for instance.

She might have worn them for a reason. The campus was goggled-eyed Nov. 30 at a flight of "flying saucers." Observers reported the objects were more ball-shaped than saucer shaped. Besides, there weren't any cups and everybody knows without a cup there isn't any saucer. (Willie excepted.)

Most of the mysterious objects were red with white undercarriages. However, one was white, about yea long and about so big around.

You've heard of the young in heart theory? Dr. Morlock must be the youngest faculty member at heart. He got a parking ticket last week for parking — on the faculty parking lot! Ticket read: "For faculty only. Students not allowed to park here."

Presser Foundation Awards Pemberton Music Scholarship

Roger Pemberton, senior music major, has been seelcted to receive the Presser Foundation scholarship for this school year.

The Foundation makes scholarship awards for music students in about 120 colleges which have music schools that meet a certain required standard of excellence. The Music Department of Evansville College was added to the Foundation's list this fall.

Selection of students to receive Presser Foundation scholarships is made by the president of the college and the head of the Musie Department who, according to the Foundation, "are to be guided solely by considerations of merit."

Mr. Pemberton, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Kerby, Route 9, Evansville. He is a graduate of Reitz High School. At Evansville College his major instrument is the clarinet, which he plays in the Symphonic Band. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, professional honorary music fraternity, and of Pi Epsilon Phi social fraternity. Roger also finds time to play in various dance bands.

Scheduled Course in Ceramics Includes Plans for Pin Making

By BILL ADKINS

Refrigerators crammed full of the makings of some mighty fine dishes are available for the lucky student who signs up for ceramics next quarter, according to Miss Florence Keve, head of the art department.

Duncan Hines isn't likely to recommend the course, however, so drop your knives and forks and take a look at the department in a nonculinary light.

Hot Kiln

The refrigerators are used to store clay with which ceramics students mould dishes, ash trays and small statues. After the objects are formed in rough clay they are painted with a muddy-looking liquid called glaze. A kiln, hot enough to burn toast in an instant, is used to bake them until they are brick hard. The finished products are beautiful, shiny pieces of pottery.

Excellent facilities for making personalized jewelry are also to be found in the former Reserve Library building. If popularity with students of the opposite sex makes your stock of fraternity pins dwindle rapidly, time and a fair amount of ability are all you need to contruct a pin that is at least a reasonable facsimile of your own.

Pin-Ups Plentiful

If you collect pin-ups, the art department is for you. Figure drawing classes are held in the eastern room and surplus sketches are usually plentiful.

EC Radio Station Resumed Broadcasting Last Friday

WEVC, Evansville College's FM radio station, has resumed operations, announced James Shutt, assistant professor of speech.

WEVC started rebroadcasting last Friday at 6 p.m. after three days of being off the air. A transformer in the radio transmitter blew up last Tuesday night causing the station to discontinue operation, but it has now been repaired.

How To Put Your Husband To Work: Hire Him Youself

A college education used to be financed largely by Bill Dollar from the Old Man's paycheck.

Now the boy or girl who wants to go to college finds it expedient to work at least part time to help himself.

Mrs. Mary Lou Hubbard of the Evansville College Placement Bureau estimates that two-thirds of the College students do just that. Some work full time. So it is with Clyde.

He's a veteran from Corning, N.Y. who came to Evansville last December with his wife. Clyde want to be an accountant. To finance his ambition he needs considerable outside work.

The young vet walked into the EC Placement Bureau one day. He asked Mary Lou if she could get him a job.

There were people ahead of him so she told him he would have to wait.

In a few days, Mrs. Hubbard, who has jobs galore, did get him a job. Clyde is now working at Igleheart's Mill from 3-11 p.m.

The satisfied patron of the EC Placement Bureau is Clyde Hubbard, Mary Lou's husband.

Soviet Tortures Revealed in Book

"TRIAL BY TEROR"

Paul Gallico

This is the first attempt by Mr. Gallico at a cloak and dagger espionage story. The author of books as far apart as "The Snow Goose" and "Farewell To Sport"" now turns his hand to an up-to-date European thriller which constitutes first class reading.

Spins Good Yarn

When the author analyzes confessions under pressure, his style is not as emotional as that of Arthur Koestler; when he does a suspense situation he certainly doesn't handle it as Edgar Allen Poe would. He puts on no airs, but he spins as good a yarn as you are likely to find on the bookshelves this year.

Obviously no master at the art of intrigue, Mr. Gallico is still an up and coming mystery writer.

Called Spy

Employed by the Paris Herald, a young American takes it upon himself to find out why another American has been arrested in Budapest, held in prison and forced to confess his actions as a spy to the complete astonishment of the American press at his trial.

The curiosity is overwhelming so the rash journalist creeps into Budapest, promptly has himself arrested, put in prison for months on end, and eventually made to confess without reserve that he is a spy. The story of his treatment at the hands of the Hungarian Communists and the details of his treatment make fascinating reading.

The "blood and guts" reader will be disappointed for physical torture is almost entirely lacking. If you enjoy the average cloak and dagger espionage tale, here is one to keep you on edge. BB

So We've Heard

Terry and Diane

Well, kids, seems as if Lou Anne Inskeep has forsaken you and left you to our care. It is now our duty to pass along the gossip — so here goes.

First and foremost we want to offer our congratulations to the cast and crew of "Gramercy Ghost" for a job well done. Keep an open date for 10 o'clock, Monday, November 10. That is the date for the debate about the card playing rules. Whether or not you are interested in card playing, you should come to show your SGA that you are backing them. Here's your chance to show that you want a voice in student government. Perhaps other problems can be ironed out in this same manner.

Attention all Union Board Committee members! A "Come as you are" party is being planned next Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Patio. This could prove to be embarrassing as well as interesting.

Was it the pretty nurses that caused Milo Brines to return a second time to the hospital? Seriously, we hope the allergy will clear up for good this time.

It is rumored that there are some boys on our campus who don't know how to spell "hose." They seem to think that it is spelled "hosee."

Last Friday morning a short pep assembly was held in the football field. Did the small attendance reveal a lack of school spirit or a lack of publicity?

In order to promote school spirit the Union Board is sponsoring a contest to select a name for the Pep Club that is now in the offing. The winner of the contest will win a $5 Cafeteria meal ticket. Come on, you underfed students, let get behind this thing and prove we do have school spirit!

We are wondering if Bill Gilmore is serving anymore of those seven course dinners as he did last Friday evening. It all turned out to be quite a shindig in the end. We're hinting for an invitation to the next one, Bill.

Indiana Registrars Here Last Week

The Indiana Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers met last week, announced G. R. McCoy, president of the association and registrar of the college.

There was an informal meeting in the Vendome Hotel. The regular meeting was held the following day in the Union Building.

An address, "New Challenges for Leadership," was given by George Rosenlaf, dean of admission at Nebraska University.

Committee reports were given by James Bogan, St. Joseph College, on special projects; N. M. Parkhurst, Purdue University, on college and university enrollment; C. E. Harrell, Indiana University, on the nominating committee; and, Harland W. White, Purdue University, on the secretary-treasurer report.

Dean Long, vice-president of adult education, gave the welcome at the luncheon. Mr. Rosenlaf spoke on "The Personal Equation."

Colleges represented were Anderson, Ball State Teachers, Butler, DePauw, Earlham, Evansville, Franklin, Goshen, Hanover, Indiana Central, Indiana State, Indiana University, Purdue, St. Joseph, Taylor, Valparaiso, and Wabash.

Journalism Professor Gives Students Apples

Here's a switch on the trite old saying "an apple for the teacher." Whatever the reason for doing so, Miss Emmalouise Seegmueller, assistant professor of journalism, has been furnishing her enterprising young journalism students with the most tempting apples. The big problem in the minds of the students is why.

After hearing what happened to Adam in the Garden of Paradise the more alert young men in the class are cautious about partaking of the tempting fruit. Then again the reason could be a hint that some of the work turned out is a bit seedy.

The core of this apple problem, in the opinion of most of the students, stems from Miss Seegmueller's dread of cider. In any case, the doctor hasn't had to visit the journalism department and the students have had bushels of fun.

ROTC Band Organized Members Announced

Tour of European Countries Slated To Start June 14, 1953

The Evansville College Tour in Europe is scheduled to leave New York on June 14, 1953.

Professor and Mrs. Harris D. Erickson of the college faculty will conduct the tour which is scheduled to include England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Germany, and France. Extra sidetrips will be available at extra cost to Switzerland, Austria, Italy, and other places.

Student Has Choice

Several optional intineraries are being offered, so that the traveller may return home in six, seven, or eight weeks. Dr. and Mrs. Erickson will be gone the full eight weeks, with two weeks of the time devoted to Sweden.

The cost of the trip will vary from a "rock bottom" minimum of $598 for the basic "skeleton" tour of six weeks from New York back to New York, with adequate accomodations, to $800 or $900, depending on the optional variations in the schedule chosen by each member of the group.

This cost is actually several hundred dollars lower than an ordinary tourist trip to Europe because of economics arranged for an educational tour group. College credit is available for those who wish to enroll for credit and who will complete the academic part of the study.

Make Reservations Soon

Reservations should be made at once because the travel to Europe in 1953 is expected to be very heavy.

The latest information is that steamship space is already at a premium, that is, several steamship lines have already booked all their space for all their early summer sailings. Therefore it is important that the roster for the Evansville College trip be developed as soon as possible.

After Christmas, or even after Thanksgiving, may be too late to secure accomodations. A small deposit of $25 will hold your place. This deposit will be refunded in full without penalty or fee if you change your mind and cancel the reservation before May 1st.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

I've heard that some of the members of the group of football players who call themselves Aces were a bit annoyed about my mentioning the fact that they loafed through three quarters of play at the St. Joe game. Let him without sin cast the first stone.

And, while you slink away, think of the four quarters of "football?" that were "played" last Saturday at Eastern. There were a few guys who really played their hearts out. To mention one, Charley Shelton, is the type of player who won't give up fighting until the last gun goes off. Most of the other guys did play football, but individuals can't win games, as was demonstrated to us earlier

Some of these individuals who just will not play ball ruin the whole show. A couple guys on the team are very capable of playing Big Ten ball, but so far this year they haven't worked up a good sweat.

Now to the lighter side of life. The Aces may win the next game if some of the "big boys" can get together and decide that it won't hurt much to run a little.

A few of the more critical members of the squad say that if the majority of the members of the team would spend as much time practicing instead of loafing around and making alibis for what they didn't do, things would be different. That's what your own say about it boys.

The Philo-Zeta tilt will be Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the practice field. This is a game that will be won by the college. Now that's brilliant thinking.

Both teams are in good shape, both have their players insured, and both plan to win. Everyone who likes semi-pro and sandlot football will enjoy this game.

Bob Young, former Crescent managing editor, and John "Hoot" Evers, former Aces' trainer, will travel to Philadelphia this weekend to see Ray Bawel and the Philadelphia Eagles tangle with the Washington Redskins. Ray fairly shined a couple of weeks ago when he figured high in the Eagles upset of the New York Giants. The conservative New York Times carried a five column picture of Bawel on his touchdown jaunt, the day after the game. Bawel, who is used primarily as a defensive backback, scored on a punt return. tidanddng.

NAIB Changes Name to NAIA

A new ruling by the former NAIB (National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball) has changed its name to NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics).

The association plans, in changing its name, also to broaden the scope of its program. The plan is to include other athletics such as tennis, swimming, golf, etc.

Basketball will remain the primary sport of the association, however, and the national play-ons will shall be held at Kansas City. The pattern thus far has been to hold a 32 team playoff to decide the national champion and this practice will be continued. The 32 finalists will be selected by district tournaments.

Ping Pong Tournament Underway

Paddles are slapping and little white balls are zipping back and forth in the Union Gameroom and the second round of the Ping Pong Tournament is underway.

George Dockery, John Conaway, Paul Dewig, Gene Bauer, Red Walters, Gerry Jewell, Jim Zieg, Chuck Linsmith, and Jim Hood have advanced to the third round, with other games in the second round still to be played.

Quentin Rowe and Jim Zieg; J. Massey and B. Hartman; Jim Rose and Paul Dewig; and Kenny Lensing and John Conaway make up the four men's doubles who have reached the quarter finals.

In the mixed doubles division, no games have been played yet.

Players who do not play off their games before the announced deadlines are considered to have forfeited their match. Deadlines for playing off games in the different divisions are: Men's Singles — second round, Nov. 3-8; third round, Nov. 10-15; quarter finals, Nov. 17-19; semi finals, Nov. 20-21; and finals, Nov. 24-25.

Men's doubles — quarter finals, Nov. 6-8; semi finals, Nov. 10-11, and finals, Nov. 12-13. Finals in the mixed doubles conclude today.

Bowling Leagues Organized Here

Two bowling leagues have been organized on the campus. There are five teams in each the men's league and the women's league.

In the men's league the faculty has entered two teams, and three fraternities, Acacia, Pi Epsilon Phi, and Phi Zeta, have each entered a team. The women's league has one faculty team, the other four teams are the Women's Athletic Association, the Student Christian Association, Alpha Omega Pi, and Chi Omega.

The teams will bowl three games each Tuesday, beginning Nov. 11, throughout the season at the Franklin Bowling Lanes.

Jim Jensen is the league secretary, and Bob Haug is league treasurer. There are five members on the Regulations Committee. The mens' and womens' league will be separate at the beginning of the season.

Philo's Favored To Win Fifteenth Annual Tilt

By DON BERNHARDT

Pi Epsilon Phi's "rebuilt" football machine has been installed a slight favorite to cop their thirteenth win from the Phi Zetas Sunday at 2 p.m. when the rival fraternities clash in the fifteenth annual fraternity classic on the college gridiron.

Philos Favored

The Philos have been given a slight nod in the colorful grudge bout because of previous showings although nine of 11 starters from the 1951 juggernaut are missing through graduation or military service.

However Philo coach John Moss was quick to add that he believes he has aapable replacements for the vacated posts and expects to field a sharp, hard hitting eleven. Assisting Coach Moss with the gridiron strategy is John "Hoot" Evers, who also performed in the backfield for the Gold and Black several years ago.

In the other camp the Zetas point out that they have six veterans returning and their squad is thirsting for revenge after last season's 24-0 scalping. The Zeta coaching staff singled out quarterback Dave Barning and fullback Louis Nussmeier for special praise in practice and also remarked that lank end Bill Hobgood will be a tough customer to handle.

Anticipates Battle

Coach Moss asserted that he expects a bruising battle and hopes that his line performs as well in the game as they have in practice. He said that linemen Ado Blackman, Pete Hillenbrand and Tom Hartman look "rugged and ready to go."

In previous encounters, the Philos have all but annilated the Red and Black teams while taking 12 out of 14 previous battles. Before Pearl Harbor, the razzle-dazzle Philo contingents racked up eight out of nine wins.

Philos Lead

When the classic was resumed in 1948, the Zetas scored one of their two victories, 7-6, but since then, their offense has been nil against the Philo's shifting defense and the Pi Epsilon powerhouses have taken 7-0, 18-0 and 24-0 triumphs.

Tentative starting line-ups are:

Philo		Phi Zeta
Ronald Statz	LE	Ed Suess
Ado Blackman	LT	Bob Fink
Jack Combs	LG	Jim Rose
Charles Feldman	C	Bob Harmon
Tom Hartman	RG	Ed Frohbieter
Lowell Temme	RT	Fred Weber
Bob Payne	RE	Bill Hobgood
Ray Fletcher	QB	Dave Barning
Don Bernhardt	LH	Herb Roth
Ralpb Weber	RH	John Massey
Jerry Schmitz	FB	Louis Nussmeier

Evansville Defeated By Eastern 35-0

By JACK COMBS

The Eastern Ky. Maroons handed the Aces their sixth loss of the season 35-0 at Richmond, Ky., last Saturday before a homecoming crowd of 5,000 fans.

Relying chiefly on a well rounded ground attack, the Maroons chalked up 285 yards rushing to the Aces 143 yards. Eastern fullback Bill Bradford was credited with 172 yards. Eastern scored touchdowns in the first, second and fourth quarters.

Aces Outpass Eastern

Despite the lopsided results, Evansville led in the first down department 10-7. They also had 10 completed passes to Eastern's seven.

Evansville threatened to score several times, the first came toward the last of the first quarter when the Aces moved to the Eastern 12 yard line. The chief play was a 60 yard pass from Norman Heard to Charlie Fisher.

The Aces missed a big chance to score when they lost the ball on the Maroons one yard line in the fourth quarter. The drive started on the Evansville 32 yard line.

The Purple Aces are idle this week but will play Ball State in the last game of the season a week from Saturday at home. This game will decide who will share third place with Indiana State in the ICC.

Butler Shares Title

In other games last week Valparaiso beat Butler 14-13 to win a share of the conference championship with Butler. Norm Arnolds conversions were the difference in deciding the championship which a few weeks ago seemed a sure thing for either Butler or Indiana State.

Hanover cinched the Hoosier conference championship when Franklin upset Earlham 20-12. It is their second straight championship.

Cramming Does Not Aid In Getting High Scores

"Cramming" does not help a student obtain a better score on the Selective Service College Qualification Test, reports the October issue of Educational Testing Service's 'Developments.'

A recent study completed by ETS proved that the various books on "coaching" did not aid greatly, but that careful study of the questions in the official Bulletin of Information may have been helpful.

A questionnaire asking the student how much outside help they had obtained on the tests was given at six college to over 2300 students who took the test last May or June. Previously these students had taken either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American Council on Educational Psychological Examination.

Small Fluctuation

Freshmen who had not seen the Bulletin of Information or had studied only a few of the sample questions received 0.3 points lower than had been predicted, whereas freshmen who had studied practically all of the sample questions scored 0.4 points higher. No significant differences were found among students using commercially published preparation aids.

More Juniors Pass

Approximately 414,000 students have been tested with the SSCQT. In the first series of administrations the average percent passing was 53 for freshmen, 62 for sophomores and 71 for juniors. For the second series the percentages were 54 for freshmen, 67 for sophomores and 69 for juniors.

Students intending to take the test on either Dec. 4 or April 23 may obtain copies of the Bulletin of Information from Everette Walker, personnel director, in A-108.

Union Board Plans Party For All Union Committees

Next Wednesday, Nov. 12, the Union Board House Committee will be in charge of a party for members of all Union Committees. These committees are: Finance, Games, Dance, Social, Special Recreation, Publicity, and House.

Rosemarie Wiseman, chairman of the House Committee, has announced it will be a "Come as You Are" party.

Could Be Embarrassing

The chairmen of the individual Union committees will phone the members of their committee inviting them. The theme may prove to be amusing to most and, perhaps, a bit embarrassing to others. Tentative plans reveal that consequences may be given to those who fail to dress as they were when they were called.

Refreshments Too

Sub-heads have been appointed for event. Margaret Broadhead will be in charge of transportation and John Thole and Roberta Becker are taking care of publicity. Entertainment for the program will be planned by Carol Kerr and Diane Bentley. Refreshments will be the job of Ann Wyber and Mary Thurman.

The party will be in the patio of the Union Building at 7:30 p.m.

Senior Education Fellowships Offered In Graduate Work

Dr. Harris D. Erickson has been named by President Hale as liaison officer for the annual Danforth Foundation Scholarships for Graduate work to be offered this spring.

The Danforth fellowships are being offered to seniors or other recent graduates who are preparing for graduate work in the field of education. These appointments are primarily "a relationship of encouragement" carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as they are needed.

All winners of Danforth fellowships will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on teaching to be held at Camp Miniwanac, Michigan next September.

The qualifications for candidates are as follows as listed by the Foundation: evidence of superior intellectual ability in college records; good record of health and mental stability; outstanding personality and the concern for people, essential for successful teaching, and choice of vocation of teaching as form of the Christian Service.

Deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives. (The foundation is looking for candidates who are seriously examining their own religious lives, and are seeking a mature faith and social outreach.)

Community Chest Drive Falls Short

A total of $2,259.83 has been raised by faculty and students for the Community Chest fund drive on campus, announced Mr. Clifford Kraft, general chairman of the drive.

Perry Strasser, a member of Pi Kappa fraternity who assisted Mr. Kraft in carrying out the program, reported a total of $220.03 donated by the students.

Mr. Kraft stated that the campaign wil be extended to Nov. 15 in order that the Community Chest fund will have an opportunity to reach its goal which at present is a little short.

The amount raised on campus is about $40.00 short of its $230. goal.

'It's In The Book' Out Of The Box

Last week The Crescent published a cartoon suggesting that Dr. Mearl P. Culver, director of religious life, would eventually resort to violent means to rid the juke box in the Union Building of the record "It's in the Book."

The cartoon depicted Dr. Culver rushing towards the juke box, a hatchet in hand, with interested bystanders commenting "Looks like Dr. Culver found out about 'It's in the Book'."

But the day before the paper came out, Miss Bondus, assistant social director, was forced to remove the record. "Certain students would turn the volume up too high when the record was playing and others would turn the juke box off, so we had to remove the record," Miss Bondus commented.

The record must have set a record for brevity in the juke box; in and out in just one short week. And, as one student remarked, "Dr. Culver can bury that hatchet, that record won't be back."

Pep Club Planned By Union Board

Plans for an Evansville College Pep Club were announced by the Union Management Board after their meeting last week.

A contest is now being held to pick a name for the club. The winner will be awarded a $5.00 meal ticket for the Union Cafeteria. Entry blanks with the regulations may be picked up in the office of Kay Bondus, assistant social director.

Easy to Join

After the winner is announced, applications will be given to any student wishing to join. These forms may be picked up in the Union and should be returned to the Union office.

John Moening was named chairman of the new organization because of his experience as a cheerleader, Miss Bondus announced last Friday.

Starts With Basketball

The plan proposed by the Union Board will start this basketball season in hopes that it will be well organized by next football season.

All members will wear white shirts or blouses and sit in a reserved section of the Armory. Letters will be formed by placards held by the students. The students will have membership cards which will be punched at every home game when they enter their section.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields — 10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Phi Zetas Sponsor Sweetheart Dance

Phi Zeta, social fraternity, will sponsor its fourteenth annual Sweetheart Dance Nov. 22 in the Rose Room of Hotel McCurdy, announced Jack Alexander, chairman of the event.

Although the dance is given by the Zetas, it is open to anyone who wishes to go. The fraternity will choose a Phi Zeta Sweetheart and court from those girls present, and the Sweetheart will reign over the evening.

Alumni To Select

Phi Zeta alumni association will do the final selecting of the sweetheart. After she has been named by the committee all members of the fraternity will assemble on the stage and sing the Phi Zeta Sweetheart song to her, after which they will drink a toast in her honor. This has become tradition through the years.

Last year's honored girl was Pat Harris, with Diane Bentley, Sharon Meier, Ethel Hamilton and Helen Umbach serving as attendants. Mrs. Kenneth Hutchinson, the former Carolyn Weber, was the sweetheart of '51. The title went to Jeanne Shirk in '50 and Marilyn Ramsey in '49.

Semi-Formal Dance

Black and red, the fraternity's colors, will be used in the decorations. Attire for the evening is formal for the women and optional for the men.

Tickets are $2.40 a couple and may be obtained from Mr. Alexander or any member of Phi Zeta.

Pi Kappa Becomes Chapter of Delta Kappa Fraternity

Pi Kappa fraternity went national Saturday afternoon to become a chapter of Delta Kappa fraternity.

The installation ceremony was in the McCurdy Alumni Building with George Hawthorne, vice-president of the national organization, in charge.

Mr. Hawthorne was assisted by a degree team, members which came here from Indiana State Teachers College at Terre Haute, Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau, and Wisconsin State Teachers College at Whitewater.

Thirty-seven members were initiated in the new Pi chapter, including 17 active and 20 alumni members.

Social activities following the ceremonies included a banquet at the Alpine house for members, visitors and their guests. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Dunning.

Mr. Hill was the principal speaker at the banquet. His topic was "It's According to the Viewpoint." Clarence Werzner, president of the local chapter of Delta Kappa, was master of ceremonies.

Final Football Pep Assembly at 10 a.m; Spence To Emcee

Pi Epsilon Phi is sponsoring the final football pep assembly this morning at 10 o'clock in the Great Hall.

The Aces are ending their season tomorrow and one of the best pep sessions in several years has been planned to help boost the team over the Cardinals of Ball State.

A Philo alum, Prof. A. C. Spence will cut loose with some of his "jokes" as emcee. The Philo band directed by Roger Pemberton will be featured along with lucious Shirley Heines, local thrush with Charlie Kroener's band.

Two of the band's selections will be "The Nearness of You" and "Ebony Rhapsody." Bob and Al Schmidt will also present a song and comedy act.

Fathers of College Students To Be Honored Tomorrow at Dad's Day; Program To Include Movies, Dinner, Award at Ball State Game

"An overflow crowd is expected on campus tomorrow to make Dad's Day a rousing success," said Jim Rose, chairman of the popular dads event.

Dad's Day, which was inaugurated last year to honor all fathers of EC students, was widely accepted and as a result, the "Day" now takes its place as an annual event in the school calendar year. The entire family is invited to join in the festivities, Mr. Rose announced.

'Workhorses' of Dad's Day

A program crammed with entertainment has been planned by Mr. Rose and his diligent committee and a day of fun is assured for all those who participate, the committee promised.

Will Serve Coffee

The program opens at 2:30 p.m. with table tennis and billiards in the recreation room in the Union building. The Women's Council will also serve coffee in the patio between 2:30 and 4 p.m.

Featured in the matinee program are movies of the 1952 Homecoming football game, campus displays and floats with Coach Don Ping serving as narrator.

The "Early Evening Show" begins at 5 p.m. with a cabaret dinner in the Great Hall for Dads, sons and daughters. A similar menu will be served in the college cafeteria to mothers and children with all tickets selling at $1.25 per person.

Cigars, Cigarettes?

Dinner entertainment will be provided by college students and cigarette girls donned as those in New York night clubs will add to the decorations.

Also scheduled for the first time is a Panhellenic Scholarship award to be given to a girls social sorority in the afternoon program for the best group marks on campus. Vera Robinson will present the prize which is a 16 inch silver tray with the words "Panhellenic Scholarship Award" inscribed. Mrs. Charlotte Stephens is the faculty sponsor of the Panhellenic group.

Aces vs. Ball State

From the dinner, the Dad's Day contingent will proceed to Reitz Bowl for the Aces football finale with Ball State at 8 p.m. During halftime, the dads will be honored by a band salute and presentation of the "Dad of the Year" award. An Evansville victory will round out the second successful dad's program, Chairman Rose asserted.

Kay Bondus, social director on campus, was the work horse of the event and received assistance from various chairmen including students and faculty, Rose concluded.

Round-up To Be Staged at Armory; Eight Ring Events Highlight Program

Male faculty members and students will be corralled into the Armory next Thursday when Evansville College will stage it's "Men's Round-up." The event will begin with a dinner at 5:30 p.m.

Following the feast will be a special card of eight events in boxing and wrestling. The talent for these matches will be supplied by students from the campus.

Committees for the affair have been announced by Dr. James Morlock, who is in charge of the "Round-up." Ronald Christian has been appointed chairman of the Food committee, Charles Fisher chairman of arrangements, Roger Shannon in charge of the sale of tickets, and Chuck Linsmith, chairman of publicity.

"All men of the college are invited to attend — students and faculty alike," stated Mr. Morlock. He said that he hopes for a big turnout to the event. Tickets will go on sale Monday at 60 cents per person.

Purpose of Life Is Growth States Kraft in Convocation

"What was possible spiritually in Moses' time is possible today," said the Rev. Virgil A. Kraft in convocation Tuesday. He went on to say that God and man still retain all the basic spiritual elements evident in the time of Moses and that God is not limited by time and space as many people tend to believe today.

Mr. Kraft spoke on the subject "Your Slice of Life." He said that life today is just a cross-section of life as a whole. He went on to say that the purpose of life is growth. He said that because of this ultimate purpose of growth, "life is imperfection . . . life is taking the infant bodies and building them into servants of God."

"Because of the imperfection of the world in which we live, life will have its tribulation . . . but being products of God, we can overcome tribulation," Mr. Kraft concluded.

Students Ask Consideration: Wooley

"We do not ask the college to do away with the card playing rule. but that the college consider the students," stated Robert Wooley, initial speaker in the card playing panel discussion last Monday in the Auditorium.

"The students feel that they are being acted upon undemocratically and ask for a voice in the ruling," he added. Through Mr. Wooley, the students presented a four point program to the administrative board. The program requests: (1) that a committee of students and faculty study the rule thoroughly; (2) that the committee report to the administrative board and give a full report of their findings; (3) that the administrative board rule on the report; and (4) that the board hold a meeting with all students and give their final report.

Gambling Problem

Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, speaker for the faculty, granted the students that there is not anything wrong with cards themselves, but the use of them brings about many problems. The worst of these problems is the cutting of classes due to an extensive game which includes gambling, he said.

Dr. Hale referred back to the origin of the trouble, when there was absolutely no smoking or card playing on the campus at all.

"During the early forties," he said, "there was no smoking or card playing on the Evansville college campus at all, but it came gradually into the TUB. One student was expelled for gambling. It became a very serious problem. The student government association was asked to make some action but refused. Therefore the administration had to take some measure, thus the present rule."

Potts Makes Proposal

Vernon Potts, speaking for the students, proposed that the playing of cards be regulated in a manner similar to that of the playing of pool or table tennis. In his proposal he declared that card games should have a time limit and that students that cut classes to play, students with low grades and students that persist in gambling be refused the right to play at the tables.

Words To Live By

"Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard, that leads to life, and those who find it are few." Matthew 7:13-14

The Next Four Years

Nov. 4 the voters picked the men who are to guide this country for the next four years. That much of our job as citizens is finished, but the most important part of our duty as citizens of a democratic country still lies ahead, to be performed daily for the next four years.

We should all, Democrats and Republicans alike, recognize the fact that the people have spoken; the men taking office are the choice of the majority. Whether we approve or disapprove of those elected, we should give them our undivided support.

In these days of radio and daily newspapers there is no excuse for any American not to be informed on vital matters pertaining to both himself and his country. We should keep ourselves informed as to the nations' needs; we should be aware of the laws up in Congress that affect those needs; and we should observe the stand our elected representatives take on these measures.

We should stop to think, take time to check, if the men we voted for Nov. 4 are voting in the best interests of the nation, or if they are engaged in "playing politics" at our expense.

There is no place for playing politics in the grim world situation that we face today. If the congressman introduces a necessary bill, then it should receive support from Democrats and Republicans alike. No congressman should lend his support to bills designed to benefit certain cliques, classes, or powerful interests when such a bill is contrary to the common good.

It is our duty to keep ourselves informed of the voting record of the men we voted for, not to believe only what they tell us when they campaign for re-election, for then they will only extoll their good points and fail to mention the bad.

So, let us keep our own record, and keep it in mind when we go to the polls in November of 1956. If a man has served us honestly and well, return him to Washington; if he has betrayed the trust we placed with him, then let us remove him from office.

Why Penalize Many Because of a Few?

The students can't control themselves, so we must do it for them. This, in essence, was the argument of the administration in the assembly Monday. In other words, the students of this institution of higher learning are actually children who have not grown enough, emotionally, to know what is good for them.

Drs. Morlock and Hale spoke of instances in which a student openly challenged them to stop him from gambling in the Union building; this ruling was their answer to his challenge. That seems to be going about the whole business backwards. Why discipline the whole school in order to restrict a few?

We realize that the gambling situation is a delicate one; that something should, and must, be done. However, the alleged solution, now in effect, is inadequate. Would it be any more proper to gamble after two o'clock than before? The administration must come to the realization that a college student is an adult and should be treated like one. As long as the student is treated like a child he will remain one.

There is the other side to the issue, too. The student must learn to accept his responsibilities. For instance, 250 students signed the petition; approximately 150 attended the assembly. With his adulthood, there are responsibilities as well as rights; duties as well as privileges.

Therefore, we say restrict gambling; but do it in such a manner as to be fair to all.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

From this observation tower it seems that Evansville College lost not only the ball game to Camp Campbell, but the verbal onslaught which followed.

I am willing to go on record as saying that the Camp Cambpell coach should be complimented for the sportsmanlike way in which he weathered Coach Ping's verbal storm.

Eight of the nine Aces that I talked to felt that the game was rough but clean. One said they played dirty. Campbell's No. 43 did not play good ball and no doubt the fellow who slandered Ping overstepped his bounds. Some of the language which came from coaches, players, and spectators on the western sideline was not Sunday school lesson material.

I don't mean to be prissy about it (and I can't play the game or I would be out there) but let's divorce ourselves from the idea that it takes slandering, tobacco-chewing, likker-drinking men to play the oblong game. Let's play the game in a fashion becoming the gentlemen who represent Evansville College.

"When the one Great Scorer
Comes to write against your name
He writes, not how you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

In signing this letter I am confident I am expressing the sentiments of several persons interested in the incident.

As Squirrels Become People
War Breaks Out; FlacArthur Returns!

(The story so far: A group of squirrels find some papers in the woods and read about the ways of civilized man. In a short time, Fallin Red and Fluman Grey have the squirrels divided, Reds and Greys hating and fearing each other. Fluman became President of the United Gray Squirrels; Fallin becomes Glorious Leader of the Reds. The Reds erect an Iron Curtain along their border. The Greys perfect the Atomic-Nut Bomb, feel safe, and the politicians ignore the advice of General FlacArthur and cut down their armed forces. The General objects to this foolishness, and is obliged to fade away. However, his warning comes back to haunt the Greys. He was right, Fallin did want to control all the woods, and when he gets some Atomic Bombs of his own . . .)

By BOB GREEN

In the pre-dawn darkness of a spring morning the Iron Curtain went down, not to let the Warmonger Greys in, but to let the peaceloving Reds out. They streamed out to free the Greys from the capitalists, to bring them the technilogical advances the capitalists denied the downtrodden masses.

Red Style Christianity

That they carried bombs, guns, and other war material was just incidental. They didn't believe in religion, except that like the Inquisition; they believed it was a Christian act to destroy a person to save his soul. If he left some worldly goods behind that you could use, so much the better.

Their army rolled over the Greys, who could only retreat and fight for time. Atomic-Nut Bomb laden Red Flying Squirrels flew over the lines heading for the industrial and strategical targets. Fortunately the Grey Airforce was better prepared than the army. Radar picked up the bombers and everyready fighter squadrons rose to meet them. At the same time, UGSAF bombers took off to hammer at he heart of the Red's domain.

Fluman Recalls FlacArthur

Most of the Red bombers were shot down and only a few bombs fell on the Greys. The Reds were winning the ground war; the Greys had the upper hand in the air. However, the situation was so critical that Fluman, knowing he would be liquidated if the Reds won, nearly choked swallowing his pride, but recovered, and sent for General FlacArthur.

Before he reported to Fluman, the General dropped in on the Chiefs of Staff, who brought him up to date on the military situation. He concluded that if the Greys were to win, they must win through airpower.

When he arrived at the White Oak House he was met by a frantic Fluman, who asked him if he knew what to do. "Yes," replied the grim old General, "Get down on your knees and pray for rain!"

USAF Team to Explain Aviation Cadet Program

An Air Force Team will be at the Union Building from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Nov. 21, to give students information on the aviation cadet training program.

The program has recently been completely revamped. The principal change was the introduction of a light plane phase of training before students fly the 600 horsepower T-6 trainer. This will provide a large saving in training pilots for the 143 wing Air Force recently authorized by Congress.

Applicants must be physically fit, unmarried, between the ages of 19 and 26 and one-half years of age, and must have at least 90 quarter hours of college credits.

Veterans with two years of active duty prior to entering the program may be discharged immediately if they are eliminated from the program. Non-veterans will be required to serve the two years called for by existing draft laws if they should be eliminated.

Major John G. L. Oliver will be president of the team. He, and members of the team, will answer students' questions on all aspects of the program.

Post election-day discussions in the Indian were very enlighting — particularly the ones that didn't deal with politics.

At THE corner booth in the Indian, (yes, little Eva, I know there are two corner booths, but the second is a round peg in a square hole) a group was discussing the atom bomb and germ warfare. The crowd was evenly divided between male and female, and about evenly divided on whether or not to use the weapons.

One question brought up: What's the difference between killing 100,000 persons at one time (with germ warfare or an atom bomb) or killing about 50 with a machine gun? Another problem that was tossed out on the atom bomb: Is it fair to inflict the future generations of the bombed people with possible physical deformaties caused by radiation?

These problems have been discussed for several years without anyone producing a suitable answer except, "Thou shalt not kill — I guess." The important thing in the discussion was that students at this college realize these problems do exist and are not the conversational monopoly of I. Can Throwit, B.S., M.S., and PdD.

Three of the college's more flamboyant femmes started out talking about the election. That didn't last long and the topic suddenly turned to fashion. Seems clothes will be back again this year.

My thanks to Clifford Kraft, alumni secretary. He sent me a letter several weeks ago. Seems I didn't show up at The Crescent office for a couple of days after it arrived. The staff had to put it someplace (might have been important!) The outcome is, I now have a mailbox. Wheee! Time brings all things.)

Last week's bedtime story brought out two girls with guilty consciences. Native runners reported the two were "simply wild." People who live in glass houses better get window shades.

Said I to him on Wednesday, "I Like Ike." Said he to me, "One hundred and fifty-seven million people darn well better like him 'cause there's not a goshdang thing they can do about it!"

Pet peeve: Persons who live no further out than Diamond avenue claim to live on the North Side. Hah!

The Crescent Office has all the comforts of home — even down to a free face wash. The fountain in the hall outside O-144 (the Crescent's happy home sweet home) gives spurts and has weak spells. It's on the same line that runs to a powder room and the water used by the girls has a direct relation to said fountain's strength. It's such fun to be slurping up water from a high, free flowing stream and it suddenly goes down — down — down. Soon the drain on the line quits, the fountain stream shoots waaaay up. Where's the nearest towel and specs cleaner?

Oh, come now dept: John Moening talking to Pat Harris in the Indian and then screaming at Pat as she left, "Remember, it's a secret!" Secrets in the Indian?

Bob (Squirrel Green is sporting a lump on his head. Said he was putting toilet water on his head and the lid fell in.

INCA Constitution Approved by Board

The constitution for the Independent Campus Association was approved in three minutes at the meeting of the Administrative Board last Thursday.

With the constitution approved, INCA will elect officers to run this association next Thursday. With the election of officers in C103 at 10:00 A.M. next Thursday, INCA will join the ranks of the other recognized organizations of the campus.

Officers will be elected to five offices. They will be: president, first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary, and treasurer. The elected officers and the Advisory Council (set up in the constitution to act in an advisory capacity to the officers) will function as an Executive Committee, which will handle all executive matters of this organization. This is the only important variance from the usual line of social organization constitutions.

The membership drive is still underway and all those who join the organization before the election of officers and pay their dues, may vote in the coming election. Membership cards will be issued at the time one joins.

'Just Fiddlin' - Students Take Over Top Spots

By DICK NICHOLSON

Silence reigns over the spacious. coliseum. The curtains part and the orchestra strikes up a melody. Seated at the front is Nathan Milstein, guest violinist of the Evansville Philharmonic orchestra.

But look around him. Look at all the familiar faces spread through the great musical organization. It seems that you know practically all of them. Well, you should! Nearly three-fourths of the musicians are enrolled at Evansville College.

Accompanying Mr. Milstein, the world renowned artist, are musicians from Evansville that have prepared themselves to take the guest chairs of orchestras and bands from all over the world. There are rumors that several have already accepted offers to play with the nation's top bands and orchestras.

Tommy Dorsey Loses Job

One member of the Philharmonic group that has made a change from the orchestra to a louder band is Charles Hildreth, who, it is rumored, has accepted an offer to take over for Tommy Dorsey, with his talented trombone.

Perhaps the luckiest members of the Evansville group are John Wilson, James Jandebeur and Danny Stiles who signed with Harry James to form a trumpet quartet. "The young man with a horn" has been changed to "The young men with horns."

Woody Herman Retires

Woody Herman, who announced that he would retire when he found a successor to his top spot as clarinet artist, was back-stage before curtain time and signed William Knapp to a ten-year contract. Now Woody can hang up his clarinet.

Mary Lockwood, Ruth Ann Smith, and Nancy Lai received a break when Arturo Rubenstein asked them to join him on a world tour as guest violinists with him. Next stop for the quartet is Paris. Good luck, girls.

Polls Denounce Spike Jones

Spike Jones received a jolt when the nation wide polls gave another group the honor of doing the most toward the depreciation of music. A group of musicians (?) led by Duane Pemberton, playing the bassoon, consisting of Dorothy Atkinson, featured flutist, William Plane on the oboe, James Rose and Jack Gruebel beating the drums, and Ethel Hamilton thumping the bass fiddle gained the coveted honor.

Diane Clark, Roberta Becker, Connie Hamilton, and Richard Kemper will leave next week for New York, where they will play for an orchestra in an opera. The warbler for the opera is Margaret Truman. Since her father is out of work, she was forced to start singing for pay.

Just think! All these lucky people got their start playing second fiddle to Nathan Milstein.

So We've Heard

Terry and Diane

The Pi Kappas have gone national. They are now the Delta Kappa Fraternity. Congratulations! This makes the second national fraternity on our campus. And here is more fraternity news. It has been rumored the Philos have bought a new house. Their next door neighbors would be the Acacias. Along with this good news, they also won the annual Philo-Phi Zeta football game last Sunday. Good work! They are both wonderful accomplishments.

Don Folz and Ronnie Miller are now sales clerks at the new Evansville Store. We are wondering if they took these jobs in order to have access to the new esealator? Will Coach Ping excuse them from football practice because they will get "too" much exercise riding them?

Dad's Day is tomorrow. We hope to see you all there with your fathers. There's quite a bit of niee entertainment lined up including a barbershop quartet and four cigarette girls to distribute cigarettes and chewing gum.

By this time the Gamma Delta parties are well under way. Some of the freshman girls will have to start watching their diets; the Beta Sigma Omicron and Phi Mu parties are yet to come with more good food.

All of you musically-inclined girls take heed. The Assembly Committee is looking for an All-Girl band for the first basketball assembly. If any of you can play the oboe, tuba or any such musical instrument notify Don Rausch.

The Marriage License Bureau has been doing a booming business, if you don't think so, ask Connie Hamilton and Walter Parker.

Do you know how to do the Bunny Hop? It seems to be becoming the newest dance at parties in the Union Building. It's lots of fun, but oh, so tiring!

Some twosomes that have been seen in the Wooden Indian are Joan Hauselmeier and Jack Franke, and Marilyn Leucht and Al Lechtner.

Well, students, what happened to you? Last Monday morning there was an assembly concerning the card playing rules in the Union Building. As usual the student body was lacking in attendance. If the students complain about certain problems, why then, aren't they present when the SGA arranges one, as it did this past Monday? It's up to you, guys and gals. What are you going to do about it?

Basketball season will start into full swing within the next few weeks. Let's have some good school spirit and help in the organizing of a new pep club.

So we've heard this week.

Story of a Southern Tragedy Resembles Dreiser's Novels

"SIX ANGELS AT MY BACK"
by John Bell Clayton

Theodore Dreiser wrote "An American Tragedy." "Six Angels at My Back" is the same grim, pathetic story on a miniature scale; the tale of two young Florida boys driven into a situation they never thought existed and made by a world they never knew.

Young Ed Greaver and his friend Turkey Simms rebel against their brutal employer and quit their jobs. Turkey's desire to satisfy the greed of his wife leads both of the boys to comit a minor crime. The next step is burgulary; and this in turn forces them to become the pawns of a murderous ex-convict.

Boy Sacrifices for Girl's Love

Their denouncement is violent and inevitable, but yet a sense of nobility is added, for Ed sacrifices himself and his friend, Turkey, for the worthless girl they both love. On the surface the reader may find this rather melodramatic, but underneath runs a current of frustration and bewilderment by the boys toward the dazzling spectacle of the lives led by the rich northern tourists.

The hopelessness of the boy's situation; the curse of fate which has thrust them into such a situation: all are well expressed in the semi-illiterate lingo the author uses in his portrayal of this tragedy.

This is obviously not a tale for old maid spinsters; it is brutal, tough and intensely realistic, but yet it contains a vivid portrayal of American life.

Resembles Dreiser's Style

Although the story is an adaptation from Theodore Dreiser's great nobel prize winner, "An American Tragedy," this new story is both vivid and original in a sense. Although the author does strive for originality, he cannot help but be influenced by a previous novel judged by all tests as one of the greatest of contemporary stories.

EC-Ball State Game Closes Ace's Season

Tomorrow night's game with Ball State will bring down the curtain on the football season for the Purple Aces. The game will be the highlight of the Dad's Day program to be concluded with the crowning of the "Dad of the year" at halftime.

The game will conclude ICC play this year with neither team figuring in the championship although each has beaten one of the co-champions. Ball State handed Indiana State a sound 33-0 trouncing while EC halted the 21 game winning string of Valpo, the other title holder.

Last year the two teams played a wide open scoring affair with the Aces winning 35-21 with three third period TD's after the two teams were tied at 14-14 at halftime.

Five seniors, Captain Bob Wooley, George Topper, Jim York, John Moss and Willie Saucer will be playing their final game for the Aces tomorrow night.

The Freshmen on the EC squad got their chance in a scrimmage game with the 503rd Regimental team of the 11th Airborne Division last Wednesday at the College practice field.

The frosh started the game and played till the middel of the second quarter when Coach Ping inserted the regulars with the frosh trailing 7-0. The Aces tied the score on a great catch by Charlie Fisher but fell behind as the Troopers returned the kickoff 90 yards to the 6 yard line scoring on the following play.

The Aces scored in the third period but failed to convert and the game was called with 5 minutes remaining as tempers flared in a brief exhibition of fisticuffs.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Willie, Evansville College's answer to the flying saucer, has a chance to be the ICC's leading scorer — if he can make 14 points Saturday, and if the Aces can hold Grady, Ball State's speedy halfback, to 0.

Willie is the only Ace who has a chance to be top man on the conference totem pole, but here is how the other top Aces stand beside the other conference leaders.

Keene Leads

Howard Keene, who has been out of play a couple games this year, is the leading ground gainer. Howard has carried the ball 86 times gaining 377 yards, while the conference leader, Vrabel of Indiana State, has carried the ball 68 times and has gained 404 yards.

Charlie Fisher, who leads the Aces in forward passing, has passed 72 times, completed 21 of them, thrown one touchdown pass, and has gained 235 yards by passes. Mathias, the Ball State star passer who will beat the Aces tomorrow, is the conference leader in this field. He has attemped 101 passes, and has completed 45 of them for a total of 618 wards gained.

Heard Double-Threat

Norman Heard is the leading turf gainer by using both the air and ground. Norm has participated in 47 plays so far this season. He has gained 138 yards on the ground and 199 in the air. Mathias of Ball State is leading the field in this phase of the game also.

Fisber Top Receiver

Charlie Fisher is also top man on the receiving end of the passes. He has caught six for a net gain of 138 yards, while Butler, another Ball State man, leads the conference. Butler has caught 17 passes gaining a total of 214 yards.

Jim Giovanetti, who has handled the punting assignment well, dented the pigskin 36 times for a total of 1151 yards. He had two of his attempts blocked.

Willie Saucer has made four touchdowns, 24 points. Willie must be over the 37 point marker to take the lead from Grady of Ball State.

Freshman Give Regulars Fight For Varsity Basketball Posts

With the beginning of the 1952-53 basketball season less than two weeks away the Purple Ace cagers are rounding into shape according to Coach Arad McCutchan. The Aces open their season on Thanksgiving Day playing Oakland City College on the Armory Floor at 8:30 p.m.

Much Scrimmaging

Scrimmage, under game conditions, is being emphasized by the coaching staff to prepare the team for the coming campaign. In scrimmages held so far this season, the freshmen have been looking very good against the varsity squad from last year.

"I think we are very fortunate in having a freshman group that is making the varsity fight for their positions," Coach McCutchan said Tuesday. "Several frosh are being considered for varsity positions, they are Bob Walker from Central, Richard Mangin, James Burch, and Frank Healy from Montgomery, Ind., John Slyker from Bosse, Ken Herrenbruck from Reitz, Mac Montgomery from New Harmony, Don Sakel from Huntingburg, and Scott St. Clair from Cleves, Ohio."

Aces Have Height

Coach McCutchan went on to say, "We will be able to insert a great deal of height into the line up with Jack Nash, 6' 9", and Carl Niedermeier, 6' 6" being used at the same time. They will be backed up by Roscoe Bivins at 6' 5". "

To get the team off to a good start, the first basketball assembly will be presented on Nov. 21, in the Great Hall of the Union Building. It will be an all girl assembly sponsored by the Assembly Committee of the Student-Faculty Federation. Their will be an all girl band with Toni Reitz as MC of the show. Some short skits are also on the program.

The members of the basketball squad will be introduced and Coach McCutchan will be called upon to make a speech on the prospects for the coming season.

Outclassed Zetas Fall to Philos, 13-0

By DICK NICHOLSON

Combining a hard driving running attack with an almost impenatrable defense, Pi Epsilon Phi ground out a 13 to 0 victory over a game Phi Zeta eleven last Sunday at the college field.

With Jerry Schmitz and Don Bernhardt, Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside, carrying the brunt of the Philo attack, the Gold clad crew smashed over for their initial marker in the second period and added a second touchdown in the final frame.

Bernhardt Scampers

After a Philo attack sputtered out at the start of the second quarter, deep in Zeta territory, the undermanned Phi Zetas elected to quick kick. Swift running Bernhardt fumbled the pigskin before finally tucking the oval under his arm at the mid-field stripe and scampering fourteen yards to the 26 yard stripe.

Schmitz and Bernhardt combined to carry the ball to the twelve from where Schmitz knifed his way over for the six-pointer, carrying several frustrated Zetas the last four yards.

Strong Defense

Held to three first downs by the alert Philo forward wall, Phi Zeta never was able to penetrate deep into the Gold territory. A pass from Dave Barning to Red Walters advanced the ball just beyond the mid-field marker, but the aggressive Philos threw the Zeta backs for repeated losses.

A blocked punt set the stage for the last Philo touchdown in the fourth stanza. Taking the ball on the eleven, Bernhardt needed but three attempts to register the seven points. He tallied on successive sweeps around right end and added the extra point on the same play.

Phi Zeta, unable to dent the Philo forwards, relied on a passing attack that also proved incompetent. Dave Barning did most of the hurling for the Purple and White outfit, but he never was given a chance to display his full ability as the smaller Zeta line couldn't cope with such stalwarts as Pete Hillenbrand, Tom Hartman, Jack Combs and company.

Philos Roll

In contrast to the three first downs registered by Zeta, the swifter Philos ripped of huge hunks of yardage, with the In-Out combination and an occasional reverse by the hard-hitting Ralph Weber, who was also used as the top Philo pass receiver, consistently hitting the Purple line for big gains.

The triumph was the thirteenth victory for the Philos in fifteen games played. The game also marked the fourth consecutive year in which the Phi Zeta squad has been stutout by the Philo group.

Ex-EC Grid Star Shines With Eagles

At the Philadelphia Eagle-Washington Redskin game at Shibe Park in Philadelphia last Sunday, two Evansville College students had an opportunity to see ex-Purple Ace star end Ray Bawel in action with the Eagles.

Bob Young and John Evers were the lucky fans and they reported Ray is doing fine and is well-liked by Eagle fans. Ray, who thrilled Evansville fans for several years here with his circus catches as a glue-fingered end, has been used primarily as a defensive halfback since joining the Eagles squad this season.

In the game Sunday, in which the Eagles triumphed over the Redskins 38-20, Bawel intercepted two more passes to tie for the league lead in that department. He has now intercepted seven passes. Ray played the entire game Sunday defensively, alternating between halfback and end positions.

Mr. Young reported that Ray has been working out some in practice sessions on offensive end plays, but with such standouts as Harry Grant and Pete Pihos on the Eagle squad at that position, chances are slim for Ray to be used much at that post Mr. Young said.

Ray has been attending Temple University in Philadelphia, but after football season is over he will return to Evansville College to continue his graduate work.

Tourney Goes Into Third Phase

The third round of the table tennis tournament is underway and the field narrows as the championship match nears.

All players have not completed their third round yet, but Rowe, Conaway, Dewig, Whitmore, Zeig, Purdie, and Walters still remain.

Final date for the third round is Nov. 15. Quarter finals will be played during the 17, 18, and 19, with the champion being decided Nov. 20 and 21.

Students To Boost Aces By Joining Pep Club

All students interested in helping to generate better cheering at the home athletic contests should sign a petition for membership in the Pep Club, Miss Kay Bondus, social director of the Union Building, announced today.

The petitions can be picked up today in Miss Bondus' office and should be returned no later than Nov. 26.

There will be two provisions in th petition to which the student must agree to comply. The first is that, at every home contest, he or she will wear a white shirt, blouse or sweater, whichever the case may be; and second, they must agree to sit in the reserved section of the student's bleachers, which will be in the center of the court. The reserve section will be painted white.

The first meeting of the Pep Club will be held in the Great Hall on Monday, Dec. 1, and will be for organizational purposes; membership cards will be issued.

The Pep Club will start to function as a unit for the first time on Dec. 3, when the Aces play Murray State Teacher's College. This will be during finals, however, and attendance will not be compulsory.

Club members plan to make the cheering a little more colorful on Dec. 13, when the Aces meet Kentucky Wesleyan's team, by using flash cards. From thenceforth attendance will be required.

John Moening, chairman, urges everyone interested in joining the Pep Club to obtain a petition at their earliest convenience.

NOSE, THROAT,
and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Oscar Folz Selected '52 'Dad-of-the-Year'

By GLORIA WATSON

Oscar Folz, father of Don Folz, received the "Dad of the Year" award at halftime ceremonies of the EC-Ball State game last Saturday at the second annual Dad's Day.

He received this award for showing the greatest interest in the team this season. Members of the football team chose Mr. Folz because he has been to all the games, at home and away, and has been present at many of the practice sessions. In general, the team felt that he has done more for team support than any of the other dads.

Cigars, Cigarettes

Cigarette girls, floor shows and other entertainment made Saturday a more delightful day for dads and EC students. Students and dads participated in table tennis, billiards, and viewed movies of the 1952 Homecoming game in the afternoon. A cabaret dinner in the evening in the Great Hall featured girls dressed as New York nightclub cigarette girls.

BSO Honored

During the afternoon program, Vera Robinson, president of Alpha Omicron Pi, presented a 16 inch silver tray with words "Panhellenic Scholarship Award" on it to Beta Sigma Omicron.

After dinner, the students and honored guests went to Reitz Bowl where they saw Ball State defeat Evansville 26-7 in the final game of the year. At halftime the EC marching band paid tribute to Dad by playing songs in his honor and making various formations symbolic of him.

Four lovely freshmen serving as cigarette girls formed one of the "bright spots" on the colorful Dad's Day program last Saturday. The shaply beauties served the cabaret dinner in the Great Hall and had many jaws agag. They are (l. to r.) Dorathy Baggett, Pat Courtleigh, Myra Casey and Marilyn Leucht.

Two Won, Seven Lost .... Why???

With the closing of the football record book last Saturday on the 1952 season, Evansville College finds itself with a two won, seven lost record.

This has been an unusually bad year for Coach Don Ping and his cleated crew and it marked his worst year since he took over the helm in 1946. With the plush years of post-war football behind him, the days when the returning veterans made up the team, Coach Ping is finding out the results of playing the state aided schools with an undermanned squad.

The past season made the administration look very wise in dropping out of the OVC conference as far as football is concerned. The Aces ended the season without a victory over an OVC team. It looks like the next step is the Hoosier Conference.

Lack of ability cannot be blamed for the defeats. This was proved when the Aces ended a 24-game winning streak of Valparaiso University. What the team lacked was spirit and an incentive to win. Only once during the season did they have any fight, that was during the aforementioned game.

Whatever is said about the teams lacking in spirit also goes for the student body. It looks rather bad when five cheerleaders yell louder than the fans.

Does the spirit of the team depend upon the spirit of the student body, or does the spirit of the sudent body depend upon the spirit of the team? This question was left unanswered at the end of the football season; lets hope the student body and the basketball team work together to find an answer during the coming season.

A Cute Story Proves a Point

Those who attended the assembly and heard the discussion on card playing seemed to get quite a laugh out of Dr. Morlock's speech. Probably even those who didn't attend have heard how he cleverly compared the way gambling appeared to the casual observer by recounting an experience he had had himself sometime back.

He had been walking across the campus one day and happened to see a young couple not using discretion as they were lounging on the edge of the campus quite close to heavily travled Lincoln Ave. Feeling that they weren't reflecting well on themselves or the college, he went over and pointed out the error of their ways.

After the assembly, a student still laughing over Dr. Morlock's analogy on the impropriety of gambling and considering also the two o'clock ruling on cards, came up with the question, "Wonder if he would have told the couple to stop if it had been after two o'clock?"

The Crescent wishes to congratulate Dr. Morlock, for he addressed a group that didn't favor his viewpoint, told a funny story and made them laugh, and in the telling, pressed home his point in such a way that everyone could clearly see why the present ruling is in effect.

A Thought for Thanksgiving

With the Thanksgiving holiday approaching many of us are looking forward to a short vacation from our classes. Thanksgiving, however, may hold a different meaning for each of us. To some, it will mean the delicious aroma of roast turkey and oyster dressing with candied yams and cranberry sauce.

To others, it may be the celebration of a day that is rich in tradition and deeply embedded in the history of our country. It is a day held in tribute and as a rembrance of the struggle and the triumphs of our forefathers.

Yet the real meaning of Thanksgiving is very well known to us, the giving of thanks to our God for the blessings of the past year. This has been published and orated and has become so familiar to us, that the seriousness of the occasion is often shoved into the darkest corner of our minds. This year let us take it from that dark corner and air it out. This year let us on that day which has been especially set aside for the purpose, look about us and give thanks to our Maker for our many, many fortunes.

Then, instead of just reserving the 4th Thursday in November for Thanksgiving, let us make every day in the coming year a thanks giving day. In doing so, we will make our own lives brighter as well as the lives of our fellow men.

As Squirrels Become People

Greys Set Up Treetop Welfare State

(The story so far: A group of squirrels find some papers and read about the ways of civilized man. Soon Fluman Grey and Fallin Red have the squirrels divided, Reds an Greys hating and fearing each other. Fluman becomes President of the United Grey Squirrels; Fallin, Glorious Leader of the Reds. The Greys perfect the Atomic-Nut Bomb and feel safe. Politicians ignore General FlacArthur's advice to not cut down their army; they cut it down and force the General to fade away. FlacAruthur's warnings come back to haunt them, for the Reds obtain the bomb also, and attack. Losing the war, Fluman recalls FlacArthur to duty.)

By BOB GREEN

For the next week, the Greys saved their bombs, and fought a delaying action on the ground. Then it rained and the creek that ran through the woods overflowed its banks. Since the Reds part of the woods was the lowest, most of it was under water. Then FlacArthur sent the Air Force to bomb the Reds; they dropped every bomb they had stockpiled.

Anihilation of the Reds

The day after the bombing, Grey reconnaissance planes reported there was not a Red left alive in the bombed and flooded area. It was as FlacArthur had known it would be, the bombs exploding under water had sent up a lethal mist that killed everything living! Since all the Red leaders had been far behind the front, they were all dead, and it remained only for FlacArthur to supervise the extermination of what few Reds were still left.

Shortly, every Red in the woods had been anihilated and peace and the Greys ruled supreme. There was rejoicing among the United Grey Squirrels, the day the war ended was declared a holiday, bands played, veterans marched, and politicians made speeches. Everyone was happy. Well . . . almost everyone, and perhaps they weren't really unhappy, but they were worried.

Politicians Worried

Small wonder the politicians were worried. Poring over Elmer Bullfiddle's papers didn't help, for nowhere in them could they find where human politicians had come to the place where they didn't have some sort of dictatorial, red, or fascist menace to make a big to-do about and use as an excuse to raise taxes.

Since there was no need for an army, Congress disbanded it. However, they did not cut taxes in proportion. In order to justify the tax burden, they expanded the socialistic program, both parties striving to outdo the other and thus gain votes.

Wooing the Voters

They appealed to the veteran vote with bonus, pension, and a 52-20 club set of laws; wooed the farmers with price-support of parity prices; the working man with social security and unemployment insurance and pro-union laws; and the infirm and shiftless with child assistance measures.

The socialistic program became so immense it was necessary to raise taxes. They became so high that a working squirrel wasn't more than a couple of nuts ahead of the squirrel who just sat and rocked. Everyone began to think, "I'll get my share anyway, so I'll just be smart and let the dumb squirrels do all the work!"

Hardly anyone worked that summer. They lay around, and since food was plentiful, they saved up their government checks for winter. They could cash them then and buy the winter's nuts.

A Tree Top Utopia

And how are the socialistic Greys today? The blessed who had peace, unity, racial equality, plenty of living space, equal opportunity, a rich country; in short, everything that the human race has always considered would make the world a Utopia.

Well, when winter came, they carried their government checks to the Government Nut Bank, cashed them, and went to the store to buy the winters nuts.

Imagine their suprise when they found out there were no nuts for sale! They had forgotten that while some may loaf, some must produce. The nuts they hadn't gathered were buried under three feet of snow, so, amid all their government checks and money, the loafing "welfare staters" all starved to death!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Every college student needs to enlarge his social horizons and develop a well-rounded personality, and this he can best achieve by belonging to some social student organization. He owes it to himself and he owes it to his school and community. The world is becoming an increasingly difficult place for the introvert; knowing how to get along with people is a precious asset to anyone, on or off the campus.

INCA (Independent Campus Association) offers Independents many opportunities for campus friendships and group entertainment that at present are enjoyed by only the social fraternities and sororities of Evansville College. "Friendships made" and associations formed at college will influence your life long after you have forgotten much of the "lessons learned" in textbooks.

Incans will enjoy one big social event and one or two smaller parties each quarter. Each year the Fall Quarter Ice Breaker will probably be held at Mesker Park or Audubon Park, the Christmas Hop and Card Party in the Student Union, and the Spring Picnic-Swim at one of the state parks. The first INCA splash in the social pond will be a Christmas dance and card party in the Great Hall of the Union on Thursday, Dec. 11, the first school night of the winter quarter.

Independents, don't hesitate to join because you can't attend the meetings on Thursday morning at ten. INCA understands and requires no attendance, but hopes you will come to the parties and support the INCA candidates in the spring elections. You save money by paying your quarter dues of one dollar before Dec. 1. After that date the dues are $1.50 per quarter the rest of the school year.

Love your Alma Mater "more and more each year" and be active in INCA until you decide to join a social fraternity or sorority. Your experiences in INCA will stand you in good stead in the latter organizations, if and when you terminate your Independent status.

Boost your school, back your teams, and help carry out your student government's policies through INCA.

"We face the future unafraid."

SGA News

By RALPH WEBER
SGA President

Probably the most important news from SGA concerns the assembly which the Public Speech Committee sponsored last week on the card-playing rule — a rule which over 200 students signed a petition requesting reconsideration of. I am sorry to say that there weren't 200 people at the assembly; in fact, I believe a very generous estimate of the number of people who actually signed the petition and were at the assembly would be closer to 100. There were only approximately 150 students and faculty at the assembly.

In other words, approximately 200 students want reconsideration on the card-playing rule, but not badly enough to take 35 minutes of their time to help get it.

Students Bob Wooley and Vernon Potts did a fine job presenting the student viewpoint on the matter; Dr. Lincoln B. Hale and Dr. James Morlock likewise did a good job defending the administration viewpoint. A few students in the audience did a pretty fair job too of asking some reasonably intelligent questions.

But I'm sorry to report that it takes more than a handful of interested and disinterested persons to get action in a situation such as this — even though a special committee, such as the one Bob Wooley requested, is in the process of being selected by President Hale and myself to delve deeper into the problem. The anti-climax to the whole program will be another assembly at which time the Administrative Board will report the findings of the committee to the student body.

I would suggest that if there are actually two hundred students on campus interested in a reconsideration of the rule, that they come to that assembly. And bring a friend.

Paintings by Ford On Display in Union

Watercolor paintings by Mrs. Ruth Van Sickle Ford, president-director of the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, are now on display in the Union Building.

The scenes shown were visited by Miss Gertrude Leich and Miss Doris Kirk this summer while they were vacationing. Miss Kirk visited the Caribean area and Miss Leich toured Latin America.

According to Miss Florence Keve, head of the EC art department, Mrs. Ford's ability to handle color in broad areas and yet bring out intricate detail makes this exhibit appealing in both technique and subject matter.

Mrs. Ford has exhibited her works extensively in the United States, has received numerous prizes and awards, and has a number of her pictures in galleries.

In addition to Mrs. Ford's works are pictures loaned by the Evansville Museum, woodcuts belonging to W. C. Bussing, president of the Evansville Press, and jewelery, watercolor and oil paintings by students of the college.

The Ford exhibit is this year's fourth and will remain on display until November 24.

—Anything at All—

by Walt Prickett

President Hale tossed a hot potato squarely where it belongs in his talk at the assembly on card playing.

I know. I was one of the 250 students who signed the petition asking for reconsideration of the rule and one of the 150 students interested enough to attend the assembly.

There is a time and place for all things. I don't think a college campus is the place for gambling and deliberate cutting of classes. When students demonstrate they have enough guts (intestinal fortitude to the delicate) to play cards without gambling and cutting classes, they will probably get the privilege of full-time card playing restored.

To my knowledge, it is the first time there has been such an airing of a matter. That's how democratic action starts — as a give and take. The card playing ban until 2 p.m. is the work of a few.

Ralph Weber, president of S.G.A., did an excellent, impartial job as presiding officer at the discussion.

Last Friday's Pep Assembly was good. I knew something was afoot when Prof. Spence wore shoes — instead of his usual sandals. Miss Shirley Heines created a mild sensation by standing ramrod-straight while singing a peppy "Jamaican Rumba." The Schmidt brothers took care of that situation with "Perfidia." After watching the Schmidt brothers, I'll never buy Luden's again.

Note to all attending: Ron (Not Guilty) Miller, really didn't. Some guys just thought it would be funny to act as though he did — they were right!

Don Rausch added an interesting note to the assembly by dashing through the stage door as Miss Heines walked on stage. Whoa, boy.

Jack Alexander contented himself by chewing up a Crescent. (Wonder where Paunch was?) Proves the Crescent is food for thought.

Pat (Toothpick) Martin sometimes has trouble keeping track of her purse and red coat. They just pick up and walk away.

Honesty is the best policy, I've been told. The three most candid persons on campus are the Frankes. (I thought there were only two until the student directory appeared.)

Now, if you haven't guessed, is the punning time. My favorite: "Do you know why some bakers don't sell buns?" "No, why?" "Some bakers don't sell buns because buns are the lowest form of wheat."

I'll never have to worry about Balding as long as Harris around. If Harris leaves I'll put Dewig on.

When the next pep assembly time comes 'round a novel entertainment would be a William Tell act by J. Archer and G. Appel. If you want to Wade out of that one, I'll have a Barker Barring your Rhodes and send you Roland in the aisles.

New Ruling in Queen Elections Passed by Student Council

At a student council meeting in the Union Building Monday, an ammendment to the method of selecting Homecoming and basketball queen candidates was proposed and accepted by the council.

Another proposal accepted during the council meeting stated that all presidents of organizations who would normally be represented in the queen's court should meet at least two weeks prior to the election to discuss election campaign and voting practices.

The new nomination plan stipulates that the various organizations normally represented in the court would make the nominations themselves, each selecting the girl from their organization who they wish to run in the election.

Oraginzations normally represented in the queen's court are the five sororities — Chi Omega, Beta Sigma Omicron, Phi Mu, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Alpha Kappa Alpha — the independents, and for the Homecoming election in the fall, Gamma Delta, freshman sorority.

Nominating in the past has been done by the football team for Homecoming and the basketball team for the net queen. The new plan will be used for the first time to nominate the basketball queen candidates next quarter.

Used Book File Ready For Winter Listings

All of the old cards on file in the used book file in the patio of the Union Building have been removed in an attempt to bring the file up to date, it was announced Monday by Ralph Weber, president of SGA.

"So many of the cards in the file were obsolete that we had to clean house," Mr. Weber said. "Any student who wishes to sell a book should fill out a card soon to give prospective buyers an opportunity to save some money on the books they will need for the winter quarter," he added.

An ample supply of blank cards is in the file.

Thompson Gives Classical Records To WEVC; Mercury Sends Pop Hits

Radio Station WEVC has received fifty classical albums and three hundred popular releases for addition to the station's record department.

Bish Thompson, Evansville Press feature writer, presented the classics to WEVC from his private collection when he replaced the 78 r.p.m. records with the long playing 33's.

No Commercials, Please

Among the group is Handel's cmoplete "Messiah" which Mr. Thompson would like to hear on the air one evening with no commercials to interrupt. As the time required to play the entire "Messiah" is around four hours, it is seldom presented as a whole.

The majority of the records were bought in Kansas before the war. Since then, they have been moved through several states. In the estimate of Mr. Thompson, the value of the records is around four times the original price because of shipping charges.

Personal Collection

Mr. Thompson stated that these records are purely a personal collection, no organization whatsoever. He selects his records according to how they sound to him.

"I can't carry a tune, but I know what I like when I hear it," said Mr. Thompson. The only musical training he admits having received is when he attempted to play a piccolo in his high school band.

Irregardless of training, Mr. Thomson's presentation of the classical albums to WEVC showed musical taste.

Popular Records Too

The three hundred popular releases were presented to WEVC by Rickie Lester, representative of the Chicago branch of the Mercury Record Company. These records are current and past hits.

In the future, all current releases will be sent to WEVC ahead of release to the public. Receipt of the latest popular tunes will average fifteen per month.

Coeds Selected As Campus Optimisses

Selected by Pi Delta Epsilon as the most optimistic coeds on campus were Frances Raley, freshman; Mary Nell Minto, sophomore; Delores Schaber, junior; and Joyce Wiggers, senior.

These girls assisted the Optimist Club in selecting the most optimistic looking man of Evansville. Tuesday, Nov. 11, they were posted on corners of Main street where they pinned roses on the lapels of the optimistic men that passed and presented them with copies of the optimist creed.

Mr. Optimist was then chosen by the club from the group that received roses. H. B. McCoy, who was elected Mr. Optimist, was crowned by Miss Optimiss, Mary Nell Minto, at the weekly luncheon of the club at the McCurdy Hotel Wednesday.

Stephens To Speak To Gamma Delta

Gamma Delta, sorority for freshman girls, will hold its next regular meeting Monday, Dec. 1. At this meeting Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, advisor, will speak to the organization on rush. Her talk will center around rush regulations, violations, and penalties for such.

Following the Dec. 1 meeting, there will be only two more meetings this school year: Dec. 14 and Jan. 5, according to Mrs. Stephens. After this time, rush begins and Gamma Delta is discontinued until next fall when new freshmen enroll.

The sorority is now making plans for its return party for the other social sororities. A definite date for the party has not yet been set; however, it is to be sometime after the Christmas vacation.

In addition to its regular business this fall, Gamma Delta has had various sorority presidents to speak at its meetings to explain the various functions of the sororities.

Bulletin

Offieers for the newly formed debate Council were elected at a meeting of the council Monday, it has been announced by James Shutt, assistant professor of speech, faculty sponsor.

Those elected are: Carroll Rickard, president; Bob Harris, vice-president; and Joanne Frohbieter, secretary-treasurer.

The Debate Council constitution was approved by the administrative board last week. The council is currently booking several debate engagements with other schools.

Drama Directing Class Gives Seven One Act Plays in 'Theatre-in-Round'

Four one-act plays were presented last night in the theatre-in-the-round in the Fine Arts Building and three will be given this evening, said Howard A. Hill, assistant professor of drama and speech.

These plays are directed by students enrolled in the class of drama directing. Although one purpose of these productions is to entertain, the main reason is to give actual experience in directing, Mr. Hill said. He also said that through directing, a person could see all the difficulties of dramatic productions as well as the possibilities. The type of plays vary from religious drame to comedies.

Students Direct

Bess Mullet directed "Little Prison" written by George Milton Savage last night and Jerry Hoover supervised "The Monkey's Paw" by W. W. Jacobs. "Heat Lightning" by John Carroll was directed by Don Bernhardt while Frank Stuart had "No Room In the Hotel" by Dorothy Clarke Wilson.

Three Plays Tonight

Lou Ann Inskeep will direct "Two Birds With One Stone" by Peter Clandon this evening. Eloise Schmitz, Barbara DeJong and Marlon Rayburn are in the cast. Mr. Rayburn will lead "On Vengeance Height" by Allan Davis, with Francis E. Coughlin, Miss Inskeep, Jack Schaffner and RobertL. Cravens doing the acting.

Joe Emerson will direct "The Terrible Meek" by Charles R. Kennedy with John Wilson, Bill Plane and Pat Martin in the cast.

There is no admission charge for these performances and the public is invited. Curtain time is at 8 p.m.

Dewig Ranks Boughner Tops For Interest, Wit and Puns

By PAUL DEWIG

(Author's note: In reading this feature on Dr. Boughner, the reader must understand that the writer considers him the most scholarly professor on campus. After having been in Dr. Baughner's classes for three quarters, he feels he can typify the general sentiments of most students by saying he ranks among the top instructors for interest, wit and knowledge of subject matter.)

Dr. Boughner bases his theory of teaching on his assumption that students come to college to get an education. He tells his classes at the beginning of each quarter that he will try to give them the knowledge they seek, crediting that they are mature men and women.

Has Varied Background

His classroom attitude has the general tone of seriousness with an overtone of humorous informality. His background of literature extends from the derivation of the present day English language to the influence of the sciences on literature. This background information he has is readily accessible, and he is apt in presenting it for class interpretation and clarity.

An opportunist himself, Dr. Boughner grasps every chance to capitalize on his quick wit. One of his pet play on words is his definition of the opportunists. He claims such a person as "one who, finding himself in hot water, proceeds to take a bath." One pun he particularly likes and has used for the past two years in his various classes is his definition of a wolf. "A wolf," he claims, "is a campus Charlie who takes out a co-ed sweater girl and tries to pull the wool over her eyes."

Holds Students' Attention

Classroom attitude under this faculty punster has an informal but attentive and orderly atmosphere. He has the rare knack for keeping the students' interest. When the class meets on what he terms purple Monday or gray Friday in the usual somnolent spirit he invites those of the class who wish, to proceed to the rear of the room, turn off their hearing aids and sleep. The good professor has an ulterior motive for saying this, though. It paves the way for another of his popular definitions, that of a professor. 'A professor," he insists, "is a person who talks in someone else's sleep."

Red Sox Fan

Other than his liking for the Red Sox and his appreciation of feminine pulchritude, Dr. Boughner lives for the chance to expound the dawn song from Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet' and the intimate scenes from the Canterbury Tales and 'Trolius and Cressida.' He considers it a prize accomplishment to go right through these passages in his usual somber style, then, look into the dense faced students and chuckle "Ha — got through that one."

In post mortem the writer of this sketch wishes to express that he wrote this only because he knew Dr. Boughner's attitude towards freedom of the press. It would take more than this paltry space to fully tell the whole story of dangerous Dan, as he is known by his students.

New Student Directory In College Bookstore

So We've Heard

Terry and Diane

Vacation time is on its way! But alas, after Thanksgiving FINALS loom before us. Such is life. There is no way out.

The football season has ended, and the basketball season will come into full swing on Thanksgiving Day. Preceding this first nighter there will be an assembly this morning. And something new has been added! An all-girl band! This will be new and different, and perhaps, intriguing to some. So how about the school spirit? That's up to you! Are you interested?

Here's a small piece of philosophy for some of you males:

A bargain is a good buy.

A goodbye is a farewell.

A farewell is to part.

To part is to leave.

My girl left without saying goodbye.

She was no bargain anyway.

Two Beta Sigma Omicron's are changing their last name this Christmas. Darlene Besing will be married to an Acacia, Stanley E. Grafton, and Harriett DeBard and Tom Drilling will be saying their vows. Congratulations, and best wishes.

The Union Committe party didn't draw quite the crowd that was expected. Goodness, what's wrong? There was plenty of food and lots of entertainment!

"California, Here I Come." That's the song Don Rausch has been humming all this week. Over the holidays he will be out there in connection with the Arnold Air Society. We hope you enjoy your trip, Don.

Moral Dereliction Constitutes Theme of Isherwood's Novel

"THE LAST OF MR. NORRIS"
Christopher Isherwood

This is the story of a strange friendship that grows up between two Englishmen; one, a narrator, a young university graduate, the other a middle-aged, insignificant, moral derelict who has been living on his wits in varioius Eureopean and American capitals.

Study in Characterization

In more than one aspect, this novel is both clever and creditable. Unfortunately, once it begins to move, the word lacks that which is essential to any fictional venture into espionage — a strong plot. Actually, "The Last of Mr. Norris" is a study in characterization. Also it offers interesting sidelights on certain aspects of the feverish Berlin of the 1930's. These interesting sidelights constitute the only valuable material which the reader might reap from an otherwise light, readable book.

Astonishingly enough, the reader cannot actually dislike Arthur Norris. Repellant though he may be, repulsive though he may seem through his relationship with other men, the author creates a soft and appealing sympathy with this man whose activities would shock even the hardest of us. The author tempers an otherwise unappetizing picture with a trace of nervous humor and innocent merriment.

Has Irony and Saltiness

The story is deeply ironical, and, it is for its saltiness in the first place that this book may be recommended; it is a feat of sustained irony that can do no harm to its German author.

Although extremely readable and amusing, "The Last of Mr. Norris" might seem to be a sturdy attempt to merely latch onto a few royalties without thought of the work. B. B.

Aces Open Net Season Nov. 27

Aces Suffer Seventh Loss Of Year, 26-7

Ending the most dismal season of the Don Ping regime, the hapless Evansville Aces suffered their seventh defeat of the season at the hands of Ball State's Cardinals last Saturday afternoon at Reitz Bowl by a score of 26 to 7.

Ball State, sporting the redoubtable Governor Grady, scored their four touchdowns on short drives of 34, 31, 38, and 34 yards, gaining posession of the pigskin in Evansville territory each time on Ace miscues.

Fisher Hurt

The spiritless Aces kept Ball State on guard throughout the first period, but the loss of quarterback Charlie Fisher due to a leg injury proved to be a blow to the Pingmen.

The Cardinals, whose record was the same as that of the Aces before game time, scored early in the second quarter, with Grady climaxing the short drive on a three yard plunge. They added another in the same period after again taking advantage of an Ace mistake.

Saucer Fumbles

Willie Saucer, playing his last game for the Evansville gridders, fumbled a punt on the Ace 38 yard line during the third quarter, and it took the Cardinals just nine plays to score, with Paul Shirar going over from the two.

The Cardinals boosted their total to 26 points on the second play of the final frame, with Grady going over from the the three after State had taken over on the 34 as a result of an Evansville fumble.

Keene Scores Six From Six

The Aces proved that they could go the distance as they marched 80 yards to score in the waning minutes of the game. However, it took a pass interference penalty on the Cardinals to advance the ball within scoring range, and Howard Keene tallied from the six. Bob Scott who performed yeomanly on defense, booted the extra point to give the Aces their seven points.

Riflemen Win Over Western

The ROTC rifle team defeated Western Kentucky in the first of a series of shoulder to shoulder matches slated for the team this year 1624-1610.

Also to be added to the victory over Western are wins over the Universities of Colorado and Denver in postal matches so far this season.

Master Sergeant Dail, rifle instructor, has scheduled matches with three different ROTC rifle teams each week to run until the close of the school year. The team will face Indiana Univ. on Dec. 13, also on tap are St. Louis Univ., Butler, Southern Illinois, Washington of St. Louis, and DePauw.

Considering this is the second year for the team on the campus, Sergeant Dail has molded a group of inexperienced marksmen into a highly effective team.

Bartles Barters Lead Bowling League

Bartes Barters' one of the two faculty teams in the bowling league sponsored by the Union Board Games Committee and the SGA Athletic Committee, made a clean sweep of the first round by capturing three games from the Acacia team.

The "Barters" rolled a blistering 1795 to take high team honors, with Col. Branner rolling a 490 to take high single honors. Gene Blackman of BAK rolled a 212 for the high single game.

Team standings are as follows:

	Won	Lost
Bartle Barters	3	0
BAK	2	1
Phi Zeta	2	1
Philo	I	2
Hill's Billies	1	2
Acacia	0	3

Traditional Opening Rival Oakland City, Here Thurs.

By JACK COMBS

The Purple Aces open their home basketball season next Thursday with their traditional opening rival, Oakland City, at the Armory at 8:30 p.m.

Coach Arad McCutchan has been working his 28 man squad hard during the past weeks to round them into shape for the coming season. Hoping to improve on last year's seven won and 20 lost record Coach McCutchan has 11 returning lettermen and a fine looking crop of freshmen from which to choose his varsity squad.

Lose Leading Scorers

The three leading scorers from last year's team, Bob Northerner, Ray Bawel and Joe Schwitz, have graduated, but this year's cagers have been hitting very well in practice and high scoring is being anticipated. Keith Combs, senior guard from Boonville, Ind., is the leading scorer returning from last year. Keith had 177 points in 26 games.

Other players who scored over 100 points last year were; Roscoe Bivin, Owensboro, Ky., with 152 points in 20 games, Dave Crumbaker, Madisonville, Ky., 139 points in 25 games, Jack Nash, Leavenworth, Ind., with 128 points in 25 games and Gene Wilm, Haubstadt, Ind., tallied 104 points in 18 games.

The Aces can no longer blame the lack of height for a losing game, of the 11 returning lettermen only two stand under six feet tall. Add to this list five freshmen over six feet and you can see how the team stacks up. The returning lettermen average 6′ 2½″ tall.

Starters Not Named

Coach McCutchan will not definitely name his five starters for the opening game, but said there were twelve boys from which he could pick his starting crew. The five players starting in most practice scrimmages are Crumbaker and Combs at guards, Nash at Center and Bernie Connally, Evansville Bosse, and Jim Wilkinson, Evansville Central, at forwards.

The next issue date of the Crescent is Dec. 19, the Aces will play seven games before this issue. Included in these seven games will be two new teams on the Evansville schedule, Southern Illinois University and Illinois State Normal University.

Aces Lead Acorns

Oakland City, the first team on the schedule lost both games to Evansville last year 68-61 and 81-69. In all previous games with the Acorns the Aces have won 29 and lost nine.

The Murray Ky. Thoroughbreds hold the upper hand in the won and lost column leading the Aces 11 games to three. Murray won both skirmishes last year by the scores of 82-60 and 93-68 behind the sharp shooting of Benny Purcell and Clarence Beshear. The Aces play Murray on successive Wednesdays this year, Dec. 3 and 10.

Kentucky Wesleyan holds a slight edge over the Evansville bucketteers two games to one. The Kentuckians edged out the Aces 76-74 for the one game edge in a thriller last year.

The Aces split even with Valparaiso's Crusaders last year. Evansville won the initial encounter 62-59 but dropped the second game 78-68.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Well, its over, and most of the people concerned are very happy to see the sick cow die. Too bad that the last breath had to be so hoarse, and too bad that a lot of hard working guys had to bear the brunt of bad publicity and worse criticism, while the offenders nonchalantly blamed it on their "less experienced" team mates.

The coach said that the Aces were a poorly coached team that played Ball State. Many wonder what the Mentor meant by that, or why the Aces were poorly coached. But I believe that the majority of the players would like to give a few of their team mates, free of charge, a copy of the little book, "How To Win Friends and Influence People," or gently kick them out of their little ivory towers.

Five Graduate

Now that it is over, the best thing to do is to forget it and to look for a brighter tomorrow. Just a few out of this year's crew left the turf last Saturday for the last time: Topper, Wooley, Moss, Saucer, and York. It is hard for these to leave after such a season when they have played hard and earnestly, but with little support; and knowing that just a few have ruined their last college fling.

This wasn't the worst season that the Aces have had, but it probably is the worst one that they have had considering the material that they had this year.

'Sleepy-Time" Squad

Maybe next year some of the members of the team will have to fight, and fight hard, to keep their positions on the squad, and maybe this will jar some of their pleasant state of lethargy. As things now stand, most of the guys don't care whether they loaf or play. They have nothing to gain nor nothing to lose. Whatever happens, they still maintain their position on the squad — some even have their preference as to what positions and when they want to play — and still won't play ball, not even with their team mates.

We can only wait and hope for something better, for it can't get much worse.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."

Roger Pemberton To Enter Dance Band in Contest

The Campus Dance Band is entering the first College Dance Band Contest sponsored by Metronome Magazine, according to Roger Pemberton, leader.

The band will be one of the many college dance bands from all over the country who will make four recordings and submit them on acetate discs to be judged by bandleaders Ray Anthony, Stan Kenton, Billy May, and Capitol Recording executive Alan Livingston.

All College Students

The entrants will be rated on performance and the winning band will receive a recording engagement with Capitol Records. All members of the bands must be full time college students.

The "Rehearsal" Band, as Roger sometimes calls it, gets together once a week to try out special arrangements, many of which are Roger's own manuscripts.

The band members who will play for the "cuttings" are Jim Jandebeur, Danny Stiles, Dwayne Scott, John Wilson, Richard Carl, trumpe; Charlie Hildreth, Bill Parish, Charlie Melhiser, Claude Hayes, trombone; and Ronald Garber, tuba. The sax-men will be Jack King, Duane Pemberton, Roger Pemberton, Bill Plane, and Bill Knapp. Providing the rhythm are Ben Reading, string-bass; Jack Greubel, drums. Piano is as yet undecided.

Les Brown Inspired Contest

The search for the best college dance band stemmed from an article written in Metronome magazine by Les Brown, well-known band leader, who organized one of the first college dance bands at Duke University in the early 1930's.

Any person interested in the contest may pick up information and entry blanks at the Crescent Office. The deadline for entries is March 15, 1953.

Rules on Card Playing Studied by Committee

According to Ralph Weber, president of SGA, a special committee was appointed in the weekly administrative board meeting two weeks ago to study the card playing rule.

The special committee consists of four students and three faculty members. The students are Walt Prickett, senior; Charles Shelton, junior; Roberta Becker, junior; and Shirley Balding, sophomore.

Faculty members on the committee are: Dr. Wade David, head of the department of history; Dr. Daniel C. Boughner, professor of English; and Miss Lucile Jones, head of the department of education.

The committee will meet to discuss and formulate recommendations concerning the card playing rule and make a report to the administrative board Jan. 15. The board, in turn, will report their findings to the student body in another special assembly sometime during the winter quarter. The day for this has not yet been arranged, but will be announced at a later date.

Sixteen Day Vacation To End Here Jan. 5

After two weeks and two days of refreshing vacation, classwork will resume January 5, 1953.

Students will have 16 days to enjoy holiday activities such as Christmas shopping, gift wrapping, visits with relatives and friends, dances, and of course the inevitable holiday parties.

The double holiday vacation will send millions of people scurrying back and forth across the nation. The highways promise to be jammed to capacity as people journey to the homes of relatives to celebrate the holidays with their loved ones. Drive carefully in cities and on the open road so that death, too, can take a holiday.

'Getting in the Christmas Spirit'

Students group around the Christmas tree in the lobby of the Union Building, which, according to Dr. Phillip A. Shelly, head of the department of German at Pennsylvania State College, is a heritage from the traditions brought to this country by early German immigrants.

Used to having Christmas trees in Germany, they preserved the same type of Christmas they were used to at home. He thinks Christmas trees first appeared in Pennsylvania around the 1820s.

Other sources indicate that Christmas trees were first intraduced into England in the 1840's by the german consort of Queen Victoria.

An Editorial

With Christmas approaching, we "twentieth century Christians" will check our bank balances to see if we have enough left to buy that gift for Aunt Susie, who will get one for us, we know; and we'll drop a quarter in a Salvation Army bucket, and have a warm feeling inside. Yes, we might even go to church, if we don't stay out too late the night before. If we do go to church, we might become quite indignant over the way Jesus' mother and father were treated by the people of his time. Why the very idea! Being refused a room in an inn; forced to sleep in a stable; refused recognition as the Messiah by the priests of His time; and even forced into Egypt by the desire of Herod to kill Him. Why the blind audacity of some people!

However, our indignant mantle doesn't fit well on our shoulder. We might well "remove the mote from our own eye" before we start critizing. In our commercialized atmosphere, Jesus of Nazareth has little place. Sometimes it seems that we merely use Him as an excuse to have another holiday. It would appear that, amid our festivities, we forget whose birthday we are celebrating.

We, of the Crescent, have no quarrel with the revelry, for we should celebrate. The birth of Christ marks a new era in the salvation of man. However, the commercialized festivals of this day have little to do with the birth of Christ, or the celebration of His coming.

So, we, on the Crescent staff, urge that, this Christmas, you remember the real meaning of the day. It was around this day, nearly twenty centuries ago, that a babe was born upon whom your salvation depends. Thank God for His coming, for that's the real meaning of Christmas.

The Crescent wishes you a merry Christmas and a very happy New Year.

Fund Offers Medical Aid

Many students here are unaware of the fact that they can obtain medical aid from the college," it has been pointed out by Lester Knopfmeier, chairman of the Student-Faculty Federation Welfare Committee.

Mr. Knopfmeier stated that students pay forty cents each quarter via the activity ticket into the Welfare Committee fund. A student desiring financial aid for the payment of any expenses incurred may make application through the Dean's office and his, or her case will be reviewed and ruled on by the Welfare Committee.

The maximum grant for any student is $100. Students eligible for such aid must (1) be a full-time student who has paid his activities, and (2) make application within 30 days after the expenses were incurred.

Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college, is the official administrator of the fund; Mr. Knopfmeier is the present chairman; and Dr. D. W. Dunham is vice-chairman.

Journalism Class Of 25 Students To Edit Paper

A new quarter in the school year brings many changes in all classrooms as well as in the Crescent staff.

Twenty-five students will comprise one of the largest Crescent staffs for the past several years.

Bob Green will serve as news editor, Ron Hamilton as editorial page editor, Jack Combs as sports editor. Delores Schaber, Gloria Watson, Bill Bosse and Dick Nicholson will be assistant news editors.

Columnists for this term are: Diane Bentley and Terry Elfreich with the latest social news; Marv Fox and all about sports; Walter Prickett with anything at all about anything; Joe Emerson and Vernon Potts with their angle on the international world.

Business Manager Paul Kinney will have an assistant in the form of Marilyn Leucht. However, Editor Ralph Weber will have to turn to his pinups for inspiration.

Compiling the list of staff writers are: Lucy Baggett, Bill Clayton, Jerry Hoover, Bill Monical, Marian Postleweight, Rosemarie Wiseman, Bill Adkins, Dave Pellow, Joe Emerson and Ken Curtin.

Formal Rush Begins At Rotation Party

BY DELORES SCHABER

Formal winter rush for women officially starts with a rotation party Jan. 12 at the Student Union Building at 4 P. M.

At the rotation party, guests will be divided into four groups. Eaeh group will attend a party presented by each sorority for half an hour. In this way, rushees will meet members of all the sororities at the one party.

Girls Must Register

Every girl must register her name in order to attend the rotation party and the individual sorority parties that will follow. It will be necessary for all rushees to register for rush during the week preceding the rotation party. All girls, both freshmen and upperclass women, who are interested in being rushed are asked to register.

Registration will begin at the final Gamma Delta meeting on Monday, Jan. 5. Until Friday of that week, registration will continue at Mrs. Charlotte Stephens' office, 106 Administration Building. Mrs. Stephens' office will be rursh headquarters during the month of January. Any questions or problems will be dealt with there.

Must Make Grades

In order to become a pledge of a sorority, a rushee must pass the scholastic requirements. The scholastic eligibility list will be made up by the registrar and furnished to Mrs. Stephens who in turn will check each girls grades before her registration.

Any girl having a "C" average from last quarter's grades and carrying at least twelve hours credit at the present time is eligible to register with Mrs. Stephens. The quota will be fixed by the number of freshman registrations.

A rush-rule booklet will be presented to the rushees at the time of registration. This booklet contains the rules of rush that have been decided upon by the Panhellenic Council. Definitions of the rush terms used are also presented.

Complete Scoop

Included in the booklet is a descriptive page of each sorority giving its colors, flower, pin, founders' day, and the year it arrived on campus. Each sorority presents a financial statement concerning pledge fees and membership dues.

Other rush dates, including the informal and formal parties of the sororities, will be announced at a later date. These parties will continue through the month of January.

Social fraternity rushing will also begin shortly after classes commence next quarter.

College Buildings Close Next Week

All college buildings will be closed during the Christmas vacation, according to Ralph Olmsted, Business Manager.

At five P.M., on the day before Christmas, every building on campus will close, and will not reopen until Monday, December 29th. The Student Union, which will be open for three days after Christmas Day is the only exception.

The Union will be available to the public on Friday, December 26th and Saturday morning, December 27th. On December 28th the Union cafeteria will be open from eleven until two for Sunday dinner.

Every building, including the Union, will be closed on New Year's Day, but will be open again the next day, January 2nd, 1953..

Since there will be no Evening College classes over the holidays, no buildings will be open at night for students.

Philos Hold Option On New Frat House

Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity has acquired an option on a house fronting on Lincoln Avenue, which they expect to take possession of about the middle of January.

The property has a 120 foot fronting on Lincoln and runs 220 feet deep. The house itself contains 10 rooms capable of housing 20 or more persons, and also has a garage apartment in the rear.

The Philos are still in a fund raising-campaign to pay for the house. It is an ideal location and its construction is suitable for a fraternity house, since all rooms are large and will need a minimum of rearranging.

Dr. Strickler, head of the chemistry department and a patron of the fraternity for many years, will be the first to move into the house following completion of the transaction.

'Eager Heart' Opens EC Holiday Season

Evansville College opened its holiday season last Sunday with the 27th consecutive yearly performance of an early religious drama entitled "Eager Heart."

In all that time the names of the members of the cast have never been published, no pictures of scenes have been taken, nor has admission been charged.

The Thespian dramatic group and the music department cooperated to present the play, with the college choir providing the musical background. The music in the play was taken from Bach's Christmas Oratorio and Handel's Pastoral Symphony. The choir also sang carols as a prelude.

Oh, for the Good Ol' Days

With nearly one-third of the basketball season over the officials, players and the fans are getting a better view of the new free throw rule which has been adopted for the present campaign.

The rule, which states that a player will receive another shot if he misses his first free throw and he will get two shots for any foul committed within the last three minutes of he game, was adopted to cut down on the number of personnel fouls committed in a game. So far the rule has done nothing more than turn a game which at one time was a test of ball handling skill into a free throw shooting contest.

Most personnel fouls committed are accidentally or subsconsciously done while fighting for a rebound or loose ball. The aggressive player, as much a part of the game as the ball itself, will always commit a certain amount of fouls and with the present rule in effect it will become necessary for the coaches to use the more conservative players rather than to lose the game because of free throws.

For this reason the rule is defeating the whole purpose of the game and will cause most coaches to change from the fast-break, which the fans like to see and most players like to use, to a slowed down brand of ball and tend to eliminate the aggressive type of player.

In addition to the new rule not cutting down the number of fouls, it has made the game much less interesting for the fans. More time is now taken for free throws and the action under the basket after the missed free thrrow has been virtually eliminated by the fact that most players can hit one out of two shots. The games are lasting longer than before and the slowed down brand of play makes the wooden bleachers seem even harder than usual.

Here We Go Again

The Christmas season is here again and students' thoughts once more turn to gifts, dances, good food, and a long vacation. At the same time editorials turn once more to the problem of safety.

It may seem to you that the newspapers and radio stations overemphasise safety to a point that it becomes a farce. That could be true, but at the same time they are writing these editorials they are also forced to report countless accidents in the home, on the road and in the field. Christmases all over the country are going to be spoiled because of the gun that wasn't loaded, the brakes that were good yesterday, or the candle that someone else blew out.

Automobiles presents our largest problem. It has been stated by a national authority that Indiana is trying to pass a sixty m.p.h. speed limit law so that the casualties on the Indiana highways will not be larger than the casualties in Korea. This comment was meant to be humorous, but at the same time it is alarmingly true. Cars are not playthings to be used by children.

We are going to have to pay more attention to driving than to other more interesting things either outside or inside the car. To coin an old phrase, "Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own."

Safety is not confined to automobiles. It should be practiced wherever you are and what ever you are doing. Lets make this a safe and sane holiday period.

Let's Not Rationalize

With the snow falling and the jingling of the Christmas bells also comes the annual request for the National Tuberculosis Association for more funds. Christmas gifts and other added expenses make it easier to rationalize and say that we will donate later; that we have spent so much already on gifts and donations to the Salvation Army that we just can't afford to give any more.

Yet, at the same time, we are actually aware that we can't afford not to give to this worthy cause. The lives and health of many, possibly of your own family, depend upon the findings of the research done by this organization. Since the foundation is financed primarily by gifts, and since it is carrying on work for your physical betterment, you should not hesitate to give generously. Therefore, we, of the Crescent, urge you heartily to buy more Christmas seals than ever before.

SGA News

By ED FLY
SGA Vice President

With seventeen days of rest and relaxation ahead of you, we thought you might be interested in reviewing some of the past activities of your S.G.A. and perhaps thinking about some of the coming activities.

Our first task of importance was to select the nine chairmen of the Student-Faculty-Federation · committees. The names of the chairmen the faculty and student members of each committee were published in the third issue of The Crescent and also in the S.G.A. buletin, issue number two.

Important Work Ahead

Three important jobs faced the S.G.A. almost simultaneously shortly after committees were set up. The "Ice-Breaker" Queen election, elections of class officers and the elections for Homecoming queen as well as selecting a chairman for Homecoming day activities. Roger Shanner was chosen for this gigantic task.

Due to the loss of our S.G.A. secretary, Mrs. Jeanette Yates Covington, it was necessary to hold a special election to fill this vacancy. Miss Ethel Hamilton was elected secretary and Miss Roberta Becker was selected to fill Miss Hamilton's place as chairman of the Fine Arts Committee.

Dad's Day was the next program on the campus to demand the attention of the S.G.A. Jim Rose was selected to oversee this event.

Card-Playing Question

On Nov. 10, the S.G.A. sponsored an assembly to thrash out the controversial card playing problem. A panel of student and faculty members presented their views and students in the audience (the few that were there) were given an opportunity to ask questions. This discussion was arranged by Bess Mullett, chairman of the Public Speech Committee.

While these more publicized activities were happening, many more activities were taking place. A committee composed of three faculty and four students has been appointed to study the the card playing problem. This committee will meet to discuss and formulate recommendations concerning the card playing rule and make a report to the administrative board. The board will in turn report their findings to the student body in another special assembly sometime during this quarter.

Home Coming Elections

A new method of selecting Homecoming and basketball queens has been approved by the Student Council. Sororities will nominate their own candidates and the queen will be chosen by popular vote. Formerly, the football and basketball teams nominated their respective candidates.

We have much more work to do bofore the end of the school year. Another assembly will be held soon to report the findings of the special committee on card playing. We sincerely hope we will have a better turnout of students that we did before. Watch The Crescent and S.G.A. bulletins for the date of this assembly.

From Our Angle

by

Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

Who said that old soldiers never say die? Or was that never die, they just fade away? This week we heard again from the faded soldier. The old soldier has taken his corn cob pipe out of his mouth long enough to tell us that he has a plan to end the Korean "police action."

Everyone has a plan today, it seems. If MacArthur has a plan, why has he waited until such a late date to present it? Could if be that he again wants press notices for his scrap book or does he just want to do a little fuedin', fightin' and fussin'? Since being relieved from his command in Korea, the good general has continued to cash his government pay check every month. The gallant soldier has sulked in his tent, namely a plush suite of rooms in the Waldorf Astoria, while the casualty list continued to rise in that blood soaked peninsula.

Communications are still open to the pentagon. This leads us to believe if he did have a plan he could heve presented it to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, especially since it is his job as a general and he is still being payed a salary by the people of the United States.

In Korea there seem to be five alternatives open: (1) To maintain the present line, bogged down in the blood of trench warfare just above the 38th parallel; (2) To bomb Chinese supply bases in Manchuria, thus running the risk of extending the war; (3) To step up activity along the front advancing to better positions and letting the Chinese know we mean business, this would bring us right back to the point we are now, on the defensive; (4) To deal with the Chinese and pull out, thus endangering our position throughout the world by repatriating prisoners who do not want to go home for fear of being killed or (5) To unite Korea by force of arms. The Republic of South Korea wants to put United Nation back on the Yala. It seems we were there once before.

The issues are still the same. Only the commands, personel, and supply situations are different. So what could the general say now that he couldn't have said then? The snow is getting deeper and the casualty list longer in Washington and Korea.

Will the general get the troops home by Easter, or is he gunning for next Christmas?

Tippett Heads Drive To Lower Vote Age

The Crescent received a letter this week from W. Paul Tippett, editor of the Wabash College Bachelor, student newspaper, encouraging the students of Evansville College to support an order to lower the voting age to nineteen.

A group of Wabash College students went to see Governor Shricker in 1950 about the proposed plan, but the governor's answer was a definite "no."

Craig Favors

With the recent election of Governor Craig there seems to be reason to be more hopeful that the plan will come to realization. Mr. Craig has said that he is in favor of lowering the voting age, thus, his support on the issue is apparently assured.

However, the state representatives and senators ar the persons who must pass this legislation, Mr. Trippett states, and the students are the ones who must take action to convince them of the wisdom of such a step.

Wabash Heads Drive

Mr. Trippett and the members of the Wabash College Bachelor are attempting to establish an organization to gain the necessary strength for this.

The Crescent will co-operate with them in this action by taking the names of all Evansville College students who are interested in supporting this proposed action. Editor Ralph Weber asks that all interested students will please sign a petition which will be found in The Crescent office.

Hmm, Could Be

The Cavalier Daily, University of Virginia, has finally figured out the definition of education. Says the Daily: "We have been sitting around this University, man and boy, for over five years and we have finally decided that an education is a process of deadening one end in order to liven up the other."

Anything at All

by Walt Prickett

Along with the advent of the winter quarter came the debut of the new Pogo book.

The dam at the Barley bin is burst. Head for the hills.

Good things come in little packages (just ask the boy who dates a small girl from a smaller town) and the Pogo book is a small package — 15-cent size. Anything you get for 15 cents today is bound to be small and that includes packages of looseleaf notebook paper.

Anybody read the Orange Peel? Bob Schmidt took a hint from Prof. Moon and got a new car. Honest, this one runs.

Winter, Winter . . .

It snowed a while back and students proved that old psychological axiom — you're only as old as you feel.

It was easy to spot the snowball fighters for the rest of the week at school. None of them could move without groaning. The fighters sure aged fast, too. It was rumored a fraternity house window and a professor's jaw were the only casualties.

Co-op students are co-oping and that's why the Indian is so quiet.

Pray Tell . . .

It's really too embarrassing to mention any names — but. A certain upperclassman is married and his wife is expecting. They were positive the child would be a boy. Several weeks ago the wife said, "I'm not certain it will be a boy." Her hubby, eyes wide with wonder said, "No??? What do you think it will be??"

How many students mistook Marilyn Leucht for Carolyn Neucks after Marilyn fixed up her hair the new way? They look enough alike to be sisters — from the neck up.

New sights in the Indian include Bob Payne's sister.

Same Old Story

The basketball games are better than ever. Players on the team are really scrapping at the games. Student attendance and yelling are at the same old level — three steps below terrible. When the three men cheerleaders couldn't make the last game, Bob Haug, ex-cheerleader, popped up and helped out the girls. (The men were all absent for job or school reasons.)

Didjaknowthat if all the cars in the United States were in a long line going up a hill some fool would try to pass?

There must be more students in school this quarter. Parking places are harder to find. Maybe more of them just have 8 o'clock classes, poor dears.

Thay!

Along with the people who wear green on Thursday ith a thertain little character who utheth green ink in hith fountain pen on Thurthday. Honeth!

The Orange Peel is the humor magazine from Miami University, Miami, Fla. It's the best one I've seen since Washington U., at St. Louis, came out with "Dime." I won't say how many years ago that was but at The Crescent Thanksgiving party my gift was a 1938 Evansville College catalogue — to remind me of my freshman days.

Hipoorcritical: The sweet young thing that was too self-conscious of her snug-fitting skirt to walk across the Indian.

She also remarked: "I recently gave a chalk talk in church."

"Nervous?"

"No."

"Oh."

Numerous Activities On Tap This Term

Opportunities for new students on the EC campus are unlimited. Most organizations are willing and anxious for new people to join them in their endeavors. But often they don't reach every new student in recruiting workers. So, its that person's responsibility to show his desire to become a member of the various organizations.

The Thespians are always glad to see new faces at their tryouts.. They undertake three major plays each year. Also, they present Eager Heart, the Christmas pageant, and a few minor productions.

As the center of social life on campus the Union Building offers many opportunities. The committee chairman are constantly watching for those who want to paint posters, helps plan parties, and assist in other activities.

For those girls interested in pledging social sororities, rush will begin after the Christmas vacation.

Then, too, the Crescent sta:ff is open to any student showing interest and the desire to work on the paper.

These are but a few of the numerous activities available to new studenst.

The Social Life Committee of the SGA was given the responsibility of bringing the student organizational cards up to date in the SGA file.

These cards, filled out by students during registration, list the various activities of the students. In the past students were not given credit for the organizational work being done by them because the file was not kept up to date.

WEVC Presents Christmas Play

Thursday night the members of Radio Council presented the play "Virginia's Letter to Santa Claus." This play was given on the college raido station WEVC.

"Virginia's Letter to Santa Claus" is a true story of a little girl named Virginia O. Hanlon, who wrote a letter to the editor of the New York Sun, Frank P. Church. The editor was so impressed that every year since then he has published this story in the Christmas edition of the New York Sun.

1952 Year Big One for Ike, Pogo

By Ralph Weber

Every year about this time, one is prone to get a wee bit reminiscent and take a backward glance at the well-aged year. And looking back at 1952 can bring some interesting thoughts, memories fond and not-so-fond:

Politikin' dominated the national scene for a good months this year . . . the "old soldier" did a fade-in to keynote the GOP convention . . . Harry wet his whistle again too . . . now they're both feudin' again . . . of course, Ike made the big news by being elected and temporarily relieving commander-in-chief Truman of his command in Korea . . . and that politician from the swamp county, Pogo, endeared himself to the nation and to our own campus this fall.

Entertainment-wise, 1952 was another of the "greatest ever" years according to Hollywood, and they proved it with "An American in Paris" and "Quo Vadis" or "Where Y 'All Goin'?" as one theater in Texas advertised it . . . and of course our own "Grammercy Ghost."

Musically speaking, "You Belong to Me," "Somewhere Along the Way" and "Because of You," were among the top sellers, with "It's in the Book" closing fast. And most recently, another holiday hit, "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Clause" . . . Shocking.

And speaking of books, Ernest Hemingway created what he termed his "best yet" with "The Old Man and the Sea" . . . "East of Edin" by Steinbeck and "the Silver Chalice" by Thomas Costain were also rated high . . . but my vote goes to our own Dr. Daniel Boughner's latest, and firstest(?), not yet off the press . . . I've haven't read it, don't know what or who it's about, but my vote goes to Dr. Boughner, those other guys don't teach here.

And a revised edition of another book, a book in a class by itself, the Holy Bible, also was made available to an acutely religious-conscious American public in 1952.

In radio and television, Amos 'n Andy broadcast their 10,000 radio show just a few weeks ago . . . many big radio stars made their teevee debuts . . . television continued to advance . . . the birth of a child (by Caesarean section) was even televised . . . Red Skelton, star of radio, television, and movies, underwent a serious abdominal operation recently . . . when the doctors started to operate, they discovered a note on a piece of adhesive tape on the comic's stomach which read "Don't Open until Christmas."

In the world of sports, physical culturist Bernarr McFadden celebrated his 84th birthday with a parachute jump into the Seine river . . . the U.S. Olympic team emerged victorious again after trailing the Russians until the final days of the games . . . Rocky Marcianno took the heavyweight boxing crown from old man Jersey Joe Walcott . . . the New York Yankees won their fourth straight World Series to tie an old Yankee record . . . Stan Musial won his sixth batting championship in the National League . . . our own Ray Bawel went pro in a big way with the Philadelphia Eagles . . . and the Purple Aces upset a highly favored Valpo team to win the Homecoming Game.

Most recent sad note to this 1952 year was the death of that wonderful Australian nurse, Sister Elizabeth Kenny, who discovered a new treatment for infanatile paralysis.

The situation in Korea is best described by the GI term SNAFU, situation Normal, All Fouled Up. Now in üts third winter, the police-action is still a stale, stale, stalemate.

And while the mood is sullen, Johnny Rae turned the tables on Jack Smith and cried himself to fame and fortune . . . Smith, the singer with "the smile in his voice" gained his reputation even B.C. (Before Chlorophyll) . . . . which, by the way, also made a pretty big impression in 1952 . . . you can even get it in dog food now . . . lucky Spot.

To end this year 1952, alive, we would all do well to head Raymond Duncan's words of wisdom: "If you want to live to see 90, don't look for it on the speedometer.

Hale Combines Chimes, Santa And Family in Season Wishes

President Hale

Students and Faculty:

Christmas 1952 — How much closer it seems to us this year at Evansville College as, for the first time, our Chimes ring out their message in the crisp winter air.

Again the Birthday in which the hopes and aspirations of mankind find their beginnings is at hand. — Peace and Good Will to Men. May you pause occasionally as the days of this restive season slip by to ponder its deep meanings as they pertain to your life and our world.

Santa Claus time 1952! Memories of childhood flood back. I believed in Santa Claus. Later I revelled in the opportunity to don his whiskers and red suit — to see unadulterated happiness in little children's eyes. May you find in this holiday season all the fun of family companionship at Christmas time that is part of this great tradition.

To you all — A heartfelt Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Miracle of the Manth

Four Jills in a Jeep wouldn't have had a chance and neither would the four Jacks who were in this car if they had still been in the above car when a train traveling a reported 87 miles per hour knocked their vehicle from a track on Ft. Branch, Indiana almost a month ago. Three of the men made it out of the car before the train struck it; the fourth was "helped out" by the train. Three of the four, Bob Payne, the driver of the car and the one who was "nudged" from the car as the train struck, Bill Herrel, a junior and Keith Wilson, a sophomore, are Evansville College students and the fourth passenger, Willard Wiggers, a friend of theirs. Mr. Payne was the only one of the four who was injured, receiving a head cut and a chipped elbow, while the others miracously escaped injury. Payne, a junior, was thrown under the left front wheel of the car. This picture was taken shortly after the accident occurred. Both Payne and Herrel are members of Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity.

Culver Selects 'Heart of Christmas Story' From New Revised Bible

Editor's Note: (Dr. Mearl P. Culver, head of the department of religion, has selected for us the following quotation from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible for this Christmas edition. This will take the place of "Words to Live By" which normally appears on page 3. Dr. Culver refers to this selection as "The Heart of the Christmas Story;" in very few words it tells the story of the coming of the Christ child.)

"And in that region there were shepherds out in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And an angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were filled with fear. And the angel said to them, "Be not afraid; for behold, I hring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people; for to you is horn this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this will be a sign for you: you will find a babe wrapped in swaddling cloths and lying in a manger." And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying.

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men whom he is pleased!"

When the angels went away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go over the Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, which the Lord has made known to us." And they went with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they saw it they made known the saying which had heen told them concerning this child; and all who heard it wondered at whit the shepherds told them. But Mary kept all these things, pondering them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen. as it had heen told them."

A Huntin' We Will Go

Pictured above are two unidentified hunters and their dogs. These men have started out for a day of "happy hunting," and will return safely home if the observe all the safety rules that have been published in newspapers, books and magazines. If they are not careful and do not respect their weapons, they may be added names to the casualty list of unlucky hunters. In the story below is told the stories of several would-be hunters and their fate.

Green Cautions Hunters About 'Unloaded' Guns

By BOB GREEN

If Joe and Purkie had observed Dad's rules they could have saved themselves a lot of trouble. However, they didn't.

Joe had a double-barrel with twist steel barrels. An old gun, it was made to shoot black powder shells, not the high explosive sbells of today. So Joe went skeet shooting, opened up a box of shells that bad a warning in red lettering on both flaps of the box, "Do not sboot these shells in guns that have twist or damascus barrels," and began to do just that. His shotgun blew up in his face and blew his left thumb off in the process.

Purkie Is Killed

Purkie went bunting with a young kid just new to quail hunting. When a bird got up between them, the kid saw only the quail. He didn't notice it was flying straigbt at Purkie. Purkie died before they got him to the hospital.

All their gunshot wounds were properly reported, to become statistics on state and national accident records. But — were they accidents? Or were they the end results of carelessness with guns?

Good Advice

My father gave me my first gun when I was about nine years old. Along with the gun, he gave me some good advice, and saw to it that I heeded it. "First," he said, "Never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot, and secondly, never keep a gun you aren't using loaded, but always treat a gun like you would if it was loaded, for it might be."

Twice in my life "unloaded" guns I was handling went off; that I and my fellow citizens remain unpunctured is due to my observance of his advice.

Look-Before Shooting

Dad also insisted that I look before I shoot to make sure that something besides what I planned on shooting wasn't in line of fire. When we hunted along thick fencerows he insisted we stay abreast and always know where each other was. He allowed no loaded guns in the house or car.

Maybe you can call these incidents accidents — I can't. I maintain they are but the end result of carelessness.

Next time you go hunting, remember, the gun that will kill a duck, a rabbit, or a quail, can kill a man just as quick. Keep that in mind, and conduct yourself accordingly.

Rules for Dropping Classes Explained

According to Prof. Everett Walker, director of student personnel service, every term brings its difficulties because of the negligence of some students to properly drop the classes which they do not intend to take.

Tbe following procedure should be followed in dropping classes: For the regular student — call at the Student Personnel Office and pick up a drop and add card. Take this card to your counselor to get approval for dropping the class, then go to the registrar's office. From there, go to the business office and leave the card.

For Veterans' — pick up a drop and add card at the Student Personnel Office. Take the card to your counselor for approval; then take the card to the Veteran's Affairs Office. From there, take the card to the Registrar's Office. Next, take the card to the book store; and from there to the business office where the card is to be left.

ROTC News

Two Evansville AFROTC cadets were recent delegates to the fourth annual conclave of the Arnold Air Society, held in Los Angeles on Nov. 28, 29 and 30.

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Don Rausch and Cadet Major Billy Joe Walters made the trip to the California city as representatives of the Donald H. Wright chapter of the society.

According to Mr. Rausch, delegates from 140 of the 167 chapters of the ROTC fraternity were on hand for the meetings at the Biltmore Hotel, headquarters of the conclave. Chief business on the agenda was revision of the constitution.

The cadets were not limited to business, however. Entertainment was provided the conventioneers by such famous personalities as Ann Blythe, Johnny Mercer and Pat O'Brien. Bob Crosby and his orchestra played for the conclav dance.

Omaha, Nebraska will be the site of next year's gathering.

So We've Heard

Terry and Diane

Finals are finished and this is the last day of school until next year. What a reason to celebrate! And we imagine that there will be quite a few celebrations.

The Phi Zeta Sweetheart Dance seemed to be quite a success. Jack Alexander was in charge of the event, and we want to congratulate him for a job well done. A few of the girls received an extra special thrill when they saw Dick Haymes walking down the hall of the hotel. Carilyn Neucks is still talking about the way he called her "honey" and shook her hand.

After the dance we know of two parties which were both successes. Walt Prickett and Chuck Calhoun were probably working all day Sunday cleaning up their houses. There was a "bugger bear" party at Chuck's house. Everyone enjoyed it immensely, but Rosie Wiseman had the most fun. Just go up to her and say "buggar bear" and she still gets a charge out of it.

Jackie Varon received an engagement ring from Al Schmidt on her birthday. It looks as if she is well on her way to receiving her MRS. degree.

Carolyn Murray is no longer in school. She has taken a job in a doctor's office. We're betting that job will soon lead to a housekeeping one.

The Phi Mu's had a formal initiation last Sunday morning. Betty Oie Norris, Ruth Smith and eight Theta Sigma Alums were the initiates. Congratulations to you! Pat Edwards had a Christmas party for the Phi Mu's last night at her home in Henderson.

The Gamma Deltas had a party for all the sororities on campus last Monday night. A wonderful time was had by all. freshman girls, who are the Gamma Deltas, came dressed as dolls, and it was held in Santa's Toyland.

The newly organized Pepsters club is beginning to do things in a big way. Flash cards are now being used during the basketball games. Other ideas will be tried later on, but the most important factor is the students. It is up to the student body to bring this club a success. Let's all participate in this activity which will be lots of fun.

Independent Campus Association

"INCA" started out the new quarter with a dance the very same night. We heard the party was lots of fun and we are happy that it was a success.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

So we've heard this week.

Hemmingway's Novel of Courage Humility, Symbolizes Yuletide

"THE OLD MAN AND THE SEA"
By Ernest Hemingway

This is a brief novel of supreme courage. It is a book dealing briefly with the suffering of humanity as a whole. Its sympathetic compassion is all-inclusive.

Its lucidity, its brilliant evocation of the sea, its tale of physical endurance, its compassion and its impact combine to make it a "universal book." The simple, flowing language is a value in itself. It is as different as Melville's prose in Moby Dick as anything could be and still remain English.

Uses Same Formula

There is absolutely no attempt in Hemingway's novel to express the inevitable by inventing new words and new phrasing; instead, Hemingway uses the oldest and shortest words the simplest constructions, and combines these virtues to give his novel a new value, a "universal value" expressed in the old man's tenacity toward life and happiness.

The admirable Santigo, Hemingway's ancient mariner and hero of this triumphant short story enters the gallery of the permanent heroes of fiction effortlessly as if he had belonged there.

"The Old Man and the Sea" has almost none of the old Hemingway truculence, the hard guy sentimentality that has been prominent in his earlier books. It is a clean, straight story of "brute courage, of absolute failure to comply with the ravages of time anr impatience." Hemingway, thoroughly familiar with his miracle play of Man against Fate, dictates with the skill of an artist and the mastery of a true realist.

Old Man a Symbol

Hemingway uses the old man as a symbol; a plaything of Fate. His constant struggle with the elements and the scavengers of the sea scem to symbolize modern man's intense struggle with Evil which is expressed in how many ways? The old man's indifference to pain, his ever consuming desire to prove his ability and his unshakeable belief in the Supreme, combine to give the reader an inspiratoiin of humility and courag.

Hemingway's great novel is especially symbolic in this yuletide season for who could not see the relationship of this old man and his struggle against nature and the suffering of Him who died on the Cross?

Kiwanis Winner; '53 Captain Announced At Football Banquet

At the annual football banquet held in the Great Hall, November 26th, John Moss, tackle on the Purple Ace squad, was named Kiwanis award winner for the 1952 season.

Along with Mr. Moss, the Kiwanis winners for the past 25 years were honored, including John Dunville, the first recipient of the award at Evansville College.

Shelton Named Captain

Charles Shelton, junior guard from Owensboro, Kentucky, was voted to succeed Bob Wooley as leader of the Aces for 1953.

Charlie Fisher, who quarterbacked the team through most of 1952 was named most valuable player. The slick field general received his football education at Reitz High School.

Two Evansville linemen were named on the All Indiana Collegiate Conference team during the banquet. Bob Scott and Ted Niemeier were given first string berths on the defensive team of the honorary squad. For Scott, who returned to the Aces from the service recently, it was the second such award. While serving in the Marines the sturdy line-backer was named on the All Navy-All Marine team at the Leatherneck base at Quantico, Virginia.

Letter Winners Announced

Major and minor award winners were also announced by Coach Ping at the banquet. Those receiving major awards were: Byron Brenton, Milo Brines, Rod Clutter, Tom Dillon, Charles Fisher, Sam Gerstein, Jim Giovanetti, Norman Heard, Howard Keene, Charles Kendall, Bob Martin, Ronnie Miller and John Moss.

Minor Awards

Seven players received minor awards; they were: Bill Gabert, Doug Holleman, Jim Logue, Cliff Moore, Kenneth Saunders, Harold Schneider and Charles Thompson.

Four awards were also presented to student managers. Those who received the awards were: David Barning, John Schmidt, Charles Wheeler and William Yokel.

Honored at Banquet

The above players were honored at the annual football banquet held on Nov. 26. Left to right are Bob Scott and Ted Niemeier who were named to the 1952 All-ICC grid team and Charlie Shelton who was named 1952 football captain. Absent when picture was taken were Charlie Fisher, Most Valuable Player and John Moss, Kiwanis Award winner for 1952.

Pep Club Off To Slow Start

Pepsters first try at the card stunt got off to a slow start Saturday night. It seems that part of the students who signed up for membership in the pep club failed to attend the game making it necessary to recruit part of the spectators to finish filling in the 90 seats.

These are some of the rules for the card stunt. Each participant has a card with either purple or white written on it, when stunt number is called turn toward the court the color this card indicates. Wait until the right number is called before flipping the card. When signal is given to straighten rows Pepsters are to sit directly behind the person in front and maintain this position. Flash cards are held at eye level.

Trophies Awarded At Annual Party

Winners of the annual campus table tennis tourney were awarded their trophies last night at the All-Campus Christmas party. Trophies were also presented to the runners-up in both men's singles and doubles.

Quentin "Pete" Rowe won the men's singles division for the second straight year beating Joe Whitmore in the final pairing. Whitmore, the upset king of this year's tourney, had a rough road to the finals beating Jim Zeig and Billie Joe "Red" Walters, Mr. Offense and Mr. Defense of the Table Tennis crowd.

Rowe teamed with Zeig to win the doubles crown from Kenny Lensing and John Conaway. This was also the second straight year as a doubles champion for Rowe.

Purple Aces Play Oaks Tomorrow

BY DICK NICHOLSON

Seeking to win their first road game of the current season, Coach Arad McCutchan's towering, high-scoring Purple Aces invade Oakland City tomorrow night for their second encounter with the Oakland City College Oaks. Tip-off time is set for 8 p. m.

The Mac-men, according to Monday's release by Dale Burgess, Indianpolis sports writer and statistician, lead all Indiana colleges and universities in total points scored to date. The Aces have tallied 441 markers in the six games for a 73.5 average per contest. Nearest to the aces in this department are the Valparaiso Crusaders, who played the Aces last Wednesday. Results of that contest were unavailable at this writing. The Gold and Brown Crusaders, prior to this week's activities, had scored 427 points for a 71.1 average.

Nash Keeps Lead

Gigantic Jack Nash continues to lead the Aces in scoring with a total 72 points for a 12 point per game average in six games. Diminutive Gene Wilm, sub guard edged past Keith Combs to take over second place with 70 points; Keith has scored 66.

Tomorrow's game will be the second tussle between Evansville College and the Oaks. The Purple and White defeated Oakland City last Thanksgiving by a score of 69-61, in the Aces' debut. Since then the Aces have dropped four games while winning only one. The four Ace defeats were consecutive losses, to Murray by one point on the Armory hardwood, 80-79; to Southern Illinois 66-60; and to Illinois Normal, Evansville's worst defeat of the campaign, 77-62.

The EC basketeers invaded Murray for a second battle with the Thoroughbreds but the Racers conquered the luckless Aces for the second time by a total of four points in the two contests. Evansville tied the score at 81-81 with one minute remaining in the contest, but the aging Garrett Beshear killed all Ace hopes to defeat for the fourth consecutive game.

The Aces played the Crusaders from Valparaiso Wednesday, but due to deadlines, the results of that contest were unavailable for this issue.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

Many persons around town have, when mentioning the Aces, said sarcastically that they hope Oakland City hasn't improved too much since the first meetings with the Aces. If not, maybe Evansville will get another win.

In many instances, the bare statistics prove absolutely nothing. The number of games which the Aces have won and lost this season is another one of these instances.

This year Mac has more than five players — and this is quite a change — who really want to win some games, and they play hard to do this. Even right up to and including the final second of play.

This early in the season it is still hard to say what will happen, for they are still in a building stage. Last year was said to be a building year, also. And here Mac is honestly to be patted on the back for the job which he did — getting more than five guys to work together.

And now these men are gaining the experience they need for a good strong finish. A strong finish in this game is far more valuable for a team to hit its peak early in the season and to lose out when tournament time comes around.

At this point in the season, most of the guys on the team are confident that the rest will be an uphill climb which will lead them to the top of the conference, and ultimately, to the NAIB tournament at Kansas City, Kansas.

Every mistake which has been made this year has been made with the attitude, "It won't happen again if I can help it." When a team gets this attitude, and keeps it, they'll be a tough crew to crack, even in a pinch.

These guys who run themselves silly on the hardwood really deserve more student support than they now receive. But I believe that the real reason for the poor attendance at the games isn't in the trouble quality, but in the quantity of playing.

People like basketball, true, but not two and three times a week — including during finals.

LinC Editor Issues Plea

One bad thing about yearbook production is the fact that any event which is not covered by the staff photographer is lost unless someone comes through with some good snaps.

It isn't that the LinC staff didn't try to cover the Philo-Phi Zeta football game, but it seems the photographer was having camera trouble that day and failed to turn out any good prints. That's the reason for the plea which was issued from the LinC office.

"It is the desire of the LinC to find someone who took pictures of the Philo-Phi Zeta football game," stated Paul Dewig, editor. "We hope some student either took some pics or knows someone who did. If anyone knows of such a person, please contact Miss Emmy Seegmueller, myself or anyone in the journalism department so we can get prints for the annual," he continued.

There are a lot of headaches to the job of yearbook publication and a good annual can only be produced through the combined effort of the staff and the student body.

Rushees To Sign Cards

Preference cards will be signed by the rushees on Friday in the Women's Counselor's office. Bids issued by the sororities will also be turned in to that office and a disinterested person will sort the bids and the preference cards.

After the sororities receive their pledge lists from Mrs. Stephens, they will contact their new pledges. All rushees are asked to remain at home Friday evening, Jan. 30, in order to receive their bids. Girls who are unable to be at home Friday should come in to Mrs. Stephens' office sometime during that day.

Men's rushing started last Monday when all men interested in pledging registered. From this list Dr. James Morlock checked eligibility of the men and a final list of eligible rushees was sent to each fraternity.

More Parties

Informal rush parties of the fraternities will begin with the Pi Epsilon Phi party Monday, Jan. 19. Following on Tuesday will be the party of the Acacia fraternity. The Phi Zeta's informal mixer will be Wednesday and the Delta Kappa fraternity will conclude the men's parties with one on Thursday.

All bids will be turned in by the fraternities to Dr. Morlock's office by Friday morning, Jan. 23. At 10 a.m. Friday, all prospective fraternity members will assemble in the auditorium. After their signing of the bid cards, the cards are returned to Dr. Morlock, and the pledging takes place.

During this period of rush, members of fraternities and sororities are asked by Inter-Fraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council not to influence rushees in any way in their choice of affiliation.

At what age does a boy become a man? At the movies he becomes a man at the age of 12; to the school system he becomes a man at 16, he can be sent to prison at the ripe old age of 18· and for military purposes he reaches manhood at 18.5 years. For these purposes he is a man. However, not until he is 21 can he own property, sign legal papers, get married without parental consent, drink, go to girlie shows, and, most important, vote!

This is an interesting parallel. A fellow is expected to be able to interpret laws at the age of 18 and can be sent to prision for his failure to do so. But he has no voice in choosing the officials that make those laws until three years later when he reaches the golden age of 21. He is old enough to die for the mistakes of the legisaters and administrators but can do nothing to get those same men out of office. He can also help pay their wages as soon as he makes $600 in a year. Our leaders are very generous in granting you this privilege.

So we have decided to call this group of unfortunates, especially the ones between 18 and 21, "the forgotten age." They get to take all the chances of being adults and have none of the privileges.

The Crescent feels a grave injustice is being done these people. We feel if a man is old enough to die for his country, old enough to go to prison, old enough to pay taxes, he is old enough to vote.

The idea that until a person is 21 he is incapable of voting with any degree of good judgement is an outmoded idea which had some basis when the law was initiated, but which has long since lost its reason for existence. Consequently, there is a movement in Indiana colleges to lower the voting age to 19. This movement was started at Wabash College and is gaining momentum throughout the state. The Crescent is joining that crusade.

The legislature of Indiana must be convinced first that you are interested in this campaign. In the Crescent office there is a petition to be sent to the governor voicing our opinion. Your signature is needed! This is your responsibility. After all, it's your vote!

EC Grad Appointed Foreign Newsman

A 1952 graduate of Evansville College has been appointed to serve as a special correspondent to The Evansville Courier upon his return to Turkey this month.

Mahmut E. Ozan and his wife, the former Miss Ruth Schwabe of Wisconsin, will leave on the French liner, Liberte, sometime in January. They were married in Evansville last February.

Mr. Ozan, whose home is in Istanbul, studied business administration at Istanbul University two years before coming to Evansville College in 1950. He has also attended Indiana University and Vincennes University.

At Evansville College he studied journalism and was graduated with a B.A. degree in English. He was a staff member of The Crescent and art editor of the 1952 LinC.

He was active in the International Relations Club and served on the Fine Arts Committee of the Student Government Association. He was a member of the Collegiate Council for United Nations in his junior year at Evansville College.

Rules for Notables Amended by Board

An amendment has been made on the rules governing the selection of students for Campus Notable awards. The amendment was made at a meeting of the administrative board Tuesday, Jan. 8.

According to the 1950 edition of the Official Student Handbook, a student was required to have passed all his academic subjects for the preceding three quarters with a grade of "C" or better. This requirement made it impossible for a student who received a grade of "D" to acquire a Campus Notable award even though he received "A's" in the rest of his subjects.

The new amendement states that any student who has an average of 1.5 for the preceeding three quarters shall be eligible for the award. Now students who have received a "D" are not necessarily eliminated from selection if his other grades are sufficeintly high to give him a 1.5 average. However, for students who do not drop below "C," it is not necessary to maintain a 1.5 average.

The amendment was approved by the faculty at a meeting last Friday night.

At a meeting of the administrative board yesterday, a special committee reported its findings on the card playing regulation.

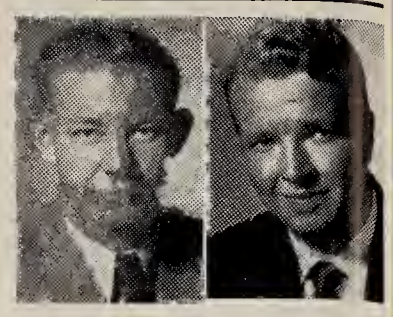
It was decided that the committee should report its findings to the student body at a special assembly. The day of the assembly will be announced at a later date.

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

Put your hands in your pockets, Uncle Sam, that man is here again. From across the broad Atlantic we see the smoke of a famous cigar of a still more famous gentleman. What does he want this time? Or better still what or how much can he get?

This is a new day or so we have been led to believe. The position of command has been reversed. Ike is now boss. As commander of allied forces in Europe he was subject to Winnies whims. Today, he is leader of one of the foremost nations of the world. Now Winnie comes a begging. Winston Churchill once said that he was not in office to preside over the dismemberment of the British empire. He has come a long way since that day. But the light of his dynamic personality has not dimmed one candlepower. The sun may have set on the British empire but the light of Winston Churchill goes on forever. So, flashing his most brilliant smile behind the black smoke screen of his cigar, he has come to ask Eisenhower — for what?



Potts Emerson

Commander of Mediterranian

He has come to resurect the ghost of British national pride. The first thing he would like is a British commander of the Mediterranian Fleet and more British command participation in NATO. Possibly he feels that British committments in this area warrants more command. At the same time they have favored at the recent meetings in Paris the slowdown of the meeting of committments in the NATO area. How can this be?

Churchill Disturbed

On the other side of the world, Winnie finds many reasons to be disturbed. There is talk in the air of a Pacific defense pact. Many people in that area take a dim view of British participation. The Australians remember the dark days of 1942 when they looked toward the seat of Empire to protect them from the might of Japanese aggression. Only the United States could hear the call then and do anything for them. So why allow the English to plan their defense when Churchill, himself, points to Europe as the danger point?

Stepped on U.S. Toes

In Korea, Churchill really stepped on U.S. toes by the recognition of the Chinese Peoples Republic, by fear of the use of Nationalist troops on the mainland, and by fear of extended American military operations in this area.

This is indeed a paradox. England as a member of the UN has troops dying in Korea under the guns of this same Chinese Peoples• Republic, a government which they recognize and with which they trade. Is this consistent?

Ike Wants "Bigger Stick"

After reading Ike's election statements, it seems he wants more room to swing and a bigger stick to hit with in Korea. While of high quality, the British troops in Korea are few in number. Perhaps the amount of Chinese Nationalist troops that could be put in the field would well outbalance the loss of the British. And we are sure that British influence on UN commanders in the field would never be missed. So let us hope that the president-to-be is an apt chess player and that Winnie has no pawns up his sleeve.

Same Old Song

I wonder if on the White House piano there is still a copy of the song, "There will always be an England (as long as the United States can afford it)"; but after all, Ike doesn't play the piano.

Sandburg Goes Pogo

Carl Sandburg, at a recent celebration of his 75th birthday, put in a healthy plug for Walt Kelly's creation, Pogo, when he said that it was the only comic reading worthy of human consumption. He commented what he called a deplorable lack of good writing today.

Mr. Sandburg is a poet-historian of great literary note whose works on Lincoln are considered classics in their field.

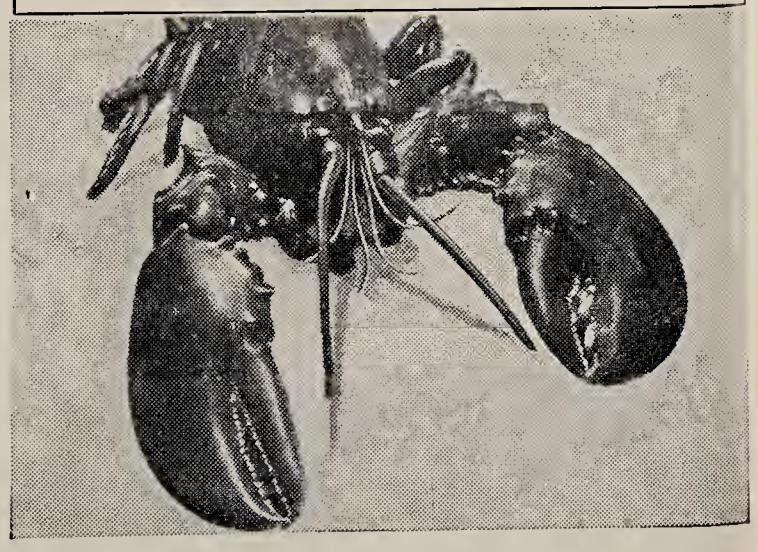
J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test



HERE'S a sad Lobster tale. Sheedy was really in hot water. His girl kept saying, "The Maine thing I don't like about you is the way you pot your hair! Haven't you red about Wildroot Cream-Boil Hair Tonic? Non-alcoholic. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Perfect for you 'claws you need Lanolin on that water-soaked hair." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he shore looks slick. In fact, he's in salad with every girl on campus. So if you're net-tled about your messy hair, butter shell out 29¢ at any toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, "Your Hair's Best Friend." Ask for it at your barber's, antenna to one you'll be tickled pink!

Student Bulletin Board Erected in Science Building

A student notice bulletin board has been erected in the Engineering-Science Building which provides the same service for students that exists in the Administration Building and the Union Building.

The calls that are made to the various offices requesting that messages be given to students who are supposed to be in the building at the time can now be taken care of more efficiently.

These messages should be called in to Mrs. McClure, extension 31, who will make a note and place it on the Student Notice Bulletin Board. The bulletin board is located on the wall above the counter near the main entrance.

All students frequenting this building should watch this board for messages. Whenever a message for a student is found, he should remove the message from the board and in this way notice will be given that the message has been received.

So We've Heard

Terry and Diane

Wo've been back to the old grind for two weeks, and we have decided we're ready for another vacation. From a poll taken, the outcome showed the majority of students feel the same way.

Johnny Moening is a fortunate one in a way. He was on a vacation. But, this vacation was to take Air Force Cadet placement examinations. We suppose that't not being so fortunate anyhow. The first day away, John found his blood pressure was too high. After his little vacation it came down to normal. Was this vacation from E-town a welcome rest?

Everybody's "Rockin"

"Diamonds are a girls' best friend" is how the song goes. We know quite a few girls who have acquired new "best friends" since Christmas. Carolyn Murray and Kay Bondus both received engagement rings. We don't suppose it's necessary to say who they're from. Among those giving out rings were Dave Pellow and Les Watson. Dave gave one to Jeanette Douglas, a senior at Bosse and Les gave one to Harriett Bourland, who is now going to Indiana University.

Among those receiving second place honors this Christmas; cashmere sweaters were Shirley Balding, Rosie Wiseman and yours truly.

Stork Busy

Others were on the receiving end this Christmas, also. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Unfried, both graduates of Evansville College have a new baby girl. Tom Hartman, who married Pat Marx, also has an addition to his family. This one is a boy, Thomas Joseph.

Holiday trips were enjoyed by quite a few students. Among these were Barbara DeJong, who went to Florida as did Ronnie Statz. Chuck Calhoun went to New Orleans with his family. Marlene Day also spent the holidays basking in the Florida sun.

Rush Is On

Freshmen girls! Rush season is here; it began with a rotation party held January 12. This will be followed up by informal and formal parties.

The Chi Omegas entertained their dates during the holidays. A Dutch Date Dinner was held at The Kokies. Fried chicken was served. This is one time when the boys were "treated" instead of "treating."

Rosie Wiseman is making good use of her time. She is now assistant student director of the Union Building. Congratulations Rosie!

So we've heard this week.

Modernized 'Macbeth' Features Ultra-streamlined Shakespeare

The Evansville College Thespians will go on the boards with their modernized version of "Macbeth" Jan. 26-30th.

The play will be modernized in that the cast will go on stage in the dress of this era rather than in the traditional Elizebethan costumes. Mr. Howard A. Hill, director of the show, has long contended that the dramas of Shakespeare are ageless and therefore can be played in the dress of the times.

12 Scene Changes

Bill Lord has designed a stylized set for the production consisting of levels, five to be exact. Mr. Lord states that there are 12 scene changes in the show, some of which have to be accomplished in a matter of seconds.

Mr. Hill says that he is very pleased with his large cast. Some of them have had a great deal of experience while others will make their first appearance on stage.

Emerson Starring

The title role will be carried on by Joe Emerson who has probably had the most acting experience in the group. It will round out three years of college dramatics in which he has had numerous and varied leads.

Playing Lady Macbeth will be Betty Drennen. Betty is a senior music student playing her first role at Evansville College. She was assistant director of "Gramercy Ghost."

The other leading roles will be played by Ron Hamilton, Bill Plane, Bob Rundell, and Jim Hull.

Tickets are now on sale in the Administration Building: 50 cents general admission, or 75 cents for reserved seat. Students with activity tickets may get in free or pay 25 cents for a reserved seat. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Words To Live By

"Ask and it will be given you; seek and you will find. knock and it will be opened to you. For every one who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened." Matthew 7:7-8

Effecive Jan. 20 the AFROTC unit here officially became the 240th Cadet Training Wing, announced Lt. Colonel James A. Brantner, unit Professor of Air Science and Tactics. Cadet Arthur H. Millspaugh was named wing commander and appointment of other cadet officers of the 240th was also made at that time.

Organization of the wing was due to an increase in enrollment in the ROTC program here, Colonel Brantner stated. The sizeable increase prompted the Air Force to change the official designation of the unit from group to wing.

Male Rushees Sign Bids Today; Women Pledge Next Week

Men interested in pledging a fraternity will sign their bids this morning at 10 o'clock in the auditorium. The female rushees still list a week of parties before signing their preference cards.

The men were entertained by the members of Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity Monday night at the Servel Gun Club where the Philo Roundup theme was carried out in typical ranch style decorations. Tuesday night they were the guests of the Acacia fraternity at the Acacia house.

Phi Zeta's fraternity party was held Wednesday night starting at the fraternity house. It was interrupted so the members and their guests could attend the basketball game, then continued at the Westhaven Gun Club after the game. Thursday night the rushees were the guests at the first rush party of the Delta Kappa's since they went national.

The formal parties for women start Monday night with the Beta Sigma Omicron formal dinner at the Hotel McCurdy. The remaindcr of the parties will be held at the Country Club. The Phi Mu sorority is scheduled for Tuesday, the Chi Omega's for Wednesday, and the Alpha Omicron Pi's for Thursday.

Preference cards will be signed next Friday in Mrs. Charlotte Stephan's office and the bids from the sororities will be turned in at the same time. That night the rushees will be contacted by the sorority they have pledged.

Screams of Anguish Echo From Macbeth Rehearsal

By RON HAMILTON and JOE EMERSON

Have you wondered why there are so many strange noises eoming from the auditorium laterly? Anyone passing through the Administration Building between the hours of 7 p.m. and midnight will probably hear: shouts of anger, cries of anguish, violent curses, the clashing of swords, the screams of distraught women, and periodic bursts sounding like an angered bull coming from Director Howard A. Hill. Don't worry; it's just the Thespians practicing for the winter production, "Macbeth." Which, by the way, just happens to start Monday and continue through Friday.

Many new faces will be seen by those taking time to attend. Marvin Fox, in the role of the drunken porter, adds a touch of comedy to the otherwise heavy drama of the production. Myra Kasey, Martha Powell and Ann Stocks are rendered sexless by heavy black robes, green lights and beards as the three weird sister witches. Betty Drennan portrays the sinister and wicked Lady Macbeth who pushes her husband, with all the gentleness of a steamroller, into committing his heinious crime.

Even soundman Ben Reading steps from a usually hidden position to take a bow before the footlights in the role of Fleance. Crescent columnist Vernon Potts keeps his cynical character as the not-too-subtle Lennox. Other new-comers are: Susan Chenoweth, Ronald Shook, James Hull, Ron Hamilton, Jerry Jewell, Ned Conder, Bill Knapp, John Moss, and Tom Lincs.

Of course, the old stand-bys will be back: Joe Emerson in the title role, Bob Rundel, John Wilson, Bill Plane, with Pat Martin acting as assistant director.

Where Have You Been???

Governor Craig has recently re-affirmed his agreement that 19 year olds should be allowed to vote. This is a tribute to the new governor's ability to recognize out-dated ideas that should be discarded. The belief that until a person is 21 he is incapable of registering a vote of good judgment is comparable to the law that one should not hitch his horse to the fire hydrant. For both there was a need — at one time; now that need is past — both have been outmoded by the times — both have out-lived their usefulness.

We, of The Crescent, feeling that there was an injustice being done in permitting the situatiion to continue to exist in its present state, joined with the staff of the Wabash Bachelor in an effort to correct this situation. However, upon seeing the lack of interest in the project upon the Evansville campus, it is no wonder that the legislature has not taken time to correct the situation.

Last week we asked for volunteers to come in to sign a petition to lower the voting age to 19. That's all we asked — merely to sign your name. At last report out of 800 students on this campus none had taken the time to do so. If you take no more interest in your getting to vote than that — why should you be given the right to vote?

The petition will remain in the Crescent office during the coming week. Accept your responsibility and sign up. If your're not interested in your vote, why should the Indiana legislature be?

Band Big Improvement

If you have attended any of the recent night games, you will have undoubtedly heard the fine group of musicians that comprise the ROTC Band.

This group which practices only one morning a week has added a lot to the spirit at the games with their fine music and lively marches. The biggest improvement however has been in the playing of the National Anthem. It is a real pleasure to hear a good band after listening to that record of scratches that is regularly played. Maybe that record is part of the tradition of the armory because they both seem to be about the same age.

We're sure that the fans would rather hear the band because of outside difficulties there will be nights when they won't be able to play. However, now that the Aces are winning the boosters are back; so maybe someone will be able to afford a new record.

Too Many Women?

Last week-end, the editor and business manager of The Crecent and the editor of the LinC journeyed to Ohio Wesleyan University in Delaware, Ohio to attend an editor's and National Student Association conference.

While there, they learned that Wesleyan has a rather unique campus problem; at least one which would seem unique to Evansville College students.

The problem is, it seems, that there just aren't enough men to go around in a school which boasts a one-to-one ratio between men and women students — 1005 women and 1005 men.

It was stated in an editorial in the Transcript that on one particular Saturday evening recently, of 611 women students living in two dorms, only 224 had dates.

The ratio here is approximately four men to each woman, and although we aren't advocating a mass male exodus to Ohio Wesleyan, we thought is worth-while to note, from a male point of view, what interesting problems some schools have.

Give! So It Won't Hurt

"A mile of dimes" is the battle cry of the JayCees in their battle with polio. Great strides have been taken by the men of science in their fight against the dread disease. Still there were more cases of polio reported last year than ever before. This is certainly not the time to let up on our donations to this worthy cause. You will be asked to give at almost every turn. You may get tired of constantly being asked to shell out the hard earned shekels. If you do just look around you at the horrible results of the grim reaper and dig a little deeper. You will be thanked by seeing many people who would be helpless cripples walking again.

McCarthy's Tactics Have Detrimental Effect in College Investigations: Hale

McCarthy's tactics in exposing subversive activities in our government, while serving their purpose, would most probably have a detrimental effect if employed in the investigation of American educational institutions. This, in essence, was the statement made by President Lincoln B. Hale upon returning from a recent conference of the Association of American Colleges at Los Angeles, California.

Propose Different Committee

"In order to counteract this," continued Dr. Hale, "the Commission on Public Relations, of which I was a member, proposed the possibility of President Eisenhower's appointing a commission consisting of representative business men, educators, labor leaders, and members of the professions and the clergy to conduct any such investigations as may be necessary. Our proposal was not made with any intent of covering up anything, but rather that we may insure that each person's democratic rights are given him. We must not let anyone unnecessarily sow, in the public's mind, seeds of distrust about our educational institutions."

Dr. Hale and the other members meeting at this conference, which had representatives from nearly every accredited college and university in the country, expressed some question about the proposed investigations by the already existing congressional committees and made the above proposal as an alternative solution.

The Commission on Public Relations which brought the proposition before the general conference was represented by: President Walter C. Girsbach of Pacific University; President Otto F. Kraushaar, Goucher College; President John A. O'Brien, College of the Holy Cross; President Norman P. Auburn, University of Akron; and President Hale.

Financial Difficulties Discussed

Another important issue which was uppermost in the minds of the educators was the problem of rising costs and the financial difficulties that privately endowed institutions everywhere are facing.

One means with which this situation has been partially combatted was the banding together of several colleges to approach private corporatios for contributions. This idea was initiated here in Indiana by a group of colleges which have been incorporated as the Associated Colleges of Indiana. They are: Anderson College, DePauw University, Earlham College, Evansville College, Franklin College, Hanover College, Indiana Central College, Manchester College, Rose Polytechnic Institute, St. Joseph's College, Valparaiso University, and Wabash College. It has spread until it is now a nationwide program.

More than 350 colleges now participate in this united-group program, with the number continually increasing. It is anticipated that in five years the annual donations will total around $25,000,000.

Colleges Need Help

Dr. Hale stated that the privately endowed colleges must receive outside help if they were to continue to exist. He went on to say that to keep the educational system of our country strong, private colleges are a necessity. He quoted President Herman Wells of Indiana University as saying that the private college combined with the state supported schools keeps an equilibrium in our educational system by the one serving as a check and balance upon the other.

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

General Leslie Groves, the wartime military head of our successful atomic project, in a recent statement brought out the fact that our old exchange of information with the British was not necessarily a major factor in American success in the development of the first atomic weapon.

The British meanwhile have developed along their own lines their own atomic weapons project based on the information gained in their relations with the United States. Since they have exploded a bomb, they must have had some information left over after certain British scientists had shared said information with communist Russia. Supposingly this sharing was based on the idea that it was for the good of world peace.

Now, Great Britain has realized that the US has made great stride in the development of a hydrogen weapons project. Mr. Churchill has taken a stand for sharing of this information also. It is important to note that the British have done much in the background work while they do not agree with our methods and approach to the problems involved. There are those who wonder how long it will take the Russians to form an opinion in regards to our method and approach based on the same background material.

The British, while being experts on gaseous diffusion, have not been able to stop leaks in their weapons development program. In a recent case involving one of these leaks the scientist was released after serving a minimum sentence. When asked if he would do it again, said scientist stated, "Certainly." When the British were asked if this scientist would not attempt to go to Russia, their only reply was, "We will refuse him a passport."

There are those in high places in Washington who have indicated that they are favorable with a wider exchange of atomic knowledge with the British. The new congress may get a shot at this for it will take a new law to make such an exchange on weapons possible. General Groves' stand on exchange of information was that no exchange should be made unless it was advantageous for us to do so. General Groves says, "We must be certain that our atomic knowledge will be kept from Russian hands to the utmost."

Would an exchange of information bear out these points set forth by the general? Or would an exchange of information involve more than the two parties? Uncle Joe in Moscow hopes so. It is up to Uncle Sam in Washington to see that it doesn't.

Potts Emerson

Superiority Important

Our superiority in this matter may one day prove important if Uncle Joe some day desires to liberate the world from the clutches of capitalism. So if national interests are to be served, the men at helm of the ship of state have this to think about with their many other weighty problems.

Registrar's Official Report: 805 Students

Seniors Given Job Interview by GMC

Inland Manufacturing Division of General Motors Corporation will be on the Evansville College campus next Thursday to interview business administration students who will graduate this year, Mrs. Mary Lou Hubbard, of the placement bureau, announced.

While in training, the person who received the job will earn $314 per moth, plus the cost of living, which will amount to approximately $335 per month.

Mrs. Hubbard said that junior students are welcome to make an appointment for an interview. They cannot be accepted for the position, but they will gain experience from the interview.

Students who are interested in this job should watch the bulletin board in the Administration building, outside the bookstore, for the time and contact the Placement Bureau in A-106 for an appointment. Anyone interested in any other job is also urged to stop by the Placement Bureau for information.

Officer To Interview Women for Marines

Lieutenant Cecilia A. Cororan of the United States Marine Corps will be on campus today to interview any women who might be interested in accepting a commission in the Woman Marines following graduation from college, Mr. Gordon Stien announced.

Women commissioned in the Marines receive the same pay and benefits as male offiers, approximately $338.00 per month at first if quarters are not provided. Their duties include the fields of administration, communication, public information, operations and supply.

Women Marines are stationed at the larger bases in the United States or in Europe or Hawaii. Their initial indoctrination and training is held at Quantico, Virginia, the same base where male officers are trained.

Lieutenant Corocoran, who graduated from college in 1951, was stationed at Quantico prior to her current assignment as Procurement Officer.

Also on campus today is the Officer Procurement Team from Cincinnati headed by Lieutenant Clifford V. Brokaw, III. With them is a Navy doctor who is equipped to process any male applicants for the Platoon Leaders Class of Officer Candidate Course.

Don't worry, he's not in danger of being air-conditioned by that "balogna slicer." It's just Joe Emerson and Betty Drennen rehearsing a scene from "Macbeth," college Thespians dramatic production to be presented next Monday thru Friday, January 26-30.

Today is pledge assembly day for men students who have been rushed by fraternities. The rushees should consider carefully before signing a bid. Remember, your choice now will affect your remaining college days.

Since organizations are the subject Dr. Norman O. Long pointed out in a recent organic chemistry lecture that acid molecules are just like people — every time two get together they form an association.

One, Two, Skip . . .

At last I've found out how to walk through Clifford's Corner without being frustrated by the flagstone path. Really very simple. Just skip every other horizontal stone and step on all the vertical stones. If I could remember who told me the secret of strolling down that flagstone path I'd set him up for posterity. Frustration can drive one to all sorts of things, but a car's really more comfortable.

Inactive Seniors

Selection of Campus Notables and Leaders has been hindered because only half the senior class turned in activity sheets to the LinC. If students fail to turn in the activity sheets the only thing appearing by their pictures in the Linc will be a large blank space. The Campus Notables and Leaders selection committee has to depend a great deal on the activity sheets for pertinent information about seniors' activities while in school. Turn them in, will you?

How About Marilyn Monroe?

It's amazing what will turn up on the list of men wanting to be rushed the names of Carolyn Neucks and Virginia Scott, for instance. After seeing that list I think this college needs more men with legible signatures.

Scripts for the broadcasts are edited by Kenneth Curtin and announced by Dave Pellow.

Guatemalan To Give Concert On Campus

Salvadore Ley, noted pianist of Guatemala, will present a recital on Tuesday evening, February 3, at 8:30 o'clock in the Great Hall of the Union Building.

Publication Heads Attend Conference

Three executives of the Evansville College publications attended the Ohio-Indiana Regional Editors Conference at Delaware, Ohio last Saturday.

Attending the conference at Ohio Wesleyan University were Ralph Weber, Crescent editor; Paul Kinney, Crescent business manager; and Paul Dewig, LinC editor.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the various problems facing the editors of school papers, and to exchange ideas on how to cope with these problems.

An issue of The Crescent was included in a special display of college newspapers in the lobby of the Ohio Wesleyan Memorial Union Building.

The banquet following the meeting was highlighted by a speech by John G. Green, editor of the Portsmouth (Ohio) Times. Mr. Green's talk concerned the problems confronting journalism graduates when they move from their college newspapers into the field of professional journalism.

Mr. Weber, who is also president of the Student Government Association, attended a discussion on the National Student Association while at the conference.

Unknown College Musicians Hit Top With Recording of 'Trying'

Until a few months ago no one had heard of the "Hilltoppers," but now the entire nation is talking about their recordings of "Trying" and "You Made Up My Mind."

James W. Sacca, Jr., Seymour Spiegelman, Don McGuire and Billy Vaughn compose the quartet. All are students at Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Breen, except Mr. Vaughn, a mmber of the Ace Dinning Quartet, who is a former student.

Vaughn Composes Tunes

Mr. Vaughn composed and arranged both numbers and the "Hilltoppers" recorded them for the Dot label of Gallatin, Tennessee. Mr. Sacca takes the lead in both numbers, with tenor Mr. Spiegelman; Mr. McGuire, bass; and Mr. Vaughn baritone and pianist. Bill Stamps, announcer at radio station WLBJ, Bowling Green, is the manager of the group.

"Trying" was first tape recorded by Mr. Vaughn and taken to Mr. Stamps, who contacted Randy Wood, his former employer and half owner of the Dot Company. Mr. Wod went immediately to Bowling Green and took with him his recording equipment, and waxed the tunes.

Guests on Television Shows

After the release of the record, the group was guest on "Carousel," a TV show originating from Nashville, Tennessee. "Tin Pan Valley," an NBC show broadcasting from Nashville and an early morning show, also from Nashville.

Personal appearances on the Perry Como television show followed; and they also entertained in several cities in Ohio—Youngstown, Toledo, Cleveland and Akron. In Youngstown, they appeared with Lionel Hampton. Bokings for other cities are still being planned.

Three On Scholarships

Mr. Sacca was born in Lockport, New York, where he attended high school. He studied voice on scholarship at the Eastman School of Music. From there we went to Western, where he is studying physical education on a football scholarship.

Violence, Crime, Sex, Main Dish In Spillane Mystery

"I, THE JURY"
by Mickey Spillane

"I'm going to watch the killer's face. I'm going to plunk one right in his gut, and when he's dying on the floor I may kick his teeth out."

Mike Hammer is on the trail of a killer. With his usual unethical regard of the legal workings of justice, he eventually fulfills his promise to a dead friend by revenging his death.

Novel Filled With Suspense

The entire novel is filled with an undertone of suspense. It's a neck and neck race between Mike and Pat Chandler, Captain of Homicide, to trap the killer first. But the law couldn't break an arm to make a man talk, or shove his teeth in with the muzzle of a gun to remind him that he wasn't fooling. Mike could and did.

The suspects include everything from a moron to a gorgeous blonde psychiatrist. As the trail gets hotter, Mike realizes that it is leading relentlessly to the one person he would never have suspected but that doesn't stop him from closing in for the kill.

The professional critic blast Spillane's novels every time a new Mike Hammer thriller reaches the news stands. A pharaphrase of a critics review might read something like this: "Mr. Spillane's combination of sex and utter disregard for the law make his novels the trash that they are."

Skillful Combination of Clues

There is no doubt but that this is true. The Mike Hammer episodes contain no literary merit; just a skillful combination of clues and side issues which make up the integral part of every mystery thriller. This is just what make his novels sell. Mr. Spillane is writing about something which we all like to read: violence, crime and passion (even if we don't like to admit it.)

Ré-echoing with gunshots and violence, simmering with hot passion, "I, The Jury" is definitely not recommended for arm chair spinsters.

With the recent revival of interest in big bands there have been many new effects and arranging techniques used. Some of the more original innovators have been Stan Kenton, Sauter-Finnigan, Woody Herman and Les Brown.

Kenton Retains Drive, Power

The Kenton orchastra retains its tremendous drive and power but a new sound has been infused through the arrangements of Gerry Mulligan. Some of the new solo jazz influences in the band are Lee Kanitz, alto sax, Frank Rossalino, trombone, and Conti Condoli trumpet.

Making it possible for young musicians to develop their jazz ideas has been a Kenton policy from the beginning. The bands newest release is the Stan Kenton Prologue "This Is An Orchestra." In this album, each member of the band is given an opportunity to develop an idea of his own. The entire sequence is narrated hy Kenton himself.

The Sauter-Finnegan orchestra has been a definite break with traditional dance band instrumentation. The variety of sound achieved by this band is made possible by the employment of various orchestral instruments such as the flute, oboe, bassoon, French horn and chimes.

Both Sauter and Finnegan are veteran arrangers, Mr. S. having arranged for Ray McKinley and Mr. F. for Glenn Miller. The band's latest record album is "New Directions in Music." The variety of musical effects achieved by the band's unique instrumentation is displayed in this album.

Woody "With It"

The Woody Herman band has continued to be progressive even though Woody has been on the jazz scene a number of years. The newest invention of his "Third Herd" is the sax sound as it appears in "Early Autumn." This composition was written by Ralph Burns, Woody's chief arranger. The band's latest album is "Dance Date on Mars." This is a collection of "The Herd's single sides on the Mars label."

Brown's Popularity Rises

Since the early rise of his popularity Les Brown has been known and respected for the high standards of perfection set by his band on dance dates and recordings. These high standards have been possible chiefly because of his own excellent musicianship and knowledge of recording techniques, plus his personal selection of the musicians for his organization.

Brown's latest album, "Musical Weather Vane," is a collection of eight tunes about the weather arranged by Frank Comstock. "Heat Wave," "Stormy Weather," and "Ill Wind" are some of the outstanding numbers of the group.

In our opinion the bands of Stan Kenton, Sauter-Finnegan, Woody Herman and Les Brown represent the most progressive elements in modern jazz music.

Aces Seek Fourth ICC Victory

Telephonic Tourney Climaxes Billiards Tournament Mar. 5

Battling for the honor of representing Evansville College in the Telephonic Tournament sponsored by the Association of College Unions, players have reached the third round in the annual billiards tourney.

The eight players who advance to the quarter-finals will compete to select the three players who will participate in the National Collegiate Telephonic Tourney.

Fifteen schools in this region will be competing via telephone wires when the tourney ends on March 5. All participatiing schools will be hooked into the same telephone circuit making it possible to determine the standing of the tournament by making one telephone call.

A roll call will be taken at the halfway point in the tourney in order that each individual will know exactly how he stands against other individuals in the region.

At the completion of the tourney another phone call will be made to determine the regional winners. The regional standings will then be phoned to the national headquarters, and the national results will be tabulated within a matter of minutes.

DePauw and Wabash Show Interest in ICC

After meeting with ICC officials at Butler University, DePauw University and Wabash College are reported to be "considerably near" joining the Indiana Collegiate Conference of which our college is a member.

There are points such as student aid, athletic eligibility and scholarship standards that the representatives must discuss with their faculty athletic committees before reaching a definite decision.

These schools do not belong to any conference and have been told to file applications before the ICC spring meeting at Butler, March 22, if they decide they want to become members.

Present members are Butler, Evansville, Indiana State, Ball Sate, St.

NCAA Rule Step Forward, Head Coach Ping Believes

Once again the rule on free substitution has been overhauled. The days of mass substitution are over, no more will the great hordes of substitutes swarm onto the field everytime the ball changes hands.

The NCAA national rules committee, football's high court of the sport, has voted out the free substitution and inserted a rule which has brought up a storm of controversy.

Thorpe Likes It

Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle College star and later Olympic pentathlon and decathlon champion, praises the rule as a means to end the picking of "half-Americans" instead of All-American football players.

The rule as stated is that players removed from the game during the first and third periods cannot return to action during those periods. Players removed before the final four minutes of the second and fourth periods may go back into the game in those last four minutes.

Coach Don Ping views the rule "a good one and a step forward not backwards as some may think.

End of Specialists

"It compels a coach to quit this business of specialization, that is stressing nothing but tackling with one player or blocking with another," he continued, "Now a player will not be taught only half of football, but will be both an offensive man as well as a defensive man."

He added, "It will of course help the small schools more than the larger ones but not to the extent some would have you believe. Time alone can tell of the usefulness and workability of the rule but I can see of nobody this ruling has so greatly endangered."

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

When a writer gets to the place where he can write about what a person does and can make others feel the words which he puts on paper, the writer is said to be pretty good.

This being the case, there have not, as yet, been any good writers say anything about Coach Aard McCutchan's hardwood squad this year, for words that have been uttered so far cannot make a person feel what the coach's crew has done. Some people just say "much-improved" and leave it go at that. I'll have to do that too.

Slow Start

The type of season that the basketball team has had will truly show what kind of coach a team has behind them. Starting off losing more games, by a large margin, than they have won, losing one point heartbreakers, and losing more than half of their backers would leave many players and coaches with a "why try" attitude. But when all concerned can come out of a slump as we had up till last week, orchids should be thrown all over the basketball floor.

In their climb up the ICC ladder, the Aces have, since just last week, made their way from fourth up to second place, and they are showing no signs of slowing down.

What last week seemed to be two teams which could not be slowed down: Indiana State, who last week enjoyed the spot which the Aces have now; and Butler, who not so strongly holds top spot; have been unexpectedly trounced since then. Butler took it on the chin from St. Joe, 57-72, and Indiana State was surprised by the Aces, 79-75.

Operation Change

It's impossible to say just who or what is responsible for this quick change. The team can't do it without the coach — and vice versa. What ever or whoever did it certainly deserves a big hand, even at the games.

And, in anticipation of more student following, at out of town games, the athletic department has arranged to have students admitted free, with their activity ticket, to the Evansville-Indiana State game Feb. at Indiana State.

Since last week's big shuffle of teams in the ICC, here is how things stood when The Crescent went to press: Butler is in first place with a .667 percentage, Evansville follows with .500., Indiana State is next also with .500, Ball State has taken over Evansville's fourth place position of last week with .500, St. Joe is next to last with .500, and Valpo is bringing up the rear with .333 percentage.

Play Tomorrow at Ball State; So. Ill. Thursday

By JACK COMBS

The high-flying Purple Aces seeking their fourth straight conference win travel to the home of the Ball State Cardinals tomorrow night for an ICC conference game. They will return home for a game with Southern Illinois Jan. 29.

The Cardinals were left holding down last place in the ICC conference at the end of last week's games. They had a one and three record in conference games to that date. Robert Primer, yearling coach of the Cardinals faced a rebuilding program this year after a bad season last year. The Cardinals ended the season with a seven won and 15 lost record.

Aces Try For Revenge

Southern Illinois the second team on next week's schedule has handed the Aces one defeat earlier this year 66-60, although the Aces outscored them from the field they made better use of the free-throw line to edge the Aces in a close tilt.

Due to deadline schedules the results of the Washington of St. Louis and the Mississippi Southern games were not available in time for this issue but will be run next week.

Combs Hot

Keith Combs, hot-shot guard of the Aces did everything but sell programs as the Aces nudged Kentucky Wesleyan 81-80 at the Owensboro Sportcenter. Combs, playing what is said to be his best game, scored 25 points in addition to playing a fine floor game and led the Aces in their second triumph over the Panthers.

With 51 seconds to play Combs tied the game with a free-throw at 78-78 and again at 80-80 on a crib shot. Combs then stole the ball with 14 seconds to play and passed to Gene Wilm who was fouled and sunk the winning free throw. However Combs wasn't finished yet after Wesleyan took a last shot at the basket the erstwhile Boonville Flash took the rebound and stalled the rest of the game.

The Aces added their third ICC win at the expense of Indiana State Saturday night with a 79-74 victory over a good Sycamore team. Leading throughout the game the Aces had to spurt at the end of the game to come out with the victory.

Aces Average 72 Points Per Game; Keith Combs Tops

By DICK NICHOLSON

Riding the crest of a four game winning streak that has put them within one victory of the .500 mark at six victories against seven defeats, Coach Arad McCutchan's towering giants have averaged seventy-eight points while holding the opposition to a seventy-one point per game output in the Aces' last four outings.

The Aces hit their scoring peak when they blistered the nets while ringing up ninety points in subduing Kentucky Wesleyan, 90-79 in their sixh encounter; their lowest ebb came when they could register but 56 points in a losing effort on the Oakland City hardwood, the Oaks humiliating the Purple and White, 62-56.

It was the first time in fifteen years that Oakland City had beaten the Aces.

Mighty Mite

Though the current Aces are the tallest team in EC history, it has been diminutive Keith Combs that has lead the Aces during their recent surge to the top. Combs holds the high individual scoring mark of this season, tallying 27 markers in the Ace's first loss of the season, a 80-79 loss to Murray State.

He set an Evansville College record when he hit 15 free throws in 21 attempts in the melee. The old record was 12 set by Bob Sakel during the 1949 season.

High Man

Combs is also the only Ace that has cracked the twenty point mark more than once this season. He tallied 25 points in the recent victory over Kentucky Wesleyan.

Evansville opponents have topped the Aces by three points in total point output in thirteen games. The Aces have scored 937 markers; Ace opponents 940. McCutchan's crew have maintained their 72 point per game average mostly on the home floor, and with six of their next eight games on the road, the Aces will be out to disprove the old axiom that "there's no place like home" when it comes to scoring.

Free for All

All Evansville College students making the trip to the Indiana State game at Terre Haute, Ind. will be admitted to the game free by showing their activity ticket at the northeast entrance. The game will be played on Feb. 5.

Details for Kapers Revealed by Bondus

Regulations concerning Kampus Kapers, names of organizations which plan to participate, and details as to judging have been revealed by Miss Kay Bondus, Union social director. The annual event will be presented February 23 and 24 at 8 o'clock in the Great Hall of the Union Building.

There are two regulations which must be followed by every organization. First, every person in each group must be either a pledge or an active member of the organization which he represents.

Three Rehearsals

The second requirement concerns rehearsals. Every group must attend all three rehearsals or they will be cut from the show unless previous arrangements are made in the Union office.

Entry forms for the production were turned in at the Union office last Friday. Organizations were given a choice of having all men, all women, or mixed groups of participants. The men's groups planning to be in the program are Acacia, Phi Zeta, and Pi Epsilon Phi. Women's groups include Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Omicron Pi, Beta Sigma Omicron, and Chi Omega. Mixed groups are Beta Alpha Kappa, the freshman class, INCA, IRC, Kappa Chi, and SCA.

Two Divisions

For judging purposes the skits have been classified in two divisions: division A, which consists of either all men or all women in each skit, and division B, including both men and women in each skit.

Judging will take place on February 24th. The Evansville Jaycees will select the judges.

The committee on card playing, headed by Walt Prickett, met with the Administrative Board Thursday, Jan. 15, 1953, to consider recommendations concerning the card playing rule for the campus.

According to Ralph Weber, Mr. Prickett made the report to the board and presented their recommendations. The rule now states that students are not permitted to play cards until 2 p.m. on the campus.

The administrative board referred the recommendations back to the committe on card playing for further study. The committee will report to the board at a later date which will be announced. The committee is comprised of four students and three faculty members.

EC Student Takes Translator's Exam For UN Position

Elda Clayton Patton, pre-med student at Evansville College, has just returned from New York where she participated in the United Nations' translators' examination Jan. 16-17.

Miss Patton applied for this position in 1946. At that time she was employed at the American embassy in Buenos Aires, Agentina, as a translator. Before she was notified by the UN that she had qualified for the examination, Miss Patton had planned to further her studies in psychiatry on the continent.

The results of the examinations will not be known for three months and after that the UN conducts a six month to a year investigation of all examinees. The applicants taking part in the translators' examination will be considered for UN positions in New York, London and Geneva.

Miss Patton has traveled widely in South America and Europe, and has received a B.A. from Evansville College, her M.A. from Columbia University and has also attended the Universities of Mexico and Buenos Aires. She speaks French, Spanish, Portuguese and Italian.

Miss Patton, a 1942 EC graduate, plans to complete her pre-medical course at Evansville College in approximately one year.

Placement Bureau Names Few Jobs

Mrs. Mary Lou Hubbard of the Placement Bureau has announced that there have been no part time jobs offered to students since Christmas.

"This is due," she explained, "to the economic slump at this time of year." Mrs. Hubbard said that she hopes the students will be patient and watch for any new announcements of jobs.

All students desiring positions should watch for the green and yellow signs, which the Placement Bureau posts in the buildings on campus, telling of positions open to them.

If the student sees a listing that interests him, he should report immedinately to the Placement Bureau, A-106, and make an appointment for an interview.

College's Popular Prof Contest Sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega

Evansville College students will have a chance to nominate their favorite professor as the most popular professor on the EC campus next week when the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity sponsors a favorite professor contest to help raise funds for the 1953 March of Dimes.

Votes Bought

Members plan to have a table with containers on it to collect money in the lobby of the Union. Each professor who receives a vote will have his name placed by one of the containers. Voting is done by placing money in the container upon which is the name of your favorite prof. You can vote as often and as much as you like, as each penny contributed counts a vote for your favorite.

The money will be collected at the end of each day, counted, and standings posted. At the end of the week the entire amount will be turned over to the March of Dimes drive.

This is the first year APO has sponsored such a project on the campus and its success or failure depends upon the support of the student body and faculty. For such a worthwhile cause it seems everyone would be interested in a chance to not only reward a professor for an A, but also help out in the 1953 March of Dimes, stated Al Hardin, president of the local chapter.

CRESCENT

Vol. XXXIV — Evansville, Indiana — Jan. 30, 1953 — No. 12

Crescent Receives 'Excellent' Rating For Second Time

For the second straight time the Evansville College Crescent has been awarded an "excellent" rating by the Associated Collegiate Press Newspaper Scorebook for publications during the 1952-1952 school year.

The Crescent was given a "First Class Honor Rating" which is second only to the "All-American" or superior award in the significance of ratings.

Ratings are calculated by evaluating every phase of newspaper work ranging from the accomplishments of the writers to page make-ups, and then averaging the overall quality of the news production into a designated bracket.

Marvin Fox, who is now the sports columnist for the Crescent, served as editor during the time for which the award was given. John A. Boyd, now with the Indiana State Teacher's College faculty, was advisor for last year's publication, and Doyle Matteson served as business manager.

The Associated Collegiate Press, which has as its headquarters the University of Minnesota School of Journalism, has been giving evaluations of college papers for 47 semesters, or approximately 23 years.

Queen Nominations Close Wed. Noon

To be eligible for nomination, nominees must be full time students in day school.

The election will take place Feb. 10. Remaining nominees will serve as the queen's court at the coronation ceremonies the following night.

Which Way Did They Go???

Today Ends Most Popular Prof Race

Today is the last day you can vote for your favorite instructor as the most popular professor on the campus. The contest is being sponsored by the local chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, to collect money for the March of Dimes.

Members have been manning a table in the Union lobby the past week, collecting money in jars provided for each professor. Voting is accomplished by placing money in the jar, above which is the name of the "prof" you wish to vote for. Each dime means a vote and also a help towards stamping out polio.

The professor who receives the most votes will have his name attached to a trophy as the first link of an annual contest. Each year the winners will be added to the chain, with the trophy on display in the patio of the Union Building.

The officers were installed in a simple ceremony conducted by former president Werzner. These officers will guide the fraternity until June, when another election will be held for next year.

Series of Movies Planned for Union

A series of movie programs have been put on the Union Activity calendar. There will be four movies shown, one each month, before June. The February movie is planned for Thursday, the 26th. The pictures will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Great Hall.

Some of the movies which may be shown at these programs are "Laura," "The Razor's Edge," "Dragonwyck," and "Give My Regards to Broadway." Plans for these programs have not as yet been completed.

Also a new group, composed mostly of out-of-town girls on campus, is now meeting every Thursday at 5 p.m. to eat supper together in the cafeteria. At the present time they are making plans ot have some kind of activities after their supper meeting. Recently they played cards in the patio after supper. In the near future they intend to plan a date affair.

Vesper Speaker Stresses Values

Dr. Ernest C. Colwell, dean of the faculties of Emory University, Atlanta, proposed four ways to be human, in a talk on the Values of College Education at a Vesper Service at Evansville College Sunday.

These ways, he said, are the way of increasing knowledge, the way of creative and appreciative beauty, the way of pursuing righteousness and justice, and the way of the search of God.

Also on the Vesper Service program were Dean E. M. McKown and Professor Everette Walker, of the college; and the Rev. Walter Noffke, pastor of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Late News Breaks

SCA will sponsor a discussion group Monday evening in Dr. Mearl P. Culver's office at 6:30 o'clock. Martha Powell, sophomore, will lead the discussion; the topic will be "What Christians Believe." All interested students are invited to attend.

Mr. Max Robinson, dean of engineering at Fenn College in Cleveland, Ohio, visited the EC campus Tuesday. Dean Robinson originated the Co-op system there in 1920 and was head of the engineering department until 1928.

Poul Dewig, editor of the LinC, student annual, has asked that anyone who has in their possession a picture or pictures of the annual Philo-Phi Zeta played last fall, to please contact him in the LinC office. Mr. Dewig needs at least one good picture of the contest for use in the 1953 LinC.

The special committee appointed to study the card playing situation on campus reported to the administrative board yesterday, giving recommendations of what they think should be done about card playing on campus. The committee will report their findings to the student body in an assembly in the near future.

If You Signed - - - Show Up

The general indignation brought about by an administration ruling on card-playing resulted in a petition from around 200 students being presented to the administrators. This, in turn, had a good effect in that it resulted in an assembly which was designed to discuss the problem and see what could be done to correct the situation. However, of the 200 students who said that they wanted to see something done about the card-playing rule — this was, in effect, what they did when they signed the petition — fewer than 160 showed enough interest to attend the SGA assembly.

This says very little for those who signed the petition and did not show up at the meeting. Either they sign every thing that is put before them or they are not willing to accept the responsibilities of backing up their word. In either case, they do not exemplify the traits that a mature college student should have. Accepting responsibility is part of the process of gaining privileges — that, after all, is what you petitioners are asking for.

Yesterday, the committee made its report to the administrative board. Soon, there will be another SGA assembly in which the committee appointed to examine the situation will make its report and its suggestions to correct the issue. Your attendance at this meeting is important. If you are not interested enough to spend a half-hour showing that you want a change, why should such a change be made? If you want a change then attend that meeting.

Ike Blunt, But Wise

In his inaugural address President Eisenhower presented some blunt truths to the American people, and to the world. "Freedom is pitted against slavery . . . we must be willing, individually and as a nation, to accept whatever sacrifices may be required of us . . . for history does not long entrust the care of freedom to the weak or the timid . . . for in the final choice of soldiers pack is not so heavy a burden as a prinsoner's chain . . ."

Surely no one can doubt the wisdom and the truth in his words. Communism hovers over the world. Communism — only a word, but a word which means you can't own your own home, or a car, or choose your job, or even be sure your family will remain unmolested. Communism. Slavery. The words are synonymous.

Certaintly the soldiers' pack is a heavy one. It is a crushing burden during the farewells, the long ride to a military base and a new way of life, and during combat. It is difficult for an American to submit personal freedom and nidividually to the interests of his unit, the service, and the nation. The soldier's pack has always been heavy on his back, and upon the back of his family, as he went to the wars; first, the one that won our independence; later, the ones that preserved it.

Even as we have fought to preserve our freedom in the past, so shall we be obliged to protect it in the future. It is a self evident fact that anything worth the having is hard to obtain, and harder to keep.

If we refuse to accept the burden of the soldier's pack, then we shall be weak and defenseless. Seeing our weakness, the communist hordes will come marching; bearing with them Ike's proverbial chains.

Time Tells Why

In a recent issue of Time magazine, there was an article explaining, in the authors opinion, the reason why so many college students find their curriculum dull. In a program utilizing the records of alumni from Exeter, Andover, and Lawrenceville prep-chools, the author found that the consensus was that too often colleges subject material was merely a repetition of former years.

The report states that "Whatever his field, the able student should be made to travel at a swifter pace, and if he can cover eight years of work in seven, he should be encouraged to do so. It is time to break the current 'academic lockstep' and to make students stretch their minds by plunging into advanced work. With all that there is to learn and all that there is for eager students to do, it is nothing short of wicked to let our better students go to sleep.."

We feel that there is much to be said for this opinion. With the educational demands that are being placed upon the man of today in order that he may become a capable "bread-winner," it would seem feasible that time spent in these pursuits should be used to the greatest advantage. To spend years in the college classrooms repeating courses already learned is extremely dull and unprofitable.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of The Crescent:

Probably every student has some sort of gripe about Evansville College activities and traditions. Some complain about school spirit, sky-high food prices, not participating in campus affairs, and other such items.

My gripe is centered on one room of the Union Building . . . the Great Hall. There are many campus organizations that use this room, especially now that Spring is near, for dances and parties.

Speaking in behalf of organizations of small size, I would like to narrow my gripe to this — Why do on-campus organizations have to pay $30 for the Great Hall when off-campus groups pay only $15?

Last Spring when the four sororities scheduled their formal dances, they formed two groups in order to curb expenses and eliminate the possibility of not even having a spring function.

Of course, many people have similar gripes about paying too much for things, but every student pays $5.35 per quarter towards the Union fund. My comment is that the students are evidently paying more than once for the use of the so-called "student" Union Building.

And while I am still wondering about Union expenses, I wonder how much of a debt there still is on the building? I also wonder if some of the $30-fees help to pay off this deficit, or if some is taken out of the $5.35 activity fee?

I would prefer that my name be withheld from this letter and will sign it, Nosey.

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

In reading the Evansville Courier lately we have especially noted a series of articles by a noted columnist on the Rosenberg case. This case is rather complex because of our loose security legislation, and its international notoriety.

The people of the United States have long been noted as a soft touch in such cases. The Nurrenburg trials and the Japanese war crimes are good examples of this soft touch. True, we were very strict at the beginning. Many people were sentenced to death for their heireaous crimes against humanity. But we soon forgot the atrocities committed during the war. Most of the death sentences have been changed to life imprisonment and many of them were set free. We rationalized by saying, "It's all over now; why carry a grudge. We now even question the legality of these same trials. Were we justified in our opinion of forgive and forget? The Nazi movement is again popular in some parts of Germany and some of the same men who were prominent in wartime Japan again make up the backbone of conservative Japanese government.

Rosenburgs' Martyrs

In the Rosenburg trials we are faced with the same type of problem. There are those who say that the death of the Rosenbergs would only tend to make them martyrs of "world peace." It has had a very wide paly in regards to this point behind the iron as well as the bamboo curtain.

There are those who say that the American people have a tendency to go overboard during red scares, but in this case these people are not only reds, but proven traitors to everything the United States stands for. They are spys in the service of a foreign government. The government of the Unitd States has made no attempt to make their trial anything sensational, spectacular, or an instrument of national or social policy. We also have mixed no theatrics with justice despite the demonstrations against the dignity of the court and its justices in behalf of the accused.

Information Leaks

The activities of the convicted parties, while not being covered by peacetime laws, were covered by wartim laws during which time the Rosenburgs were also very active. The plans of the electronic gun directors which have been shooting down our B-29's in the Korean action have been presented to Russia via the Rosenburg route. This is only one example of the information leaks that can be traced to these people.

When the recent president left the White house he left on his desk an appeal for a commuted sentence from the Rosenburgs. The little captain from Missouri balked at making a decision involving only two lives when he had already made decisions involving thousands of lives in Korea. We hope if Ike has any backsliding tendencies that he will get into his White House Limosine and take a drive out to Arlington. This might well bring to mind the price we have paid for these people and many like them. To turn your back on the least of these is to encourage more of the same.

ROTC Band Revamped Reaches New Wing Level

By BILL BOSSE

To engineering students, it's a MAJOR MODIFICATION.

To natural science students, it's an AUTOPLASTIC GRAFT.

To business administration students. it's a REVISED ORGANIZATION STRUCTURE.

To the rest of us, THERE'VE BEEN SOME CHANGES MADE.

One of those changes occurred recently in the AFROTC band which has been reorganized and given new status in the Cadet Corps of Evansville College.

Band Organized Last Year

The AFROTC band was organized on the campus last year, primarily through the efforts of Cadet Major John D. King. That band performed so admirably that, when the corps became large enough for reorganization to a higher comand level, consideration was given to incorporate the band as an integral part of the Corps. It's status had been strictly extra-curricular because no authorization existed and no equipment was on hand.

Authorization for a band and band equipment were both received during the summer of 1952.

Wilson Leads Band

With corps reorganization plans now completed, the band becomes a command section of the 240th Cadet Wing Headquarters under the command of Cadet Captain Robert Wilson. Professional supervision and instruction is furnished on a voluntary basis, by Mr. Cannici of the Music Department.

The ROTC Band, since its authorization last summer, is now a complete and separate organization with its own band equipment and instruments.

Meets Once A Week

Under the supervision of Cadet Captain Wilson, the ROTC band meets each Friday mornings at 8 o'clock for rehearsals. This Friday rehearsals replaces the regular drill period for the band members.

Everyone will agree that the band's playing at the Armory is a vast improvement over the scratchy record which has been used for the past (how many?) years.

Harman Resigns as Newman Chief; Folz Elected Prexy

It was announced last week in The Crescent that Robert Harman was elected president of the Newman Club, the Catholic organization on campus. Due to his lack of time to devote to the office he has resigned.

Don Folz, Ace footballer, was elected president at the following meeting. Mr. Folz also plays baseball and is a pledge to Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity.

April 23 Set as Date For Deferment Test

Everette Walker, personnel director, has announced that the next Selective Service College Qualification Tests will be given Thursday, April 23.

All men students interested in taking the tests should apply immediately to the personnel office, A-108. This examination is for all those students who have not taken it previously.

Men enrolled in the AFROTC are also included in the number of persons who should take the test. Veterans who served two or more years in service need not take it, but Mr. Walker said that veterans serving less than two years should get in contact with him.

Student Representative from General Foundry Division Interviews Seniors

Mark A. Woodward, student representative for the General Foundry Division of General Motors Corporation, will be on campus Wednesday, Feb. 19, to interview June graduates.

"General Foundry Division is located in Danville, Ill., and is a relatively new division in our corporation," said Mr. Woodward. The Danville plant manufactures Grey Iron and Malleable Iron castings for the automotive, appliance, diesel engine and several other filds.

An eight million dollar expansion plan has just been completed in the plant. The employment of the plant has grown from 250 in 1947 to 2700 today.

Graduates employed by the organization enter a training program which lasts about six months. In this program the trainee works in all deparments of the plant for on-the-job training. There is also a weekly class on corporational plant and policies procedures.

All interested seniors planning to graduate in June should contact the personnel office, A-108, and make an appointment for an interview.

Students Offered Training in Naval Reserve Progran

According to a recent letter received from L. A. Young, Commander USNR, college students now have the opportunity to undertake Naval Reserve Officer training in the Navy's ROC program.

Each year a group of college students – both men and women – are selected by the navy for this training. Selectees attend ROC school for two six week summer sessions. Men candidates go to the reserve officer school at the Naval Station, Long Beach, California, and women train at Bainbridge, Maryland.

Subjects offered to men are gunnery, navigation, communications, naval customs and leadership. Women may study navigation, general and personnel administration and naval customs.

When two summer sessions have been completed and other qualifications are verified, candidates are in line for a naval officer's commission.

If a college student finishes the ROC courses before graduation he or she will receive an ensign's commission at the same time that diplomas are received. If the student finishes the training after graduation, the commission will be received after the close of the ROC school.

Guest Columnist

Dave Pellow

(Editor's Note: Our guest columnist for this week is a former disc-jockey at one of the local radio stations. A strong supporter of jazz, his former employers thought he was too strong a supporter — Mr. Pellow explains in the following column why he thinks jazz is here to stay. Mr. Pellow is currently confining his announcing talents to WEVC-FM with his weekly news program, "Crescent News on the Air" broadcast each Friday at 6 p.m. Dave is a sophomore and a member of Phi Zeta fraternity.)

Duriung my recent ramblings as a disc jockey at a local radio station, I was both commended and condemned for playing an abundance of jazz records on the air. In this column I would like to explain why I chose to play more jazz than the other tri-state disc jockeys. I played jazz recordings at a ratio of one jazz recording to every two popular recordings. The ratio used by most other jockeys in this area is one jazz recording to every four or five popular records.

Tried To Promote Jazz

In my sincere effort to promote the various forms of jazz in the tri-state area, I played progressive jazz, bop, swing, boogie, dixieland, and classical works. I worked on the theory that people heard enough popular music in the morning, afternoon and early evening, and that late at night they were ready to listen to a different type of music. Assuming that people would enjoy a change, I attempted to program some of the better forms of jazz.

Defines "Jazz"

At this point I would like to inject my definition of the word "jazz." Jazz to me means the musical expression of an idea or of a mood improvised on a musical theme. A popular misconception is that jazz is all wild, frantic and loud. This, of course, is not entirely true; jazz can be soft, tender and extremely beautiful. One should keep in mind that jazz is a musical expression and that it can be as individual as the personalities who play it.

To appreciate jazz the listener must listen for more than the immediate surface sounds. He should listen for the various solos and rhythm patterns, in a sense he should read between the lines.

Relyed On Instrumentals

On my late evening show I relied a great deal on instrumental recordings by big bands and orchestras. In this field of music, Kenton, Hermon, Brown and Goodman are superlative.

By combining good jazz records with current popular hits, I attempted to innovate music in this area. Apparently my efforts were in vain; but maybe someday, in the not too distant future, the general public will again appreciate good jazz as much as they did during the '30's.

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

Ho! Ha! Ha! Ho-ho-ho! Hee! Hee! (laughter). I think it's so funny. What happened to me Thursday, Jan. 22, in the Union cafeteria. I ordered chop suey (it was all they had for 40 cents) and was charged a dime extra for the rice to put it on.

That's like charging 20 cents for creamed peas — 10 cents for the peas and 10 cents for the cream. Some of the Kampus Kosmopolites assured me it's done in some of the eating places in Chicago.

Pricket

Say, Mac . . .

By now you will have decided whether or not you liked Macbeth in modern in modern dress. As I remember Hamlet (some years ago) it wasn't too bad in modern dress. In the manner of modern foods, its been condensed.

Wheeeee! I found out last week Ado Blackman and Gene Blackman are the same person. Up till then I thought Gene Blackman was mispelled Gene Glackman.

I saw Bess Mullett's huly, huly, skirt. Where were the red feathers?

Zooty!

Colorful Campus Clothes: John R. S. Haas' red shirt and that sport jacket of Ben Reading's. The sport jacket is as "different" as John Beard's dinner jacket.

Whaddaya know! department. Paul Kinney discovered fire's hot.

A cold day in something — when people (even me) pay good money to see a silent movie. My mother said they had those things years ago.

Mrs. Patsy Rose had a birthday Monday, January 26, 1953. Sweet 16. I know because she said so herself.

Mr. Affolder and Leo Kranawetter did an interesting little shuffle with a red scarf in the Ad building lobby Jan. 19, 1953.

Had a Hunch?

Jim Nichols has a crick in his back this week. He knew a week before he was going o be sick. How nice.

Losing candidates for wing commander of the AFROTC got sympathy cards from "the gang." Art Millspaugh, who got the job, should get one, too.

Macbeth also sported sweater-girl witches. Something Shakespeare didn't think about, but it proved to be an outstanding point in the show.

One doesn't have to go cruising down the river on a Sunday afternoon as long as one can speed down Weinbach avenue on a rainy morning. A car works as well as a boat — including the hissing bow waves and swirling wake.

How Now?

Way back when Pogo was running for president, the student body (at least 100 benighted members) arose in a great voice and said: "We want to have more to say." They really didn't know what they wanted to say more about and picked on the card playing rule.

Through the due course of channels and events, a committee was apointed to deal with the problem.

However, the students failed to recognize one good point. With privilege comes responsibility. There is no way of successfully separating the two, privilege and responsibility, in a democracy.

Since the students yipped and yammered about wanting things run on a democratic basis it is an interesting contradiction that they want the privilege and not the responsiblity.

Consistency, thou are a virtue.

Additional publicity for the drive will be handled by Dr. F. Woody Werking and David Lawson. They are making arrangements for using a loud speaker on campus during the drive to solicit contributions.

A meeting of representatives from most organizations on campus was recently held. Any organization which was not represented and would like to take part in the drive should contact Miss Morgan. Also a list of solicitors representing the groups present at that meeting should be turned in to her.

English Professor Spence Prefers Master's Poetry, All Male Classes

By DICK NICHOLSON

"Deacon Taylor," the Jekyll and Hyde of Edgar Masters explains the hypocracy of man better than any other verse, according to A. C. "Bud" Spence, assistant professor of English. And Mr. Spence may be heard quoting Masters or Browning or other poets in nearly every one of his classes.

Unlike most professors, Mr. Spence declares that he would rather have all male students rather than members of the fairer sex. He feels that he can "let loose" with an all male class. Or could it be that his wife, who teaches in the reading clinic, is too close for his comfort?

Paper, Boy?

Mr. Spence has two sons, the oldest of which has a Courier paper route. "It is rough getting up on those cold wintery mornings and delivering the papers," says Bud.

The short bespectled professor served 14 months overseas during World War II in the Naval Communications and is currently a Lieutenant in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

No Snorkles?

During one of the meeting of the reserve, Mr. Spence, drilling a group of seamen, allowed the front end of the unit to march over a small hill and into a creek while watching the rear of the division. "All I could see were little white hats going over the hill, related the officer.

Prof. started teaching composition and literature at Evansville in 1946. Having obtained his Bachelor's and Master's degrees, he is currently working toward his doctor's degree at Indiana University.

Stieler Stealers have replaced Bartle's Barters in the lead of the Evansville College Bowling League. During the last two weeks the Stealers have won steadily while the other teams seem to be laying for the previous leaders.

Don Hulsey, of the Philo Four Roses, has set a new high individual series record by bowling a 537 series. It broke the previous high of 520 held by Col. James Brantner of the Barter's.

Intra-Murals Begin Thurs.

Play in the newly formed Intramural basketball league will get underway at the Armory next Thursday evening said Bob Haug, chairman of the Athletic Committee.

The league, limited to eight teams, will tangle in a round-robin tournament for a permanent trophy which is to be awarded the winning team.

"Five teams, Freshman Class, Newman Club, Acacia, Pi Epsilon Phi, and Phi Zeta, have entered by turning in their roster and we have room for three more," said Mr. Haug.

Any organization or individual may enter a team. The only regulations are that the team must have at least eight members and to be officially entered the organization or individual must turn in a roster of his player's names and his captain to either Mr. Haug or Ralph Weber, Student Government president.

The deadline for entries is Monday, February 2. If more than eight teams are entered, the first eight to submit rosters will be considered eligible.

All games have been scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The dates are February 5, 18, 19, 25, 26 and March 4 and 5.

Four games will be played each night. Game time is 6 P.M.

Reserves Boast 7-4 Record; Burch Tops

Assistant Coach Paul Beck's Evansville College reserves, boasting a 7-4 won and lost record, have but three games remaining on their schedule, two with teams that they have previously defeated.

The reserves will face the 188th airborne regiment of Ft. Campbell Thursday at the Armory, then travel to Indiana State to tackle the little Sycamores on Feb. 5. They will return to the home hardwood to face the Evansville YMCA on Feb. 21, completing their 14 game schedule.

Reserves Well Balanced

Sporting a well balanced attach that has seen six different players carry away top scoring honors in the eleven games, the reserves have rolled over the K and W Shell station, Murray State, the GE plant from Tell City, the 188th Airborne regiment from Ft. Campbell, Camp Atterbury, Indiana State, and International Steel, the latter by a record 105-72 score.

In one of the younger Ace's most thrilling games of the season, the Murray State reserves, in their second encounter with EC, came from behind to win by a 69-68 margin, inflicting the first defeat on Coach Beck's crew.

The reserves also lost a return engagement to the K and W Shell Station, featuring many former EC stars, 67-51. Holland Glidden held the reserves to their lowest score to date in handing the Purple a 58-49 defeat. The 506 Airborne Infantry regiment from Camp Breckinridge topped the youngsters 63-50.

Burch Leads Reserves

Jim Burch, one of Beck's outstanding freshmen, leads the reserves with 98 points. Burch has led the Aces reserves to victory in four games. However, Carl Nicdermeier and Bob Walker hold the high point total for a single game with 21 points.

The "second platoon" of head coach Arad McCutchan's varsity crew is composed of the players who performed for the reserves during the arly part of th season. Jim Healy, Bob Walker, Roscoe Bivin, John Wessel, and Chuck Linsmith give the Ace mentor plenty of reserve strength and scoring power.

ROTC Rifle Team Beaten in Match By Notre Dame

Notre Dame's outstanding rifle team defeated the marksmen of the local ROTC team in a postal match last week by the score of 1887-1734.

Last year the Notre Dame squad was the highest ranked team in AFROTC competition in the entire nation.

John Meisenheimer led the local team's scorers by posting a 361 point total.

The local squad is now awaiting the results of their postal matches with Georgia Tech, the University of Hawaii, and Tri-State College of Angola, Indiana.

About twenty more matches remain on the team's agenda with a shoulder to shoulder match with Southern Illinois University scheduled for Feb. 7. The highlight of the season will be an overnight trip to St. Louis for a shoulder to shoulder match with St. Louis University in March.

Butler, Valparaiso Next ICC Foes

By BILL ADKINS

Hoping to recover their winning ways in the ICC, the hot and cold Purple Aces will journey to Indianapolis for a conference game with Butler tomorrow, followed by another ICC tilt at Valparaiso, Feb. 7.

The upstate Bulldogs, holding first place in the conference, won previously over the Aces, 74 to 61 on the Armory floor earlier in the month, and a second Butler victory would knock Coach McCutchan's team completely out of the picture.

If the Aces win tomorrow and Thursday it will still take some outside help to dislodge Butler from the path to the conference title.

Win Streak Halted

The winning streak that the Purple and White was so rapidly compiling came to a screeching halt at four games a week ago Wednesday when the Bears of Washington University of St. Louis handed the Aces a twelve point trouncing, 74 to 62 at the Armory.

Hitting 25 of 50 shots, the Bruins from the show-me state stayed out of reach of both of Mac's platoons throughout the contest. Big Jack Nash and fiery Keith Combs seemed to lose the scoring touch completely, each garnering only one field goal.

A hotter shooting Ace aggregation faced Mississippi Southern the following night at the Armory.

Aces Hot

Searing the nets with a phenominal .609 average that resulted in a bombastic 34 to 24 first quarted lead, the double-barreled Macmen seemed well on the way toward starting another win skein.

However, when Coach McCutchan took out his first five to rest from for later action the Southerners began to chop down the Aces' point advantage. By the time the first platoon returned to the game little Nick Revon, a flashy guard from New Orleans, and his mates were ready to play the blues for the Aces. Nevertheless, the Purple five managed to retain a slim lead over the Mississippians until the waning minutes of the contest. A final burst by the Southerners pushed them over the top, 81 to 79.

The Aces led in field goals 30 to 29 but missed 17 free tosses. Nash headed the Aces in the scoring column with 20 points.

ICC Loss

Ball State, an ICC foe evened it up with the Aces with a 59 to 56 win at Muncie last Saturday. The Cardinals led throughout the game. The Aces closed the gap to one point with three minutes to go but couldn't pull ahead. Nash and Combs each tallied nine markers but Jack Cross of the Cardinals grabbed scoring honors with 21 points.

Billiard Tournament Now in Third Round

With one complete round being played and several players going into the fourth round, there are 20 remaining players competing for the billiards championship.

Second round play was to be completed Wednesday with the third round play deadline set at Feb. 2. Feb. 11 at 10 a.m. has been the time set for the finals.

The highest possible score that a player can score is 100. Bob Martin has the highest score recorded to this date, 61. Fred Kelly has the second highest score with a 60.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

It's been quite a while since the Aces have been beaten — on play from the floor that is. In fact, they have won their last five games in a row — from the floor, that is.

They are a safe bet, for anybody, who wants to make a bet if that person wants to make a bet strictly on what they do from the floor. But if a person wants to place a bet on games won — that's different. that's different.

Mr. Fox

The basketball team just can't do a thing when it comes to making a free throw. And that includes the whole team making two attempts after each foul.

In the line of suggestions . . . What if the coach would make each player practice free throws until he made at least 30 consecutive baskets each night before going home — even though it would take some all night, granted it would.

But think of what the school, coach, and players lose when they consistently lose games over a long period of time, even if they are lost by one point so-called heartbreakers caused by guys fouling up on foul shots: support of the citizens of Evansville, support of students, and even part of the team — as happened during football season.

Since last week the Aces have dropped from second to third place in the ICC, losing their second place spot to the team which was next to last last week, by losing a game to the team which is on the bottom of the conference—congratulations, boys.

But the truth shouldn't bruise the innocent.

Here's another surprising element that was brought about during the last week, Rod Clutter, quarterback on the Aces' football squad, was married. The bride was Mary Del Gudgel.

On or off campus, the Aces are usually in the midst of things. The latest: Harry Axford, '51, now in the noivy, carried a flag for Ike in the inaugural parade.

All Evansville College students traveling to the Indiana State Sycamore game will be admitted free by showing their activity tieket at the north-east entrance. The game will be played at Terre Haute next Thursday night.

Macbeth a Hit: Dewig

By Paul Dewig

The modernized "Macbeth" captured by the Thespians still retains the audience appeal and glamour characterized by all Shakespeare's plays.

The truly outstanding part of the production is the fact that most of the characters in supporting roles are newcomers to the footlights.

Emerson Tops

Undoubtedly, Joe Emerson, an old-timer in Thespian productions, carries the load of the play. His change from a kindly Scottish lord to an ambition-wild schemer is credible. He remained completely in character. The audience gets an excellent view of this radical personality change.

Betty Drennan as Lady Macbeth keeps pace with Mr. Emerson in her vivid portrayal of an early social climber. Her ease of motion and freedom of speech gives the audience a relaxation not found in many of the other characters.

Although not seen by the audience, Bill Lord, technical director again shows his ability at handling props and switches. His fast scene changes and special effects pepped the show up immeasurably.

Hill and Martin Direct

The large cast was expertly directed by Mr. Howard Hill and Pat Martin. Again Mr. Hill gives the theater lovers a truly splendid production.

Ron Hamilton, in the role of Banquo, was a bit stiff, but he gives a very good character part. Many of the minor characters gave wooden performances. The notable exceptions were Marvin Fox, as the tipsy porter, Susan Chenowith as the gentlewoman and the three witches Myra Kasey, Anne Stocks and Martha Powell. Mr. Fox helped Mr. Emerson carry the load of the play (literally). His was the job of providing the touch of humor which is characteristic of most of Shakespeare's plays, and aptly carried by Mr. Fox.

Many Rookies

Adding the continuity to the play in the minor roles, many of the newcomers showed real potential for future Thespian greats. Among the 15 who made their debut on the boards were: Vernon Potts as Lennox, Ned Conder as Ross, James Hull as Malcolm, Pat Coutrleigh as Donaldbain, John Moss as Setton, Bill Knapp as the Second Murderer, Barbara Moore as Hectate. Ronald Shook as the Doctor and Tom Lines as Siward.

Bob Rundell as Duncan, Bill Plane as Macduff, Ben Reading as Fleance, John Wilson as the First Murderer, Jerry Jewell as the Third Murderer and Bob Rundell as the Messenger give strong supporting performances.

SPEBSQSA Rules To Guide Contest

Evansville College has been invited to enter the second annual Barber Shop Quartet Contest to be held at Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, on March 6 at 8 p.m.

The first event of this kind was held last March. Eight quartets were entered in the contest. The winners of the first three places were awarded trophies, and first place winners received $25 for appearing on a television program in Bloomington, Indiana.

Each school is permitted to enter two quartets in the contest. Most of those who participated in the contest last year were inexperienced.

This year's rules will follow the official Society for Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America quartet contest rules. No member may sing in more than one competing quartet.

All interested groups should contact SGA President Ralph Weber.

This home, located at 1723 Lincoln avenue, has been purchased by Pi Epsilon Phi. In addition to the house, the fraternity also bought the adjoining vacant lot. Card Committee Will Report Finding in Feb. 16 Assembly

The committee to study the rule on cardplaying before 2 p.m. will present its findings at a meeting of the student body at 10 a.m., Feb. 16, in the Great Hall.

The committee's proposal has already been placed in the hands of the Administrative Board for study. The meeting is to inform students of the committee's proposals; also to give students an opportunity to make comments. The committee's findings, together with student comment, will then be turned over to the board for action.

Appointment of the committee by the Administrative Board grew out of a special assembly last quarter. The assembly, a panel discussion between faculty members Dr. Lincoln B. Hale and Dr. James Morlock, and students Bob Wooley and Vernon Potts, was occasioned by numerous student complaints to SGA officers about the existing card playing rule. The rule was originally designed to curb excessive class cutting and gambling.

Committee members are: Walter Prickett, Roberta Becker, Shirley Balding, Charles Shelton, Dr. Wade David, Dr. Daniel Boughner, and Miss Lucille Jones.

Ambassador Grady To Discuss Middle East Here Feb. 10

Ambassador Henry F. Grady will speak to the Evansville College students and faculty in a special convocation on Feb. 10. The title of his lecture will be: "Our Foreign Policy in the Middle East."

Because of the importance and interest of this lecture the convocation period will be increased to 50 minutes. Seven minutes will be taken from the 10:45 period and eight minutes will be removed from the 11:45 period to make up the time. This means the 10:45 period will start at 11:00 and the 11:45 period will start at 11:53. All other periods will start at their regular times.

Made Iran Trip

Mr. Grady has recently returned from Iran. In his lecture he will analyze the entire, complex Middle East situation, involving Britain, Russia, the United States and the Moslem world. This is one of the touchiest international complications of our day.

Difficult diplomatic assignments are not new to Mr. Grady. In 1947 he was made our Ambassador to India and in 1948 he became our Ambassador to Greece, both of which posts, like the one in Teheran, required the utmost in knowledge of Middle and Far Eastern affairs.

FDR Aide

In 1941 he was President Roosevelt's personal representative on a government assignment to make an economic survey of the countries of the Far East, and in 1945 he was appointed trade commissioner in Greece, before going to India as our Ambassador.

Born in San Francisco, Mr. Grady was educated at St. Mary's University in Baltimore and at Columbia University. He taught for a number of years at City College of New York, Columbia University, Georgetown University, and the University of California.

After his teaching experience he went into private business before taking up his career as a diplomat.

New House Stands Next To Acacian's On Lincoln Avenue

Pi Epsilon Phi, the oldest and largest social fraternity on campus, has purchased a fraternity house located at 1723 Lincoln Avenue, next door to the Acacia house, and plan to move into the house sometime next week.

The 10-room house, capable of housing from 25 to 30 men, will require a minimum of remodeling before the grand opening, but a definite date for this event has not yet been set, according to Marvin Fox, president of the fraternity.

Modern Furnishings

Remodeling will include the removal of a wall, enlarging the living room to double it's present size. Furnishings for the house, which will be the largest fraternity house on campus, haven't yet been completed, but they will be strictly modern, including a television set.

Also included in the purchase of the property is a garage apartment which the alumni will remodel and use for a meeting place. This apartment will be rented from the active chapter, giving them financial aid the year 'round.

Room For Expansion

The Philos have also bought the vacant lot adjoining the house. This gives the fraternity three 40 foot lots which extend back 200 feet, affording the fraternity ample room for expansion as the college and the fraternity grow.

At present the downstairs floor plan includes two study rooms, kitchen and dining facilities, a lounge, an extra large living room, and a bath and large bedroom for a house mother.

The upstairs floor plan includes a study room, bath, and living quarters. Meals will be served at the house from the very first day of it's operation. John Evers, vice president of the fraternity, will be in charge of planning the meals.

Future Plans

Future plans for the house include a financial program by Phi Alpha, the alumni association, to pay off the mortgage on the property in five years. This will enable extensive remodeling of the property, or a new building, without causing any financial strain on the fraternity, stated Mr. Fox.

General improvements of the property such as painting and landscaping will begin early this spring.

'Dutch Door' LinC Gets 'Good' Rating

The Evansville College LinC has been awarded a "second class honor rating" by the Associated Collegiate Press Newspaper Scorebook for publications during the 1951-1952 school year.

Second class honor rating is considered by the Scorebook to mean that a publication is "good."

Ratings are calculated by evaluating every phase of newspaper work, ranging from the accomplishments of the writers to page make-ups, and then averaging the overall quality of the news production into a designated bracket.

O. Franklin Beumer, who is now employed by the local International Harvester plant as editor of their factory publication, served as editor for last year's "Dutch Door" issue. John A. Boyd, now on the faculty of Indiana State Teacher's College, was faculty advisor, and Harold Bell was business manager.

The Associated Collegiate Press, with headquarters at the University of Minnesota School of Journalism, has been giving evaluations of college papers for approximately 23 years.

Just Thirty-Five Minutes . . .

Last week "the special committee on card-playing" made their report to the Administrative Board — it was merely a report to that group for clarification, nothing was ruled upon. That will come later.

It is an interesting report and the committee is to be commended, The committee ,composed of four students — Walt Prickett (chairman), Roberta Becker, Shirley Balding, and Charlie Shelton — and three faculty members — Dr. Wade David, Dr. Dan Boughner, and Miss Lucille Jones — have been deliberating on the vital campus issue for nigh onto two months. They have done a remarkable job.

The next step towards completing the three-step program that student Bob Wooley outlined in a special assembly in November will be presenting the report to the student body in another special assembly Monday, Feb. 16, 10 a. m. in the Great Hall.

The last step on Mr. Wooley's program is the final ruling on the controversial rule which will be made by the Administrative Board sometime soon after the special assembly.

The outcome of the ruling will depend a great deal on the interest shown by the students at the special assembly and what is said by the students there. If you are interested enough in this issue, which to us is more than simply we-play-or-we-don't-play-until-after-2 p. m., give it 35 minutes of your time Feb. 16.

Reorganization Needed

A recent action by Congress imposed strict limitations on President Eisenhower's powers to reorganize the government. They very graciously extended his reorganization powers for two more years, but, at the same time, also made it much easier for them to kill a reorganization plan. The new amendments effective April 1, require only a simple majority, 25 senators or 110 representatives, to kill a plan.

The republicans came out in favor of the amendment just mentioned while the democrats were solidly behind President Eisenhower. This may seem paradoxical until it is remembered that this is in line with the action taken when the republicans tried to decrease President Truman's reorganization powers.

It would seem that such haggling over reorganization of the government is a foolish waste of time. Everyone grants that such a step is necessary. The duplication and wasted effort of the bureaucratic system that we now have is tremendous; it is costing the American tax-payer billions of dollars every year. To quibble over who should make the necessary corrections is hardly a tribute to the ability of the men whom we have elected to serve us.

A far better plan, it would seem, than limiting the powers of the President in regard to reorganization, would be to be more restrictive in granting his choice of men to help him reorganize. Thereby Congress would have a check upon the governmental reorganization.

However, after a qualified committee has submitted its suggestions; its recommendations should be followed in so far as possible. Since such a committee is in a better position to say what should be done than our esteemed members of Congress, it would seem wise to make difficult for a group of "spend-minded" persons to kill a bill which would ultimately be for the benefit of all.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Nosey,

This is a response to your letter which appeared last week in The Crescent. It is good to know that there are some students interested in the problems of the Union. The information which you are asking for is always available, to you or any student, in the Union Office, but since the information you stated in your letter was inaccurate, the following is a schedule of Union fees:

SPACE AND FEE:

A. Great Hall Rental
   1. Dinner for more than 100 people—no charge
   2. College activities for which no admission is charged (except dances) —no charge
   3. College dances (PA System included)—$30.00
   4. College activities for which admission is charged (PA incl.) — $30.00
   5. High School dances (PA incl.) — $35.00
   6. Off campus groups for which no admission is charged—$35.00; PA system — $5.00; Rehearsal time — $5.00
   7. Off campus activities for which admission is charged—$35.00 and up; PA System—$5.00; Rehearsal time —$5.00

B. Pullman Kitchens
   1. Club Room
      a. College related activities (students, faculty and alumni) — no charge
      b. Off campus groups — $5.00 plus $1.00 per hour for labor
   2. Lounge
      a. College related activities—$2.50 plus $1.00 per hour for labor
      b. Off campus groups—$7.50 plus $1.00 per hour for labor

C. Alumni Lounge
   1. College related activities—no charge
   2. Off campus groups (without kitchen)—$5.00
   3. Wedding receptions (not incl. food) One member of the couple must be College connected—$25.00

For lack of space your other questions cannot be answered here, but will be explained fully if you care to come to the Union Office.

(Editor's Note: Last week The Crescent published a letter from a disgruntled, anonymous writer who wondered "Why do on-campus organizations have to pay $30 for the Great Hall when off-campus groups pay only $15?" The above letter from Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union Bldg., should clarify this question for all interested parties. However, the anonymous writer did have some justification for the query; the original prices for use of the Great Hall, listed in a Union Bldg. brochure in 1951, are identical with those claimed in last week's epistle. This situation was remedied by price revisions in September 1951 and June 1952. It is encouraging to note that Union fees for student groups have been lowered rather than raised since the building opened in 1951.)

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

The ship of state is now complete. All of the spokes have been added to the wheel that is to guide the fortunes of our nation for the next four years. The dust is already dropping away from the fight that ended with the congressional confirmation of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's appointment of Charles Wilson as secretary of defense. The million dollar cabinet is now complete. We will have to overlook the secretary of labor Dirkin since he has his first million yet to make.

Senate Rather Drafty

But the ring of the voice of Senator Wayne Morse (Rep? Oregon) still echoes in the halls of the Senate — or was that the wind? Sometimes its kind of hard to tell in the Senate. It sometimes gets drafty there. It seems that many people question the altruistic motives of one Mr. Charles E. Wilson. But in a statement to this effect Mr. Wilson says, "This is my country. I love it, and it has been good to me. If I can serve it, if I am needed, I shall put no personal consideration first. I shall do my duty." What more can be asked of any man?

Decision Costs Wilson

Call this decision what you may. Charles E. Wilson was president of General Motors at a salary of $600,000 which he gave up for one of $22,500. To those people that weigh things only in money this might seem astounding. In addition he has also agreed to sell $2,500,000 worth of General Motors stock, under our present tax setup this is going to cost him almost three times as much as his first year's salady. Whether you are management or labor, rich or poor, Republican or Democrat, this is hitting where it hurts — the pocketbook. Still Mr. Wilson can say, "This is my country. I love it, it has been good to me." This takes a big man and a man with faith in the American way of life regardless from what angle you look at it.

Wilson To Gain Criticism

Regardless of the loss of personal wealth one thing Mr. Wilson can expect to gain, and that is criticism. Should our defense efforts lag, Should certain industries be favored, Should big business get a lift in any shape or form, we can be sure that many people will be ready to jump Mr. Wilson and give him all the credit. This is starting a game with the champion already laboring under a heavy handicap. Let's hope Mr. Wilson likes mud for he is destined to receive his share or more.

For those that condemn big business and are already labeling the Republican party as the big business party we might say the leaders of federal government are running the biggest business concern in the world. Would you trust it with a habidasher? You did once and look what happened. Maybe it is time that we find someone who has had a success in his own business and who might transfer some of this same know-how to the business of government. It is always nicer to have a man a millionaire when he enters office than to make it while he is there.

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

Dear Hearts and Gentle People:

There will be an assembly on Feb. 16. This assembly is what you have been asking for. This assembly is to get student reaction to a suggestion given the administrative board by the committee on cardplaying.

A healthy attendance — about 500 students — at that assembly will firmly answer the question: "Is this just a tempest stirred up in the S.G.A.-Administrative Board teapot by 15 or 20 students?"

And Furthermore

A poor attendance — no more than 200 students — will effectively squelch the effort for reconsideration of the cardplaying rule. "That rule was made to take care of a situation that no longer exists. Today's students are different from the ex-veteran students of the late 1940's."

The biggest stumbling block to cardplaying on the Evansville college campus is gambling. It is a simple matter to stop gambling on the campus — but it takes guts. The more refined refer to it as "courage," "determination," "grit," but it all stacks up to just plain guts.

Takes Intestinal Fortitude

Have guts enough to say "No!" when somebody wants to put a stake on a card game. It's not time to point the accusing finger and say, "Everybody else does it."

The students have to decide whether a few persons who refuse to abide by the college no gambling rule shall be able to deprive the entire student body of the privilege of cardplaying.

Cheers?

Does anybody know what fell from the center section of the student bleachers at the game with S.I.U.? Too bad that school changed its name from S.I.N. (Think of the perfectly good puns that move loused up.) Whatever fell did it with a mighty bang. (No, little Eva. It wasn't the roof falling in because the Aces won.)

You begin college as an education major. It sounds easy. At least, the curriculum doesn't seem too difficult. If you're a future elementary teacher, there isn't even a foreign language with its irregular verbs to face.

For three years you study your major. The theory sounds wonderful; and not only that, there is so much of it.

Then in the spring of your junior year you receive your student teaching assignment. Maybe it's a first grade or perhaps you're teaching an American problems class to high school seniors. At any rate, you have the summer to think it over. Suddenly the doubt is planted in your mind. Can you really teach? "Teach" is a big word.

Bright Boy!

Finally the first week in September rolls around and all those doubts become reality. The first few days you observe. "Isn't that a bright little boy in the middle row?" That's the sort of thing you think, that is, until your critic teacher says that tomorrow you teach.

So you go home and study the teachers' "bible" — the teaching manual.

The next morning the class changes miraculously. The boy in the middle row doesn't look so bright any more. Somehow he's changed and, for that matter, so has the whole class. Their eyes are staring at you and you can practically hear their brains proclaiming your inexperience.

Out of your mind go all those lovely words you've mouthed in classes. Words such as "integrate," and "motivate" are all meaningless. All that beautiful theory is gone and so is your self-confidence.

The room that used to have curly haired little moppets now barely holds little demons, each set upon making your life as miserable as possible.

Seventy Gleaming Eyes

Seventy eyes gleam with mischievous thoughts. Thirty-five little mouths all chatter in unison. Discipline is a thing of the past, something that your critic teacher does but still it escapes you.

The idea has penetrated at last. To teach you need something besides "the divine call," an expression borrowed from Lucile Jones, head of elementary education. You've chosen this as your life's work and that's just what it is. Teaching is work and planning carefully is something you do every day.

The words come back to you now and you think of all the theory that you've learned. It's good theory. All you have to do is practice it, teach fundamentals of reading and arithmetic, social understanding, etiquette, and all around living. Hard work, Who could doubt it?

Yet, what could be more satisfying than having thirty or more children depend upon you for everything from pulling baby teeth to learning a new word? When the first six year old looks up at you with all the sincerity six years can foster and says, "Here is a present for you," and it turns out to be wiggly and slimey, then you're through with doubting.

Teaching is for you and you love it!

Co-op System Inaugurated

Students who major in management will soon have a co-operative system similar to the engineering co-op program.

The faculty has approved a program which will permit management majors to adopt a program patterned after the engineering department's system.

Students must attend school for five quarters before they begin their co-op work; then they spend a total of five quarters in co-op work. They will earn their degrees in 10 quarters instead of the usual 12 quarters. The average quarterly load for these students will be 18.6 hours.

Counselor for the management students will be Mark Stigers, who is also the co-ordinator of the engineering co-op program.

Management courses are already set up for co-op engineers and this is the reason that the co-op program is not being extended to include the other academic fields.

Correction

As previously announced in The Crescent, the personnel office asked for green and yellow signs announcing jobs and interviews. The Crescent would like to correct this by stating that these particular signs are used only for senior interviews, announced Miss Mary Lou Hubbard, of the personnel office.

Betas, Chi Omegas Top Fall Scholars

Beta Sigma Omicron, social sorority, had the highest scholarship on campus during the fall quarter, announced G. R. McCoy, registrar.

Beta Sig maintained a 2.44 avreage for the quarter. Chi Omega followed in second place among sororities with a 1.83. Alpha Omicron Pi had 1.77 and Phi Mu sorority achieved a 1.40 for the term.

Heading the list of fraternities scholastically is Pi Epsilon Phi with a 1.68. Acacia followed in second place with a 1.66 and Delta Kappa had 1.52. Members of Phi Zeta fraternity maintained a 1.42 average for the fall term.

Point average for the entire campus for the fall quarter was 1.50; with the women having a 1.69 and the men 1.40.

Words To Live By

"Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perserverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfector of our faith, who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God."

Duggan's Novel Told Subtly; Points Out History's Errors

"THE LITTLE EMPERORS"
By ALFRED DUGGAN

Saius Semprunius Felix put his cloak up around his neck, shivered in the whistling wind on that dark, wet night in 406 A.D. and wondered how on earth he had gotten himself into such a predicament. And in the story of how it came to be, author Alfred Duggan tells the story of the fall of the Roman Empire in Britain.

Rome Has High Taxes

Rome had bled the British Empire dry with taxes; and with each new increase in taxes or confiscation more and more farmers fled the country. Until now there were hardly enough left to support the garrison. Then, to make even more trouble, the German tribes had overrun Gaul the year before and Britain was cut off from Rome.

Felix's father-in-law then financially backed the rise of a young man named Marcus Julius Naso who claimed the title of Emperor of Rome. He could only claim the title, but still it sounded good. However, Marcus was a little too head-strong and it became necessary to remove his presence. Felix's wife, Maria, took care of that matter as she lay in Marcus' bed.

Maria Enjoys Murder

Maria enjoyed the murder too much, however, and began to make habit out of it. Before she got around to Felix, though, she was killed by a young soldier named Constans.

The character of Felix is subtle and witty. The story is told concisely and author Duggan takes very fine means to shake his finger at some outstanding blunders of the past.

Marian Anderson Appears as Soloist On Evansville Philharmonic Program

Marian Anderson, contralto, appeared as soloist with the Evansville Philharmonic Monday in the Coliseum.

The orchestra opened the program with "Overture Abu Hassan," and "Symphony No. 4, Opus 120." Among the numbers she sang were "Immer Luser Wird Mein Schleimmer," "Dein Blaues Augen," "Von Ewigen Liebe," and "Der Schmied."

Other selections were "O Don Fatale," and "O Mio Fernando, La Favorita."

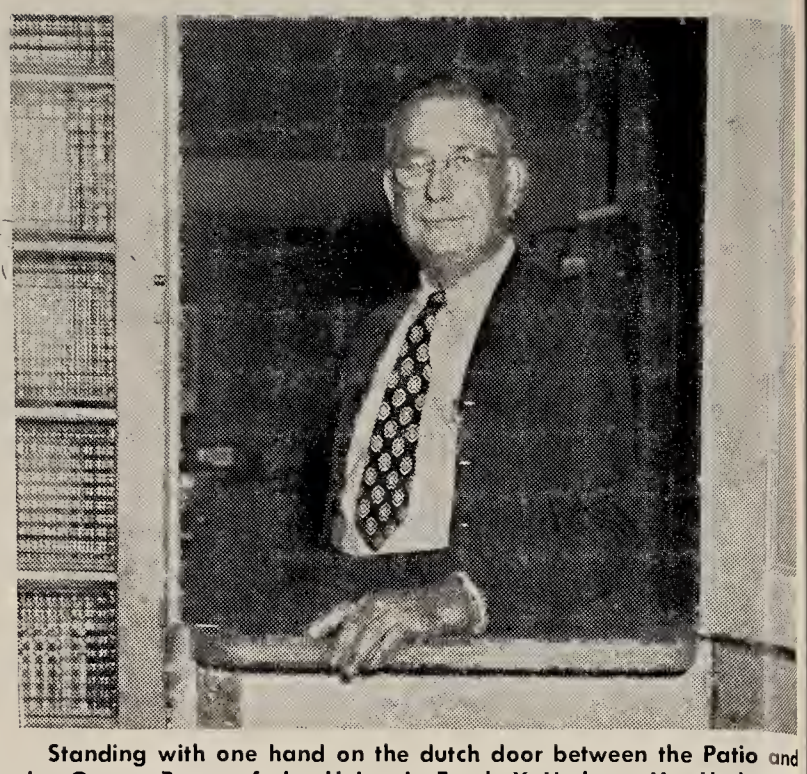
Closing numbers by the orchestra included "Scenes Pittoresque" by Massenett.

Miss Anderson, has been cited as the foremost woman singer in radio in a poll of 600 music editors of the United States and Canada for six years.

She has appeared in more than 750 concerts before more than 4 million listeners in nearly 300 cities, in 44 states, as well as in most European countries.

Miss Anderson is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha, social sorority; the campus chapter has been inactive this year.

King of Pool Hall



Standing with one hand on the dutch door between the Patio and the Games Room of the Union is Frank X Herbert. Mr. Herbert is supervisor of the Games Room and is an avid sports enthusiast, his favorite sport being billiards, or pool.

Union Games Room Supervisor Likes Pool, Sports, Students

By GLORIA WATSON

"Herb, got change for a quarter?"

"Hey, Herb, the juke box is stuck again!"

These questions, comments and many others may be heard in the course of one day in the Patio of the Union. The person to whom they are directed is Frank Xavier Herbert. Mr. Herbert is in charge of the games room and also straightens up furniture and tables in the Patio.

"Herb," as he is known by the students and faculty of Evansville College, may be seen any time of the day carrying Coke bottles, which the students have left lying around, to the empty cases by the Coke machine. He also sells candy bars, potato chips and other snacks at the stand in the southwest corner of the Patio.

Likes Students

Mr. Herbert spends much of his time in making friends with the students, and tries to get along with everyone. When asked about his work, Herb replied, "I enjoy my work very much and enjoy getting along with all the students. They are all nice young ladies and gentlemen. I am very much interested in all of them, and they're all my friends. I'll do anything in my power for them."

A number of students studying German enjoy talking to him in that language; and it is safe to assume that he enjoys conversing with them. When there isn't anything for him to do, Herb will take a few moments to carry on a conversation with these German speaking students; while nonunderstanding spectators look on in bewilderment.

Opened Games Room

Mr. Herbert has been working for EC since the Union opened Jan. 11, 1951, and it was he who opened the games room that first day.

When questioned about future plans, he stated, 'I never thought of making a change. I'm well satisfied with my work here."

Born in St. Wendel

He was born in St. Wendel in Posey County, Indiana, Aug. 15, 1886. Upon graduation from the eighth grade at St. Wendel school, Mr. Herbert came to Evansville and entered the grocery bsuiness. After fifty years of being a grocer, he decided to retire; but found it too lonely and started to work here.

He and his wife, Anna, reside at 515 N. Wabash Ave.

Aces Hit Slump; Topple To Fifth Place in ICC

By DAVE PELLOW

Speed, speed, and more speed seems to be the only factor on which the unpredictable Purple Aces can depend this season.

The rambling Aces split even last week in games with Southern Illinois University's Salukis and Butler University's Bulldogs.

Coach Arad McCutchan's purple clad lads played hot and cold ball for three quarters in their encounter with the Salukis (named for an Egyptian racing dog), but caught fire in the final frame at the Armory and blitzed the Illinois squad 72-64.

Guards Hot

Two streaks of fire named Dave Crumbaker and Gene Wilm led the rejuvenated Aces who pulled ahead of the Salukis by 15 points at one stage late in the fourth period. Crumbaker accounted for 17 points and Wilm tossed in nine quick points. Freshman Frank Healy and Bob Walker both played brilliant ball throughout the contest. Healy scoring 13 points and Walker accounting for nine.

Last Saturday night the Aces led Butler University by three points at the third period stop, but the Bulldogs regrouped at the last moment and topped the Macmen 74-70 on the Butler Fieldhouse floor.

Statistics on last night's game with Indiana State was not available because of deadline schedules. Tomorrow night the Aces travel to Valparaiso, Ind., for a game with the Valparaiso University Crusaders.

Billiard Tournament Plays Ends Tuesday

Today the semi-finals of the billiard tournament will be completed. Tuesday at 10 a.m. the two survivors of this competition will play for the championship in the Games Room of the Union Building.

The players who were still around at quarter-finals time are as follows: Herman Thomas, George Dockery, Jim Jensen, Keith Combs, Fred Kelley, and Howard Lottes.

National telephonic entries are due Thursday, Feb. 12, 1953. This will be the second year that Evansville College has participated in the tournament by telephone. The National Pool tournament finals will be played the night of March 5. Last year Lemois Wires, winner of last year's tournament, headed the college team in the national tournament.

Play in Intra-mural League Postponed

By JERRY HOOVER

Because of the E.C.-Indiana State game, it was decided to postpone this week's Intra-mural play.

On Wednesday, February 18 the first series of games in the round-robin tournament will get under way with Phi Zeta meeting the Newman Club at 6 p.m. At 7 o'clock, the Philo Torpedos will play the Red Horse Ranchers. Acacia will tangle wih the Freshmen at 8 and Pi Epsilon Phi will battle the Tenth Toners at 9.

Captains for the eight teams as released by Bob Haug, chairman of the Athletic Committee, are: Gene Bauer, Phi Zeta; Pete Hillenbrand, Newman Club; Don Folz, Philo Torpedos; Paul Bingham, Acacia; Bob Martin, Red Horse Ranchers; Ralph Weber, Pi Epsilon Phi; Bob Scott, Tenth Toners; and Jack Crews, Freshmen.

Plenty of Competition

Plenty of action is forseen in this newly organized league with many of EC's top athletes slated to play.

Ralph Weber is expected to spark the Pi Epsilon Phi team in their pull for victory. "Red" Walters, former forward for the Aces promises to be a spearhead for the Phi Zeta five. Leading the Torpedoes will be football punt-man Jim Giovanetti and Tom Dillon. The Acacia team will probably find a sparkplug in Bill Adkins and the Red Horse Ramblers, a team to watch, have several outstanding athletes in Norm Heard, Charlie Kendall and Bob Martin.

Intra-murals have been organized several times in the last couple of years in various sports and it is hoped that this league will prove successful enough to continue play in spring sports.

Nash High Man for Aces In Stature, Total Points

By DICK NICHOLSON

Gigantic Jack Nash, towering Purple Ace center, is at six feet nine inches tall, the tallest player ever to perform for the Evansville cagers.

Invaluable under the bankboards for Coach Arad McCutchan's crew, Nash also leads the team in scoring. The big pivot man is a big aid to plays around the keyhole, too.

Leavenworth Ace

A native of Leavenworth, Ind., Jack performed for the Leavenworth high school team before going to the College at Cambellsville, Ky. He played one year there, then enrolled at Evansville where he has performed on the hardwood for three years, developing into a top-notch pivot man.

Nash played with the reserves during his first season with the Aces; coming into his own the next season when Coach McCutchan began his rebuilding regime after the loss of his great team of '51.

The sandy-haired skyscraper has been a consistent scorer for the Purple and White during his two year tenure on the varsity squad, hitting his peak in the scoring column against Oakland City college last year when he rolled in 29 markers, high for the Aces last year. The mark has stood under the heavy fire of the EC squad this year, with Keith Combs' 27 the closest challenge to his high total for a single game.

Second High This Year

His top this year was also against Oakland City college, but falling short of last year's mark. He registered 25 points in the Aces first encounter with the Oaks. His play has been one of the bright spots in the up-and-down Ace attacks, consistently hitting the double figure in point production.

As for the future, Jack would like an offer to play for pay — that is, he would like to turn pro, but only for a couple of years, he asserted. From there, he would like to coach basketball in a secondary school.

His friends say that he caters to horses and would like to be a horse-raiser, selttling down on a farm and raise horses and little "giants" for some coach to build his team around.

Butler Leader In ICC Race; Aces Falter

Evansville College, which two weeks ago was still in the race for the ICC title dropped to fifth place in the conference Saturday following a defeat by Butler.

The Aces' team point total is higher than that of any other team in the conference but in the won and lost column the Purple and White are on the short side of a 3-4 record.

Coach Tony Hinkle's Butler Bulldogs continue to lead the league with four wins and only one setback in five trys. The Bulldogs' closest rival is Indiana State with a 4-3 record. Butler has turned back the Aces twice this season.

In the individual statistics department Evansville has no contenders for honors. Adkins of Indiana State leads the pack in scoring with a 20.3 point per game average and Reed of Butler leads in percentage of field goals completed with a 5.45 record. Bielke has bested the conference rebounders so far, grabbing an average of slightly over 14 per contest.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

A lot has been said about the Aces as a whole, as being in one, but not too much has yet been said about each of these characters individually. I don't know why, for there are certainly some on the team. And that isn't necessarily stated sarcastically as it may seem.

Mr. Fox

There is a lot of speed mixed in with the first five, whoever they may be — and they always seem to be different. The speedy ones include Gene Wilm and Dave Crumbaker who have plenty of speed, and they even have a bit of accuracy at times — except during the few times they get to the foul line. The Aces also have plenty of height — Jack Nash and Carl Neidermeier.

A few of the freshmen are shaping up pretty well, and it looks like some will get to pound the hardwood floor more often in the future games. Frank Healy is a good example of this. With all this they should be doing more winning than losing, or so it seems.

The biggest griper about the officiating at local games, both college and high school, is Dick Anderson, Press sports editor. I wonder what he thought about the game when Crumbaker was fouled out with just four fouls — it's different.

But getting back to the slump that the Aces have caught themselves in, they have dropped from the running in the ICC. In just two very short weeks they dropped, fell, or flopped from next to the top to next to the bottom. And they don't have much chance to show themselves, for there are only two conference games left this season: Valpo and St. Joe.

And beating these teams just won't help the standing much, if they are beaten.

What Price Glory

Dimes 'Buy' Long Title Of Most Popular Prof

By DICK NICHOLSON

In one of the "worst scandals" in Evansville College history, one which students "bought" votes, Norman Long, professor of chemistry, edged Alvin Strickler of the same department in the Most Popular Professor contest, a contest to boost the local March of Dimes campaign.

Judges at the polls, members of Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, made no apparent gestures to keep students from stuffing the ballot boxes with dimes to place their favorite prof at the top.

Dr. Long staved off rally after rally by Strickler-ites, polling four hundred fifty dimes to win the coveted honor. Strickler was followed closely by Miss Emmy Seegmueller, the early leader. Miss Seegmueller was placed at the top by early voters but fell off in the late stages.

Voting was light at the start, but when fraternities and sororities started campaigning, figures rose steadily. Total voting amounted to 2,120 dimes, the proceeds to be used for the local March of Dimes campaign to fight polio.

Professor Long, faculty advisor for the Acacia fraternity, will reign as the "most popular professor" on campus until the next election, to be held next year. Alpha Phi Omega plans to make the event an annual affair.

A plaque was given to the college by APO, with the name of the winner of each contest to be added under that of "The Most Popular Professor on the Evansville College Campus," Professor Norman Long.

Olmsted Assumes Duties Of Public Relations Head

Following the resignation of Harold Van Winkle, former public relations director, a program of decentralization of his duties is being carried out by Ralph Olmsted, business manager.

Mr. Ralph Olmsted was asked to assume the role of acting-director of the public relations department by Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, and he has distributed the work to several persons.

Miss Emmy Seegmueller, journalism instructor, will be in charge of the fine arts division, including art, drama, Vesper services, and convocations. Evening college will be handled by the evening college staff. Working on the College Catalog and Announcements will be Dean Edgar McKown, Mr. Clifford Kraft, alumni secretary, will do student promotion and gather the alumni bulletin. Mr. Gene Robinson, athletic business manager, will be responsible for sports news.

Regular day to day news coverage, social news, cooperation with papers, for social events, and pictures will be in the hands of Mrs. Evelyn Nussmeier, assistant to the public relations head.

With regard to special events, such as the Science Fair, the persons in charge will have to assume a great deal of the general promotional work, but the public relations office will co-operate in handling the publicity for press and radio and in direct mail contact.

Six Compete For Queen Honors

Dr. Pierce Will Be Principal Speaker Religious Week

The Rev. Dr. Robert B. Pierce, pastor of the largest Protestant church in Indiana, will be the speaker as the college conducts its Religious Emphasis program from Sunday thru Wednesday.

Beginning with a Vesper Service on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the program will continue Tuesday evening and possibly Wednesday morning, according to Dr. Mearl Culver, director of religious life.

Capacity Crowds

Dr. Pierce is Pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church in Indianapolis, and the capacity crowds, averging between 1200 and 1400 persons per Sunday, bespeak his ability and effectiveness from the pulpit. He has spoken widely at church meetings and conferences; and his lectures are in constant demand on college and university campuses.

Born in Hancock, Michigan in 1917, Dr. Pierce is the descendant from a long line of ministers. His father was active member of the Methodist ministry for 45 years. His grandfather and great-grandfather were also ministers of the Methodist Church — grandfather having served on a circuit of 27 churches.

Harriet Vivian White of Evanston, Ill. became Mrs. Pierce in 1938. Mrs. Pierce is a graduate of Northwestern University as is her husband.

Elder in Methodist Church

Dr. Pierce received his BS and MA degrees from Northwestern, his Bachelor of Divinity from Garrett Biblical Institute and Doctorate of Divinity from Union College. He was ordained a Deacon in the Methodist Church at Freeport, Ill. He was ordained an Elder in the Methodist Church in 1942.

During his years in the ministry Dr. Pierce has had as his pastorates: Harding Methodist Church, Harding, Ill.; North Shore Methodist Church, Glencoe, Ill.; and, at present, Broadway Methodist Church in Indianapolis which he has served since 1949.

Dr. Pierce has recently returned from traveling in the Middle East.

Military Ball Date Set

Ray Anthony and his orchestra will provide the music at the Second Annual Military Ball at the Armory Thursday, March 5, it has been announced by Don Rausch, general chairman of the dance. The top-flight band was contracted early this week after several weeks of negotiations, Mr. Rausch said. Tickets for the formal, but not-corsage, affair will sell for $3.80 per couple. The Evansville AFROTC is sponsoring the dance.

Sorority Plans Aid For Needy Children

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority members have recently begun a campaign to aid needy grade school students.

Several of the AOPi's education majors practice teaching in the local grade schools became aware that some of the children in these schools do not even have warm clothing to wear to school.

In the past all of their philanthroptic work has been done in Tennessee and Kentucky, but now they have decided to attempt to help improve conditions existing here in Evansville.

In their weekly meetings the girls collect all the loose change they have. The first $10 they collect will be matched with $10 from the husband of an AOPi alum.

Dean Wilson is making arrangements to help the children through the public school principals.

Campus Lovelies Seek Crown

Pictured above are four basketball queen aspirants. Resting on the stone ledge in front of the Union building are: Bess Mullett, Frances Coleman, Pat Edwards and Shirley Balding. Sharon Meier and Mary Jean Frohbeiter are the other two candidates seeking the crown, but were unable to meet with the photographer. The queen will be crowned at the EC-Illinois State Normal game Feb. 20.

Kampus Kapers Participants Hold First Group Rehearsal

Nine organizations presented skits for approval for the 1953 Kampus Kapers to Miss Kay Bondus, social director of the Union, and Miss Doris Kirk, Union director, in the first group rehearsal last Sunday afternoon in the Great Hall.

Organizations displaying their skits last week were Beta Alpha Kappa, International Relations Club, Beta Sigma Omicron, Chi Omega, Phi Mu, INCA, Alpha Omicron Pi and Phi Zeta.

Skits represented ranged from musical ones to satirizing Shakespeare's works. The skits of Chi Omego and the Freshman class were selected as the ones to send to a meeting of the East Side Kiwanis, Feb. 19. Winners in Kampus Kapers will receive a trophy donated by an Evansville firm.

Proceeds from Kampus Kapers will be used to purchase a television set to be installed in the Union building. This will be added to the amount already set aside in a fund for the set.

Next group rehearsal is Thursday, Feb. 19, at 8 p. m. in the Great Hall. Any group failing to appear for this rehearsal will be dropped from the show.

Dates for the show have been set for Feb. 23-24. Tickets are 60 cents and may be obtained from anyone working with Kampus Kapers.

Seated above are four members of the "card-playing" committee as they have come to be known by. A special committee appointed by the administrative board last year to study the 2 p.m. ruling in the Union Bldg., they will make their report known to the student body Monday, 10 a.m., in the Great Hall.

Queen Reigns At EC-Illinois Game Feb. 20

One out of six girls nominated by five sororities and the Independent students will be elected basketball queen next Friday on the second floor of the Union Building. Candidates for the crown are: Frances Coleman, Alpha Kappa Alpha; Bess Mullett, Alpha Omicron Pi; Mary Jean Frohbieter, Beta Sigma Omicron; Sharon Meier, Chi Omega; Patricia Edwards, Phi Mu; and Shirley Balding, INCA.

At a meeting last Friday morning of representatives from all sororities and fraternities, campaign practices for the election were discussed. It was decided that each nominee will be limited to five posters to be displayed for publicity. Newspaper advertisements will not be submitted after this issue of The Crescent. The purpose of these new rulings is to cut expenses for the organizations backing the candidates.

Also stressed was the desire for groups to refrain from forming coalitions to back one particular candidate.

Foreign Student

Miss Coleman, the AKA hopeful, is a foreign student from Liberia, West Africa. She is studying to become a laboratory technician.

Mrs. Mullett, the AOPi entry, is a junior in escondary education. She is the rush chairman for the sorority. Active in dramatics, this candidate also holds an office in Women's Council.

The Beta Sig nominee is a senior music major. Miss Frohbieter holds offices in Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music honorary fraternity.

Veep Runs

The Chi O's chose their vice-president to be their candidate. Miss Meier is a senior majoring in elementary education.

The Phi Mu candidate is a senior also. Miss Edwards is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, and Newman Club.

Alpha Phi Mu Prexy

Miss Balding, who is supported by the INCA's, is president of Alpha Phi Mu, honorary scholastic fraternity for freshman and sophomore women. She is active in dramatics, is a member of a Union Board committee and the SGA publications committee.

The queen will receive her honors at the Evansville College-Illinois State Normal basktball game February 21. She and her court will reign over the second half of the game.

Late News Breaks

Because of complications in scheduling, it has been necessary to postpone the mid-winter choir and band concert, it has been announced by Wesley Shepard, co-head of the music department. The concert, which was originally planned for Feb. 16, will be presented March 1 in the Central High School auditorium.

The Campus Notables' and Campus Leaders' Nomination Committee submitted their list to the faculty committee early this week, it has been announced by Walter Prickett, committee chairman. The entire faculty will take part in electing Campus Notables and Campus Leaders not later than the first faculty meeting in March.

The Association for Childhood Education will meet in room A-305 this morning at 11:45 o'clock, it has been announced by Clarence Werzner, publicity chairman.

New officers for Chi Omega social fraternity were elected Tuesday evening at the group's regular weekly meeting. Show Up Or Shut Up

Monday morning at 10 o'clock, the special committee on card playing will make its report to the student assembly in the Great Hall. The assembly is not only to let students hear the committee's report, but it is the place where students can add their own comments and opinions on the card playing issue.

It was student comment against the present ruling that prompted the SGA to hold a special assembly, and brought on the appointment of the committee.

Since the SGA, acting on the request of the student body that they are elected to reprcsent, have made Monday morning's assembly possible, it is the responsibility of the student body to attend and support them.

If you are one of those who complained about the 2 o'clock ruling — who are responsible for this assembly being held — who really desire to see something done about the present ruling — then you should attend.

Too Long Neglected

Many of us are neglecting an important section in the development of our characters by omitting the religious aspect of our lives. We have the misconception that science and our intellects contradict, or, at least, make unnecessary the idea of religion. Consequently, by thinking in this manner, we close our minds to a vital aspect in our lives.

Sunday, Feb. 15, marks the opening of Religious Emphasis Week on this campus. At a Vesper Service conducted in the Great Hall, Dr. Robert B. Pierce, noted religious lecturer, will begin his series of talks here.

Vesper Services have long been noted for their lack of student attendance. It may be that the misconception has been spread that anyone who is, in any way, concerned with religion is a dull speaker, and a long-faced bore.

However, anyone who heard the Rev. Mr. Virgil Kraft speak at the last Religious Emphasis program held last fall knows that this is not necessarily true. The men who are brought here to conduct these vesper lectures are among the finest speakers in the country.

Naturally, it is to be supposed that their subject matter will be on a higher intellectual plane than that of some speaker at a political rally. Also quite naturally, there will be something said that will require a little thought to digest. But this, after all, is the reason that any true student comes to college — to learn, to think, to grow mentally.

Why Not 52 Brotherhood Weeks?

Next week is Brotherhood Week. During this week all over the United States men will be asked to recognize that all men are created equal. We in America are constantly reserving certain weeks of the year in recognition of fights against certain evils. We set aside a fire prevention week in which we are very careful not to start fires. The thing we never stop to realize is that a fire during any other week is just as bad as a fire during Fire Prevention Week.

The same is true for Brotherhood Week. Why must we set apart a certain week and say, "During this week we are all brothers"? If a man has been a brother to all men during every other week he will be one during this week. If he hasn't, why would he change for just one week? Even if he did, what would be accomplished? Brotherhood of man is one of our highest ideals and cannot be confined to one week. It must be observed every day of every week in the year.

Card Playing Assembly MONDAY

Children's Theatre Has "Huck Finn"

Mark Twain's immortal "Huckleberry Finn" will be presented by the Evansville College Thespians at Bosse High School on March first, according to Howard Hill, assistant professor of drama and speech.

The Thespians will dramatize Twain's classic for the Children's Theatre Incorporated.

Hill To Direct

The stage version of the story will be centered around the last part of the novel with Mr. Hill acting as narrator to fill in the plot. All action takes place in the farm house of Silas Phelps, Tom Sawyer's uncle.

Twain fans will be sure to recognize the "story within the story." It concerns Huck Finn's efforts to hide the slave, Jim, his friend and traveling companion. A case of mistaken identity, coupled with the bizarre methods used by Huck and Tom to conceal Jim from the Phelps family will provide the Thespians their tools to work with.

Rundell Has Lead

Huckleberry Finn will be portrayed by Bob Rundell with Joe Emerson taking the part of Tom Sawyer. John Moss will be cast as Jim and the Schmidt brothers, Bob and Al, will play the King and the Duke.

Other members of the cast will be Susie Chenoweth as Mary Jane; Wendell Long as Tom's Uncle Silas; Barbara Moore as Emmeline Grangerford; Marilyn Klienman as Becky Thatcher and Anne Stocks as Aunt Sally.

Regulating Group To Study Drives

A committee, to co-ordinate and regulate all fund drives on the campus, has been set up to study past practices and recommend future ways of conducting a campus fund drive.

The student council appointed three members as did the faculty to meet and discuss ways of improving the conduct of fund raising drives and to recommend to the faculty and student council things which should be allowed and those practices not considered good. Also to be considered is to be the possible combining of several of these drives into one gigantic effort, thereby cutting down the number of times a student has to donate.

"This is an educational institution and fund drives have no place in the classrooms as has been the practice in the past. This committee is being set up to recommend rules to curb these fund raising tactics of the past," stated Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college.

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

The state of the union message of President Eisenhower brings to our mind the curious dilemna of the far east, in fact you might say it is a Chinese puzzle. From all reports, we now hear that Nationalist China is free, or free to operate against the mainland anyway. The steel wall of American naval power has been withdrawn from Formosan waters. The question is, have we been protecting Formosa from the Communists or have we been protecting the Communists from the "might"? of the Nationalist forces on Formosa? We may expect an answer to this question in the coming months.

Communists Might Withdraw

Our action of withdrawal of the Seventh Fleet has been justified by arguments that state that the Communists might withdraw troops from the Korean theatre of operation. This threat might well be met with general mobilization of troops within communist China. Thus, there might be little effect on the number of Chinese "volunteers?" fighting in Kobreak the paper bag. His naval power was lost to him through disaffection in the later days of his mainland campaigns. Now that the dragon China is free to roam the waters between the Chinese mainland and Formosa, how is he going to do it, swim? If the nationalists plan any amphibious assault on China proper, who will furnish naval support and air cover for such an operation? The nationalist state that they only want equipment. Looks like it still might be the good Uncle across the broad ocean.

Dated nationalist airpower from Formosa at least might keep down so called "neutral?" shipping carrying contraband and war material to the Chinese communists. Unless the United States has presented Nationalist China with aircraft of the latest types and designs the Nationalist pilots are in for a rough time when they meet the Russian-built MIGs of thc Peoples Republic.

Paint Running On Picture

The paint has run on the picture that was so beautifully painted by some people of the great Chinese liberator. Just how welcome will the Nationalists be in China proper? Among the peoples of China proper today are a group who had nothing in the days of post war China. With the communists some have gained material possessions. How willing will they be to give them up? Then there is the group that will be shot as traitors to the Chinese nationalist government. This group has a lot to lose with the return of Chiang Kai-Shek.

Situation Sounds Simple

The newspapers, which most of us take time to read once in awhile, make things sound so simple. The nationalists are just going to breeze home to the China mainland and be welcomed with open arms in every village. The nationalist government will find friends at every turn and everyone will live happily ever after.

Potts Emerson

Will the man with the shaved head on the beach looking towards home, even if he can get to that home, enjoy the success of the little corporal from Elba who also returned to his land when it was in the hands of a conqueror, or is all this just a wind from the China Sea blowing through the bamboo curtain?

College Receives Gift In Compton Bequests

Mrs. Ella McNeely Compton has bequeathed the bulk of her estate to Evansville College to be used, the will specifies, as the college board deems best.

The amount of Mrs. Compton's estate has been estimated at $28,000. The college will receive the remainder after individual bequests have been bestowed. This amount is expected to be approximately $16,000.

Mrs. Compton, 88, died Jan. 29. She was formerly co-owner of the former Evansville Journal.

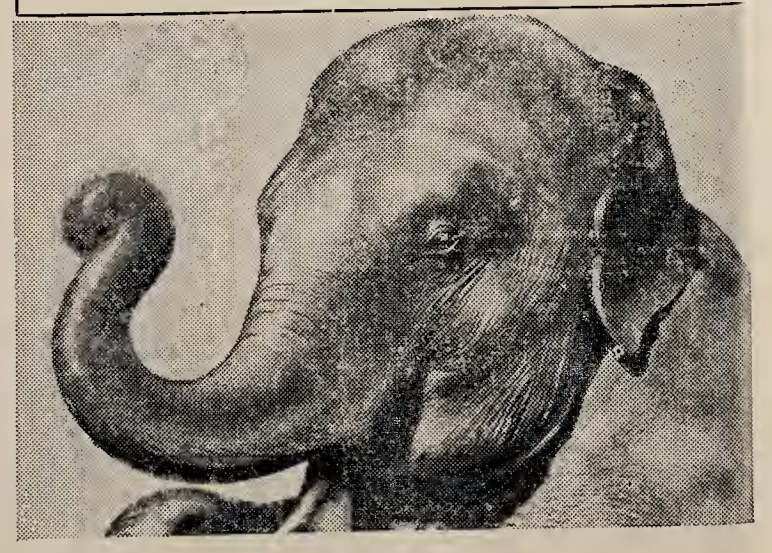
J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test



"HURRMPH"! trumpeted Sheedy, "What a elephant time to have my hair act up. Might as well break my date and get trunk!" Luckily he was overheard by a Pachydermitologist who said, "Tusk, tusk! You've got a messy big top from pouring those buckets of water on your head. Get out of your ivory tower and visit any toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, "Your Hair's Best Friend". Non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil, and now all the girls tent to him more than ever. So why don't you try Wildroot Cream-Oil? It only costs peanuts —29¢. And once you try it, you'll really have a circus.

There are 16 judges who have been obtained from all parts of the surrounding areas. Judges for the piano events will be J. Clees McKray, DePauw University, and Ralph Waterman, Evansville College. Agnes Davis, Indiana University, and Genevieve Erickson, Evansville College will hear the vocal events.

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

Hello there, and I do say.

Ron Kemmeling put Bob Green and Rod Clutter into a state of shock. On Jan. 30, 1953, he purchased a whole tankful of 21-cent per gallon gasoline.

Did you hear about John Beard? He calls the Schmidt brothers Big and Little Bull.

Pricket

Just for the record: In last week's effort a rather important (in my opinion) got left out in the part concerning the card playing question. It should have read, "A good attendance at the assembly will definitely show students are sincere in saying, 'That rule was made to take care of a situation that no longer exists. Today's students are different from the ex-veterans of the late 1940's.'"

Remember, staying away from the assembly Monday will be a vote against changing the card playing rule on campus. Attendance will be a vote in favor of changing the rule.

Student opinions voiced at the assembly will be recorded by Ethel Hamilton, SGA secretary, and will accompany the committee suggestion to the Administrative Board. Please remember this assembly is about card playing, only.

C-a-t, Cat

Also for the record: Mentioned in last week's column was Peyton Zimmerman Peebles, not Peoples. That's P as in Peebles, E as in Peebles, E as in Peebles, B as in honey, L as in Peebles, E as in Peebles and S as in Peebles.

A copy of the Indiana 1942 anti-slug law has been posted on the Office Building Coke machine. Tch. Tch.

That little Goffer Ben Arnon was introducing last week is Akiva's brother.

Jim York has reportedly quit school. An era has ended.

You've heard of the big head? Beau Brummel had a big-headed nose Friday last. Resembled a ping pong ball.

Noticed the sparse population of the Indian at 9 a.m. these days? You don't get scalped there.

The favorite intra-mural team name of other schools hasn't made an E.C. debut yet—the Bustards.

Booth in the Indian?

Sad department: Mrs. McGregor no longer gets to see students. She's jammed into a little office somewhere. Once upon a time she knew more abou the students than anybody else on campus.

Look alikes: Ron Forester and Herman Critser. Ron has a part, but Herman's crew-cut.

Mrs. Clifford told Barbara Atkins a joke Feb. 3 in the lobby of the Ad building. Must have been a good one. They belly-laughed.

Annonymous: The English department wing in the Office Building is the "English channel."

Bob and Jeannette Yates Covington have an heir, Ronald Robert.

Elda Clayton Patton

(Editor's Note: Elda Clayton Patton was graduated from Evansville College in 1942; worked in the office of censorship as a translator during World War II; and was assigned to the American Embassy in Buenos Aires, Argentina following the war. Since then Miss Patton has obtained her M.A. from Columbia University. In the following article, Miss Patton describes an occurrence which took place during her European trip last winter.)

What shall I say of the myriad memories that rush to mind? Shall I describe the emotion of landing upon European shores, the wonder of seeing the Coliseum just as pictured in my Latin book, the awe of seeing Queen Elizabeth in her first public appearance, and Churchill, too? No, I'll tell you of Cordoba, Spain.

The train was cold and the ten hour ride from Madrid would have seemed longer had not the conductor arranged for two Spaniards with the same destination to join me. They had no hesitancy in speaking to me of the political situation, with the compartment door closed.

Perhaps my knowing their language gave them confidence. They lamented the fact that the UN had caused the diplomatic representatives to be withdrawn, saying that such had only provoked more dictatorial behavior on the part of Franco. They also were against the USA's supplying arms to Franco in the present crisis.

New Friends

In Cordoba one of the companions of the train invited me to meet some of his friends. Winding down the quaint narrow streets, flanked by flower filled patios, I wondered if I'd be able to find my way back to my hotel. Never had I sensed such a fascination from the beginning for a new city.

Sooner than I wished we had reached a dimly lit room lined with wine casks. A group of men was seated around a black curtained table. Underneath the table, I learned later, were big copper bowls, braziers, of glowing charcoal embers. This was the heating system as used since the days the Arabs entered Spain in the 8th century.

Cross Section of City

Here was a cross section of the city — a lawyer, poet, teacher, writer, an artist, a stock breeder and a bull fighter, a novice, who had just returned from the Canaries with only a gash on his ear visible. Never had I met so many interesting personalities at one time. I knew I'd spend all my evenings here if invited. I was and each night our conversations lasted longer.

I had found much in Cordoba — the most exquisite example of Moorish architecture in the whole world, the Mesquita, majestically standing since the 9th century, a Roman bridge built long before, an inn described by Cervantes in "Don Quixote." These and other fine artistic treasures would long be remembered but most of all I'd always remember the deep pleasure I felt when asked to write my name on a wine cask and told I'd always be a member of their little evening group.

Your Name May Not Be Mud - If You're Careful

By BILL ADKINS

Today is the day when the strong tremble, the weak stay home in bed and the Sun comes up cautiously.

On Friday the 13th, life seems insecure even to those who claim they are not superstituious.

Barring the bad luck of typographical errors, these words are being read, but probably with a grain of salt. Don't spill it. Old lady luck can't be pushed too far.

Useless To Study

Don't study for a test today. The odds are you'll flunk. Besides, there's a good chance that the professor will have an accident before class.

The unusual amount of bad luck that occurs on Friday the 13th is not caused merely by the pressure of overworked imaginations. Read here the experiences of an old friend of ours.

Charlie Mud was a little dense. His foggy mind just couldn't grasp ordinary things such as one way streets or cigarette machines, but he was a whiz on superstitions. The power of the number 13 filled him with admiration and fear.

Charlie Ahead of Himself

Charlie didn't pay much attention to ordinary dates so it was little wonder that he got a day ahead of himself. When he got up one Thursday morning, he noticed with a start that his desk calendar was turned to Friday, the 13th.

Answering a knock at his door, he found a Western Union boy. "Sign here," said the boy.

"No dice," said Charlie. He wasnt' going to sign for any telegram on Friday the 13th. The messenger boy was familiar with Charlie's beliefs so he left.

When Friday dawned, Charlie was convinced that it was Saturday, so he went after his telegram.

As he stepped out the door a tree fell on his head, causing a large lump and a small case of amnesia.

Charlie's name was Mud, but he couldn't remember it, let alone sign it, so he never knew what great news that telegram contained. And (ha, ha) neither do you.

EC Professors Attend Big Meeting in Chicago

Dr. Leland Moon, Miss Wilberta Edgington and Miss Lucile Jones of the education department left yesterday to attend the annual meeting of the Association for Student Teaching in Chicago.

Held at the Congress Hotel in Chicago, the meeting will be attended by teachers from numerous states including Minnesota, California, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Wyoming, Kentucky, Louisiana, Illinois, Michigan, Florida and many others.

The teachers meet each year with their colleagues from neighboring states to discuss the improvement of teacher education.

The 1953 theme for the annual meeting will be "Implications of Curriculum Change for Teacher Education."

Phi Zeta Actives Sponsor Parties

Phi Zeta fraternity has initiated a schedule of parties to strengthen intra-fraternity relationships. The parties are weekly affairs and are scheduled for Friday nights.

The purpose of the parties is to promote better understanding of the fraternity between active members and pledges. Card-playing, dancing, and dining highlight the parties, which are held at the various clubs in the Evansville area.

Members alternate as sponsors of the parties. John Moening will sponsor tonight's party, which is a chicken dinner for members, pledges, friends of the fraternity, and their dates. The party will be held at the West Haven Gun Club.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

The Aces have their ups and downs, it seems. But the little scale is pretty well bent in the downward position. Since last week they have tilted one way and then the other, losing to Indiana State, 80-65, and winning from Valpo, 72-68.

"and drives for the basket" . . . for

Losing to Indiana State couldn't be lamented too long and too hard. The Sycamores have been a little angry toward the Aces since they had their first meeting. Then the Aces knocked Indiana State from next to the top conference; they have been waiting for an opportunity to avenge themselves, and they did.

Also, the high ground boys can play a pretty high scoring game in their gym with all the lights out, and, incidently, that is where the game was played.

The free admission to this out-of-town game turned out to be fairly successful, according to the number of EC students there. I think that attendance at these games can be greatly stimulated by the same means in the future. If it's free, it's more attractive.

The Valpo game was also expected, or rather, hoped for. Valpo has been on the skids all season — lower than Evansville on the ICC ladder from the very beginning this season.

As far as the Aces and ups and downs go, it can be safely assumed that this is another building year, and a lot of building has been done.

Only two members of the squad graduate this year, Combs and Nash. And there doesn't seem to be any disention among the ranks. If this is true and if the draft doesn't blow too hard around here, next year should prove to be much lighter and brighter for EC students during this season.

Coming back to the present time, Evansville will probably finish in third place in the ICC. The two teams between them and that spot, Ball State and St. Joe, still must overcome some obstacles over which they are expected to stumble. Evansville has already stumbled over them.

EC To Have 3 In Tournament

Eight quarter finalists in the billiard tourney held at the Union this week have become eligible to compete for a place on the cue-stick trio that will represent Evansville College in the National Telephonic Tourney, Thursday, March 5th.

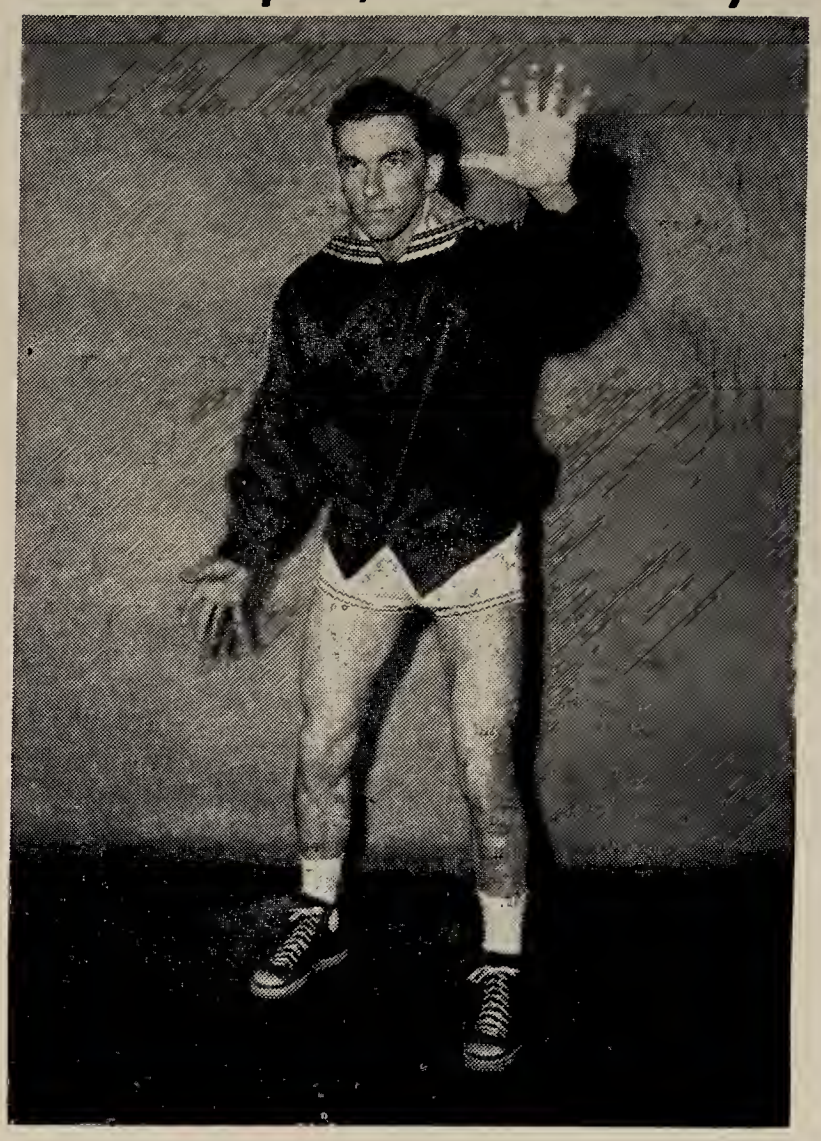
Jim Jensen and Fred Kelly, finalists in the local tournament, will receive trophies for their efforts but will have to buck their previous opponents again to gain a berth on the college team.

George Dockery, Bob Martin, Bob Payne, Keith Combs, Herman Thomas and Howard Lottes conclude the list of aspirants to national competition.

The National Telephonic Tourney is set up on a district basis. Schools in each district are put on one telephone line and results of play are relayed to the National Headquarters for final tabulation.

Miss Doris Kirk, Union Director, urges students to attend the Evansville portion of the tourney. Halftime and final results will be posted on a blackboard in the game room.

Combs, 'Little Giant' of Ace Squad, Relies On Speed, Ball-Theft Ability



By DICK NICHOLSON

"Driving hard for the basket is Combs" . . . "Combs steals the ball those who prefer the radio to crowded basketball arenas, these words can, more than likely, be heard many times during the evening.

Keith Combs, a stellar performer while at Boonville High School, has been one of Coach Arad McCutchan's mainstays for the past two seasons.

Being the shortest member of the net squad has been no handicap to the hardworking senior. Although only 5'10" tall, Combs grabs his share of the rebounds and more than his share of stray passes, as well as being the second highest scorer for the Aces.

Combs is the only player for the hardwood quintet that has hit the double figures in scoring for a single game. He tallied 27 points against Murray in the Aces first encounter with the Thoroughbreds, and stole the show at Owensboro as he sparked the Aces to their second win over Kentucky Wesleyan, while scoring 25 markers.

The diminutive speedster, who doesn't let the ball and chain he acquired two years ago when he took the vows of matrimony slow him down, set an Evansville College record when he connected on fifteen free throws in twenty-one attempts against Murray State. The old record was 12 set by Bob Sakel in 1951.

Few opponents have been able to stop the fiery guard in his drives for the hoop, but as was his trouble last year, Combs has trouble staying in games because of the five personal foul rule. Could he play the entire games for the Aces, the EC opponents would be driven to distraction trying to keep the ball away from the ball hawking antics of the fiery guard.

Hoopsters To Play Washington Bruins, St. Joseph Pumas

Evansville's Purple Aces will try for their ninth victory tomorrow night against Washington of St. Louis at the Bruin's home gym.

The hot-shooting Washington crew handed the Aces a 74-72 trouncing earlier in the season, hitting 25 out of 50 shots for a .500 average.

Monday night the Aces will play the last road game of the year at the home of the St. Joseph Pumas; it will also be the final ICC game for the Aces this season. The Aces hold one win over the Pumas this year, a 69-63 victory on the Armory floor.

Misunderstanding

Gene Robinson, athletic business manager, announced that all students who paid to get into the Indiana State game at Terre Haute may receive a refund by calling at the athletic office.

The Aces dropped their fifth ICC contest to the Indiana State Sycamores 80-65 at Terre Haute. The Evansville squad played good ball for the first quarter but fell apart during the second period and were never in the ball game from that point on. Frank Healy and Al Lechner led the futile Ace attack with 10 points apiece.

Start of Win Streak

Evansville moved back into the win column last Saturday night with a victory over the Valparaiso Crusaders at Valpo. The Aces avenged an earlier defeat by beating the Crusaders 72-68 and dropped their opponents into last place in the ICC race. Frank Healy, flashy freshman guard from Montgomery, Ind., again led the Purple and White squad with 13 points.

The game was hotly contested from the opening whistle and the biggest lead was five points held by the Macmen in the third quarter. The game was a complete reversal of the Sycamore game with all the Aces playing good ball.

The election is today in the Activities Room of the Union from 9 a.m.-3 p.m., and the girl receiving the most votes from the student body will be crowned queen at the EC-Illinois State Normal game tomorrow night. Jack Nash, Ace center, will do the honors.

Card Playing Committee Reports in Assembly

Approximately 80 students unanimously approved the card playing rule committee's recommendation to ammend the 2 p.m. no card playing rule, in an assembly Monday in he Great Hall.

Previously the rule enforced, prevented students from playing cards until after 2 p.m. This aroused some comment and resulted in the formulation of a committee, by the Administrative Board, to study and make a recomendation, in the form of a report, to the board, after its acceptance by the students. Members of the committee are students; Walter Prickett, chairman, Shirley Balding, Charles Shelton, and faculty members, Miss Lucille Jones, head of the department of education, Dr. Wade David, head of the history department, and Daniel Boughner, English professor.

Popular Patio

They suggested in their report to the students, "That card playing be permitted after 10:45 a.m. in the Patio, and nowhere else on the campus."

"That if the Administrative Board has knowledge of gambling on cards is occuring in the Patio, the card playing priviledges for the entire campus be suspended for a three-month period. Upon the second infraction during the school year, the length of the suspension will be determined by the Administrative Board.

After the presentation of the report the students present were asked to raise questions or voice opinions concerning the report. One point which brought particular comment was, "Why the 10:45 time limit?" Mr. Prickett, chairman, explained that his time was chosen as a compromise to the boards specification and with it the proposal would stand a better chance of passing.

Board Responsible

Also of interest to the students was, "What type of disciplinary actions would be taken against violators?" Mr. Prickett, further explained that gamblers would be dealt with by the Administrative Board and that the board would have final judgment as to the punishment given any violator. The maximum penalty is expulsion from school.

The Administrative Board met yesterday afternoon, at 3:45 to act upon the proposal. The meeting was open to students but publication deadlines made it impossible to include the results in this issue.

Phi Zeta Hell Week on Now

Tonight will be a busy evening for the pledges who will be required to perform for the actives on the downtown streets, and later take a healthful, invigorating journey through the country on the traditional "road trip."

Tomorrow afternoon has been designated "rough house," and ceremonies will close Sunday evening with a formal initiation dinner in the club room of the Kokies.

Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity celebrated their Hell Week last week, and Acacia has not announced its plans as yet.

Cadets Book 'Top Band in Nation' for Military Ball

Ray Anthony and his dance band will play for the second annual Military Ball in the Indiana National Guard Armory March 5. Anthony's 18 piece ensemble, with five vocalists, is currently rated "top band in the nation" by Billboard Magazine, announced Don Rausch, general chairman of the ball.

Election of a new honorary colonel to succeed Billie Jean Miller will take place in the Great Hall at 10 a.m., Feb. 23. The entire ROTC corps will assemble in the Great Hall and all the girls in the junior class will be presented to them. The junior girl receiving the greatest number of cadets votes will be the honorary colonel for 1953-54. Runner ups will be her staff members, replacing Miss Miller's staff of Natalie Joest, Douglass Rowe, and Joyce Wiggers.

No Corsage

All college students and alumni are invited to attend the ball, and guests may attend when with an alumnus or a student, Mr. Rausch stated. He also pointed out that although the ball is formal, there is a "no corsage" rule.

Tickets for the ball may be obtained now from any ROTC cadet, and a ticket booth will also be set up in the Union Building in the near future.

Over 250 couples attended the Military Ball last year and the ball committee expects an ever larger turn out this year. They are pleased to have been able to get Ray Anthony's band, which will be making a swing through the Midwest, playing at Vanderbilt, Duke, Kentucky University, and will go from here to Indiana University and Notre Dame.

Rausch Heads Committee

The general committee for the ball is headed by Don Rausch. Other members are: Ed Goebel, Bob Green, Paul Phelps, Robert Carter, John Meisenheimer, Kenneth Lensing, Charles Calhoun, Paul Kinney, and Arthur Griggs.

'Above and Beyond' Honored by ROTC

Members of the ROTC band and special drill team participated in a parade sponsored by the Air Force Association in honor of the opening of "Above and Beyond" at Loew's Theatre Feb. 12.

"Above and Beyond," a movie based on the dropping of the first atomic bomb on Japan during World War II, was filmed with the cooperation of the Air Force.

The ROTC units paraded from Second and Court Street to Main, and down Main Street to Loew's.

Help Wanted

If you haven't pre-registered yet for the spring quarter, today is the last day to do so.

And incidently, here's a thought to keep in mind while you're signing up for the spring term courses. The Crescent is in need of a photographer.

This is a good paying job, pays four quarter hours of credit in the English department per quarter. Class hours are from from 10:45 to 11:45 a.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. You will enjoy pleasant working conditions under editor Ralph Weber and faculty adviser Emmy Seegmueller.

There are also a few openings left for staff writers on the Crescent. Pay and working conditions are the same as above. Or if you only want three hours credit, there are openings on the LinC.

Late News Breaks

The Engineering Club will be the guest of the experimental engineering department at International Harvester next Wednesday evening, it has been announced by Gene Glackman. The evening's program will consist of a dinner meeting plus a tour through the plant and experimental laboratories. Reservations may be made with Mr. William Hartsaw, Mr. Leon Dunning, or Mr. Glackman and should be received by tomorrow.

The annual production of Philo Blackouts will be presented March 30 and 31, it has been announced by Mary Fox, fraternity president. This will be the fourth consecutive year for the variety show. Danny Stiles and Ken Curtin are supervising "Blackouts of 1953."

Entry blanks are being sent out to all high schools within a 75 mile radius of the college for the annual Science Fair April 11, it has been announced by Mrs. Evelyn Nussmeier, assistant to the director of public relations. The Fair is sponsored jointly by Evansville College and The Evansville Press.

You Had Your Chance

The student body's poor representation at the card playing assembly late Monday proved that they want no voice in the administration policies of the college.

Close to two hundred students signed a petition last November to change the present rule on card-playing on the campus. Last Monday about 80 students showed up for an assembly which would have proved to the Administrative board that the students were interested in the college had there been a good turnout.

If the suggestion from the committee is accepted by the board, the studens can feel very lucky, for it will be because of the efforts of a very few rather than of the majority. It seems that it is a very simple thing to sign your name to a paper, but when it takes a little sacrifice, like leaving that cup of coffee or a hen session, it takes a little of something that is commonly called guts. This was sorely lacking last Monday.

If anyone is to be complimented it is the committee which gave so much of its time for so few grateful students. Quite a few students will say, "nice job" to those people as they pass by, but very few will go out of their way to say thanks.

Dr. McKown To Give Speech At Annual Meeting of NABI

Tonight Dr. Edgar M. McKown will deliver the presidential address to the National Association of Biblical Instructors (Midwestern Section), in Chicago. Dr. McKown will speak on "Guilt Consciousness in the Old Testament."

The material to be used in Dr. McKown's address is the outgrowth of his work in preparing a manuscript on the Old Testament. Dr. McKown said that he hopes the work will be used at some future date as the text for a college course in the Old Testament.

Fourth Year As Executive

Dean McKown is president of the Midwestern Section of the National Association of Biblical Instructors. This past year had been Dr. McKown's fourth year as an executive of this section of the NABI. In past years he has served the association as vice-president two times and also as the chairman of the program committee.

This year Dr. McKown is to preside over the entire meeting of the association, which is to be held at the McCormick Theological Seminary, in Chicago. The NABI meets annually to hear the reading of papers written by members of the association.

Varied Topics

Many and varied topics are covered in these papers; some of the subjects to be covered at this meeting are: "Science versus Scientism" by Tyler Thompson, Garrett Biblical Institute; "The Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament," by Herbert G. May, Oberlin Graduate School, and "The Weekday Chapel," by Hardigg Sexton, Culver Military Academy.

The associational meetings which last through Friday and Saturday will close with a dinner in the Seminary Commons.

Conduct in Drives To Be Considered

A student - faculty committee has been set up to study past practices and recommend future ways of conducting a campus fund drive.

Faculty appointees to this committee are Miss Agnes Tompkins, Dr. Alvin Strickler and Dr. James E. Morlock. Miss June Wallace, Mr. Clarence Werzner, and Mr. Alfred Spillman were appointed by the student council as the student representatives on this investigating committee.

This committee is to consider the possibility of combining several of the drives on campus into one gigantic effort. The Community Chest campaign was pointed to as an example of what is going to be considered for campus drives. This would cut down the number of times students would be asked to donate.

They are to recommend to the faculty and student council things which should be allowed and those practices not considered good.

I. R. Told Response Poor at Assembly

A controversial issue on this campus for several months has been that of card-playing. On Monday the student-faculty composed committee submitted its report. The Inquiring Reporter received the following opinions to the questions, "WHAT WAS YOUR OPINION OF THE CARD-PLAYING ASSEMBLY AND THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT?"

Roberta Becker — There seems to be no real interest on the part of most students concerning th card-playing. Evidently few people play cards and those few haven't been too ..... about the out-come of the committee's proposal — which I think is fair and should be passed by the administration. Surely there are many students who will play cards if this proposal is passed, but where have they been?

Jim Schreiber — I am in favor with the proposals submitted by the committee, since the earlier rule at 2 o'clock made it impossible for many students, especially those who work, to ever play.

Gil Bumb — Although I don't think that I will ever have time to play cards on the campus, I don't see anything wrong with it if kept "above boards." I believe the committee has given due consideration on all phases of the problem and I trust its recommendation is the best that can be hoped for at the present.

Norma Robertson — The committee presented a very good report, which — I think — should be accepted. Students should be given the opportunity to prove that they are responsible for their own actions. But the question is, where were all of the interested students? Very few were in the Great Hall.

Walt Prickett — The report was the best the committee could offer. However, attendance was not equal to the number that signed the petition requesting reconsideration of the card-playing question.

Loren Maxwell — Of the probable 50 card-players on the campus only three or four of the "gamblers" were at the meeting. A great many persons who never play are fighting for their (the "gambler's") rights. Disgusting democracy! However, I am in favor of the proposed rule.

Kirk Explains Fees

At the Feb. 12 meeting of the administrative board, Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union Building, was invited to report upon the Union fees charged students. This was done because the board felt that the students might have been charged twice in that they were paying the Union fee with their activity charge and then the additional charge to use the Great Hall, according to Ralph Weber, president of SGA.

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned recently from Europe, having accomplished one of two things. Mr. Dulles may have shown our allies in Europe that we mean to back them to the fullest extent or he may have produced a negative result. He may have shown our allies that they may have to dance to our music since we hold the money for the juke box. Only time will tell how our allies will react to his visit.

An Ultimatum?

The main factor of the Dulles foreign policy is unity in Europe. Whether Mr. Dulles' statement directed toward the fullfillment of this factor was an ultimatum or just a friendly warning we cannot say, but the facts are these: "The United States" has decided that the only way to unity is through a European army as proposed by the Europeans themselves. The United States is tired of the two years of nationalistic bickerings which have delayed the ratification of this project. The American public and the Congress of the United States are reluctant to see any more funds committed to this project without some concrete evidence of good faith.

The United States is willing to help Europe to defend itself from the Red threat if Europe will make some movement in its own behalf. If this initial project fails a new plan of defense against Red aggression must be instituted. The tide of world politics are fast ebbing.

Death of EDC?

What chance would Mr. Dulles give for the success of this project? He may soon be asked to evaluate this situation for Congress, as we must figure on some stand before the next NATO meeting which is April 23. Paris may well be the scene of some real action in regards to the United States foreign policy in Europe. Out of this meeting may come the birth or death of European Defense Community.

The European Defense Community treaty was drawn up last May, but thus far a lot of discussion and very little action has been given to the ratification of this treaty. Investigation of this situation was the prime motive behind the Dulles-Stassen trip.

Dulles Visits Disaster Areas

Not all of the time of Mr. Dulles was spent in lecturing European statesmen. He found time to visit the flood disaster areas of Holland, Belgium, and Britain. Mr. Dulles expects to confer with President Eisenhower with regards as to how we can best assist our allies in this time of dire need. This may show Europe that the United States is interested in the well being of the common man as well as military preparedness and might also be a wise propaganda move.

Potts Emerson

Jaunt Great Service

The jaunt of Mr. Dulles around Europe has been cited by some as being ten great days of service to the cause of freedom and peace. Others point out that brass knuckles were never implements of diplomacy. The threat of the withdrawal of American aid and backing of certain European defense projects drawn up by Europeans may not be brass knuckles, but it is a potent force. How potent, only the future of European defense will tell.

Moore Chosen To Represent EC in Contest

Joanne Moore has been chosen by the members of The Crescent staff to represent Evansville College in the annual contest in which Indiana's Hoosier Princess will be selected. College newspapers throughout the state are sponsoring candidates for the contest which is being conducted by the Indianapolis Star newspaper.

Ice-Breaker Queen

Miss Moore, a freshman majoring in Medical Technology, is a Chi Omega pledge and is secretary of the freshman class. She is active on the All-Campus Dance and Special Recreation committees. She was this year's Ice-Breaker Queen and honorary attendant in the Football Queen's court. Graduated in 1952 from Central High School, the Crescent candidate was Football Queen in her senior year.

Two photographs of Miss Moore will be sent to the Star along with a brief review of her qualifications. One photo will be a head-only shot in a formal and the other will be a full length picture in street clothes. The contest winner will be picked from similar photos which will be submitted by all the candidates.

Trip to Washington

In addition to the honor of winning the Indiana contest, the Hoosier Princess will enter competition for queen of the Cherry Blossom Festival. The festival will be in Washington, D.C., April 8 through 12. The Star will pay expenses of the 1953 winner's trip to Washington where she will be entertained with a continuous round of luncheons, dinners, dances and receptions.

Last year Jeanette Yates Covington represented EC in the Indiana contest.

An opportunity to serve your country and build a personal career that will fit you for responsible positions both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE?

To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet Training Class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

Women do have brains.

The sororities have come up with a good idea on the queen elections. "Cut out coalition elections and let the students vote as preference indicates." One past queen pointed out it would mean a lot more to the queens' ego if elections were held under such a basis. Even if you disagree, don't fail to exercise your privilege to vote.

Prof. Jaebker is now a reverend. Last professor I can remember who did that wound up as rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church — Dr. Imri Blackburn.

In a certain fraternity they do things differently — pledges take actives on road trips. After Jim Rose trudged back from way down on the Green River his mother wouldn't believe his excuse for coming in during the weeee hours. Mrs. Rose had to be assured by a pledge next day before she forgave her little child tad.

Mr. Fire Magic put on a good show last week. One prof remarked no students went to sleep. If he tried exploding something every five minutes (with a bang, that is) none of his students would go to sleep either.

Sinfonia Initiation Sunday Afternoon

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, national honorary music fraternity will initiate seven pledges this Sunday at 5 p.m. in the club room of the Union Building.

To be eligible, a man must be at least a second quarter freshman in either the choir or band, and must have a 1.5 scholastic average.

Membership is solicited by the active chapter on the basis of musicianship, scholarship, and character.

Movie Series Begins Next Thursday in Union Building

On Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Great Hall the first in a series of movies for students, faculty and other college personnel will be shown.

This week's movie, a Technicolor musical, will be "Give My Regards To Broadway."

These movies are open to all students, faculty and other college personnel and their families. Price of admission will be twenty cents.

Four more movies in this series are to be shown in the Great Hall of the Union during the four remaining months of the school year. The date and time of the movies will be announced at a later date.

Sorority Alums Invited To Panhellenic Meeting

Special invitations are being issued to one alum of each sorority to attend a Panhellenic meeting next Tuesday, reported Vera Robinson, Panhellenic President. The meeting will be at 3:45 p.m. in the Club Room, of the Union Building.

Plans for spring rush, as well as plans for other spring activities sponsored by Panhellenic, will be discussed. Also, each sorority's rush chairman will present a report on winter rush. Suggestions for improvements in rushing will be included in the discussion.

Besides the alum representative, each sorority has two representatives at the Panhellenic meeting.

Herron Presented In Faculty Recital Tuesday Evening

Miss Allene Herron, pianist, was presented in a faculty recital in the Great Hall of the Alumni Memorial Union Building at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday.

For the first part of her recital, Miss Herron played "Freuet Euch, Ihr Christen Alle," by Bach-Phillip; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach-Hess and Brahms "Rhapsody, Opus 79, No. 1."

The next part of the program was four compositions by Chopin, "Fantaisi-Impromptu," "Mazurka, Opus 7, Nos. 1 and 2" and "Ballade, Opus 47."

She concluded with three movements of "Quintett" by Frasck "Molto Moderato Quasi Lento-Allegro," "Lanto, con molto Sentiminto," and "Allegro non troppo, ma con fuoeo."

Miss Herron was assisted by the faculty string quartet, members of which are William Nation and Mrs. Dorothy Walker, violins, Dr. George Dasch, viola, and Mrs. Elizabeth Green Smith, cello.

She is an assistant professor of piano at Evansville College. Before joining the faculty five years ago, she taught at Coker College, Hartsville, S.C., and at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Let us first establish a definition of stage lighting. More often than not it is the forgotten part of a play or assembly. In order to see the characters on the stage we must have them illuminated. The greater part of the time this is accomplished by turning on the border or overhead lights and the footlights, creating a flat, uninteresting picture.

By control of color, amount and placement we hope to enhance the production by special effects. Therefore let us say that stage lighting is "the process of planned control of lighting units."

We now have a definition, so let's look at the objectives of our subject. First, and most important, lighting must be subtle. It must blend with respect to the rest of the show to make the final finished product. A good lighting job will hardly ever be noticed by the audience as lighting. They may have noticed a change in the mood of a scene but can't explain it.

Our second objective therefore is to help create the mood of the play. This is usually done with color and intensity. A green light will suggest ghosts, a blue, nightime, and amber, daylight. These, of course, are only three of the eighty-some-odd colors with which we have to work. (We have polka dots, too.)

The third objective of this business is to be as complimentary to the set, actors and costumes as possible. In the past years I am sure you have seen some of the moth-eaten costumes that we have used on stage. These costumes as viewed in the daytime seem pretty rough, but under lights they assume an entirely different air.

While we are talking about being complimentary, let's look at some of the problems this brings in. In planning the lighting for a show we must stop to figure the color of the set, costumes, makeup (a special make-up is used, as street make-up would look black) and furniture. A red light on a green dress would turn the dress black; amber on red washes the red; and to use one of the time honored illustrations of the stage lighting trade, don't put a white girl in a blue bathing suit under a blue light. Wha' hoppens? You bring the girl and bathing suit and I'll furnish the light and we'll see.

While this business has its ups and downs, namely working everywhere from the ceiling to the basement, it is a lot of fun and very educational. I have met some swell people through lighting and have also had a lot of fun in the form of narrow escapes in productions.

Once, at Bosse, one of the actresses had to turn on some mantle lights. There was a set order for her to do it because she faked the action and I, standing 40 feet away, threw the switch. All was going well until dress rehearsal when she forgot the order and reached for the left light as the right one went on. Needless to say we changed the cue method after fetching the directors top from the balcony where she had blown it.

It's about the end of my assigned space so we'll have to drop it here. Before I go I would like to extend an invitation for you to come backstage and get in on the fun of painting, carpentry or lighting for our next show. Say you don't know anything about it? We'll be glad to help you learn.

Words To Live By

"Abide in me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit by itself unless it abides in the vine, neither can you, unless you abide in me. I am the vine, you are the branches. He who abides in me, and I in him, he it is that bears much fruit, for apart from me, you can do nothing."

Aces Play Last Game

Queen To Be Crowned In Halftime Ceremony

By JERRY HOOVER

Tomorrow night the Purple Aces will tangle with the Illinois State Normal five in their last scheduled game of the season.

The Aces will be trying to avenge their loss of 66-60 to the Illinois team earlier in the season in an effort to bring up their total wins to nine for the year.

Two seniors, big Jack Nash and Keith Combs, will be playing their last game for the Ace squad. As a tribute to them, Gene Robinson, athletic business manager, has invited the basketball teams from their former high schools to attend the game. Tickets have been sent to the Leavenworth and Boonville teams who will sit in a block to see the tilt.

Nash, a three-year letterman, and Combs, a four-year athlete, have been sparkplugs many times this year in holding the mentors together in tense moments.

The sandy-haired center, a consistent scorer for the purple and white during his past two years on the varsity squad, hit his peak in scoring last year against Oakland City when he rolled in 29 points.

Combs, the shortest member of the net squad, has grabbed his share of the rebounds and stray passes as well as being the second highest scorer for the Aces.

Two Worth Remembering

The towering center and speedy little guard will long be remembered as outstanding E.C. basketballers.

The coronation of this year's queen will take place during halftime. The girls will wear pastel formals this year according to Vera Robinson, secretary to the athletic business manager. "This year we're having a crown made of white carnations instead of the usual gilted band of royalty," said Miss Robinson.

The "first lady" will also be presented with one dozen roses by the team member who performs the coronation. After the ceremony, the queen and her attendants will take their places in the balcony to reign over the remainder of the game.

Bestowing the traditional buss will be Jack Nash, with other members of the team acting as escorts for the royal court.

Jim Wilkinson, Bernie Connally, Keith Combs and Dave Crumbaker will act as the escorts. They are all upperclassmen on the varsity squad.

Intramurals Begin With Eight Teams Entered in League

After various delays, the Intramural basketball league finally got under way this week, with games on Wednesday and Thursday.

Results of the first two rounds of play were too late to be included in this writing but will appear in The Crescent next week.

Competition wil resume on Wednesday, Feb. 25, with the Newman Club meeting Pi Epsilon Phi at 6 p. m. Acacia playing the Philo Torpedoes at 7 p. m., Phi Zeta tangling with the Freshmen at 8 p. m. and the Red Horse Ranchers against the Whitmore Warriors at nine.

The following evening the Freshmen will meet Pi Epsilon Phi, the Red Horse Ranchers will encounter Acacia, the Phi Zetas will play the Whitmore Warriors and the Newman Club will engage the Philo Torpedoes.

All games are played at the National Guard Armory.

Freshman Ace Hits 45 Points

Freshman Bob Walker seems to be headed to future stardom with the Purple Ace clan. Walker was the only bright spot in the Aces' two encounters last week.

Monday night the Aces lost a thrilling game to the Pumas of St. Joseph at Rensselaer, Indiana. A field goal by Tim O'Brien with six seconds to play gave the Pumas a hard fought 85-84 victory. Walker paced the Aces with 25 points, the highest one game total of his young college career.

Last Saturday night the Aces journeyed to St. Louis only to take a 79-71 licking by the Bruins of Washington University. Walker was high point producer for the game with a total of 20 points.

The 45 point accumulation of Walker's in the last two games represents 29 per cent of the Aces total 155 points in those two games.

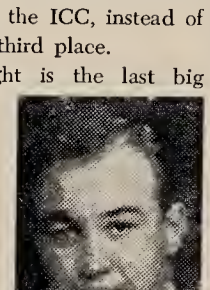
All About Aces

by Maru Fox

The Aces lost another heart breaker to St. Joe last week but, again, not on the floor — lost to nothing but fouled up foul shots.

Losing to St. Joe will put the Aces in fourth spot in the ICC, instead of in the expected third place.

Tomorrow night is the last big fling the Aces will have this season, and win or lose, it will be a game to see. The basketball queen, whomever she may be, will be crowned during the halftime ceremonies.



Mr. Fox

Back to heartbreakers, I suppose that by now everybody is pretty well accustomed to seeing them come and go. A least the team should be used to them by now. But as this season flew by, I know the coaches, team and all sympathetic persons have been plenty burned up at all the unfavorable publicity which has been thrown their way from the school as well as elsewhere.

If someone would let me know what else to say during such a season as this without repeating myself every week, I would gladly say it. But, for lack of anything else to say, we must go on our merry way. Thus, Anfang vermutete man, dass aueh Menehen umgekommen seien, doeh ist dies zum Gluek nieht der Fall. Die Arbeiter konnten sieh naeh den in unmittelbarer.

Nahe leigenden Sehaeht Ein fluehten und urden von dort zu Tage befordert. Die maehtegen Flammen und der gewaltige Reieh, der and dem Sehaehte emporstieg, loekte eine zahlreiehe Mensehenmenge an. Or, better yet, reduetio ad absurdum.

It can be said many ways, but a rose by any other name still has thorns. Win or lose, though, the guys on the squad still must put in the same amount of time in practice and on the road, and nobody feels the losses more acutely than the guys who have to come back to school and hear the snickers and tough luck stories.

So all joking aside, they have my congatulatoins for a season hard-fought, and a bad season well taken.

Kelly Wins Title, NTT on March 5

By JACK COMBS

Fred Kelly showed that he has learned more than business at Evansville College as he won the annual billiard tournament, sponsored by the Union Games Committee, by defeating Jim Jensen in the finals last week. Kelly shot a 48 to beat the 35 posted by Jensen.

Both men showed the effects of pressure clearly by their scores, Kelly had constantly posted marks of around 60 and Jensen had been in the 50's for most of the tourney. They will both receive trophies for their efforts.

Free Pool

The third and fourth positions were won by Hermon Thomas and Keith Combs. Thomas was defeated by Jensen 50-39, and Combs fell before Kelly 64-43. The third and fourth winners will receive two free hours of pool as their prize.

Kelly also walked off with the individual honors in the tourney by posting a high score of 64 and having the high run of 23.

Winning the tourney was not enough however to land him a position on the Evansville team that will play in the National Telephonic Tourney on March 5. All quarter finalists competed again in a one round playoff with the three high scores chosen as the ones to carry the Purple and White into the districts playoff.

Three High

Bob Payne, Fred Kelly and Keith Combs posted scores of 57, 66, and 49 to win the right to compete. The two next high scores were Bob Martin's 44 and Jensen's 40, these two will act as standbys on that night.

Broc Jerrell, Bill Hamilton, Keith Combs, Rich Brahm and Doyle Matteson carried the Evansville cause into the tournament and placed eighth in a field of ten last year. They posted scores higher than Purdue and Southern Methodist. This districts winner was the University of Illinois. Don Sokolis, of Illinois, was the high man in last years tourney with a score of 90 out of a possible 100.

Badminton Star Plays McCutchan in EC Gym

Ken Davidson, world renowned badminton star, and coach of the USA International Thomas Cup team, exhibited his skill in the Girl's Gym last week against Marjorie Marx and Arad McCutchan.

He is touring the country promoting Junior badminton in schools, colleges and universities by means of clinic-demonstrations similar to the one given here. The programs prove to be as entertaining as they are educational.

Since Mr. Davidson turned professional in 1936 he has appeared before 15 million people.

Butler Leads ICC Race; Aces Fourth

Evansville, with their loss to the St. Joseph Pumas, find themselves in fifth place in the ICC title race with a five and five record.

Butler, with their six and two record, is the logical choice for the championship. The only other teams with a chance are St. Joseph, who could win with three more wins and two Butler loses, and Indiana State could tie for the championship if Butler drops their last two conference games.

The Fine Arts Committee of Evansville College has arranged a program consisting of a series of three films to be presented one each month, during the spring quarter.

March 19 is the date set for the first film which will be "The Merry Wives of Windsor." It will be shown at 4:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. in the Evansville College Auditorium.

The tentative dates set for the other two films are April 16 and May 7. The probable film for April is "The Devil and Daniel Webster."

According to Dr. Werking, vice-chairman of the Fine Arts Committee, the three objects of this program are: (1) "It will enable Evansville high school graduates who have an interest in art, speech, and dramatics but who have limited financial means to achieve their college education. (2) The college enrollment in these three divisions will receive a boost and the attention of the public will be focused on those departments. (3) It will make to the public a high type of entertainment at a reasonable price."

A ticket for the entire series costs, $1.50; single admission, matinee, 50 cents, evening students, 50 cents, and others 75 cents.

Shirley, She's Net Queen

Pictured above is Miss Shirley Balding, who was crowned Basketball Queen at the Eavnsville College-Illinois State Normal game last Saturday night. She became Basketball Queen by polling the greatest number of student votes in the election held last Friday. Voting for the queen race was heavy, with 467 votes cast, a higher number than were polled in the Homecoming Queen election.

Jet Pilot, Vetern of Korean Air War, To Visit ROTC Unit

First Lt. William J. Breen, USAF, will visit the ROTC unit here next Friday and conduct informal talks with advanced course students about his experiences in flight training and as a jet pilot in Korea.

His visit here is part of an Air Force program designed to acquaint AFROTC students with the duties of a flying officer. Under this program, 18 pilots, all young lieutenants that are primarily jet fighter pilots, have been placed on duty with the ROTC for 90 days. During this time, they will visit their own schools, and others in their home areas, talking with students about their experiences in flight training and their present flying duties.

All of the pilots are veterans of the air war over Korea. They have flown every plane the United States has in combat in Korea, except the B-29.

Lt. Breen flew his 100 mission combat tour in Korea in a F-80-C Shooting Star jet fighter-bomber. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters.

Lt. Breen, whose home town is Nashville, Tennessee, attended Notre Dame, where he graduated in June, 1949. He applied for flight training in November of that year, and was called to active duty in April, 1950.

Lt. Breen

He took his basic training at Perrin Air Force Base, Texas; advanced pilot training at Williams Air Force Base, Arizona; and graduated as a single engine jet pilot in May, 1951. After gunnery at Nellis Air Forse Base, he went overseas to the Philippines in August, 1951. After completing his tour in Korea he is now assigned to Portland International Airport, Oregon, flying the F-86-F Sabre Jet.

Correction

Last week's Crescent stated incorrectly that Feb. 20 was the last day to pre-register for the spring term. Registrar G. R. McCoy informs us that today is the last day.

However, don't think that just because the first paragraph of the "Help Wanted" story was incorrect, that it all was.

While last Friday wasn't the last day to pre-register, the Crescent CAN use a photographer and staff writers, the job DOES pay four credit hours per quarter, and working conditions under Editor Weber and Adviser Seegmueller ARE pleasant.

And for three hours credit, there ARE openings on the LinC.

EC Debaters Going to IU, Cincinnati

Members of the campus chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha and the Debate Council will attend the Seventh Annual Hoosier Forensic Conference at Indiana University Feb. 27 and 28. Also, the same group will be in Cincinnati, Ohio, March 1, where they will appear over station WLW's "College Salute" Program.

The Hoosier Forensic Conference is sponsored by the Indiana University chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary Forensic society. The program will include three rounds of discussion, four rounds of debate, and two rounds of public speaking.

Jim Schreiber will represent Evansville College in the public speaking division. Janice Morgan and Myra Kasey will be the affirmative, and Robert Harris and Carroll Rickard the negative debaters on the proposition: "Resolved: that the Congress of the United States should enact a compulsory fair employment practices law."

The purposes of this conference are to stimulate college and university students to investigate and analyze current national and international problems, to encourage students to exchange opinions and formulate solutions to problems, to give the students training in leadership and the democratic processes, and to provide the students with an opportunity to achieve greater skill in logical and lucid expression of ideas.

In addition, Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, will be interviewed on the program as an outstanding alumnus of Evansville College, and Bob Harris will be interviewed as an outstanding student.

James Shutt, assistant professor of speech, will act as coach for the group. For some time he has been working with James C. Bruce, director of special broadcasting services for WLW, on the March 1 program.

The other half of the time he will aid in building the library's collections in Comparative Drama, especially Italian and Spanish Renaissance.

His invitation to be a Fellow of the Newberry Library is for the three summer months. Dr. Boughner stated, "The title Fellow could be defined as an expert consultant. This is not a job, but an honor."

What Has It Cost You?

What is Lent? We know it starts 46 days before Easter and lasts for 40 days, but have you ever wondered just where it started and what it signifies? The originator of the period we call Lent according to the Roman Catholic encyclopedia was St. Leo. It apparently has no Biblical background, but was set forth as a period of self-denial in preparation for the Passion week and Easter.

Lent has long been observed in the Roman Catholic church as well as some Protestant demoninations. Most of Protestantism is slowly turning to this period of dedication leading up to the highest point of our Christian dectrine.

Lent is observed by most people by giving up something that you like, but that is not particularly good for you. Thus its value is two-fold. First, you control some habits to which you are a slave; and second, it gives you an increased awareness of the presence of God. So, when the person who gives up smoking for Lent wants a cigarette he thinks why he has stopped smoking and how small his sacrifice is to the one Jesus made for us.

Sceptics have always laughed at anything resembling self-denial saying that they do not need to give up anything to be aware of the great sacrifice of Jesus. What they say may be true, but possibly they should examine their hearts and minds to be sure that they are not indulging in that wonderful habit of rationalization.

You may say it is not necessary— and you may be right. If you give up something for Lent because you have to, you need not expect to feel as good about it as if you give up something because you want to. It's up to you. Think, pray, and decide.

Wanted! More Co-operation

How much trouble is it to check the schedules set up in the different offices on campus to see if there are any other activities scheduled for the evening that you plan to have a social function? Not very much, would seem to be the logical answer; but lately it has reached a point where an organization which wants to have a party or a dance has it, whether it interfers with with another function or not.

Only with co-operation can the spirit on this campus grow, and without that co-operation the organizations on campus will have only to blame themselves if none of the social functions are a success.

It is humanly impossible for anyone to be two places at once, But at times it is expected of you; and neither of the organizations can understand why you don't attend their function instead of the other. Anyway you look at it you are going to have someone mad; and although it is usually a passing thing, it is annoying and totally unnecessary.

Granted, at times it is impossible to change the dates for outside reasons. For the most part, however, it could simply avoided by a fast check of dates. An old saying, "look before you leap," would remedy this situation.

Congratulations, Queen Shirley

When the voting polls closed last Friday and the votes were tabulated INCA's candidate, Miss Shirley Balding, was announced the new-reigning basketball queen. The Crescent staff wishes to extend a most hearty congratulations to the new queen.

We would also like to say a hearty well-done to the student body; the voting was heavy, with over 450 votes cast. For this the voters are to be commended. This might tend to show an increase in student responsibilities. At least we hope so.

Anyway, again, to our queen, "Congratulations!" And to the voters, "Well done!"

Thespians Present 'Huck Finn' Mar. 1

The Evansville College Thespians will present "Huck Finn" Sunday, March 1 at 3 o'clock in the Bosse Auditorium.

Howard Hill, dramatics head, is directing and narrating the play.

This is the fourth and last production of the year in connection with the Children's Theatre series. The Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra and professional traveling groups have previously entertained their audiences with such productions as "Prince Swineherd."

The cast for "Huck Finn" includes Bob Rundell as Huck Finn, Joe Emerson as Tom Sawyer, John Moss as Jim, and Wendell Long as Uncle Silas.

Other members of the cast of "Huck Finn" include Bob and Al Schmidt as the Duke and the Dolphin respectively, Anne Stocks as Aunt Sally, Pat Martin as Joanne Wilks, Susie Shenoweth as Mary Jane Wilks.

Marilyn Klieman will portray the part of Becky Thatcher, Pat Darst will play Aunt Polly and the part of Emeline Grangerford will be played by Barbara Moore.

Party Invitations Sent to Schools

The first of a series of parties for all city and Tri-state high school seniors will be given on Monday, March 2, in the Evansville College Union Building. These parties are put on by the Union Special Recreation Committee to interest the graduating seniors in attending Evansville College.

The program for the parties will consist of a tour of the Union Building, a program of entertainment in the Great Hall, dancing in the Patio and refreshments which will be served in the Wooden-Indian Grill.

Essentially, the entire program is the same for every party, but for the Tri-State party there will also be square dancing in the Great Hall after the entertainment.

Included in the entertainment for these parties will be a play entitled "College Daze," in which Rosemarie Wiseman and Sam Laubscher have the leads. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Phi Mu Alpha dance band.

This is the fifth year for these parties and every year each senior receives a personal invitation to the party given for their particular school.

Farm Bureau Man To Lecture Today

Mr. Vance E. Lockhart, educational field man for the Indiana Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, will be on the campus Friday, Feb. 27, to speak on the operations of farm co-operatives in Indiana.

Mr. Lockhart will speak to two business classes while he is here. He will speak at 1:45 in room C-103 and at 2:45 in room A-317. While Mr. Lockhart will speak specifically to these business classes, all students are invited to attend.

According to Mr. Lockhart these farm co-operatives are very beneficial to the farmers. They are organized to give help to individual farmers by giving him lower prices on farm machinery, seed and other commodities by buying larger quantities.

From Our Angle

Pack your bags! Everybody is going to Korea, soldiers that were AWOL or a few minutes late to roll call, President Eisenhower and finally, defeated candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson will be on his way to the front about March 9th. We wonder why he doesn't make it Easter to bring a little cheer to the boys on the front. But Adlai isn't going to the front to bring cheer. He is going there to study the military situation. How well will he get to know the situation in a couple of days? But it seems we always have room for another expert. At least the boys at the front never get bored with just plain fighting. They either have high ranking visiting clergy, senators, or just plain politicians. One thing the fighting men do like about visiting dignitaries — the meals get better.

It Would Be A Change

It might be a relief to hear some politico just once say that all he knows about some given subject is what he reads in the papers. It would be a refreshingly different approach anyway. But I guess we can't smear the character of our VIP's because they seek information at the far corners of the world. Besides think of the wonderful scenery they see! Are they looking for information or limelight? A trip to Korea would bring anyone into the public's eye.

Why Not Go To Washington?

Probably a trip to the Pentagon for a briefing on the Korean situation would be just as informative as an actual trip to the front, and probably much more comfortable — unless defeated presidential candidates get special consideration. There are those who say that a trip of this nature is good for morale, but that might pose a problem, for there aren't enough ex-governors, defeated presidential candidates and Senators to shake the hand of every CI in Korea. But a trip of this nature gets a lot of publicity nevertheless.

Adlai To See Ike

This trip to Korea is for self education, but Stevenson seems to feel that he should report to President Eisenhower on his evaluation of the situation. Everyone seems to be evaluating the situation. It could be that we need more decisions and less evaluation.

Potts Emerson

Adlai plans to take the long way home from Korea, journeying around the world. Taking trips around the world is becoming quite popular for defeated candidates for the presidency, too. Wilkie and Dewey both made such trips; coming back "experts" on world affairs. Wilkie even wrote a book called "One World." Who knows, maybe Stevenson will figure out a way to get "Two Worlds" this time.

Practice What We Preach

World trips of this nature, while they may supply limited information, do show the rest of the world that we haven't liquidated the leaders of the defeated political party — a practice that is common in some other parts of the world. Thus we show that we practice democracy as well as preach it. Could this also bring about the development of a "constructive" opposition? If there is such an animal in politics. After all, this may be a time of crisis when we need the support of both parties in this great two-party system of politics.

Regardless of what happens Adlai will get a vacation, and if he pays for it himself, at least that will be different.

'No-Doz' Won't Do

With finals scheduled for March 9-11, cramming during the early hours of the morning will in some cases be unavoidable. 'No-Doz' is standard equipment for many students who feel the need to cram the clock-around for final exams.

Dr. Arlie Bock, hygiene professor, terms the taking of 'No-Doz' pills "self-inflicted injury." He added, "If a fellow can't do his work without resort to such drugs, I would say he doesn't belong in school."

Harvard University has announced it will not accept absentee's excuses of fatigue and collapse if 'No-Doz' is a partial cause.

Hoorah

More than 400 students voted for basketball queen. That's about a school record for total votes for anything. It's wonderful and astounding. Just keep it up when SGA elections roll around.

Who's blushing now dept.: PEP President Fox's first name came out "Mary" in last week's Crescent. How's he ever going to explain that one to his wife. Maybe he sneaked off to Denmark last summer.

And then there's this one from Emmy S. to the F.B.I. "Have you booked any good Reds lately?" (Run, son.)

Sorority campaigning plus the campaigning of Charles Shelton, INCA president, made last Friday's queen election one of the livelier ones on campus in the past five years. Especially eyecatching were the Chi Omega four-leaf clovers and the Beta Sigma Omicron paper circles.

It's now official: Don Nelson and Marlene Ahrens finally got engaged. Thought they were going to make it at Christmas and I committed a great big faux pas by gushing about a ring Marlene's parents gave her years ago.

Mrs. Hill (of the Union cafeteria) had on a white uniform last week. That doesn't figure with the calendar. During the fall and winter she wore uniforms mit petal tints.

Those wierd sounds in the office building last week were students in Prof. Slusher's advertising class practicing singing commercials.

Didjaknowthat the Union cafeteria still puts out student meal tickets? Tickets give students a 10 per cent discount on food at the cafeteria. They are available in five and 10 dollar sizes. The little one costs $4.50 and the big one $9.

Meal tickets are sold in the business office in the Administration Building.

To be truthful, it has been so long since anything's been said about meal tickets I'd forgotten they existed until Miss Kirk and I were chitting the chat one day. A couple of students who saw me talking with Miss Kirk in her inner sanctum immediately looked horrified and dashed off — guess I was breaking a student ruling of some sort. Much of the upheaval among students over Union affairs could be avoided by dropping into Miss Kirk's office and just gabbing. Her door's always open when she's in.

Because this column has to be written during the early part of the week, I have no way of knowing at present how Administrative Board will vote on the card playing issue. One thing was proved by all the hullabaloo — students can go at something in an orderly, democratic manner. These students can work amicably with faculty and can cooperate with Administrative Board. I hope this process is used more in the future on subjects about which students are puzzled, or feel is unfair.

An item students might consider for action is the choosing of Campus Notables and Campus Leaders. Under present conditions, a student committee appointed by the SGA president selects three times the number of candidates as there are positions of Campus Notable and Campus Leader. The faculty selects the actual candidates. The active committee members this year felt the number of candidates picked by the student committee could be lowered to twice the number of candidates.

I never get lost and far from home because I don't like "A Chocolate Ice Cream Cone."

INCA Broadcasts Daily From WEVC

"Turntable Time," sponsored by the Independent Campus Association, has been added to the schedule of WEVC, Evansville College's FM radio station.

This program started last Monday and will be broadcast daily from 5-5:30 p.m. "Turntable Tops" will feature INCA news, all types of music, and interviews. Various campus notables and personalities will be included on the program from time to time.

In charge of the program are Barbara Moore and Anne Stocks. Misses Moore and Stocks will take the show on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Miss Gloria Watson will help them on Wednesday evening, and Miss Stocks and Miss Watson will have the show on Friday. Other members of INCA will be asked to help throughout the year.

Hoosier Princess Candidate

Pictured above is Miss Joanne Moore who will represent Evansville College in the annual contest in which Indiana's Hoosier Princess will be selected. Miss Moore is a freshman and a pledge of the Chi Omega sorority. The Hoosier Princess will be announced in Sunday's edition of The Indianapolis Star.

Erickson Appointed Program Chairman

Dr. Harris Erickson was appointed program chairman of the National Association of Biblical Instructors (Midwestern Section) at the Chicago meeting Feb. 20.

His duties will include assisting in the program arrangements for the national meeting of the association next year which will be in this district. The following year Dr. Erickson will be in charge of the sectional program.

Magazine Sponsors National Contest

Down Beat, a music magazine, is sponsoring a nationwide college contest to stimulate interest in dancing at the college level.

Points in the contest, which ends April 30, will be earned by obtaining subscriptions to Down Beat.

First prize in the contest will be the Ralph Marterie orchestra — to be awarded to the school obtaining the most points in the contest period.

The band will be available to the winning school for an entire day at no cost and will play at any functions desired — dance, concert, or both. The school may use the band on any date during the balance of 1953.

Second prize will be a complete record library for the school. Third prize will be an auditorium-type television set.

To the student obtaining the most points in the contest, whether he is in the winning school or not, goes a $150 world band Hallicrafters portable radio.

The student obtaining the most points in the winning school, along with a companion of his own choice, will be a guest of Marterie at dinner.

Evansville College with an enrollment under 1,000 would receive 11 points for each one-year subscription.

Choir, Band Give Concert Sunday

The Evansville College A Capella Choir and Symphonic Band will present their sixth annual combined concert Sunday March 1 in the Harper Grade School Auditorium.

The A Capella Choir under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Shepard will have the opening part of the program. They will sing "Peacable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson. The number is based on Old Testament Bible quotations and is divided into eight parts.

In the second part of the concert Wesley Shepard will direct the Symphonic Band through a variety of numbers ranging from "Romeo and Juliet Overture" by Tchaikovsky to "Ten More Days Till School Is Out" by John Klien. Mr. Klien is a contemporary American composer and his work contains many familiar themes to a modern audience.

The program begins at 4 p.m.

Guest Columnist

Don Roth

(Editors Note: A junior history major here, Don Roth is also employed as an announcer by radio station WEOA. In the following column, Mr. Roth tells how an incident during a recent vacation trip caused him to ponder the question of "What makes Americans run?" Mr. Roth is a member of Acacia fraternity and president of Radio Council.

"I think I am an Elephant
Behind another Elephant
Behind another Elephant who isn't really there . . . "

I ran across this quote from A. A. Milne the other evening and it reminded me of a rather thought-provoking experience I had last summer. After spending several wonderful days in Wisconsin, I drove to Toronto, Canada for the Canadian National Exhibition. If you have done any traveling, you know that part of the joy of the trip can be captured and preserved in the things you bring back — gifts and memiors.

Something Special

I had decided to find something special for that certain someone and had settled on an imported cashmere sweater. Having been told of the very "smart" stores on Toronto's fashionable Bay St., I soon found myself inside of them. The decor was exquisite and the salesgirls might be put in that category, too.

Unaccustomed as I am to shopping for the fairer sex, I spent a few embarrassing minutes admiring clothing I know nothing about and at which I shouldn't have been looking in the first place. Contrary to earlier thoughts on the subject it was not a very comfortable feeling being surrounded by a storeful of feminity. Rescue came swiftly, though, in the form of a very pretty, very helpful and very French salesgirl.

Drifting Conversation

It didn't take long to find just what I wanted and while she was gift wrapping the sweater, our conversation drifted. She asked if I were an American and upon learning the answer which she had already guessed, she told me that she had only recently come to Canada.

She said she had come to the U.S.A. in 1948 and after a year had moved to Toronto. In talking about her year in the U.S.A. she made a few remarks about the Americans that I have spent my spare time thinking about since. She said, "You Americans are running very fast, aren't you?" I agreed and she added, "I somtimes wonder if you know just where you're going."

English Businessman

This same thought was recently expressed to me in very similar words by an English businessman who spent several days here in Evansville while on a business trip in this country. Compared to the rest of he world you and I are living life pretty quickly. Being a history major it is becoming even more clear that the U.S.A is a young nation and, hard as it is to believe, we are just getting wound up. Someone once said. "Study the past if you would divine the future."

Yet the weight of history lies with the prophets of disaster. Where is the answer? Probably with in us and we all know if we only dared to admit it.

History Head Joins Acacia

Dr. Wade David, head of the history department, pledged Acacia fraternity Feb. 18 in a special ceremony held at the Acacia house.

Dr. David took his vows under the direction of Frank Swallow, Venerable Dean of the chapter, in the presence of the active body and his pledge brothers to be. Walter Dahl, national traveling secretary, was also present for the ceremony.

After his initation, Dr. David will assist Dr. Norman O. Long, co-head of the chemistry department, as faculty advisor to the fraternity. As advisor he will be responsible to the National Interfraternity Council and the Acacia National Council.

Music Recitals Set for Today In Auditorium

Karl McClure, voice major, and Charles Hildreth, trombonist, will be presented in a music education recital by the Evansville College Department of Music today at 4 o'clock in the auditorium.

Mr. McClure, accompanied by Dorothy Atkinson, will sing "Non posso disperar" by De Luce, "Liebhaber in allen Gestalten" by Schubert, "Du bist wie eine Blume" by Schuman, "O komme, holde Sommernacht" by Brahms, "Verborgenheit" by Wolf. Mr. McClure will also sing a selection of American songs: "Early One Morning" arranged by Tarrasch, "I Love My God and He Loves Me" by Bullock, "So Sweet Love Seemed" by Milford, and "Cotswold Love" by Rowley.

Mr. Hildreth will be accompanied by Eddie Coleman and will play "Fantasie Heroique" by Gottwald, "Toada" by Braga-Laube, and Sonata for Trombone and Piano" by George McKay.

Mr. Hildreth is a student of Harry Hart and Mr. McClure is a student of Cecil Selfridge.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Oblivion.....

Insects May Reign Over Humans in Future

By JIM BODISHBAUGH

Man flies, he travels beneath the seas of this planet, he burrows great tunnels into its depths, he can travel from one point to another with incredible speed. He has constructed an artificial way of living which is known as civilization. Through his scientific achievements and inventions he has removed all fear of predatory attacks from his fellow creatures, that is of course except his own kind. Man is now the dominant species upon this infinitely small planet we call earth. How has he achieved this remarkable ascendancy over the numerous other inhabitants of sea and land?

A dominant species is not a new or unusual state. Countless eons before our era there have been varied forms of life which enjoyed indisputable sway over their less fortunate running mates. They achieved their supremacy by physical adaptation and specialization. A process which involved countless centuries of losing a tooth here, gaining a claw there, a slow and laborious road to the throne of the earth.

Brain Unique Organ

Man has achieved his position in a rather novel and remarkable manner. Through the unknown processes of evolution he has developed a specialized organ which has enabled him, in the relatively short time of a million years, to do that which other life forms achieved over a much greater span of time. That unique organ which man possesses is the human brain. Man has occupied all the corners of his environment not through divergence of form or physical adaptive radiation, but by the material consequences of abstract theorizations created in the human mind. A living organism, to change from one life zone to another, must develop certain physical characteristics which will enable that organism to survive. These changes can be brought about only by physical adaptation. But man, to change from one life to another need not change his physical form; he builds a submarine or an airplane, and does not change his environment, he takes it with him. He can and does, travel from one life zone to the next in a matter of minutes.

Supremacy Lost

Now it may be asked how and why did these former animal groups lose their supremacy? They lost it because, as a race they became specialized, senesecent, and in most cases extinct.. To clarify the above, we shall take as an example an organism which has adapted itself to a particular geogrphical location, climate, and food. It must be remembered that this adaptation has taken place over an extremely long period of time.

Now if it were to happen that this organism was deprived of its particular environment the organism would be unable to change quickly enough to the new set of conditions which had suddenly been thrust upon him, consequently the organism would die. It is a law of evolution that animal groups pass through the successive stages of youth, maturity, and old age. Senescence and specialization generally go hand in hand.

Man is no exception to this law, man has become specialized not through the products of his creative brain. He has created a way of living which has become so vast and complex that it is scarcely to be understood by the most learned of men. Modern man is becoming utterly dependent upon this complex civilization he has created. So we can conclude that if man were to be suddenly deprived of that environment which he has become so adapted to and dependent upon, he would face the same crisis as other races before him.

What Next?

If, in the future, man does lose his supremacy upon this earth, if man does lose his present exalted position, and perhaps even become extinct, what then? Certainly there will be a power vacuum, a vacuum to be filled by wha animal group? What animal group possesses the innumerable species and various forms needed to fill that vacuum?

Some years ago wheat farmers of our country were chagrined to discover that their crops were being attacked by an unknown species of insect. Where did it come from? Certainly it was not spontaneously created out of thin air.

Of the phylum Arthropoda, through only one-third of one-fourth of them have yet been classified, the known species outnumber all other animals by at least two to one. During their long geologic history, representatives of the phylum have invaded every life habitat, and they excel all other animals, with the possible exception of the vertebrates, in the success with which they adapted themselves.

From Robert W. Hegner's "College Zoology'" — "The Arthropods comprise about four-fifths of all the species of animals. They may be said to be the dominant animals on the earth at the present, if numbers of different species of individuals are accepted as criteria of dominance."

Man spends untold dollars and hours in attempting to discover ways and means of eradicating these buzzing, burrowing millions, and to a certain extent he has been successful in stemming the tide. It is not that man shall lose his supremacy by the outward competition of the Arthropods, but he shall lose it by an inherent weakness from within. And then the —

Bugs, bugs, bugs
Shall ascend the throne of distinction
Left by man in his extinction.

All About Aces

by Maru Fox

The Aces wound up their season last week by giving every open-mouthed, wide-eyed spectator their best show this season. And from where I was standing, not many were sitting during the game, it looked like the coach was very well pleased with his long sought after combination of good ball handling, speed and accuracy.

Mr. Fox

Last week also brought three of next season's firsts to the front: Bivins, Walker, and Wilm. All the coach needs to worry about now is the draft and two more players.

Cool Lad

When Bob Walker played in high school, Marv Bates, an EC alumnus, gave him a nick name which was, and is, apropos — Ice water viens Walker. Bob's coolness in a tight spot really showed through in the last minute of the game when Evansville let Normal narrow a large, safe margin down to one point. Without showing any emotion, and with lots of self-assurance, he dropped in two points when many players would have been afraid to let go of the ball.

From the very beginning of the game, it seemed as if Bivins and Walker had a direct line from every part of the floor to the basket; Bivins getting 12 for 24 and Walker 12 for 20.

Big Jack Close

Tall Jack Nash would have been in the upper brackets of the scoring column also, had not he made the mistake of putting his ankle under the heel of one of his worthy opponents. Jack was consistantly dropping the ball through the hoop from the center of the foul circle.

After Keith Combs left the floor on five, the Sucker's defense was thoroughly fouled up by Whizzy Wilm. He changed the pace of the game so much that it took the pressure off the audience, and even made the Sucker star, Sarver, miss a few set-ups. Of course, a set-up for him is anywhere on the floor.

Also, the Aces were hitting their foul shots with amazing regularity.

Lead in League Tied

Phi Zeta is tied with Bartle's Barters for the Bowling League lead after last weeks competition. Stieler's Stealers, first half champions, have taken over the third place position from SCA.

High team series are: Bartle Barters 1795 and Stieler's Stealers 1788. Norman Heard leads all bowlers with a 168 average.

STANDINGS:

Bartle Barters	7-2
Phi Zeta	7-2
Stieler's Stealers	5½-3½

Aces Fourth In ICC Play

Evansville's Purple Aces have settled into the fourth-place spot in the Indiana Collegiate Conference lineup after losing to the St. Joseph Pumas in their last ICC game.

As we go to press, Butler is assured of at least a share in the crown, having yet to play Ball State.

Second place St. Joseph with five wins and three losses has a chance at the other half of the title provided they win a home-and-home series with Valparaiso and Butler losses.

Indiana State is now in second place with a 6 to 4 record. Ball State is holding down fifth place with four wins and six losses and Valparaiso remains in last position with two wins and six defeats.

Next Week

Next week the Crescent sports department will name their basketball all-stars for the 1952-53 season.

The board will name a Most Valuable Player from the Purple Ace squad and also a Most Improved Player. An all-opponent team will be named with players from the entire schedule eligible. In addition to the all-opponent team an all-ICC opponent team will be selected by the board.

The board will be composed of Ralph Weber, Marv Fox, Dick Nicholson, Jack Combs, John Evers, Bill Adkins and Dave Pellow.

Date for National Telephonic Tourney Reset to March 4

Fred Kelly, Keith Combs and Bob Payne will represent Evansville College in the National Telephonic Billiard Tournament. Stand-bys are Bob Martin and Jim Jensen.

Wednesday, March 4, at 7:30 our team will play their match. March 5 was the original date of the tournament. Because of the conflict of the Military Ball the date has been changed. This match will be played in the Games Room of the Union.

Three officials have been appointed to keep the score. They are: Frank Herbert, Jim Jensen and Don Folz. The scores will be telephoned to the tournament headquarters.

Miss Doris Kirk, Director of Student Union, urges that students attend to see how this tournament is conducted.

Don Ping To Visit His Alma Mater

Don Ping, head football and baseball coach of the Purple Aces, will return to his alma mater for the Big Blue Round-up at Millikin University this coming weekend.

Mr. Ping is a member of Kappa Delta Chi fraternity and participated in football, baseball and basketball while at Millikin. He was captain of the baseball team for two years and as a regular for four years caught every inning except three. He pitched those.

After leaving Millikin Mr. Ping went on to coach Marshall Illinois High School, Evansville Reitz Memorial and now Evansville College. In his 26 years of coaching he was won or tied 191 out of 245 games. His best record was at Memorial where he won 118, lost 22 and tied nine, and also boasted of a 41 game winning streak.

Play in Scrub Loop Started

Intramural play got underway last week and early performances indicate stiff competition will be the rule during subsequent league tilts.

Scores have been close in most games and player caliber seems about equal.

Good Start

On Wednesday, Feb. 18, the initial contests were played with the Phi Zetas, the Red Horse Ranchers, Acacia and the Whitmore Warriors emerging victorious.

Phi Zeta, led by Gene Bauer, top scorer in the league to date, defeated the Newman Club in the seven o'clock game.

Cowboys?

The Red Horse Ranchers turned back the Philo Torpedoes and the Whitmore Warriors, which have played together as an independent team for two years, overcame Pi Epsilon Phi.

Acacia picked up a win by forfeit from the Freshmen, but had to go into an overtime to win the game substituted by league chairman Bob Haug.

Zetas Cop

In the following evening of play Phi Zeta garnered another victory via a conquest over the Red Horse Ranchers, 39-35.

The Newman Club beat the Freshmen, 38-20, and Pi Epsilon Phi turned back Acacia, 44-34.

The Whitmore Warriors added number two to their small list of consecutive victories by defeating the Philo Torpedoes by the largest margin of the evening, 51-24.

Standings at this writing are topped by Phi Zeta and The Whitmore Warriors with identical 2-0 records. All other teams excepting the Torpedoes and the Freshmen are even up in the won-loss column.

Ace Forwards Head Scoring In Last Tilt

Last Saturday night the Purple Aces ended their season on a note of triumph at the Armory. The Aces notched their ninth victory of the season against 14 defeats at the expense of the Redbirds of Illinois State Normal 95-92.

Roscoe Bivin, sophomore forward, paced the Aces with his highest scoring splurge of the season, 26 points. Bob Walker continued his outstanding marksmanship with a 25 point production. Walker's 25 points brought his total for the last three games to 70 points.

Sarver From Anywhere

Guard Bill Sarver of Normal was high point man for the encounter with 35 points on 15 field goals and five free throws. Sarver's accumulation was the highest number of points by an individual against the Aces this season.

Center Jack Nash and Guard Keith Combs played their final game as Purple Aces in Saturday night's clash. Nash left the game with a sprained ankle after 30 seconds had been played in the final frame. Combs fouled out four minutes after Nash left the debacle.

Hit Fast Buckets

Leading 91-90 with two minutes to play, the Aces decided the outcome on baskets by Walker with 45 seconds remaining and by Carl Niedermeier with 25 seconds in the contest.

At halftime ceremonies Shirley Balding was crowned basketball queen by acting captain Jack Nash.

1952-53 Final Basketball Statistics

It's Offical - Miller Ends One-year Term as Pledge

"That Ron Miller could start telling jokes at 8 o'clock in the morning and continue through noon and never repeat a joke," a Miller acquaintance once remarked.

It seems that Mr. Miller's "prolonging" talent is not confined to joke-telling. Last Sunday, after serving an extended pledgeship of one year, Mr. Miller became a full fledged member of Pi Epsilon Phi social fraternity.

Ordinarily, it takes approximately one month to advance through the three degrees necessary to become an active member in the local fraternity. The story of Mr. Miller's elongated career as a Philo pledge is an interesting one. Here's what happened:

Ron transferred to EC from Indiana State in the Fall of 1951; pledged to Pi Epsilon Phi the following quarter and eompleted his first degree, complete with the usual "road trip" and various other pledge aetivities.

Came time for the second degree a week later and the personable Mr. Miller didn't show up. Reason: he had to attend an uncle's funeral that day.

So Lon resigned himself to his fate and eagerly waited the next pledge class to complete his second and third degrees. It was a long wait since the next pledge class wouldn't form until the fall quarter of that year. Over a half-year later, Mr. Miller completed his seeond degree and was almost a full Philo. But Fate intervened again — this time in the form of excess slumber — and prevented Ron from attending the final initiation. Fate was assisted by the fact that the third-degree installations began at a rather early hour—7 a. m.

Last Sunday, Mr. Miller was one of the first to arrive at the Union Bldg. cafeteria for the third-degree breakfast installation. The time of the meeting Sunday, incidentially, was 8 a. m. rather than the usual 7 a. m.; whether or not Mr. Miller had anything to do with the time ehange was not known.

After last Sunday's (George Washington's Birthday) installation Philo active Ron Miller remarked, "I cannot tell a lie . . . my uncle didn't really die . . . I overslept that time too."

'Have You Heard' Top Disc in Union

"Have You Heard" leads all other songs in the Union Building for the third straight week, according to the automatic tabulator. The ten favorites on campus are:

1. Have You Heard—Joni James
2. Till Then—Mills Brothers
3. After Midnight—Ralph Materie
4. It's A Blue World—Four Freshmen
5. Hold Me, Thrill Me, Kiss Me—Karen Chandler
6. The Day Isn't Long Enough—Four Freshmen
7. Street Scene—Ray Anthony
8. Hot Toddy—Ralph Flanagan
9. Downhearted—Eddie Fisher
10. Jalousie—Boston Pop Orchestra

Cnddle Up a Lit...- Oh My!

Wouldn't you like to "cuddle up a little closer" with a dish like that. Lucky Ray Anthony. Gets to play for the Military Ball and snuggle up to a babe that has Venus De Milo beat at least two ways. She has arms (and that isn't all). Marilyn Monroe won't appear with the popular band leader when he comes to EC, but by that time he should be fully recovered (notice that gleam in his eyes) and bring along plenty of top-flight entertainment.

Originality, Humor Highlight Annual 'Kampus Kapers'

By GLORIA WATSON

Originality and humor highlighted the 1953 produetion of Kampus Kapers Monday and Tuesday nights in the Great Hall.

"Macbroth," presented by INCA, was a satire on food, featuring carrots as swords. International Relations Clubs' skit "Our National Heritage," displayed the problems the UN has in trying to settle a controversial matter.

For people who have wondered about the meeting of "the father of our eountry" and his wife, the freshman class gave their interpretation of "How Did George Meet Martha?"

One of the most impressive and memory making skits was SCA's adaptation of "Ogres on Parade," telling of the creation of Frankenstein.

Chi Omega's skit, "As Time Goes By," displayed much feminine pulchritude and a variety of costumes, eras and musie. "Christopher Columbus" given by Philo, was one of the livelier skits in the show and told the story of Columbus discovering Hawaii.

Also included on the program were: "The Wooing of Hiawatha" by Phi Mu; "Dearie, Do You Remember?" by Beta Alpha Kappa; "Caveman Romance" by Alpha Omicron Pi; "Naughty Nero" by Beta Sigma Omieron; and "The Private Chambers of the Duke of Normandy" by Acacia.

Prize winning skits are listed in Late News Breaks on Page One.

Chi Omega's, SCA, Kapers Winning Acts

Chi Omega and the Student Christian Association were awarded top honors in their respective classes in the third annual Kampus Kapers production last week. The theme of the all-campus show was "Hazy History."

The Chi O's winning skit in Class A, consisting of all men or all women in the skit, was entitled "As Time Goes By." It portrayed outstanding women of history and songs that have been written and sung about these women.

Second place winner in this class were the Beta Sigma Omicrons. A satire on Nero's burning of Rome, it was titled "Naughty Nero." The Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity took third place with their skit "Christopher Columbus."

SCA copped first place in Class B, including skits composed of both men and women, with "Ogres on Parade." It related the history of monstors with realistic stage effects.

The Business Administration Club won second place in this division with "Dearie, Do You Remember?," presenting scenes portraying life at the turn of the century. "How George Met Martha" was the theme of the freshman class skit, which took third place in Class B.

Special credit for the smooth-running show should be given to some behind-the-scenes workers. It was directed by Kay Beadus, social director of the Union. Don Rausch was responsible for operation of the spotlight. Stage men were Archie Griggs and Jim Pressly. Jack Reynolds took charge of the PA system.

Tickets were sold by Bob Harman, and Johnny Eger and Dave Roberts took tickets at the door. Ushers were Joann Foster, Marlene Ahrens, and Betty Norris.

Jim Schaefer was general chairman of the production.

Adm. Board Rules On Card Playing

Effective March 17, the first day of Spring quarter, card players may begin play at 12 noon in the Patio of the Union Bldg., that was the ruling passed by the Administrative Board at their regular weekly meeting Feb. 26.

However, if and when the Administrative Board learns that gambling is going on, starting time for the pasteboard fans will revert back to 2 p. m.

The motion made and passed at the Board's meeting Feb. 26 was: "That card playing be permitted after 12 o'clock in the Patio of the Union Building and nowhere else on campus. That, if the Administrative Board has knowledge that gambling on cards is occuring in the Patio, the 2 o'clock rule will be reestablished."

"You can take my word for it, when and if the Board learns that gambling is taking place, we will not hesitate to revert to the 2 o'clock rule," said SGA president Ralph Weber.

Vacation Time Here; Crescent Writer Re- and Pre-views Year

By BILL ADKINS

Spring quarter fever is in the air. All that remains before the final third of the regular school year begins are three days of collective reflecting on knowledge gained and lost during the winter term.

Students face the finals next week with a variety of attitudes and emotions — some with apprehension, some with resignation and others with the smug satisfaction of the well-prepared. All will be happier Thursday morning.

Five Lovely Days

A five-day vacation will give weary minds a chance to rebuild worn out grey matter. It will give students a chance to look back on a pretty eventful quarter.

The dean's list of 70 names gave lesser scholars a goal to work toward during the winter quarter . . . fraternities and sororities jumped into into rush season and emerged with longer roll calls. The Crescent inaugurated news-casts for those who missed the printed word. An editorial campaign to lower the voting age in Indiana to 19 has met partial success.

The Thespians tapped Shakespeare and Mark Twain for drama material and handled presentations of "Macbeth" and "Huckleberry Finn" ably.

Cadets Active

Many were the activities in the AFROTC. The rifle teams shot and shot . . . often against big name schools. A drillteam was formed . . . the cadet band played for the fans during breaks and intermissions at the basketball games. Cadet Arthur Millspaugh was named to command the newly formed 240th Cadet Training Wing.

The college added nine new courses to the graduate study list . . . 805 was the registrar's official count of undergraduate students.

Harold Van Winkle resigned as director of public relations for the college and Mahmut Ozan headed back to his native Turkey as a foreign newsman.

Celebrities Here

Programs presented in the Great Hall and elsewhere on campus included Guatamalan Pianist Salvador Ley, Badminton pro Ken Davidson and Ambassador Henry F. Grady.

Beta Sigma Omicron and Pi Epsilon Phi topped other organizations in scholarship. Kampus Kapers and the "Hazy History" theme were best interpreted by the Chi Omegas. The Philos ebcame the third group to join "frat row" when they purchased the house next to Acacia.

Long Tops

Norman O. Long found himself several votes ahead and polio several dimes behind at the end of balloting in the Popular Professor contest.

The Purple Aces finished a medeocre season in a blaze of glory with a victory over Ilinois State Normal and a queen crowning at halftime. Shirley Balding wore the crown.

Spring quarter activities look just as promising. Tryouts for the new thespian production, "Druid Circle" start the first day of school, Tuesday, March 17. Spring sports will get underway as will Spring football drills.

Reitz and Lincoln High School Senior Nights are on tap along with Union movies, Senior Recitals by EC musicians and the Philo Blackouts.

Scheduled events don't make a quarter, however, so keep your facilities clear . . . in Spring funny things happen.

Four From Here Going To April Conference

Bill Plane, Vernon Potts, James Shakelford, and Lenore Stokes will attend a conference on United States Government at The Principia College April 16, 17, and 18 announced Dr. Wade David, head of the history department.

The topic for the conference, "The United States in the Middle East," will be handled as a round table discussion by the student delegates. The discussion will be led by a top-flight expert from the State Department.

The Principia College is located in Illinois, about 30 miles from St. Louis, Mo.

Women's Rush Set for April

Spring rushing for the sororities will be held April 15-25 announced Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, counselor for women.

Registration for the spring rush will be made during the period between Easter vacation and April 15. Girls who are eligible for the rush will be notified by a postcard, and a list of those person's names will appear in a later issue of The Crescent.

Pledging will take place during the spring quarter but initiation will not be held until fall.

Brantner Heads Red Cross Drive

Lt. Colonel James A. Brantner, commanding officer of the campus ROTC unit, has been named chairman of the committee conducting the Red Cross drive on campus during this month.

Dr. D. W. Dunham is serving as co-chairman of the committee. Committee members are Miss Ida Stieler, James Julian, Major Evan R. Bruner, Cecil Selfridge, and Mrs. Charlotte Stephens.

"Our campaign objective is 100 per cent Red Cross Membersip at Evansville College," Colonel Brantner said. "Anyone contributing $1.00 or more is entitled to membership in the American Red Cross for the year 1953."

"We know that we may look to the Red Cross in an emergency or time of need, confident of the assistance which they will render," he continued. "We are also aware that the Red Cross must look to the American people for financial support to carry on this humanitarian project."

Late News Breaks

"Druid Circle" Tryouts

For those interested in trying out for "Druid Circle," the next Thespian production, copies of that play are available in Mr. Howard Hill's office in the Fine Arts building and may be checked out over the vacation, it has been announced by Joe Emerson. Tryouts are March 17 and 18.

Aces and Sycamore

In the NAIA tourney at Terre Haute Tuesday night, Evansville won over Taylor University and Indiana State bested Indiana Central to gain their way into the final game the following night. Walker scored 23 points for the Aces in their first game.

Howdy, World

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rettke became the parents of a nine-pound, five and one-half ounce baby boy, Gordon Howard, Monday of this week. Mr. Rettke is a consultant in reading here. He and Mrs. Rettke reside at 1300 Roosevelt Drive.

Leaders and Notables

The voting by the faculty on the 1925-53 school year Campus Notables and Campus Leaders is underway. Those selected will be announced in the next issue of The Crescent, March 27.

Help Us Serve You

This is the final issue of The Crescent for this quarter. During this school year, we have endeavored to present school news completely, objectively, and interestingly.

We have been accused, at one time or another, of giving certain organizations more news space than another group equally deserving.

We have been criticized for purposely slighting certain groups as far as space, pictures, and page placement is concerned. Certain newsworthy stories, we have been caustically informed, haven't been reported at all.

In answer to these objections and criticisms we can only say that they are in a way gratifying to us, the staff — it proves our publication is read and all our efforts are not in vain. Add to that answer the fact that we are but amateurs at producing a newspaper . . . we don't know all the answers . . . we are trying to learn some of them.

And, if one organization has received better news coverage than another, it was because the "neglected" organization didn't get the news to us, not because we "pigeonholed" the item.

We are always happy to receive news items from clubs, departments, organizations, and individuals. It makes our job much easier.

Our problem, and any school newspaper for that matter, is not finding space for the news items; rather is finding news items to fill the available space.

The Crescent staff is made up of approximately 20 students. These 20 students, collectively, will come very close to representing every club or organization on campus. We have art majors, music majors, English majors, engineering students, pre-theology students, etc. We have Chi Omegas, Delta Kappas, Incas, Phi Zetas, and Philos, to name but a few of the fraternal organizations represented on the staff. We think we are a pretty good cross-section of the student body. This is as it should be.

During the spring quarter, we will publish eight more issues of The Crescent. The Crescent is a student newspaper . . . written by students and for the students . . . students partially finance The Crescent via the activity fee. Help us give you your money's worth with the Crescent.

"Am I My Brothers Keeper?"

The Red Cross is the heartbeat of America. It enables all of us to express the universal desire to help a less-fortunate neighbor wherever he may be. There is an ever-growing need in these troubled times for the distinctive services of the Red Cross, given freely by people of good will.

It takes people to help people.

A family crushed by disaster needs aid to rebuild its tornado-smashed home . . .

A tired doctor calls for blood to save a sick child's life . . .

A soldier in Korea anxiously awaits the reassuring word that his wife's recovery from illness is certain . . .

An accident victim needs quick, sure first aid care if he is to live . . .

You — the people of America — answered these calls for help last year through your Red Cross . . . these calls and hundreds of thousands like them.

Some 1,825,000 of you served as active Red Cross volunteers. Over 37 million of you became Red Cross members. Your outpouring of time, energy, and money made Red Cross service possible.

In the year just ahead the need will be as great as ever — the stricken, the uprooted, the troubled will call again and again for the help they must have . . . the help that only people can give.

The need is great; but often we are inclined to let the opportunity to give aid slip by — because we are seemingly plagued with constant requests to give — to donate to this cause and that one. It is probably a natural reaction; but it all comes to this point, "Am I, or am I not, my brother's keeper?" And we are, because no human being can exist alone. Each person's existence depends on others. Therefore we are responsible to each — to help one another.

Yes, the need is great! And we must help meet that need through the organizations founded for that purpose. Give to the American Red Cross.

". . . For inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Mail Call...

Dear Editor:

An Administrative Board Memorandum issued to all instructors, organizational presidents, and faculty sponsors should be of interest to many students. It concerns what the 10 o'clock free period may and may not be used for.

The memorandum reads: "Since many of the students spend a great deal of their time working or getting to college and returning home, all the college activities have to be scheduled very carefully. There is sometimes misunderstanding concerning the use of the 10 o'clock period.

"Over the years a certain pattern has taken shape and receives approval by those responsible for planning the daily and weekly schedules. The 35-minute period beginning at 10 o'clock is devoted entirely to student extra-curricular activities and certain college functions which affect the entire program of the college. Instructors are not to schedule meetings or appointments at this hour which are of an instructional nature."

The memorandum then goes on to list what is scheduled by the college, and what may and may not be scheduled or called at the 10 o'clock period of specific days of the week.

I have heard, via rumors I do not know to be facts, that this memorandum was occasioned by non-adherance to this policy by a few instructors, or organizational presidents, or faculty sponsors.

I wonder personally, and feel that other students also wonder, if the statement "Instructors are not to schedule meetings or appointments at this hour which are of an instructional nature," means that no meetings or appointments can be scheduled during the 10 o'clock period which will affect the academic grade of the student?

(signed) A student

(Editor's Note: The answer to the question in the last paragraph of the above printed letter is "yes." Boiled down, the gist of the Administrative Board memorandum quoted above is simply that the 10 o'clock period on Monday, Thursday, and Friday is specifically set aside for student meetings or extracurricular activities. The memorandum was issued by the Administrative Board in an attempt to get instructors, and certain departments to cooperate with the plan. Unfortunately, some of them still obviously haven't "gotten the word" or they simply don't want to cooperate!)

From Our Angle

by Vernon Potts & Joe Emerson

For the past nine weeks in The Crescent we have been trying to give you the happenings of the day From Our Angle, so to speak, with the hope that it might stimulate interest in world affairs and that you might seek information to defend your own opinions on these issues. Some of you have disagreed with us; for this we are grateful. It means not only that you did read the column, but that you are exercising the American prerogative to disagree with any individual or group of individuals. For those that were indifferent and didn't bother to read our column we can only say, that also is your privilege.

McCarthy Dislikes "Voice of America"

Your daily newspapers and radio are filled with discussions on the effectiveness and loyalty of the "Voice of America" program which, we are sure, you realize is the organization that lets the people behind the iron and bamboo curtains know how the free nations of the world feel about certain issues of the day.

Senator McCarthy takes a dim view of its effectiveness, but we feel that even though it might be relatively ineffective, it is a step in the right direction. But it is time we woke up to the realization that, while we are winning the war of material, we are fast losing the battle for men's minds. The old adage that men do not live by bread alone may be laughed at by some materialists, but some very materialistic groups of the world have taken this old saying very seriously.

Communists Flood Southeast Asia With Books

For example, in one of the most formative areas, namely southeast Asia, the Communists have saturated the reading public with articles, magazines, and books defending their political idiologies. While in the same area the free peoples of the world have given very little attention as far as printed matter goes even toward defending our stand in Korea. What little that is done is done in English, while the Communists at every point speak the language of the people they are trying to reach.

Potts Emerson

Major Shortcoming

This case points up one of the major shortcoming of our program of information. We must make a better attempt to win men's minds.

We hope that our columns have left you food for thought. If we have, our purpose was accomplished. This is the three-0 mark From Our Angle.

In the grand finale, a surprise cast will conspire in the "Creation of the Monster."

Several special numbers have been planned by the band: "My Baby Just Cares for Me," a Les Brown arrangement; "A Montage of Stan Kenton Favorites;" and "Celestial Blues" by Woody Herman. The band will also be heard in other selections and accompaniments throughout the program.

Bill Lord will be in charge of the lighting and staging.

Tickets for the spring production are now on sale. They are 75 cents each and may be purchased from any Philo active.

Words To Live By

"Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and sin which clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is seated at the right hand of the throne of God."

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

There's an advantage to being early for class — but, there's a limit. Peyton Peebles shook his shivering roommate awake last week during the cold, gray mists of dawn. Said roommate, Tom Lines, was too bleary-eyed to see the alarm clock. (He'd been towning with the LinC editor the night before while Peyton, a good clean livin' kid was behaving himself).

Nature Boy

Struggling across campus, Peyton was busy admiring nature and playing Seeing Eye for Tom. Arriving at the classroom, Tom finally pried open one eyelid and discovered nobody was there. Feeling very, very brave he pride open the eyelid again and peered at his watch — 6:30, a whole half hour before class started.

As Tom sits, looks at Peyton and hums Chopin's Funeral March, let's mosey to the next item.

John Beard and Jim Rose are lookalikes. Even fooled Miss Kirk a few mornings ago.

Down, Boy

And then there's some little heliophobic, autoeroticratic little———— ——who threw a chocolate malted over one side of my car Saturday night while it was quietly parked on a street considered one of the neighborhoods of the East Side. Wouldn't mind but Pup Dog raised such a fuss after he licked off the side of the car as far as he could reach. Seems he wanted to be lifted up to higher aspirations.

There's a young blonde on campus who's engaged to a blond in Korea. Can't tell young blonde is tied down with an engagement by looking. She should remember that's how talk gets started. Goo, gurgle, goo, goo.

A. A. U. W. Opens Poetry Contest

The annual college poetry contest for college students has been announced by the American Association of University of Women.

This contest is open to any college student, including those enrolled in evening classes.

Poems must be submitted to the college English department head by March 27. They will be collected at the close of the day's scheduled classes by representative of A.A.U.W. Poetry Section.

Poems will be judged within a month thereafter. One first prize and one second prize will be awarded. Honorable mentions will be made if the quality merits them.

To conform with most magazine requirements, poems should not be over 24 lines. They must be typewritten on regulation type-writing size paper with the following information clipped to the poem on a separate sheet: student's name, name of school, and title of poem.

There is no limit to the number of entries allowed any one contestant. However, poems which have been submitted to former A.A.U.W. poetry contests are not eligible for this one.

Poems will be judged especially on originality of thought and expression by memebrs of the Poetry Section of the A.A.U.W.

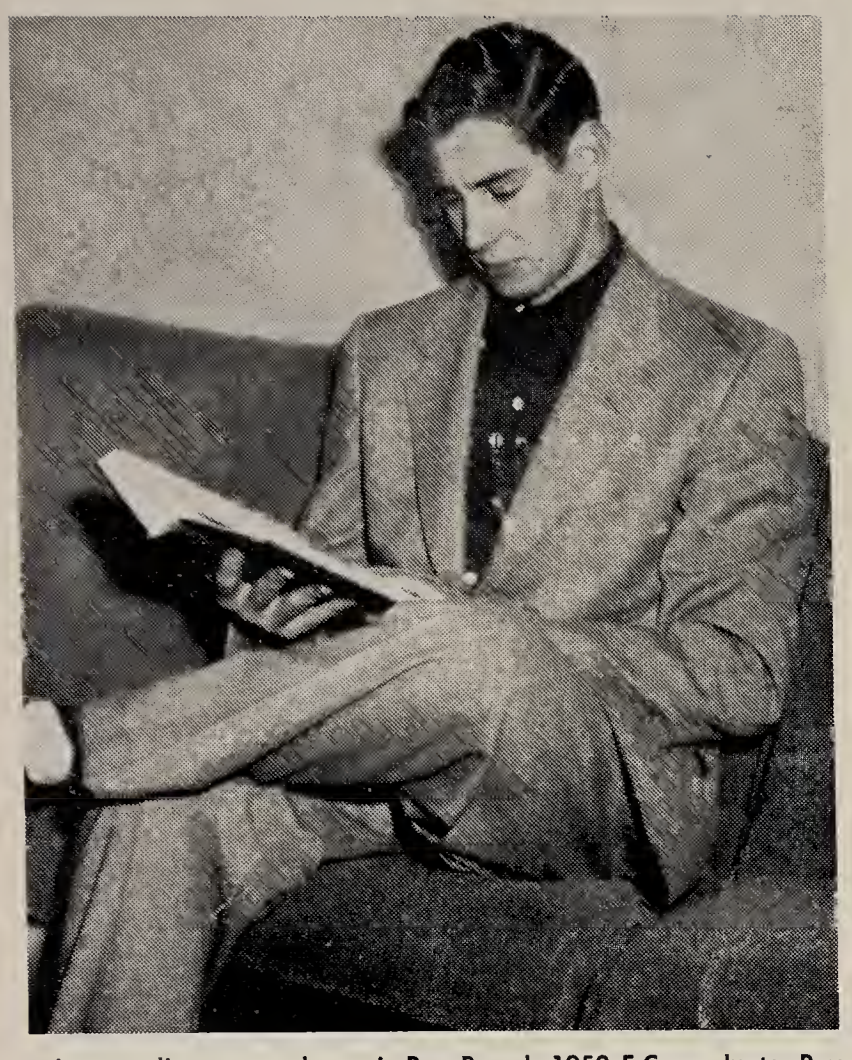
Back Home Again . . .



In a studious pose above, is Ray Bawel, 1952 E.C. graduate. Ray has returned to his old alma mater after spending a successful season with the Philadelphia Eagles, professional football team. Ray starred for Coach Don Ping's Purple Ace gridders while attending here; playing with the strong Evansville footballers of 1949, Ray was honored by winning the W. A. Carson "most outstanding player award" in the Refrigerator Bowl classic that year, a game in which the Aces bested Hillsdale College, 22-7. Ray, who was known as a glue-fingered pass receiver while at E.C., was used primarily as a defensive halfback by the Eagles. He will continue studying for his M.A. degree here.

Annual Zeta Heart Drive Totals $500

Phi Zeta fraternity collected $508 in its annual heart fund drive. The fraternity collected almost $200 more than they did last year during their annual Hell Week drive.

Paul Dewig was in charge of the drive with active members and the pledge class assisting in the collection. The soliciting was done on the campus throughout the Zeta's Hell Week and on Friday night of that week the pledge class collected on the downtown streets.

John Haas, president of the pledge class, was in charge of the downtown collection. Assisting him were Peyton Peebles, Tom Lines, Don Repass, Charles Hubbs, John Slyker, Lester Watson, John Conaway, Ronald Forrester, Harry Critser, Arthur Griggs, and Jerry Neiswanger. The pledge class collected over $200 in the downtown campaign.

Guest Columnist

Raimund Damaske

(Editor's Note: Ray Damaske is a junior here from Germany. A member of Phi Zeta social fraternity, he labels the following column, "Foreign Students of E. C. as Greenhorns in the U.S." or "It Could Happen to You Too.")

You have read serious and educational articles since this guest column was started. I want to break this custom once and tell you of some of the humorous events which were brought about by or happened to the foreign students of E.C. during their first days in this country. As many of them are still here I will mention no names.

I guess that you will complain, if you have to eat the same food for two or three days. Well, when two of our fellows from Japan landed in Frisco they ordered hot dogs for one week in every eating place they went to. Why? Did they like the flavor? Most certainly not after tasting it three times a day for seven days. — They simply did not know how to order anything else. — Hic, hic, hic.

The college is often asked to send a foreign student to make a speech before club meetings or church groups. One day a little guy from Japan was giving such a speech before a church group about wedding customs in Japan. He was in full swing and did not realize that he had better slow down. All of a sudden his bride and groom were in the bed room. What now? How to save face? Eagerly waiting and grinning faces from the audience looked at him. With the typical ever-keep-smiling face he backed out, saying: "You know, I have never been married."

There are always organizations that want to convert somebody to something. Who can be a better target than an innocent new-comer? One of the fellows from Latin America was out with a girl on a date; that was what he thought. She led him straight to a church and down the aisle. Oh, oh. The pastor motioned him to kneel down, placed his hand on the shoulder, and started a sermon. Our poor fellow did not understand a word, neither did he know what was going on. He was being "rescued." After the ceremony the congregation came up to him and shook hands with him. Most of the questions were how he was feeling now. His answer was: "Oh, I am feeling fine, except for a little cold."

It is hard to imagine what complications can arise when a foreigner translates directly from his language into English. Just imagine you are playing cards. "Ace" in Spanish and German is "As" or "Ass." That is when the fun begins — and it happens every time.

These new foreign students take every statement very seriously. Listen to what happened to the professor who picked up a student on his way downtown. When the guy got out he thanked the professor. The prof said: "Ah, don't mention it." Our guy was rather perplexed, but answered then: "Okay, I will tell no one."

Selfridge Article, 'Lieder for Men', In National Organ

Cecil B. Selfridge, associate professor of voice and theory, recently had an article published in the January-February issue of The Bulletin, official organ of the National Association of Teachers of Singing Incorporated.

The article, entitled "Lieder for Men," is concerned chiefly with the Repertoire for Male singers.

For Mr. Selfridge it is the second nationally published story to appear this school year. An earlier article entitled "Singers' Repertoire" appeared in the November issue of The American Music Teacher.

The later article is more specialized than the first. It points out that certain songs are more suitable for male voices than others.

The Bulletin, published in New York and distributed from there, has a reading public largely composed of voice teachers.

Quote of the Week

In one of his foreign language classes early this week, Dr. F. Woody Werking, head of the modern languages department, backed up to a steam radiator and explained "My bicycle seat was wet this morning."

Need Money? Save That Extra Cash-- Buy Meal Tickets

By DICK NICHOLSON

Do you have that empty-stomach, run down feeling? Do you lack pep and ambition? Just can't seem to eat on Fridays? Oh, so that's it, you can't eat on the last day of the week. Well, no wonder you don't have that extra ounce of strength needed to run to class at the last moment.

You have the same symptoms of Joe NoCash. You have an acute case of deflated billfold-itis, accompanied by occasional outbursts of hunger. It's not a contageous disease, you just ran out of money before Friday; probably spent the money you had saved for dinner today for pretzels earlier in the week, and now you just have to suffer.

Tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going to let you folks in on the best deal since the purchase of Manhattan. There's one way you can have those pretzels on Monday and eat a square meal on Friday. You just run down to our old friend, the business office, and ask for the meal ticket special.

You can buy them in two sizes, the small, regular size or the large economical size. When you buy the small one for $4.50 you receive five dollars worth of delicious food from the cafeteria. The large economy size sells for nine dollars, but you get ten dollars worth of food.

So hurry on down folks. You can't afford to pass up this opportunity of a lifetime. Hurry, there's a limit — all you can eat possibly — to each customer.

Just think, you save all that space in your billfold, get five dollars for four and one-half, and can still have your pretzels with the fifty cents you saved.

Final Examinations Begin Monday

From the office of the dean comes the following information concerning winter quarter final examinations, March 9, 10, and 11:

1. Classes on the examination schedule are listed in the same order in which they appear in the regular class schedule — alphabetically, by departments. Section numbers are indicated in parentheses immediately following the course number. M-Monday; T-Tuesday, W-Wednesday.

2. Examinations have been set up in such a way that no conflicts should occur except those caused by group examinations. Students having such conflicts should see the instructor of the group examination. Those having work conflicts see instructor.

3. Paper will be furnished for exams. All examinations must be written in ink "except special cases to be decided by instructor."

4. Do not ask teachers for grades. Grades will be reported from the Registrar's Office at the earliest possible date. If a report is desired before grades are issued from the Registrar's Office, provide instructor with self-addressed, stamped post-card before examination.

5. The rule of the college is that all work, including notebooks, special examinations, etc., must be completed at the close of the quarter. No work should be left incomplete unless absolutely unavoidable.

6. Students must have met all financial obligations due the college (including library fines) or have made satisfactory arrangements to do so with the Business Manager before they will be permitted to take examinations.

Spring Sports Begin Drills This Month

By JERRY HOOVER

With the closing weeks of this year's basketball season, all eyes will soon be turned to the coming events in the spring sports program.

Spring football practice, which is now in progress, is a sure sign that tennis, baseball, and golf are just around the corner.

Coach Arad McCutchan's tennis team will include five returning lettermen. Sophomores, Bob Friberg who was an outstanding player last year will be back at the net. Jack Combs is also expected to see plenty of action along with Don Rausch, Bob Harmon and Russell Lasher.

Play Them All

"We expect to play every team in the ICC at least once and have scheduled games with Southern Illinois and Western Kentucky," said Mr. McCutchan. At least one overnight trip will be taken by the team.

In baseball, Coach Ping expects about ten lettermen back. Returning are Don Folz, catcher; Jim Nichols and Jim Hood, pitchers. In the infield, Charlie Simon, first base; Bob Martin, second base; Ron Kemmeling and Byron Brenton, short stop and Keith Combs, third base. Outfielders who will be back are Ralph Weber, left field, and Norm Heard, right field.

Practice Starts Soon

Practice will probably begin about March 27 according to Mr. Ping. The first game will be April 8. The schedule wil include games with Indiana State, Butler, Valparaiso, Ball State and St. Joseph. Non-conference games scheduled are with Wayne University of Detroit, Western Kentucky, Murray State, University of Dayton, Southern Illinois, and Camp Breckinridge. There are eight home dates, four of which are double headers, and six dates away, including one double header.

This year the playing diamond will be changed to the one directly north of the Athletic building instead of the former one which was adjacent to the Armory. Gene Robinson, athletic business manager, said that preparation for getting the diamond in shape will begin in eight or ten days.

Five lettermen

The golf team will have five men returning. They are Bill Herrell, Bernie Connally, Kenny Grall, Charlie Cullom and Ray Stein.

Coach Paul Beck announced that the team will play Purdue University and Western Michigan, Western Kentucky, Butler, Indiana State and Southern Illinois University.

If any men are interested in going out for spring sports, please see the respective coaches in regard to details.

All About Aces

by Jack Combs

Now that the basketball season has drawn to a close, our athletes will once more venture to the out-of-doors to start spring football and after that the rest of the spring sports.

Spring football is already underway with Coach Ping sending the remaining members of last seasons squad through light workouts. Among the familiar faces is a new member of the squad, one half of the Ron and Don Gray team that played for Bosse High School back in 1951, Ronnie Gray. At the end of the 20 alloted spring practice sessions the coaching staff will turn their thoughts to the coming spring sports campaign.

New Diamond

The baseball diamond that the Aces will use this year will be the one located directly behind the athletic office instead of the one previously used next to Rotherwood. The pitchers will like this no doubt since they won't have to pitch uphill anymore. Work is scheduled to begin on the new diamond next week. With the nucleus of returning lettermen the team should improve their 6-8 record from last year.

The Aces have two pitchers back from last year, Jim Nichols, who carried the brunt of the assignments last year, and Jim Hood, small right-hander who thinks his arm is ready to go this year. Behind the plate will be Don Folz, otherwise known as Teddy Bear to his friends (I was one), and he will be assisted in the infield by Charlie Simon, Bob Martin, Ron Kemmeling and Keith Combs.

Infield Coach

Rumor has it that Major Evan Bruner, Professor of Air Science and Tactics, will take over the coaching of the infield for Coach Don Ping this year.

In the outfield the Aces will have long ball hitter Norm Heard back along with Ralph Weber, if his work as editor of The Crescent doesn't interefer. So far the center field spot is uncertain.

With that much returning talent the Ace baseballers will have a hard time fashioning a losing season.

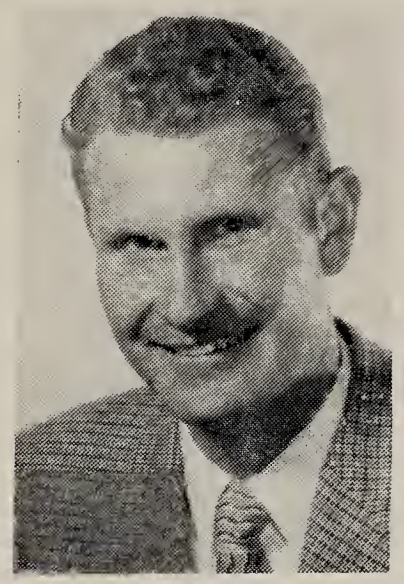
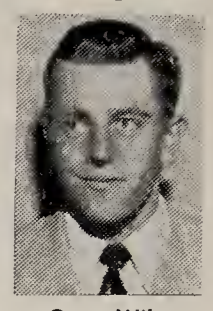
Jack has won two letters in basketball at Evansville and his graduation will be felt under the bankboards in the coming years.

Walker Most Promising

Bob Walker, freshman forward, was voted The Most Promising Player. His shooting in the last games of the season raised him to fifth place in the scoring for the year. Bob ended the season with 62 field goals and 26 free throws for an even 150 points. His total number of field goals was good enough for a third place tie with Keith Combs, and his average of 8.3 points per game put him in third position in that department.



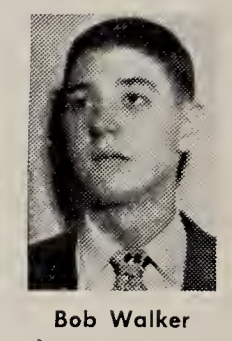
Jack Nosh



Gene Wilm

Wilm Most Improved

Voting for the Most Improved Player of the year was the hardest job of the three with many of the Aces showing continual improvement throughout the year. The board finally named Gene Wilm as its choice. Gene, the fireball from Haubstadt, Ind. continually came through in the clutch when the points were needed most during the closing games of the season. Gene ended the season with 52 field goals and 71 free throws for a total of 175 points to tie Dave Crumbaker for third position among the teams top scorers. Gene is a sophomore this year and has two more seasons to play on the varsity squad.



Bob Walker

The All-opponent squad, picked by the board, lists Nick Revon, of Miss. Southern; Jack Cross, of Ball State; Garrett Beshear, Murray, Ky. State; Bill Sarver, Ill. State Normal; Bob Kreighauser, Washington of St. Louis and Keith Greve, of Butler.

Six players received honorable mention, they were: Sam Richardson and Jim Crockrun of Ind. State, Don Nicholaus, Southern Ill., Bill Snowden, Ky. Weselyn, Jim Crosely, Butler, and Ed Raeber of Oakland City.

All-ICC lists Fve

On the All-ICC opponent team the board listed Jack Cross and Ron Halloway at guards. Keith Greve and Don Bielke at forwards and Jack Dwyer at center.

The NCA individual scoring statistics for small colleges lists Garrett Beshear fifteenth in the nation with 601 points in 25 games for an average of 24 points per game and Bill Sarver as seventeenth with 550 points in 23 games for an average of 23.9 points per game.

In the field goal percentage column Bob Kreigshauser has hit 144 field goals out of 281 attempts for a percentage of 51.2 in 22 games for ninth place in the nation.

Spring Drill Begins For Football Team

Spring football practice for the Purple Aces began last Monday, March 2, with 16 men reporting for a light workout. The spring practice period will be limited to 20 sessions by a national collegiate ruling.

Head Coach Don Ping is expected to stress fundamentals during the spring workout period. He will be aided by Assistant Coach Paul Beck.

Bill Parish, freshman halfback who was sidelined by an ankle injury early last season, is working out but is not ready for contact work at this early date. Ronnie Gray, a transfer student from Western Kentucky, is also practicing with the Aces squad.

Completing the list of players who are working out are Byron Brenton, Jim Giovanetti, Norman Heard, Doug Holleman, Charlie Kendall, Jim Logue, Bob Martin, Ronnie Miller, Jim Nichols, Ted Niemeier, Gary Renck, Harold Schneider, Bob Scott, and Ron Whitaker.

Some of the players will not be able to attend the spring practices because of late classes and job commitments.

Snowbound Sextet Encounters Peril In Forms of Ice, Ditches, Flat Tire

A slow boat to China would have been considered fast for six stranded "oraters" recently returning from a radio-broadcast in Cincinatti.

The snow-bound sextet, Jim Schreiber, Myra Kasey, Bob Harris, Janice Morgan, Prof. James Shutt and his wife found companion-ship in the green Shutt Chevrolet for an eighteen hour period.

Himalayas?

Reaching Brownstown, Indiana, the group encountered snow and ice. Near here they were forced to encamp at th bottom of a hill, since it resembled the Himalayas in height.

They stayed four hours until rescue came in the form of a pusher who "pushend" for over a mile.

Mrs. Shutt, Bob and Jim, who in order to reduce weight had vacated the auto, trudged over hills on foot in search of the little green mobile. Hitch-hiking proved the solution here.

More Trouble

Stopping at a house along with eighty others with this same idea, the speechless speakers (by this time too cold to speak) started off again with a bang — a flat tire in the middle of nowhere. Then a ditch got in their way before arriving in E-town at 7 a.m. Maybe that's why their faces didn't in the Monday morning classes!

EC Students Help In Taking Survey

Evansville College, under the supervision of vice-president of the college Dean Long, and Indiana University, recently conducted a survey to find the attitude of the public on pickets forcibly preventing people from entering or leaving a plant.

The survey, which was prompted by the recent Servel, Inc. strike, showed that 68 per cent of the public thought that this practice was undesirable, twelve per cent approved of the forceful pickets, and 20 per cent were not sure.

Students of EC conducted the survey, collecting the information which was sent to Indiana to be compiled. At Indiana, the information was tabulated and distributed to the public.

1953 Philo Blackouts Open Monday

By KEN CURTIN

Once again show time on the campus rolls around. Next Monday and Tuesday, March 30-31, the Philos will present their fifth annual "Blackouts."

Outstanding Band

Rog Pemberton and the collegiate orchestra will provide the musical background for the acts and those who saw last year's show can vouch for the fine quality orchestration work done. This band features many of last year's proven players plus the addition of several promising freshmen.

No Blackouts show is complete without a master of ceremonies. So this year Mr. Stiles and Mr. Curtin have decided upon a college student, Ron Miller, local yokel and joke-teller supreme, to keep the show speeding to its climactic end with the creation of new talent called, "The Monster." Mr. Miller is a sophomore and has promised, "a new treatment of the M.C. chore."

Curtain Call at Eight

Curtain times are at 8 p.m. and as customary the show will open with a loud "bang." Mr. Stiles has promised one of the most unusual openings ever offered. The talent starts with Bob Schaffstein and his "Tops in Taps" routine and includes: Sandy Barnhardt, "accordionist petite," and Chuck Simpson, a vocalist. The Pemberton crew will close the first act with one of the highlights of the show, "The Stan Kenton Review."

With intermission ended the second act gets underway with such entertainers as Jack Gruebel, student and drum player who will render some of the percussionism he is known for. Shirley Heines, vocalist with the Charlie Kroener orchestra is in the song spot followed by a group of three boys called the "Rhythm Rascals" — accordion, sax and guitar, promising some good fast-tempo tunes.

New Closing

Closing the show will be one of the most different acts ever seen in Blackouts, "Creation of the Monster." Actually created before your eyes, one of the horrifying monsters of the movies that's guaranteed to scare the yell out of you. Sprinkled throughout the show will be a whole chucklefull of comedy skits performed by Don Folz and company.

Tickets are 75 cents per person and can be obtained from any fraternity member or at the door the nights of each performance.

Pi Epsilon Phi Elects Three To Fill Spring Vacancies

Three new officers were elected to hold positions in Pi Epsilon Phi social fraternity in a special election early this month.

The special election was held to fill positions left by winter graduate Marvin Fox, the retiring president; John Evers, retiring vice president; and George Fickas, retiring recording secretary.

Newly elected officers are: John Moss, president; Bill Steier, vice-president; and John Eger, recording secretary.

Mr. Moss is a senior, a member of last season's football team and the recipient of the annual Kiwanis Award for the 1952 season. Mr. Steier, an engineering student, is a junior, and Mr. Eger is a sophomore.

Crescent Mail Call.....

Dear Editor:

I thoroughly enjoyed the subtle attack which "A Student" made in Mail Call on March 6, as a possible retaliatory gesture to the five demerits he may have received for not complying with his "requested" attendance to the election of the Honorary Cadet Colonels on February 23.

The young man above shows a remarkable attention to regulations, but apparently fails to grasp the meaning of those regulations or else fails to follow the intent of the content contained therein.

To quote a portion of the memorandum for his further perusal, it reads, "The 35-minute period beginning at 10 o'clock is devoted entirely to student extra-curricular activities and certain college functions which affect the entire program of the college."

It is my own estimation that the young man can take his choice of the underlined descriptions above and that the scheduled activity (from which he absented himself to the tune of five demerits) fits either or both of them. The annual selection of Honorary Cadet Officers is very definitely a "student extra-curricular activity" since no others are permitted to nominate or vote. It is also a "college function which affects the entire program of the college" since it is a part of ROTC. If he disagrees with the last premise, let him ask himself if he believes that the removal of ROTC from the campus would "affect the entire program of the college"

I should further like him to ask himself if he has read, carefully, Cadet Regulation 50-1. If he has, he certainly must have learned that provision has been made for appealing undeserved demerits to the Cadet Disciplinary Board which is composed entirely of Cadets whom he selects.

Incidentally, the shifting of the Military Ball date from April 16 to March 5 forced the selection of the election of Honorary Cadet Colonels to February 23 since balloting had to be completed in sufficient time to make the necessary plans for commissioning.

I personally feel that the Cadet has failed to understand just how fortunate he is to be able to learn the meaning of "requests", "orders", and "regulations" at a time when they cost him only five demerits instead of, at a later date, when they might cost him an "official reprimand" or even punishment.

Please, Mr. Cadet, don't take this as biased criticism. The Air Force personnel have been placed on this campus to make Air Force Reserve Officers out of selected college men. If you and I should ever have the opportunity to serve together in the Air Force, I should very much dislike to have to explain the meaning of each Air Force Regulation, Manual, Bulletin, and Letter to you because neither of us would ever get anything else accomplished and the situation hardly makes for efficiency in the service.

I should like "A Student" also to know that the meeting was properly cleared with the Dean of the College, the Dean of Men, and the Dean of women, and that it was publicized far enough in advance for him to have made the necessary arrangements to attend or to present a logical reason for non-attendance and be excused.

Dear Editor,

I admire Mr. Prickett's comments about me. My learned friend was not, however, honest in expounding the causes of my grumblings — I wish he were in my boots for a day.

Mr. Prickett's case is true with many persons I have indulged into tete-a-tete — no foreigner should criticize American policy, but boost it, since the world is obligated to the American taxpaper. How much truth there is in this thinking rests in the Peanut schemes under the Point IV program in East Africa and the vast cocoa profits from West African cocoa growers. We must not be a mind of thinkers.

Paul Dewig

(Ed's. Note: Mr. Dewig is a senior English major; president of the Evansville College chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity; past president of Phi Zeta social fraternity; and at the present time spends most of his time working on the 1953 edition of the LinC of which he is editor. A former member of The Crescent staff, Mr. Dewig is probably better known to Crescent readers as "Pablo" Dewig, his favorite by-line.)

Not to mistake this column for Mr. Prickett's, the editor decided to give me a by-line — oh happy day. Sometime I get tired of reading columns about some Butinski or Kashoopinkohf or Spznkersnk and I know the average avid Crescent reader shares my feelings. Therefore, and I quote myself, I'll try to deal with some real people and real happenings which go on hereabouts.

With spring springing all over the place, guess it's about time for young men's fancy to turn to thoughts of which army camp they will be stationed. Us young happy lads just don't have too much to plan for ourselves, thanks to the thoughtfulness of uncle.

Solution to Line?

While my mind is just sort of meandering as usual, I'm just curious enough to wonder if there isn't someone on campus who can come up with a solution to the waiting line in the grill. Seems that everyone gripes about the service, but fail to come up with any constructive solution. There's a good practical problem for a time and motion study class.

Here's a strange fact. "This nation spends five times as much every year on dogfood as it does on college textbooks for its youth." Someone should tell the author of that statement about the price of textbooks, ain't that so, Mrs. Schreiber? Speaking of the bookstore, I think the staff deserves a pat on the po-po for doing as much as they do with the limited space and help. I understand a new line of sport jackets have been stocked. They're light weight, in either blue with a white seal or yellow with a purple seal. Real pert!

Chloroformed Rabbit

Well, we've jumped from the Union to the Ad Building now let's hop (bunny, that is) to the Engineering Bldg. That was fun now wasn't it? Know what a chloroformed rabbit is?

Anyone who can't pronounce Spznkersnk just don't read Pogo, or pay close attention to the gems of wisdom of lil Groundon. Didjaever notice the big, wide eyeballs of lil Groundon. Reminds me of the LinC editor after trying to schedule more than two people for a picture. Which brings up a subject near my heart. There's a big vacancy for experienced, inexperienced, rum dumbs, general goof-offs and workers on the staff. Anyone interested better keep his mouth shut or he'll stick his foot in the journalism department.

Ho — Another Bunny

It's an ether bunny. That's a time joke?

In the next few weeks a lot of pictures have to be taken for the annual. Any and all cooperation on the part of any and everybody will be exceedingly appreciated by one, namely — me. If I can slip this little commercial past the copy reader, I want to thank those individuals who have contributed to workings of the yearbook and ask for their continued understanding and support.

With spring sap rises in plants. One of the faculty members allows as how sap rises in other things, too.

There was a kite flying fight and contest Sunday afternoon on ye olde college campuse. Bob McKenzie got his kite up 2,000 feet when the string broke. That gave Carl Grabert the kite fight by default. (Shades of old Japan). Ed Frohbieter built a 14-foot monster box kite, but seemed to have a little difficulty getting it airbourne.

Monotonous?

Nylon blouses used to be interesting. At the high school party last week so many were in evidence the nylon blouses were monotonous.

Who's got a remedy for Kaw Liga? When I hear it I think I need another cup of coffee or shouldn't have imbibed the last cup. Surely the Society For the Preservation and Encouragement of Wooden Indians and the Prevention of Cruelty to Red Maple Red Men Inc., will slip Kaw Liga the good word about that Indian Maid across the street and they'll have lots of little chips off the old blocks. (That has to be Red Maple Red Men, of what else could wooden Red Men be carved but Red Maple?)

Joe Dodge, returned from co-op, doesn't have a glassy-eyed stare. That's just him new spectacles.

Have you noticed? People do play cards at high noon. Ah yes, cards here at high noon aand the Kate Smith hour in New York.

Everybody knows it, but it's Mr. and Mrs. Jack Franke, now at home at 1231 Emmett street.

Whodonit?

"Who," and Bob Green says, "Who sent me that plannod parenthood literature??" Emmy Seegmueller and Betty Staser, (of the been here since 1835 Stasers), both claim to be innocent.

There are a few civilian male students around this happy college and it would behoove the ROTC to remember it. A little liason work between the ROTC and the student body could have avoided much of the ruffled feelings which occurred during the first part of the quarter concerning eight o'clock classes on Fridays.

Only after asking a half-dozen ROTC members did one of the student officers explain the situation. The ROTC has to stand an inspection sometime in the future. Standing for inspection, like most things, takes lots and lots of practice. The most convenient time for the ROTC members to practice is 8 o'clock on a fine Friday morning and all's well. Wonder if the ROTC boys considered practicing at 7 a.m. so as not to be in such conflict with the school schedule?

'Tain't Right

No longer can one look across the beautiful Ohio and coo condescendingly about the beknighted states that don't have winter snow and republicans. Unpleasant reminders of lingering remnants of an archaic political institution are floating through the mail — the poll tax. It's descriminatory. Just because someone's a he and not a she, he is taxed. That's class legislation. We, who are taught our Little Chicago on the Ohio is one of the shining jewels in the Hoosier diadem, detect a slight tarnishing around the edges and realized we're not too much better than the other 46 and Texas.

That's not a Napoleon, it's a Josephine — Danish pastry, you know.

Words To Live By

"And Jesus told His disciples, 'If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, and who ever loses his life for my sake will find it. For what will it profit a man, if he gains the whole world and forfeits his life? Or what will a man give in return for his life?'"

Skits, Style Show Entertain Soldiers At Breckenridge

Sponsored by the Red Cross, a group of skits from Kampus Kapers was presented at Camp Breckinridge hospital last Sunday.

The show had some difficulty in getting started. Some of the costumes for the skits were left in Evansville and after several phone calls arrangements were made to pick them up in Henderson. Due to a breakdown of the bus, the troupers arrived two hours late at the hospital.

During the delay, Al Schmidt, Jackie Varon and Gene Beyers carried on the show, ad libbing and directing group singing.

The remainder of the entertainers arrived and the show proceeded as scheduled. Groups presenting acts were the Freshman class, Chi Omega and IRC. Jim Giovanetti did a record pantomine to "Cocktails for Two." Singing solos were Pat Harris and Billie Jean Miller.

The preceeding Sunday, March 15, a style show was presented at Service Club 1 for officers and their families. This show was sponsored by Schears' Department store and was arranged by Pat Keeney, recreational director at the Service club. Models were Sharon Greubel, Bess Mullet, Marilyn Randolph, Pat Miller, Marilyn Leucht, Vera Robinson, Shirley Balding and Charlotte Sauter.

Musical accompaniment for the show was provided by a band composed of service men.

It's the size of the FIGHT in the man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough . . . tough enough . . . smart enough . . . if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to fly the latest, hottest planes. You'll be prepared to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Officer, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Prof. Ida Stieler has planned a women's tennis team and invites any interested women to try out. The team schedules many colleges as well as participating in the James Milliken Tournament at the latter university.

Barters Keep Lead; Stealer Team Second

Stielers Stealers have advanced one notch in the Bowling League. Last week they were in third place, and now have possession of the second position just one game behind the league leaders, the Bartle Barters.

In this week's standings, the Philo Four Roses dropped from second to third place. The rest of the teams have maintained their position with the exception of an interchanging of the BAK and the SCA.

Don Hulsey took honors for the high series of three games. He had a 537 total. Don is captain of the Philo team.

Lt. Col. James Brantner ran away with top flight honors for high game by rolling a 221.

Another faculty member, Ralph Coleman, has boasted the leading average since early in the year. He has a 162 average for his last 42 league games.

ICC Names Honor Quintet and Coach

Indiana's Athletic Conference, which recently took DePauw into its fold, named players from five schools on the ICC all-conference team. The only school not represented on the honor list is Evansville college.

The quintet lists Keith Greve of Butler; Jack Dwyer of St. Joseph; Don Bielke of Valparaiso; Roger Adkins of Indiana State; and Jack Cross of Ball State. This crew is almost identical to that selected by The Crescent, the Crescent giving Ron Holloway the nod over Rog Adkins.

Don Bielke was chosen the most outstanding player in the conference, with Coach Dick Scharf of St. Joseph's College selected as coach of the year.

Undefeated Zetas Top Intra-murals

Phi Zeta fraternity strengthened its hold on first place in the intramural basketball league by notching two more victories last week.

On Wednesday night the Zetas stopped Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity 35-25, and on Thursday night the Zetas won a game by forfeit from Acacia fraternity.

Gene Bauer led the Zetas in the Wednesday encounter with the Philo squad. Bauer, the league's leading scorer, chalked up 18 points and raised his season's average to 15 points per contest. His five game total is 72 points, three points more than the five game 69 point output of Joe Whitmore of the Whitmore Warriors.

In other first round play on Wednesday evening, Whitmore's Warriors, currently in second place and only one game behind the Phi Zeta squad, stopped Acacia 59-38. The Freshmen topped the Philo Torpedos 44-32, and in the evening's final contest the Red Horse Ranchers won a forfeited game from the Newman Club after the Newman Club had posted a 52-37 score.

Three games were won by forfeit in Thursday night's activity and the remaining game resulted in a one point decision.

Acacia forfeited to Phi Zeta; the Philo Torpedos forfeited to Pi Epsilon Phi; and the Newman Club forfeited to Whitmore's Warriors.

In the only regulation contest of the evening the Red Horse Ranchers eked out a one point victory in their scrap with the Freshmen 40-39.

Results of the final session of play were too late to be included in this issue.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

Ralph Weber, Dale Sauer, Cub Kinney, Bob Kettelhunt, Ron Stovall, Gene Tevault, and myself visited the spring training camps of the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Florida, on our vacation between quarters. We saw a lot of baseball and absorbed plenty of Vitamin "D" from that fine Florida sunshine. We all agreed that New York will repeat as pennant winners in the American League. However, you can't overlook Cleveland who will be close on their heels.

Brooklyn figures to repeat in the National League after a photo finish with St. Louis and New York. I'm ready to hear the crack of those bats again. How about you? The Major League season opens April 14. Don't forget to back Don Ping and his Purple Ace Nine. They open up with Wayne University, April 8, at the college field.

INDIANA BASKETBALL

Branch McCracken and his "Hurrying Hoosiers" deserve a "Hats Off" for their performance in the NCAA play-offs. As you know they emerged victorious in a 69 to 68 decision over "Phog" Allen and his great Kansas five. This is their second NCAA championship. Their last win was in 1940.

Sports writers said there wasn't a center born that could stop Indiana's Don Schlundt. I wonder how they account for Born, Kansas' great center, receiving the most valuable player award in the NCAA tournament?

PHI ZETA-PHILO TILT

The Phi Zetas defeated the Philos in intra-mural play 36 to 25 last Wednesday night. Both fraternities showed unusuall good sportsmanship and clean play. This is a credit to both fraternities. Did you check those crazy basketball trunks "Red" Walters wore? They must have accounted for his scoring punch — one free throw. The Phi Zetas had some loyal backers giving them good support. I wonder where the Philo backers were?

EXTRA INNINGS

Ray Bawel, former Evansville College football great and professional football halfback with the Philadelphia Eagles, is the new science teacher in the Boonville school system.

"Dutch" Martin former Evansville College football performer is back on the campus this spring. Good luck to him in the coming season with Don Ping and the Purple Ace Eleven.

Ping Concludes Football Drills

With spring just beginning, spring training for the football team is approaching its end, due to the limit of twenty practice sessions as instituted by a national collegiate ruling.

A promising squad of some twenty aspirants showed up for this year's spring workout with some promising results noted by Head Coach Don Ping and assistant coach Paul Beck. Every afternoon, except Saturday and Sunday, Coach Ping has had the boys working and drilling on fundamentals with toughening up procedures to help round them into shape for next fall's schedule.

Some of the players were not able to attend these spring practices due to late classes or job commitments, but the turnout was considered a success by Ping.

'Druid Circle' Cast Announced By 'Board of Directors'

Cast members for 'The Druid Circle," final Thespian offering of the 1952-53 season were chosen by tryouts last week.

The cast as announced by directors Bill Lord and Joe Emerson calls on Ron Hamilton to play the part of Professor Perry Phillips, John Wilson as Tom Lloyd Ellis, Homer Meredith as Maddox and Joe Emerson as Professor White.

Women's parts are to be taken by Pat Martin as Mrs. White; Sue Chenowith as Miss Dagnall, and Ann Stocks as Miss Trevelyan. Pat Darst will take the part of Megan Lewis, Barbara Moore will portray Blodwen and Bess Mullett, Mrs. Maddox.

"Willie and Joe" Wheels

The play, spoken of as a "Willie and Joe production, kept in check by Howard A. Hill," will be presented April 22, 23, and 24, 8:15 in the college auditorium.

This satire on college life is played in an English college campus, full of tradition and dull professors. The plot thickens when White finds a letter from one student to another and reads it.

Party Paper?

Not being a great believer in campus love affairs he plans to make trouble over the matter. More behind the scenes action is revealed as the audience sits in on a tea party held by Prof. White's mother. The latest dirt of the campus is fully discussed and judgment is leveled upon all.

The ending of the show redeems some of the wrongs that have been done and restores order to the campus.

Openings are available for those who wish to smear paint or grease paint, hammer nails or use a saw. The place to sign for crew work is the big bulletin board in the Administration Building.

You Don,t Mean To Say . . .

Gossip is prevalent in the Druid Circle, as it is in all campus circles. Susan Chenoweth and Anne Stocks are only two of the faculty members who appear in the tea party to discuss the actions of the campus. The show, set on the campus of an English college, portrays student and faculty life in some of its most trying moments.

Lord, Emerson Direct Actors In Production

"Druid Circle," a Thespian production under the direction of Joe Emerson and Bill Lord, will go on stage Wednesday, Thursday and Friday April 22-24 at 8:15 p.m.

Throughout the play, writer John van Druten portrays life an a small English college campus. His manner of characterizing college professors adds comedy, intrigue and romance to the show.

The scene is first set in the professors' lounge. Here is met Miss Dagnall, played by Susan Chenoweth, and Professor Perry Phillips, portrayed by Ron Hamilton, both flighty, serious-minded teachers.

Granddaddy Emerson

Professor White is the overbearing "grandaddy" of the school. Played by Joe Emerson, White is the one who seems to cause all the trouble.

Homer Meredith as Maddox, White's understudy and lecturer, is the level-headed human professor; while Tobin, young chemistry lecturer played by Bill Lord, is the joker of the faculty.

Tom Lloyd-Ellis, alias John Wilson, is a senior at the college and is into almost everything. He and his girlfriend, Megan Lewis, played by Pat Darst, appear as they are passing out copies of the college magazine to the faculty.

Experienced Student

Bess Mullet portrays the ex-actress Brenda who is held somewhat in awe by other members of the female college set because of her experiences on the London stage.

A tea party in the White's apartment introduces Pat Martin as Mrs. White, elderly mother of Professor White. She is one of the kind old ladies that is always glad to share her knowledge of everything with anybody.

Anne Stocks as Miss Trevelyn, overseer of the girls dormitory, is more than glad to sit in on the tea party. She enjoys adding her little bits of information to he gathering and may get a chance to see Prof. White.

Barbara Moore as Blodwen, saucy, devil-may-care maid, enters during the party and helps White out of a jam.

Activity tickets admit students to the general admission sections. Tickets plus 25 cents is for reserved seats. General public admission tickets may be purchased for 50 cents or reserved seats for 75 cents.

Are Students Prone To Drama?

Next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday our very talented Evansville College Thespian group will present their version of the "Druid Circle" a three-act satire.

The "Willie and Joe" (Bill Lord and Joe Emerson) directed production will be the last Thespian offering during the present school year.

Thespian productions this year, as well as in years past, have a certain "sameness" about them — a sameness in the sense that they are always well-directed, expertly enacted, and produced in a professional manner. One other characteristic of most Thespian productions is a poor student turnout.

This is regrettable, not just for the Thespians but for the missing students too.

In their last outing, the Thespians tackled a very difficult drama, Macbeth, and drew well-earned praise from the up-town critics as well as all who attended the show. In "Druid Circle," the college group will enact a story that should suit college students to a "T," a satire on college life. And who should better interpret a satire on college life than college students?

And the nice thing about a Thespian production is that they don't hike the prices when they have an "extra-special" show — your activity ticket will admit you to an evening of fine entertainment, presented by a very talented, hard-working bunch of youngsters. Plus old man Howard Hill, a very handy man to have around to guide the youngsters over the rough spots.

Help Wanted: Some Voters

Several elections have been held on the campus in the past weeks and once again students have proven by their turnout of votes they don't give a hang about college activities. To cite one of the most glaring examples, the case of the card playing rule.

Much belly aching and griping with some very caustic remarks were heard concerning the "No card playing until two o'clock" rule from its very inception. So the Student Government president promised, as a part of his program, to change the rule.

A committee was set up to study the rule and make a recommendation acceptable to the student body. After several weeks of hard work, an assembly was scheduled to read the proposed change. Of all the gripers and commenters, only seventy showed up for the reading.

Likewise in recent elections, there was never a turnout which insured those elected firm student support. Yet those that don't vote are the ones that do the most complaining about campus policies.

Now, in the weeks that follow, the politicians will again take over as the student government elections arrive. Scoops on the candidates of each faction will soon be placed before you. Each candidate will tell you what he proposes to do. You will then be asked to vote and insure your voice on campus policies. Yet we contend not half of the student body will vote. It is not very conductive to a policy, making committee to make recommendations for the good will of the students if they don't even have the backbone to stand up and say, by voting, this is the way I feel it should be done.

Remember it's your college. You make or break the prestige it attains. If the elections are allowed to be turned into fraternity strength tests, why have elections? Why not just allow the contingent with the most members and support appoint officers or queens, if no one other than party backers vote or take an interest in policies of Evansville College?

We wonder if this SGA election will be a campaign of issues or fraternities. Protect your rights as a student, vote, take an interest in elections. Let's make this year's SGA turnout the largest ever.

SGA News

Changes in selecting Campus Leaders and Campus Notables were recently approved by the Administrative Board of the Student Government Association.

The rules were modified as follows: If any candidate for Campus Notable fails to completely fill all qualifications but partially fills those qualifications, the requirements may be waived by a three-fourths majority vote of all members of the student nominating committee. It was further passed that these elections should be separate, with the "Notables" being elected in the early part of February and the "Leaders" in March. In addition, the student committee will be given discretion on a number not less than twice and not more than three times the number to be selected.

Homecoming, Oct. 17

In the April 9 meeting of the Administrative Board it was decided that November 21 be designated as Dad's Day and Oct. 17 as Homecoming. It was suggested that the Public Occassions Committee assume the duties of Dad's Day. The committee is not to replace the Dad's Day Committee, but to back it up. Further discussion on this will take place at the next student council meeting.

The report on finances of accounts in the student activity fee was discussed. The radio council has expressed desire to be included in the fee, with the debate and dramatics departments feeling that they can work out something so that the "Council" will receive funds from them.

Welfare Denied Raise

The Welfare Committee requested a raise of 10 cents (from forty cents to fifty cents) since they are now operating on a budget that exceeds their income by $250. They were denied their request, with the provision that if one year from now they are still losing money the Administrative Board will raise the percentage of their fee..

It was also passed that the Report of Finances of Accounts in the Student Activity fee be approved with the understanding that radio, dramatics and debate staffs work out their own finances. They were asked to report their findings at a later meeeting.

Time and Material

At the same meeting it was suggested that when elections are held, they be planned so the registrar will have ample time to have the necessary material present. It was also recommended that a schedule of events for elections and other activities which involve student qualifications be set up each spring for the following year.

To date, no violaters have been reported to the card playing ruling that card playing be permitted after 12 o'clock noon in the Patio of the Union Building and nowhere else on campus.

(Ed's Note: The following article by writer Bob Green gives Mr. Green an opportunity to give vent to one of his pet peeves — namely, "Creeping Charlie," of highway and by-way fame. Mr. Green is a former page editor and feature writer for The Crescent. He is a junior, married, and works a full shift at Chrysler Corporation besides attending classes.)

I noticed in the paper the other day that the police are going to start "cracking down" on slowpoke drivers who hold up traffic on the Henderson bridge.

This small item brought me much cheer, made me happy no end, and caused me to comment to the little woman, "It's about time!"

I have long maintained that the most dangerous driver on the highway was not a frustrated fugitive from the Indianapolis Speedway. Not even the gent who puts a tankful of ethyl in his car and a tankful of corn in himself and proceeds to go rolling around curves and altering the structure of bridge abutments gets my nod. Instead, I cast my vote for that stolid, respected, law abiding pillar of the community, "Creeping Charlie."

A Slow Old Duck

How often I have buzzed up behind him on a stretch of hilly road, decorated almost continuously with yellow lines and with an oncoming car appearing with exasperating regularity on the rare straightaways. There I chug along, a "mile a minute man" stuck behind an old duck who goes so slow I have to shift my new supersonic eight into second to keep it from loping up the hills like a western bronco, which I marvel how his prewar heap can take them in high.

All the time I am edging out, riding his bumper, looking for the chance to get around that never comes. At first I rationalize, I think there will he a chance over the next hill somewhere. Well . . . maybe over the next one. Surely over this one up ahead.

Eight or ten cars pile up behind him. Eight or 10 drivers get hotter than their radiators. They curse. They wish they were driving something that would run over "Creeping Charlie" and crush him flat as a pancake.

Danger Be Damned

Finally somebody can stand it no longer; hills, curves, and danger be damned! They whip up their 200 horses and start around. A car pops over the hill.

"Creeping Charlie" steers sedately past the wreckage, saying, self-righteously, "Ma, if people would just drive sensible like me, they wouldn't have wrecks like that!"

I hope that when they catch a "Creeping Charlie" on the Henderson Bridge, they hang him from a girder!

Celebrity To Address Last Forum April 21

By LEMOINE BARR

Bertita Harding will be the final speaker for the 1952-53 Citizenship Forum in the Great Hall Tuesday evening, April 21, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Harding will speak on "Latin America in Transition." Romantic novelist, linguist and musician, Miss Harding has become one of the most popular of American writers, and easily one of the most popular speakers of our time.

Born in Europe as Countess Karolyi of Hungarian Ancestry, she spent most of her childhood in the shadow of Chapultepec Castle in Mexico, where her family had moved on a diplomatic mission to recover the Hapsburg crown jewels.

In a French convent, a Philadelphia private school, and two foreign universities, she developed an intrensic desire for writing. Although her titles "Phantom Crown," "Royal Purple," and "Golden Fleece" are best known, she has now published more than a dozen notable books and has written widely for periodicals.

A true cosmopolite, Miss Harding is a seasoned traveler and makes periodic visits to Latin America, Europe and the British Isles. In her lectures on the South American republics she discusses with authority and skill the South American viewpoint towards solidarity with the United States and their ambitions for themselves.

Following her lecture, the forum panel will discuss questions with Miss Harding. Miss Lucile Jones, head of the Evansville College education department, will serve as moderator.

The Citizenship Forum is an educational program sponsored by Evansville College in cooperation with the Junior Service League. Tickets for Miss Harding's address will be available at the door. The public is invited.

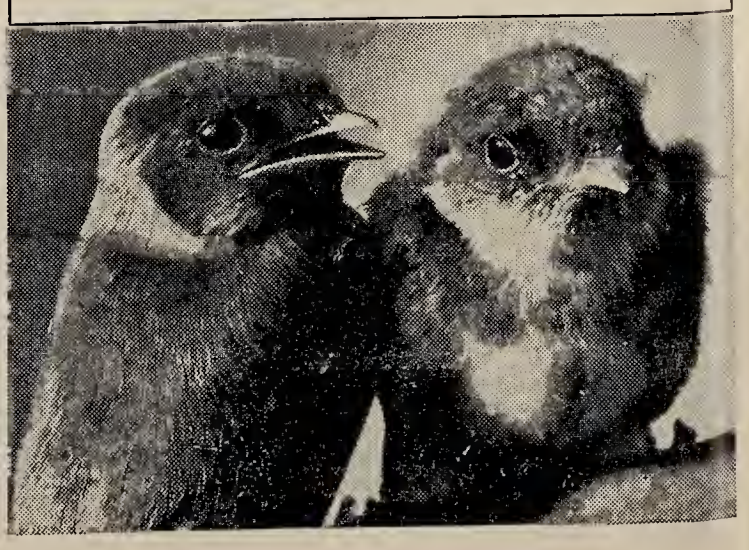
J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test



"LISTEN, BIRD-BRAIN, don't get soar, but I cooed never love you," said Sheedy's little chickadee. "Your hair's strictly for the birds! Better remember the tree cardinal rules for social success so you won't be an also-wren. 1. Hop to a toilet goods counter. 2. Peck up a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's Favorite Hair Tonic. Contains Lanolin. Non-alcholic. Grooms the hair. Relieves dryness. Removes goose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. 3. Use it daily and peeple will love you." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil for himself and a diamond wing for his tweetie-pie. Better buy a bottle or tube today. Or ask for it at your barber's. If you don't you're cookoo!

Two Local High School Seniors To Share New Art Scholarship

By BILL ADKINS

Two Evansville high school students have been judged equals with the paint brush and pottery wheel, so they will divide the scholarship money offered this year by the Evansville College Fine Arts Committee.

Connie Miller, a senior at Central and Sylvia Loeffler, a Reitz senior, hold claim to equal portions of the $260 now in the scholarship fund, according to F. Woody Werking, member of the committee.

Top Notch Movies

The money for the scholarships is derived from box office receipts of the series of movies currently being shown in the college auditorium. The films include such top-notchers as The Merry Wives of Windsor, and Of Mice and Men — which have already been shown — and God Needs Men, top French film of 1951.

The importance of the money from the movies in connection with the total size with the scholarship fund has been fully realized by the two recipients. They are hard at work selling tickets — which, incidentally, cost $1.00 to $1.50 for the entire series. Each sale means less tuition from their own purse when they enter E.C. next fall.

Honored With Display

Besides receiving an equal split of the cash, the two girls were honored with a recent dual display of their works in the show window of Central Library.

Siegfried Weng, Director of the Evansville Public Museum, Professor Florence Keve, head of the college art department and Dr. F. Woody Werking, head of the Modern Language department, were the judges this year.

Pastors Conference Starts Next Week

Three courses will be offered in the study conference for ministers of the tri-state area scheduled in the Fine Arts building next week. This conference, a refresher course for ministers, will begin Tuesday, April 21 and will continue for the following three weeks, meeting on each Tuesday and Thursday.

The first course is "The Preacher and the Old Testament." This will be taught by Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college. A second course being offered is "Music in the Church" taught by Dr. J. Floyd Seelig, minister of Simpson Methodist Church.

"Message from Living Books" is the third course offered and will have several instructors: Dr. Dallas L. Browning, district supervisor of Evansville Methodist churches; Dr. Harris D. Erickson, professor of philosophy and religion; Dr. Vivian Maves, assistant professor of psychology and Dr. Mearl Culver, director of religious life and professor of religion.

Music Department Features Seniors In Public Recitals

Bettye Brown, coloratura soprano, will appear on the stage of the Great Hall tonight at 8:30 in a public recital sponsored by the campus Sigma Alpha Iota chapter. Miss Brown is a graduate of Evansville College and studied under Mr. Cecil Selfridge. She attended Jordan Conservatory of Music.

Miss Brown has starred in such operas as "Naughty Marietta" and appeared on radio and television.

Recital Next Thursday

Virginia Byrne Adye and Roger Pemberton will be presented in a Music Education Senior Recital next Thursday in the Great Hall at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Ayde is a piano student of Mrs. Margaret Shepard and her program will include numbers by Beethoven, Schumann, Brahms, and Poulenc. Mrs. Shepard will join her in a piano duet, "Sonata No. 1", by Mozart.

Mr. Pemberton's clarinet numbers include "Sonata in F Minor," by Brahms and other selections by Cahuzac and Boucher. He is a student of Mr. Nicholas Cannici.

Senior Recitals Presented

Last night Dorothy Kavanaugh, soprano, and Virginia Scott, pianist, were heard in their senior recital. Miss Kavanaugh is a student of Mr. Cecil Selfridge and Miss Scott is a student of Miss Allene Herron.

Betty Drennan and James Jandebeur gave their senior recital last Sunday afternoon. Miss Drennan is a piano student of Miss Sylvia Olmsted and Mr. Jandebeur is a trumpet student of Mr. Everett Northcutt.

Schaffner Submits 'Frat' Application

For the purpose of applying for membership in a national radio fraternity, Jack Schaffner, freshman, is representing WEVC at a three day convention in Columbus, Ohio.

The national organization, Alpha Epsilon Rho, meets annually to accept new chapters. As a prerequisite for admission, six members of WEVC must be voted on and be accepted before the station is granted fraternity privileges.

Active members making application include Don Roth, Dave Harold, Barbara Moore, Del Newman and John Powell. Jack Schaffner, Gloria Watson, Anne Stocks and Clifford Garrett complete the list.

Before returning home, Jack will attend an Institute for Education by Radio-Television. Miss Emmy Seegmueller, administrative assistant in public relations, will also attend.

Words To Live By

And Jesus came and said to them, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, to the close of the age."

Matthew 28: 18-20

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

The balmy days arrived. Of course, they flitted away again (got drowned in April deluges, no doubt) but maybe they'll come back with May flowers.

Lawsy me and Lawsy Mercy. Prof. F. Woody Werking is going to buy a genuine, honest-to-john automobile. This earth-shaking event is scheduled to take place during the next few weeks. Rumor says it will be a blue, 1950 model Plymouth. The prof of modern languages won't trade in his bicycle, but keep it for that dark day when he has a flat tire.

Feelin' Fine

And then there's the lad, overcome by last week's beauteous, warm, soft zephyrs who croaked, "I feel like a little woodland nymph." To which his companion cracked, "O maniac?"

The last part of March there came a hot day. A sweet young thing plopped down in a green Stude' convertible on the horseshoe, lowered the top and raised a parasol. Gaaadzooks!

Did you notice the startled expression on the boy's face who discovered he'd purchased a pair of girl's bluejeans at the last Union auction?

Tut Tut

Mr. Prickett

Paul Dewig's been getting birth control literature in the mail. He's not married. Paul, what have you been doing? Several others on campus have gotten it, too. Some fellows report getting come-on letters, written on perfumed sationery, for girly-girly pictures.

Adbul K. Kamara, the pride of Sierra Leone, wrote me a letter last issue of The Crescent. (maybe you saw?) Nice to know that somebody reads this column. I got lost after the first paragraph. Never could figure out how planting peanuts in Africa on the Point IV program could have much to do with Abdul sounding like little Grundoon. Unless Little Abdul thought I said groundnut or goober instead of Grundoon. Maybe he was in a hole.

Cigars, Anyone?

Two proud pops on campus now. Col. Brantner, of the AFROTC, and Ken Will. Both had little heiresses. Pops to be are Ken Hutchinson and Willie Roettger.

Jim Schreiber and P. Dewig are buddy-buddy. LinC class members murmur, "shrimp" and those two blossom out lobster pink.

Big day last week was a spin in Don Scherrinsky's new convertible, with the top down, yet.

Pi Delts Host To High School Journalists

Members of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, will play host to high school journalists and their advisors during the remainder of this month.

Five or six Evansville high school school students from each of the schools interested in journalism will visit The Crescent and LinC offices on Monday and Wednesday mornings, beginning April 13. These pupils will also be the guests of the fraternity at lunch.

In addition, this organization is planning to send three delegates to the national fraternity convention scheduled for April 24, 25, and 26 at the University of Cincinnati. As is tentatively planned, Delores Schaber, Paul Dewig and Miss Emmy Seegmueller, administrative assistant in public relations, will represent the local chapter.

Mr. Dewig is president of the group, Walter Prickett assumes the position of vice-president with Ralph Weber acting as secretary-treasurer.

Pi Delta Epsilon is again offering two journalism scholarships, valued at $200 and $100, to high school seniors from the surrounding tri-state area. These presentations will be awarded at the annual Journalism Day conference, May 2. As in the past, the meeting is being sponsored in co-operation of the EC journalism department and The Evansville Courier.

It's the size of the FIGHT in the man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough . . . tough enough . . . smart enough . . . if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to fly the latest, hottest planes. You'll be prepared to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Aet allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:

Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Force Recruiting Officer, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to: Aviation Cadet, Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

EVANSVILLE COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Although a little late, Evansville College football rates a mention. As you know, the Scarlet team defeated the Gold team 12-6 in their annual concluding spring football practice game. A lot of credit goes to Don Ping, Paul Beck and their boys. If this game was any indication of what the Aces will do this fall, you will see some much better football here at Evansville College.

Both teams showed excellent and vicious down field blocking. Both lines worked hard and opened up some holes big enough that even Ted Neimeier could have gotten through. If Evansville College can continue along these lines, and can develop the team spirit they seemed to have lost, I am sure you will see the Aces in the winning column this fall.

Brines Outstanding

An outstanding participant in this game was Milo "Jack Rabbit" Brines, who incidentally didn't get a mention in the Courier write-up of the game. He looked great stealing through the line. If they open up some holes for him this fall, you will see a lot of yard markers pass under his feet. By the way, did you notice that they used the new substitution rule in this game?

Spring Training

In another phase of spring football, the ICC coaches voted four to three to abolish spring grid practice. It has to go before the faculty athletic committee before it becomes final. If they abolish it, they have rocks in their head.

Put yourself in Don Ping's and Paul Beck's shoes. Suppose they wanted to change formations from the Notre Dame "T" to the short punt. Without spring practice they would have exactly seventeen days to do it. They might just as well try to fly to the moon. Incidentally, Coach Ping voted moon. Incidentally, Coach Ping voted in favor of continuing spring practices. The resisting coaches had better think it over.

EXTRA INNINGS

Let's give some credit where credit is due. Major Evan R. Bruner, (don't let the rank scare you, he is a great guy), is assisting Coach Ping in handling the Aces' baseball team. As you all know, he is tops, but along with this, he is a hustler and a determinist. That's what it takes for good baseball.

Popcorn, peanuts, hot dogs, cold beer, beautiful women, and the crack of the bat can only mean one thing — baseball season is here. The Major League season will be one week old when this paper comes out. Let's all select a team and start rooting for them.

Affolder, Bailey Selected To Athletic Board Posts

Two faculty members were named to the Athletic Board of Control, announced vice president of the college Dean Long. "The two professors, William Affolder, and V. C. Combs, Nash Get Honors At Banquet

Seniors Jack Nash and Keith Combs were given special honors and Coach Arad McCutchan announced the 14 major and six minor award winners for the 1952-53 basketball season at the basketball banquet held March 30 at the Union Building Cafeteria.

Nash, the tallest player to ever perform for the Aces was named the recipient of the Kiwanis Award and Combs was named as the honorary captain for the past season.

McCutchan announced the major award winners as Nash, Combs, Bernie Conolly, Dave Crumbaker, Charles Linsmith, Carl Niedermeier, Jim Wilkinson, the latter five being juniors; and sophomores Roscoe Bivin, Al Lechner, Gene Wilm and John Wessel. Freshmen Jim Burch, Frank Healy and Bob Walker also received major awards.

Art Griggs, Ken Herrenbruck, Dick Mangin, Don Sakel, John Slyker and Scott St. Clair received minor awards.

Bill Herrel Elected Golf Squad Head

Members of the golf squad have electd Bill Herrel, junior and veteran of the links to captain the 1953 golf squad. Herrel is currently the ace of the Ace linksmen.

A graduate of Central High School, he was two time winner of the local caddy tournament. He qualified for the championship bracket of the caddy tournament at Columbus, Ohio in 1948 and '49. Herrel has been a low-shooter for the Aces for the past two years.

Diamomd Crew To Play Three Golfers One; Have 1-6 Record

By Dick Nicholson

Beaten six times in seven outings, the spring sportsquads will continue the heavy action the coming week, with a double header baseball tilt with Valparaiso's Crusaders in the diamond-men's first ICC encounter.

In addition to the double header tomorrow, the diamond crew, with Coach Don Ping at the helm, will face their second ICC opponent next Friday by playing host to the Sycamores from Indiana State. Coach Ping's nine was rained out in their opener with Wayne University, but fell before a powerful Western Kentucky team at Bowling Green, 17-2. Ping used three pitchers in a futile attempt to stem the Western tide. The Aces garnered but four hits from the Kentucky hurlers, with Dick Bost gaining the only extra base blow for the Aces, slamming a double.

Facing Murray State's Thoroughbreds last Tuesday, the Aces jumped into an early lead, then fell apart in the final frame to lose their second straight encounter, 6-4. Leading 3-1 going into the top half of the ninth inning, the Aces came within one pitch of breaking into the win column. With a 3-2 count on the batsmen, Jim Hood, second Ace pitcher, walked the batter, then gave up another walk and three straight singles before he could retire the Racers.

The Pingmen muffed an opportunity to gain the victory despite the Murray uprising in the bottom half of the ninth, when they loaded the bases with no one out but could muster but one run.

Catcher Don Folz turned in the best hit outpost of the day as he collected three singles in four trips to the plaate. Jim Nichols, the starting moundsmen, was struck on his pitching hand by a batted ball and was forced to retire in the fifth frame.

The linksmen will try for victory number two when Indiana State's golfers visit Coach Paul Beck's boys Tuesday. Purdue University downed the Ace squad 23-4 on April 2, and Western Michigan split a two match series, the Aces winning the first match 16-2, before falling in the second, 15½-2½.

The squad traveled to Western Kentucky Tuesday and became the victim of some blistering performances on the part of the Western golf squad. Eddie Kirby fired a five-under par 67 to lead his team to a 19-2 victory over the Aces. The victory gave Western a clean sweep over the Aces team, having previously defeated the baseball and tennis crews.

The Western netters, boasting two-time OVC single champion Rog Otten, blanked the locals 9-0. The tennis team's next match is scheduled for April 28, a rematch with Western.

Intra-murals End; Zetas Cop Crown In Close Finish

"After one of the most successful intra-mural basketball turnouts," according to Bob Haug, chairman, the Phi Zeta social fraternity emerged as the champion, following a close race all the way.

With only one or two games separating the top four teams, competition was always present and a loss could have meant losing the league crown for the champs, Phi Zeta.

Results of the league's final games with won and lost records are:

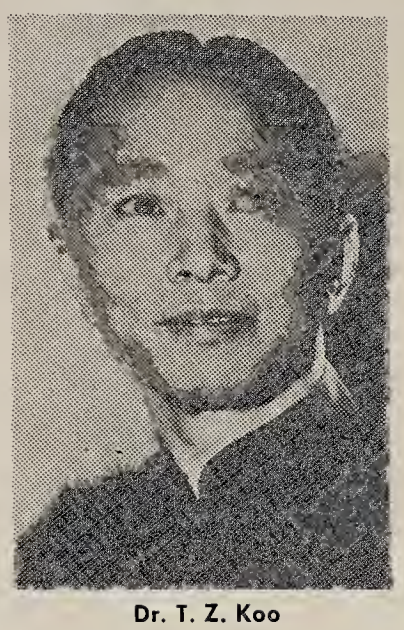
Dr. T. Z. Koo To Speak At Final Vespers

Dr. T. Z. Koo, professor of Oriental Studies at the University of Iowa, will give the sermon at the Vesper Service in the Great Hall of the Student Union Building Sunday afternoon. The service, which is the sixth and final of this school year, will begin at 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

The Methodist Temple choir will sing. A coffee hour will be held immediately after the service at which time those present may have an opportunity to visit informally with the speaker.



Dr. T. Z. Koo

Koo Extensive Traveler

Dr. Koo, secretary of the World's Student Federation for over 14 years, is a leading figure in the spiritual life of the world. From his headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, he traveled extensively on every continent. He has made numerous visits to the United States, his first trip in 1921. He came in April, 1945, as adviser to the Chinese Delegation at the San Francisco Conference of the UNO. Following this service, he represented the World Christian Federation in an extended tour of the colleges and universities of Canada, the USA, the Caribbeans and South America.

Suffered Hardships

When war broke out in 1941, he was in Hongkong. There he and his wife suffered all the hardships of life in a beleaguered city. In September, 1944, disguised as a peddler, he set out from occupied Shanghai for Free China. He walked some 850 miles in 44 days through hundreds of war ravaged towns and villages. The suffering and destruction he has witnessed have made his messages to youth vital and challenging.

He has seven academic degrees, including one conferred by the now defunct Manchu Government. He has studied at Oxford University in England as well as St. John's University in Shanghi and Colgate University in this country. Since 1950, he has been Professor of Oriental Studies at the University of Iowa.

Campus Red Cross Drive Nets $585; Cadets Give $50

Contributions from Evansville College students to the Red Cross campaign during March this year totaled $525, according to an announcement by Lt. Colonel James A. Brantner, Red Cross Drive Chairman.

Include in the total collection was a $50 contribution by the AFROTC Cadet Corps, which entitles it to membership in the American National Red Cross for 1953.

In a ceremony on the drill field last Friday, representatives from the Red Cross presented the flag of the organization to the Cadet Wing.

The total success of the campaign, Colonel Brantner stated, was due to the personal aspect utilized by members of the committee in soliciting funds.

Members of the committee were Dr. D. W. Dunham, Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, Miss Ida Stieler, Mr. James Julian, Major Evan Bruner and Mr. Cecil Selfridge.

Walker Offers Free Placement Service For Students

Since 1921, the Personnel Bureau of Evansville College has given free placement service to students. Credentials and references secured from current employers are kept on file and may be used later for job changes.

Spring quarter is the main time for job placements, said Mr. Everette Walker, Director of Student Personnel, although requests for job applicants are received from firms throughout the entire year.

Business students, future teachers and engineering students are those most frequently aided. According to Mr. Walker, the Bureau is interested in finding the best suited job for each individual. Copies of "How To Win and Woo a Job," written by Mr. Walker, are available at the Personnel office. This booklet contains a sample application letter and data sheet.

When asked their attitudes toward applicants who will soon be drafted the representatives reply that they will hire these men for lack of those who are exempt.

On Friday, April 17, from 1:30 p.m., Mr. Link of International Harvester, will interview engineering graduates for possible job placements.

Deadline Near For Invitation Orders: Rose

For seniors who are interested in placing orders for rings, invitations, "Thank You Notes," or personal calling cards, the deadline is drawing near.

According to Jim Rose, who is handling orders, the deadline for ordering will be April 30. For those who have not yet placed orders, Mr. Rose may be found in the Union Building daily between 10 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. If students are unable to contact Mr. Rose during the day, he will be in the Union from 5 to 10 each evening.

Mr. Rose quoted the following prices for the items which students may be interested in ordering.

The invitations are 14 cents apiece. A box of 100 personal calling cards costs $2.25. "Thank You Notes" are $2.50 for a box of 50. The priees for the rings are many and varied and students can contact Mr. Rose for the ring price list. Class pins also are available for those who desire them.

Mr. Rose stated that if there were enough orders for girls rings, he will order them. If there are not enough orders, men's rings may be fitted to size.

The three other students comprising the rest of his slate are Charles "Chuck" Hildreth, Delta Kappa, nomination for vice-president, Suzette Spiegel, Phi Mu, nomination for secretary, and Janet Lex, Alpha Omicron Pi, nomination for the office of treasurer.

These four students were nominated at a joint meeting of the two fraternities and sororities held on the morning of April 15.

The Crescent will carry a complete coverage of the two slates in the edition this next week. Plans are underway to give each slate a half-page complete with pictures of the candidates.

Religion Is Vital Link Says Dr. T. Z. Koo

"Religion's vital link with man is conversion — man taking hold of the spirit through faith in Christ," said Dr. T. Z. Koo, in the final Vesper service of the season last Sunday afternoon in the Great Hall.

"Conversion changes the texture of the spirit, the use of the mind, and nature." Dr. Koo said that the basic teachings of Buddhism, Confucianism, and Christianity have many agreements.

Dr. Koo is professor of Oriental studies at the University of Iowa. He has had a distinguished career as a world traveller and counselor on political affairs.

The Methodist Temple choir sang in the absence of the college choir which was on tour.

Dr. Koo also said Buddhism looks at man and says the creative aetive mind is most vital. Confucianism emphasizes human nature which is a combination of emotions and desires. But neither of these have salvation. Christianity adds the spirit, the imperishable.

Dr. Koo was supper guest of the Methodist Temple. There he entertained with folk songs on his Chinese lute.

Mothers Get Recognition May 12; Jr.-Sr. Prom Plans Completed

By ROSEMARIE WISEMAN

Dates for May Day and the Junior-Senior Prom have been announced.

May Day will be Tuesday, May 12, according to general chairman Dr. F. Woody Werking, modern language professor. The Junior-Senior Prom committee headed by co-chairman Ed Fly and Don Rausch, reported May 29 as the dance date.

May Day plans are well underway. As last year, May Day will again be combined to honor Mothers.

Full Schedule

A full schedule has been planned for the day, beginning with a convocation at 10 o'clock in the Auditorium. Guest year's commeneement speaker, Mrs. Vera Dean, and a panel of women associated with her will speak at the convocation. Mrs. Dean is research director of the Foreign Policy Association and editor of the Foreign Policy Bulletin.

At 11:15 the front campus will be the scene of the senior processional and the honors assembly. Bleachers will be set up on the lawn for this part of the day's program.

A picnic lunch will be served on the veranda of the ROTC Annex at 12:30. Student activity tickets will be honored for students' meals, but faculty, staff, and mothers will pay for their dinners.

Activities will resume at 2 p.m. on the front campus. The May Day queen to be elected by the senior men from a group of six senior girls chosen by Student Council, will be crowned at this time. Sophomore and junior girls will perform the May Pole dance and the ROTC will parade in review.

Three o'clock has been set as the time Dr. and Mrs. Hale will serve tea in their home for students and mothers.

May Day committees will be announced at a later date, according to Dr. Werking.

Mr. Fly and Mr. Rausch report that plans for the Junior-Senior prom are as yet incomplete. Tentative plans thus far include May 29 as the date and the Hotel McCurdy as the place it will be held.

Other arrangements for the annual dance will be completed at an early date.

Correction

The Crescent wishes to make a correction to the story on the Union Board Elections which appeared last week.

Archie Griggs was elected chairman of the House Committee, rather than Mary Thurman, as was stated in last Friday's edition of The Crescent.

It was also stated that two students were named as chairman of the Program Committee. Rosemarie Wiseman was re-elected to head this committee.

Late News Breaks

Next Friday is the deadline for accepting material to be used in this year's May Day program. All material should be given to Miss Emmy Seegmueller, administrative assistant of public relations, by that time.

Evansville College's golf squad bested Indiana State 9½-8½ at the Helfrich course Tuesday afternoon. A miss on a three-foot put by a State golfer made the difference in the close battle.

Applications for campus publication positions for the 1953-54 school year are being accepted by LinC and Crescent positions. The deadline for receiving applications is next Friday. Applications may be procurred at the office of Miss Emmy Seegmueller, administrative assistant of public relations in 0-143. The four positions are editor and business manager for both LinC and Crescent. The Publications Committee will make the appointments at their May 11 meeting, it has been announced by Don Bernhardt, committee chairman.

Eugene J. Cadou, chief of the Indiana Bureau of News Services, will be principal speaker at the jointly sponsored Journalism Day at Evansville College May 2.

Case of the College Kid

During January of 1951, many books both un-opened and used were donated or purchased for the browsing room of the Union Building. A total of 260 books were finally obtained to make a fair sized library for students with spare time who like to read.

Much use and abuse have been given the books, and recently an inventory was taken. Of the 260 books originally there, they found that 83 were missing, or about 30% of the total number AWOL.

Now if this were a high school you could expect some immature minds, the thrill of getting away with something without being caught, and carting off some of the books would be the reason. But this is a college composed supposedly of mature male and female adults. The instructors don't call you Mr. or Mrs. for the fun of it. They do so because they respect you as a grown-up, 100% honest-to-goodness adult.

Some of you, who may have these books might have thought the browsing room's volumes were a part of the lending library. This is to inform you they are not, so please return the books and nothing more will be said. Those of you who have taken one of the books to satisfy an urge needs a good lesson on growing up.

Possibly there are many in this area who are planning to donate a few books to the college. We wonder how anxious they will be if these books were destined to be the pilfered property of some childish student. Not a very good recommendation, is it?

A lot of these missing books are probably floating innocently around from one hand to another, each new owner unknowingly in possession of a book belonging to the college. The question of a books originality can be determined by opening the front cover and on the immediate frontpiece can be seen the sticker which exposes the true owner of said book. When you see one belonging to the browsing room please suggest that the book be returned, or return it yourself to one of the Union building workers.

Measuring Your SGA Candidates

Perhaps it is a little early to start harping about the coming SGA election, but in view of some of the incidents that occurred last year we thought it best that we make an appeal to the student body and attempt to impress them of the significance of this election.

During the initial stages of the election, it appears to be, as some students seem to think, a popularity contest. Such an opinion, however, is erroneous. It is necessary that a certain amount of popularity exist in order to enhance the four sought after student government offices, but there also remains a degree of seriousness to be attached to these offices.

Usually, the candidates are selected by two or more factions — the factions being a coalition of fraternities and sororities — who screen their desired candidates and ultimately select the ones — on basis of their past performances, whom they think not only stand a good chance of winning, but have proved that they possess a capacity to get the job done.

In view of the above statement, it is obvious that each potential office holder, regardless of his or her social affiliations, is a hard-working, qualified, and capable candidate. In addition to this, the losing candidates continue working in harmony with the winners in other campus activities.

Therefore, students, let's try to conduct this year's campaign with a little more dignity. Let's not have the dean send runners over to the Union Building, urging that both factions refrain from disturbing classes by name-callinfi. There's an old saying: "Your machinery is in reverse when you attempt to raise yourself by lowering someone else." So let's be sports! Whadaya say?

Arthur Millspaugh

(Ed's. Note: Arthur Millspaugh served one year in the Air Force in 1948. He attended Indiana University a year and a half. He is a member of the Pi Gamma Mu and a pre-law major. He is wing commander of the AFROTC and executive officer of the Arnold Air Society).

I have been questioned many times by students, who are not in the Corps of Cadets, as to the primary reason for Air Force ROTC, and what benefits the student cadet gains.

The primary mission of the AFROTC is to produce officers for the United States Air Force. The program is set up to acquaint the cadets with the customs of military life. AFROTC cadets spend a specified number of hours in the classroom where they are taught the various functions of the Air Force; they put in a certain number of hours each quarter on the drill field where they learn to drill and perform command functions.

The difficulty of AFROTC subjects is equivalent to other college subjects of the same scope and length.

The Air Force ROTC is not a recruiting outfit, but is run on a selective basis. If a cadet cannot prescribe to the rules and procedures set up by Air Force regulations, he will be eliminated from the cadet corps.

There are two distinct phases to the ROTC program: first, two years are spent in basic ROTC training. If, at the end of the first two years, a cadet has measured up to Air Force standards and his academic grades are high enough, he will be accepted into the second, or advanced phase of the program.

Most of the eliminating of the cadets is done in the first two years. When they are accepted into the advanced course they are expected to complete their training, even though they may still be eliminated by failing to maintain their academic standing or to materiialize as potential officers.

The chief benefit a cadet gains from ROTC is a commission as a second lieutenant. When he is called to active duty, he will enter the Air Force as a second lieutenant. While a student remains in the program, he may be deferred from the draft. This gives him an opportunity to gain both a college education and a commission. No better opportunity than this can be offered a student under the present world circumstances if he wishes to go to college.

SGA News

At the last SGA meeting the Student Council brought up a proposal suggesting that instructors post the grades for each class at the enf of each quarter. Each student in the course would be assigned a number and his grade would be posted by the number.

Dean McKown and Miss Charlotte Stephens, faculty members present, were in favor of the proposal. They plan to present it to the Faculty Curriculum Committee for approval or disapproval.

Another resolution brought up and passed in the meeting gives the Alpha Phi Mu, a freshman women's honorary scholastic group, the exclusive right to sell corsages for May Day, Tuesday, May 12.

Mother's Day and May Day will be incorporated and celebrated the same day on Evansville College campus.

Weather Forecast

What do they do on a rainy night in Rio?

According to a recent survey taken on a rainy night in Rio, it was discovered that out of 1,700,000 inhabitants of that locality, approximately 800,000 stayed indoors. The others got wet.

Mail Call...

Dear Mr. Editor:

I am curious to know how the snack bar in the basement of the Union Building got the name of "The Wooden Indian."

I propose the name be changed to "The Aces Oasis." This name would convey the idea that the snack bar is a place where the students are able to satisfy themselves in their thirst for knowledge.

Yours very truly,
A student

Ed.'s Note: The name "Wooden Indian" was first suggested by the picture of the wooden Indian on the drapes selected for that room when the problem of decorating the snack bar was being studied.

Everything added to the Indian since that time was with the intention of adding to the "Wooden Indian" theme.

If the name of the "Wooden Indian" were to be changed to your proposed "Aces Oasis," it would involve a major redecorating job. Another point concerning "Aces Oasis" and your "thirst for knowledge" idea might be the question of what Wooden Indian frequenters thirst more for, knowledge, or that "delicious" Indian coffee.

Myron Wicke Conducting College Survey

For the past four days Dr. Myron F. Wicke, associate director of secondary and higher education of the Methodist church, has been on the campus making an objective survey of the educational program of the college.

All this week Dr. Wicke has been visiting classes, attending committee and faculty meetings, holding interviews with the administative officers of the college and student leaders.

Objective Study

Dr. Wicke's main purpose in visiting the college was to make an impartial study of the educational program of the college and to recommend improvements where needed.

According to Dr. E. M. McKown, dean of the college, "Ever since the results of the Burns and Pattillo study were discussed, it has been our desire to have some person or agency make a similar study in order that we might see what improvements we have made, and to have a more adequate survey."

Well Qualified

"Colleges have surveys of this type in order to have an objective viewpoint given on their educational program. Dr. Wicke is eminently fitted to make the kind of study we wish to have made." Dr. McKown stated further that, "Dr. Wicke's report will be helpful to the college in securing financial support from persons interested in contributing to institutions of higher learning."

Dr. Wicke is a former college dean and at present is a member of the Division of Higher Education in the Board of Education of the Methodist Church with headquarters at Nashville. For a while, he was employed by the National Council of Churches through its Department of Education to be a representative at Washington to report on matters affecting church related colleges.

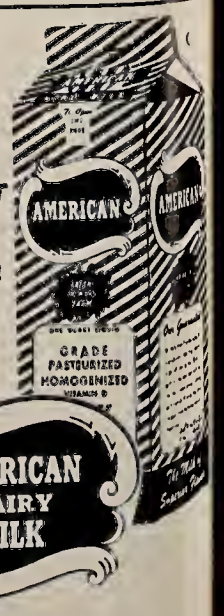
YOUR BIGGEST FOOD BARGAIN!



—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

It's spring again and the strangest things come out again. Out of the mouths of editors: Ralph Weber looking starry-eyed at the band girls last week saying, "I just go for women in uniform."

Mr. Prickett

Need any inventions today? Then your boys are J. Burley Scales and K. Frank Wilson, the Boonville Big Boys. Just name it and they invent it—complete with engineering drafts and equations. (Engineering drafts may give you fits, but never fallen arches. Throwback to the Romans, you know.) If you need more leverage or a combination lie detector-guillotine, that pair will gladly supply it — you test. "We Satisfy" – their motto.

June Bride

Speaking of inventions, Carolyn Ruschmeier is hunting for the guy that invented the story she will be married this summer. Thereby hangs a tale. La Ruschmeier has a class in which she is required to keep a desk and worktop area clean and orderly. Some kind soul heard she was trying for a Mrs. degree to go with her B.C. Fearful Carolyn would get neither, said soul gave the willowly blonde a copy of "Good Housekeeping" magazine with a special section, "How to Keep a Clean House." (She has to be a willowly blonde. Did you ever hear of a maplely blonde, an ashly blonde or an oakly blonde?)

Ruschmeier won't say who started the rumor, but a leading candidate has initials B.H. Poor Bill was testing for a chemical unknown the other day. Before he quite got started he spilled a goodly dollop on his white shirt sleeve. Lovely spots:. "What is it?" he cried. "Your unknown," she replied.

Lee Barr has matching-color tee shirts for his flannel shirts.

War Widow

Did you see that tremendous black widow spider Algirdas Krisciunas had at school last week? His six-year-old brother thought it made an attractive plaything and yanked off two legs before Kris got it away from him. Fearless little boy-type child that six-year-old.

When I'd like to have a camera to: Catch the surprised expression on an ex-farmer student's face when I discovered I knew the difference between a Farmall-H and a mold board plow.

Passing through the second floor of the E-building it's worthwhile to read the Pre-Med club hit parade. Recent favorites are: "Can Anyone Exspleen," "Can't You Hear Me Colon Caroline," "Red Cells In the Sunset," "Liver, Liver Come Back To Me," and "Down Among the Sweltering Palms." An oldie that made a comeback last week — "Carry My Back To Old Virginie."

Quote of Week

Prof. H. Willis' classtime contribution to picturesque speech: "Looks as bad as old Satan before daylight."

April 16 was a memorable day. Earle Robinson, Jr., ran across campus at 12:45 p.m. An austounded gallery gaped from the Union veranda.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hutchinson have an heir as of a week ago Wednesday. This column has to be written the Monday before publication. Therefore, on Friday last, it said they were still expecting. No cooperation anywhere anymore.

Nonsense Highlights New WEVC Show

Four auto crashes, a runaway diesel in the studio, and the commercial of the "Lost Cereal" were tid-bits which comprised the first "Music and Nonsense" show on WEVC.

With the accent on nonsense, the 15 minute program boasts a poetry hour and a question and answer hour. In addition, the collaborators, John Moss, senior, and Clifford Garrett, sophomore, gave away the yellow road line between Henderson and Evansville.

They have further promised that those who write complimentary letters about the program will receive a leather medal. Special musical dedications, with accompanying self-invented sound effects, rounded out the program. It is scheduled again on Wednesday at 6:15 P.M.

Philo Dinner Dance Planned For May 2; Kroener Will Play

With the arrival of May and spring, fraternity dance time also arrives. The first of these events is the Pi Epsilon Phi's dinner dance.

Plans have been completed for their spring formal dance to be Saturday, May 2, in the Great Hall of the Union building.

Following the dinner, members and guests will dance to the music of Charley Kroener and his orchestra featuring Shirley Heines, vocalist.

The dance is an annual affair of the Philo's. According to vice-president, Bill Steier, in charge of arrangements of this year's dance will again be one of the outstanding events on the Philo calendar.

Traditionally, the women are presented a small gift with the Philo crest on them. This year the members of the fraternity have decided to take the amount of money ordinarily spent on these memoirs and put it into the house fund for improvements.

Having just procured a fraternity house, several bills for repair and getting the house into shape will be taken care of by this action.

Dr. George Dasch To Retire; In Music Department 10 Years

By DAVE PELLOW

Dr. George Dasch, conductor of the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra and associate professor of music at the college, made his last appearance with the local orchestra last Monday night.

Dr. Dasch will end his teaching career at the college at the end of the spring quarter. The 75-year-old teacher-conductor has been commuting from his home near Chicago for the last 10 years. He has been an instructor of violin and viola at the college during that period. He has also been active in the faculty string quartet.

The pleasant, white-haired conductor said he was resigning his Evansville posts in order to spend more time with his family in Cary, Illinois. He has been dividing his weeks between Evansville and Cary, spending Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in Evansville, and the balance of the week in Cary.

Dr. Dasch was graduated from the College of Music in Cincinnati in 1895. In 1945 he received an honorary doctor of music degree from that institution. From 1925 to 1930 he conducted the Little Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, and has been guest conductor of many summer concerts at Grant Park in Chicago.

Bofere coming to Evansville Dr. Dasch conducted the Northwestern University Orchestra for many years. He spent 12 years as the conductor of the Joliett, Illinois Symphony. He then spent nine years conducting the Waterloo Symphony Orchestra, Waterloo, Iowa.

He has long been recognized for his contribution to the development of music in public schools, and the development of amateur orchestras

Dr. Dasch will continue his work as conductor of the Chicago Businessmen's Orchestra, which he has served since 1934.

During the evening session of the conference, Dr. Paul R. Klohr, director of training school at Ohio State University, will present the address. Saturday morning, the conference will conclude with a summary of the conference by Dr. Klohr and a closing message from Dr. Russell J. Humbert, president of DePauw University.

Words To Live By

"Come to me, all who labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light."

EC Students Lead Discussion; Dr. McFall Speaks at Conference

By SUE CHENOWETH

Approximately 35 high school students from the Tri-State area attended the Youth and Christian Work Conference held on campus April 17.

"Whom Shall I Send," subject of Dr. Merrill McFall, proved thought-provoking. Dr. McFall, speaker of the conference, is pastor of the First Methodist Church in Bloomingon, Ind.

Discussion groups, led by EC students Roberta Becker, Richard Topper, Leslie McKown, Janice Morgan, and Dorothy Atkinson, followed the address.

Raymond Ocock led group singing after super in the college cafeteria, which preceeded a half-hour tour of the campus. Recreation was conducted in the Fine Arts Building.

"One person plus God equals a majority," declared Dr. McFall during his speech of the evening, "Here Am I, Send Me!" He went on to say that all of one's talents and abilities are demanded in a Christian vocation. Dwight Moody's spelling of "help" — "hulp" — was explained by Dr. McFall to stand for honesty, unselfishness, love and purity.

Joe Emerson and Ned Conder collabrated on a concluding worship service, the theme of which was how to respond to the call.

Youth and Christian Work Conference was sponsored by the Religious Life Committee on campus and the Methodist Student Movement.

Experimental Group Chooses Schrankl To Represent EC

Eva Schrankl, an exchange student from Germany, has been selected to represent "The Experiment in International Living" on the Evansville campus.

The group, according to a release from Miss Schrankl, sponsors trips abroad for people between the ages of 16 to 30. This year transportation has been secured for 510 youths interested in seeing what's on the other side of the water.

Spend Month in Foreign Household

Unlike Draftees, people who go overseas under this plan will spend their time in one country, and will attempt to learn about it on the person to person level. To help accomplish this objective, experimenters will spend a month rooming and boarding and generally acting like a member of the family in several foreign households. While enjoying this adopted family life, they will make occasional "Sunday excursions" to local points of interest with their hosts.

Tourists Weaned From Envioronments

For the second month, the tourists will be hastily weaned from heir temporary environments of the first 30 days and will explore their chosen summer homeland in the company of other Americans and young natives of the country. Included in the second month's activities will be camping, hosteling, and even mountain climbing if the terrain of the particular area is right.

All Experimenters will spend a week in a capital city, such as Paris or London, and all European Experimenters who qualify may travel strictly on their own for a week.

Among the countries chosen by the group for the modern Marco Polos to enter during 1953 are Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Peru, Scotland, Spain, Sweden, and Yugoslavia. For the first time, groups will also go to Finland and Ireland.

Sue Spiegel Elected Phi Mu President

Joyce Wiggers, former president of Phi Mu Sorority, installed new officers April 7 in the club room of the Union Building.

Members of the sorority elected Suzette Speigel to act as president for the coming term. As vice-president they have chosen Anita Barrett. Betty Norris will act as new secretary and the treasurer selected was Ruth Smith. Diane Clark will be the sorority's new rush captain, with Reba Hardison as the pledge director.

As a follow up on the new installation of officers, the district president, Mrs. Annie Laurie Horsefal Urbana, Ill., spoke to the sorority April 14 and stayed with them through the following day.

The members who ran for offices were selected by the nominating committee and were voted upon by a majority vote of the sorority members.

Phi Mu is the oldest national sorority on campus, and the second oldest national sorority in the country.

Ministerial Group Elects Dave Lawson President

Kappa Chi ministerial fraternity recently elected officers to serve during the next school year. David Lawson, recipient of the Bigney Ministerial scholarship, was elected president. Others selected are Martha Powell, vice-president; Carolyn Lockwood, secretary; Bill Clayton, treasurer; Gilbert Bumb, marshal; and Dr. Mearl Culver, faculty adviser. They will be installed at the Spring Outing on May 22 at Lincoln State Park.

Mr. Lawson hails from Princeton and is serving as assistant pastor on the Bluegrass Methodist circuit. Miss Powell has served as secretary this year. She is also active in activities of the Methodist Student Movement and Student Christian Association. Miss Lockwood is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority and SCA. Mr. Clayton is pastor of the Rockport Evangelical United Brethren Circuit. Mr. Bumb has been directing the weekly radio programs of SCA and Kappa Chi.

Adye, Pemberton Present Music Education Recital

Virginia Byrne Adye and Roger Pemberton presented their senior recitals last night in the Great Hall.

The program included three musical selections by each. Mrs. Adye, piano student of Mrs. Margaret Shepard, combined with her instructor in a piano duet, "Sonata in D," by Mozart. This is one of eight original piano duets.

Mr. Pemberton, clarinet student of Nicholas Cannici, played Braham's "Sonata in F Minor." Next Mrs. Adye returned to offer a piano grouping — "Adagio Molto, Sonata Op. 10, No. 1" by Beethoven, "Soaring" by Schumann and "Intermezzo Op. 119" by Brahms.

Mr. Pemberton rendered "Lantaisie Variee" by Louis Cahuzac, followed by two numbers, "Pastourelle" by Poulenc and "Le Polichinelle" by Villa-Lobos by Mrs. Adye. To conclude the recital, Mr. Pemberton chose "Ballade in D Minor" by Maurice Le Boueher.

Miss Ethel Hamilton, junior, accompanied Mr. Pemberton.

Mrs. Adye is a member of the college choir, past secretary of Sigma Alpha Iota, national women's music fraternity, and belongs to the Student Christian Association, and the Methodist Student Movement. In addition, she is on the social committee at the Union Building.

Lord Assumes Position Of WEVC Newscaster

Mr. Lord is also a member of Alpha Phi Omega, dramatics society, a student director of "Druid Circle," a member of Phi Zeta, social fraternity, Pi Delta Epsilon, journalism honorary fraternity, and is page six editor of The Crescent.

Newspapers Sponsor Journalism Day Here May 2

Journalism Day, May 2, will be an all day affair at Evansville College. All high school students in the Tri-State area interested in journalism are invited. This affair is sponsored jointly by Evansville College and The Evansville Courier. The entire program is free and the Evansville Courier is buying the lunch for the group.

Two scholarships will be awarded at this time. First place is $200, and second place is worth $100, applicable on first year tuition. A third place will be selected as an alternate in case one of the other two drops out.

Pi Delta Epsilon, National Honorary journalism fraternity, is taking care of the details and acting as host. Paul Dewig is president of this fraternity.

Main speakers for the day have not been announced. There will also be various group discussions and a tour of the campus.

Anyone interested in information about the scholarships can contact Miss Emmy Seegmueller, journalism advisor at Evansville College.

French Film Will Close New Fine Arts Series

Last in the series of movies presented this year by the Fine Arts Committee wil be shown Thursday, May 7 in the college auditorium.

"God Needs Men," a French picture, and considered by the committee to be the best film made in that country during 1951, will close the series.

The movies are being shown to gain funds for the new scholarship instituted this year by the committee. The scholarship will be alternated between art, drama and speech, with the current one being divided by two prospective art students.

WEVC Names Twelve To Alpha Epsilon Rho

Alpha Epsilon Rho, radio honorary fraternity, has been added to the list of honoraries on campus, announced James Shutt, faculty sponsor of WEVC.

Keglers Finish Season; Three Tie for Crown

Last week's play in the bowling league brought a further shuffling of the standings as Hill's Billies, Phi Zeta Blockbusters and Bartle's Barters ended in a three-way tie for the second half crown. Playoffs are scheduled between these three teams to be finished before April 28 to determine the second half winner who will then play the first half winner for the league championship.

Philo's Four Roses finished fast but missed by a few games of winning, ending up in fourth place. Steiler's Stealers finished right on the heels of the Philo crew, followed closely by the SCA and Beta Alpha Kappa teams, with the Freshman, Acacia and W.A.A. teams finishing in that order.

Net Men Open Season By Losing To Western

Only two members of last year's tennis team came out to rejoin the 1953 racqeteers.

They are Jack Combs and Bob Harmon, both sophomores. These boys have been designated by Arad McCutchan, tennis coach, as the nucleus of the team. Others who have copped positions on the squad include John Meisenheimer, junior; Richard Koressel and John Conaway, freshmen, and Robert Friberg, sophomore.

In their first encounter, April 11, the Western Kentucky netters handed the Aces a defeat, a 9-0 setback. They ran into trouble against two-time OVC singles champion Rog Otten. A rematch is scheduled with Western for April 28.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Only teams and players who have that great undying spirit, the love of the game, and the burning desire to win ever come out on top. Such ball players as "Country" Slaughter, Lou Gehrig and many others had these traits. It is my opinion that Evansville College ball players are short suited in these traits. If Don Ping is to have a winning season, his boys had better develop a better spirit. It would be good to hear some one say: "I'm going to get a base hit this time even if I have to stick my head in front of the ball!" That is determinism and that is American baseball. COME ON ACES! Loosen up, and hang tough in America's greatest pastime. We are all for you, and we want a winner.

Evansville is scheduled to play Indiana State today and the University of Dayton tomorrow. Let's hope for good weather; and everyone come out and give the Aces some solid backing.

BASKETBALL

The Harlem Globetrotters and College All-Stars have completed their 19 day, 21 game tour of basketball. The Trotters again won the series, 14 games to 7. These teams estahlished attendance records in 13 of 19 cities they visited. Their gross gate receipts will be close to $1,100,000.

GOLF

Can versitile Bantam Ben Hogan, the golfing Texan, make it a winner in four open golf tournaments? As it stand now, Willie Anderson and Bobby Jones are the only golfers who have each won four opens. Hogan has won three. He won at Riveria in 1948, Merion in 1950, and at Detroit in 1951. His record setting victory in the recent Masters is a pretty fair sign that he will be a doubly dangerous factor in Oakmont's National Open in June.

EXTRA INNINGS

The $100,000 Kentucky Derby is just around the corner. Louisville will be booming on May 2 for the annual running of the Derby classic. Native Dancer, the unbeaten colt, is at present the odds on favorite. The Dancer made a waltz out of the Cotham Stakes at Jamaica last week. Native Dancer looks hard to beat in the Derby, however Brookfield Stable's Isasmoothie is probable second choice and could move up.

Look out for the St. Louis Browns in the American League. They have opened fast. With their league cast-offs and some decent pitching they could surprise the baseball world. Bill Veeck needs a winner.

Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankee's brilliant young center fielder, smashed the longest home run ever seen in the Washington Senator's ball park. His mighty poke was estimated at 562 feet. His blast caromed off a beer sign atop the centerfield bleachers and went clear out of the park. No one had ever hit a ball over those bleachers in the 29 year history of Griffith Stadium.

Aces To Play Ten

A ten game grid schedule for the 1953 season has been announced by Gene Robinson, athletic director, including five home games.

Eastern Ky. State is tentatively scheduled to provide the opposition for the homecoming activities this year, with other home games scheduled with Ceorgetown, Murray State, St. Joe, and Washington University of St. Louis.

Washington University is the only newcomer to the Ace agenda. Indiana State, in view of past records, seems to "own" the Purple and White gridders. The up-state elevens have defeated the Aces twelve times in seventeen encounters, with EC coming out on top in only three games. Two times the teams fought to a deadlock.

Coach Don Ping's crew does not hold a series edge on any of the teams on the schedule, which includes five ICC opponents, but the Aces have managed to break even with five of the teams in the series standings.

Sycamores Here Today, Dayton Tomorrow; EC Seeks Revenge

By DICK NICHOLSON

Coach Don Ping's diamond crew, minus their ace moundsman, will face a contingent from Indiana State this afternoon at the East Side diamond across from the Armory. The first pitch is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

Rained out in their scheduled double header with the Crusaders from Valparaiso, the Ace's nine is still looking for their first victory. They lost their first two battles, losing to Western Ky. and Murray State.

Jim Nichols, top Ace performer on the mound, who was struck on his pitching hand by a batted ball in the fifth inning against Murray State, is a very doubtful starter according to Gene Robinson, however, stated that he may be used sparingly in relief. Jim Hood will be Coach Don Ping's probable starter against the Sycamores, with Jerry Neiswanger getting the nod in tomorrow's encounter with the University of Dayton. Dayton will invade the East Side diamond, also at 2:30 p.m., to provide the opposition for the Aces fourth outing.

After Revenge

Seeking revenge, Coach Ping will send his crew against powerful Western Kentucky Tuesday, also on the home field. Western defeated the Ace nine 17-2 at Bowling Green in their first meeting, limiting the Pingmen to four bingles. Ping will try to use Nichols against Western, throwing the strongest possible team against the talented squad from down yonder available, trying to avoid another assault.

Banquet To Honor Bowlers Scheduled

Bowling League members who have rolled eighteen or more games will be honored at a bowling banquet May 5 at 5:15 p.m., which will be at The Homestead on outer Lincoln avenue. The menu will consist of fried chicken with all the trimmings. Arrangements are being made by John Beard and John Moening.

After the banquet, awards will be presented. A trophy will be presented to the champion team. Other awards will go to the individuals of the first and the second place teams. There will also be awards for the members who hold the high individual series, average and game records.

Two booby awards will be given as well as one for the most improved player.

Ace Golfers Face Busy Week; Play Three Matches

Playing three matches in five days, the Evansville college golf squad faces one of the busiest weeks on its eleven match schedule.

St. Joseph's Pumas, an addition to the original golf schedule, come to Evansville Monday to begin the weeks activities. Playing their second match in as many days, the linksmen play host to the So. Illinois University golf squad Tuesday in the first of a home and away series.

Following the match with Illinois, on the home links, the Aces play their third match of the week at Carbondale. The re-match with the "little egyptians" is scheduled for May 1, ending the weeks play. The Aces will attempt to raise their standings above the .500 mark. Their record is now 1-3.

Led by newly elected captain Bill Herrell, the Aces number one man on the links, Coach Paul Beck's boys faced Indiana State last Tuesday at the Helfrick Links. Results of the match were not available at this writing. (Results in Late News Breaks).

Curtain Descends On 'Druid Circle'

By PAUL DEWIG

Druid Circle, the latest Thespian production goes on the boards for the last time this evening at 8:15.

Taking a back seat for the most part, in the directing of this play, Mr. Hill turned over the reigns of this show to Bill Lord and Joe Emerson, or Willie and Joe, as they prefer to be called, and they did one swell job.

The cast headed by Joe Emerson in the role of Professor White proved Willie and Joe's ability. Mr. Emerson presented another of his usually good performances with stage ease and motion. His one fault as this critic feels, is his inability to forget the Shakespeare's dialogue.

Homer Meredith, as Maddox and also a newcomer to the Thespian set, emerged with the most outstanding performance. His motions and stage diction were perfect in depicting his character role.

As for the women's leading performance, Pat Darst in the role of Megan Lewis, captures the audience in her emotional and feminine appeal. She has a free, yet professional style in her presentation.

John Wilson as Tom-Lloyd Ellis gives one of his best acting performances in the part of the campus charlie who has his finger in every part of college activity. The romantic entanglement developed between him and his lady love is the strongest lead in the presentation of the plot.

Susan Chenoweth and Ron Hamilton as Miss Dagnall and Professor Perry Phillips respectively enhance the movement of the play with a strong sub-plot. Sue gives a performance equalling her splendid role in Macbeth and Ron shows a marked improvement over his past acting bit also in Macbeth.

Bill Lord, besides being co-director of the play and head man as far as setting and lighting, also came forth with one of the best supporting cast bits of the play. His role as a young chemistry lecturer and faculty joker livens the play and keeps it on a fast pace.

Also in supporting roles and doing very good jobs are Bess Mullett as Brenda, Pat Martin as Mrs. White, Anne Stocks as Miss Trevelyn and Barbara Moore as Blodwen. Anne and Barb add much to the continuity of the play by their consistant gossip. They develop the characters of the play in a full and rich sense by these informal chit-chats.

This is the final presentation of the Thespians for the 1952-53 season and it is one of the best this critic has reviewed in the past three Thespian seasons.

Choir Concert Monday, May 4

"The Peaceable Kingdom" will be featured at the Annual Spring Concert of the A Cappella Choir Monday evening, May 4. The concert will be at 8:15 p.m. in the College auditorium.

Mrs. Margaret Shepard, director of the 60-voice choir, stated that many people have requested that they repeat their performance of the Randall Thompson numbers. "The Peacable Kingdom" is a sequence of sacred choruses with text from the Prophecy of Isaiah. Four of the numbers are for double choir.

The program will also include the Latin numbers, "Hodie Christus Natus Est," by Palestrina, and "Benedictus," by Paladilhe. The choir will sing several folk songs, including the French Canadian "Alouette," and "Brother Will, Brother John," by John Sacco. Several students will have solo parts. Jerry Hoover is the student director.

Philharmonic Features High School Musicians In Season Finale

Four Tri-state high school students were guest soloists with the Evansville Philharmonic Orchestra, the evening of April 20, at the Coliseum.

Dr. George Dasch, conductor of Philharmonic for the past ten years, conducted his final concert. Included in the orchestra's selections were: "The Beautiful Galathea," by Franz con Suppe; "Petite Suite," by Debussy; "In the Village" and "Procession of the Sardar" from "Caucasian Sketches, Opus 10," by M. Ippolitow Iwanow.

Among the soloists chosen were Phyllis Nenneker, cellist. Ida May McCutchan, piianist, Anne Lloyd, clarinetist, and Phyllis Ann Mason, pianist.

Zetas Annual Card Party Wednesday

Professional entertainment will be provided, as well as entertainment by the fraternity men.

Pat Roper, WGBF organist, will entertain throughout the evening, and special acts by Gene Beyers, Les Watson, Carl Niedermeier, John Haas, Charles Cullom, and Jim Rose's combo will complete the entertainment.

Students To Vote Friday for SGA

Cadou Will Speak Here on May 2 Journalism Day

Eugene Cadou, chief of the Indiana Bureau of News Service, will be the principal speaker at the fourth annual Journalism Day at Evansville College on May 2.

Journalism Day is co-sponsored by the Evansville Courier and Evansville College. Arrangements are being handled by Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary Journalism fraternity.

The purpose of Journalism Day is to acquaint high school students with the journalism program offered at Evansville College and to provide professional insight in the field of journalism.

All students in the Tri-State are invited to attend the conference.

Other speakers on the program include Ralph Olmsted, Business Manager of Evansville College, O. Frank- Beumer, Public Relations Aide and Editor of "International Harvester People," James Shutt, Director of WEVC, Paul Dewig, editor of the 1953 LinC, Chickie Frieburg, Advertising Manager of Finke's Furniture Company, Ruth Ann Gregory, staff-writer for the Courier and John Hillman, managing editor of the Courier.

Scholarships will also be awarded at the conference. Scholarship applicants will review the speech of Mr. Cadou, and he along with Mr. Frankin Hunt and Paul Dewig will act as judges.

Lunch will be served in the cafeteria of the Union Building for all partaking in the conference.

Seven Pledged By Sororities

Women's informal spring rush ended last Friday with the observance of silence. Six freshmen and one upperman were pledged by the three sororities taking part in rush.

Sharon Greubel, a second quarter freshman, was pledged by Chi Omega.

Phi Mu sorority pledged another freshman, Dorothy Baggett.

Four freshmen, Lucy Baggett, Marion Leucht, Marilyn Tate, and Jaquelyn King, were pledged by Zeta Pi. Upperclassman Barbara Deering is also in this pledge class.

Because they took their quota of pledges during winter rush, Beta Sigma Omicron did not take part in the rush.

Preferential cards were signed by the hopefuls Friday morning in the office of Mrs. Charlotte Stephens, women's councilor. The sororities picked up their pledge lists at 4 o'clock and informed their new pledges immediately afterward.

Choir To Present Program Monday

Fourteen seniors will take their last-final bows when the A Cappella choir presents its annual Spring Concert Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Excluding commencement activities, this will be the last local appearance of the choir this season. Graduating members of the choir include Virginia Adye, Dotty Atkinson, Betty Drennan, Mary Jean Frohbieter, Jerry Hoover, Richard Kemper and Dorothy Kananaugh. Other seniors are Joann Mann, Billie Jean Miller, Sonia Padgett, Marjorie Rauscher, Douglass Rowe, Virginia Scott and Richard Topper.

This year's concert will feature Randall Thompson's "The Peaceable Kingdom." In addition, William Cannon will sing "Ava Maria" by Schubert.

Cornering the Vote

Gene Blackman, left, and Bernie Connolly, right, opponents for the presidential office in next week's SGA election, have two independent voters cornered and are good naturedly trying to instruct them on how to mark their ballots in the annual election. Mr. Blackman is talking to Gene Tevault and Mr. Connolly to Dale Sauer. Both Mr. Tevault and Mr. Sauer are freshmen and Korean vets. Mr. Connolly and Mr. Blackman have just one more week to campaign; Election Day is next Friday in the Union Bldg., from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Forty-Seven Advanced ROTC Cadets To Attend Camp in Texas, Louisiana

Forty-seven cadets in the advanced ROTC course here will attend summer camp this year, according to a recent release.

Two southland locations have been set up for the training on separate dates, with a group of 29 expected to attend the first session and the final 18 heading south later.

Harlington Air Force Base in Texas will receive the first contingent of EC cadets for a four week stay on June 21. The 18 remaining cadets will report to the base at Barksdale, La., on July 19.

Cadets going to the first camp include William Adkins, Donald Augenstein, Farrell Bartlett, Eugene Bauer, Donald Bernhardt, Ronald Christian, Alfred Colvin, Alvin Connolly, David Crumbaker, and Everette Fisher.

Also attending the first session will be Clifford Garrett, Jerome Goebel, John Haas, Thomas Hartman, Donald Hulsey, Franklin Imel, Kenneth Jones, Kenneth Kleiman and Kenneth Lensing. Concluding the list are Samuel Miller, Carl Neidermeier, Benjamin Reading, Donald Roth, Paul Swinney, Joseph Tisserand, Lester Watson, James Zeig, Paul Phelps and Frank Stuart.

Those going to the second base will be Donald Folz, Edward Grafton, Charles Hildreth, Gerald Jewell, Fred Kelly, Charles Kendall, Charles Linsmith, Bob Mahrenholz, John Meisenheimer and William Plane.

Also in the last group are Jerry Reynolds, Charles Shelton, Richard Springer, William Thornton, Joe Whitmore, Robert Wilson, Wayne Ziliak and Robert Fink.

Sheltered Among the Sheltering Palms

The select of the selected by the selected might well describe the sextet shown above. These senior women have been nominated by the student council to run in the May Queen election. Seated left to right are Vera Robinson, Joyce Wiggers and Mary Jean Frohbieter. Standing are Billie Jean Miller, Douglass Rowe and Sharon Meier.

One of the above will reign over the May Day festivities, set for May 12. The queen will be chosen by the vote of the senior men and her identity will not be revealed until the processional. The election is May 8, the same day as balloting for the SGA

Blackman, Connolly To Present Platform Points Tuesday at 10

Election of officers for the Student Government Association for the school year 1953-54 will be Friday, May 8 in the Union Building.

Officers will be elected from two slates, each backed by an affiliation of fraternities, sororities and the independent student organization.

Pi Epsilon Phi's nomination for president is Gene "Ado" Blackman. He is president of the accounting club and treasurer of the Business administration club.

Charles "Chuck" Hildreth, a music major, is the Delta Kappa candidate for vice-president.

Completing the Philo slate are Suzette Spiegel nominated by Phi Mu for secretary and Janet Lex, Alpha Omicroi Pi candidate for treasurer.

Phi Zeta Slate

The second slate consists of Bernie Connolly, Phi Zeta's nomination for office of president. Mr. Connolly, a junior, plays forward on the basketball team.

INCA nomination for vice-president is Robert Wilson, a music major. Nominations for other officers are Roberta Becker, Beta Sigma Omicron, treasurer, and Rosemarie Wiseman, Chi Omega, secretary.

Today and next week, the campus will be decorated with a variety of campaign posters and pictures each backing their own slates. Poster parties at the fraternity houses have been underway for the past two weeks preparing the campaign material.

Presidential Speeches

Tuesday morning, the presidential candidates will present their platform speeches and introduce the candidates on their slate to the student body at the convocation meeting at 10 in the auditorium.

SGA election activities will be climaxed Friday, the day for balloting, when the rival factions increase their efforts with parades, fraternity bands and side-walk speeches to sway the non-affiliated voters.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the committee rooms one and two on the second floor of the Union Building.

All students carrying at least 12 hours of classes or more, or sufficient hours to graduate, are eligible to vote.

Meeting Set For Council Nominations

Nominations for positions on Womens Council will be made at 10:00 this morning in the Great Hall of the Union Building.

The all women's assembly will nominate two slates of three candidates and the election will be held May 8.

A modification of the rules laid down in the Official Handbook now permits incoming juniors to be eligible for nomination. In the past it was required for a student to be an incoming senior in order to be nominated. This old rule was inacted at a time when there were almost three times as many women enrolled here as there are today.

Women's Council is active in four functions on the campus. The council is responsible for the organization and weekly meetings of Gamma Delta. It helps with the celebration of Dad's Day by providing girls to serve refreshments. In April the council has a recognition dinner for outstanding girls on campus, and is also responsible for handling the queen crowning ceremonies on May Day.

Five cents of the student activity supports the council which was organized to show interest in student life pertaining to women.

Senior Credentials Needed by Walker

Only 52 seniors have turned in their credentials to the Senior Placement Bureau.

That means some 138 of the 190 graduating seniors have not taken advantage of the placement services. They have been set up to aid the students in acquiring positions upon graduation.

All applications must be filed with the bureau at the close of the present quarter, stated Everette Walker, bureau head.

The credentials contain information pertaining to subjects, experience in work and college, offices on campus, references, and will be sent to the intending employers.

Last Day Journalism Applications Accepted

Today is the last day applications for the positions of editor and business manager of The Crescent and LinC will be accepted.

Application blanks may be picked up at the office of Miss Emmy Seegmueller, journalism advisor. They must be filled out and turned back into her office by this afternoon.

The new plan for salary raises was discussed at the meeting of the administrative board this Wednesday.

Walkin' It Over

Walking, hopeful of a victory, are Bernie Connolly, Phi Zeta; Roberta Becker, Beta Sigma Omicron; Rosie Wiseman, Chi Omega; and Bob Wilson, INCA. These candidates, as lined up above, hope to be elected president, treasurer, secretary, and vice-president of next year's Student Government Association. Mr. Connolly, Miss Becker, and Mr. Wilson are juniors this year and Miss Wiseman is a sophomore.

I Like Bernie...

by Jim Rose

(Editor's note: Mr. Rose is the present treasurer of Phi Zeta fraternity and vice-president of BAK. Jim is well-known to those who frequent the Union Building; he has served as student assistant to Miss Kirk for two years. A senior majoring in accounting, Mr. Rose is also a member of Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity.)

The last week's issue of The Crescent, an editorial was dedicated to "measuring your SGA candidates." I would like to help in this measurement by giving you some personal facts about my choice of candidates, Bernie Connolly.

Bernie is a 1950 graduate of Bosse High School, where he was very active in student activities. He excelled in the fields of basketball and golf. He was also recognized as a leader among his fellow students.

Bernie was elected class Treasurer his first year at Evansville College. He has been a member of Phi Zeta fraternity for two years, and served as Chaplain in 1952. He is a Cadet Captain in the R.O.T.C., and a member of the Accounting Club. His major field is Accounting. Aside from his regular activities he has been on various Union Board committees. These experiences have well acquainted him with student needs.

Bernie has also been very active in sports, playing three years in basketball and golf. He is twenty years old and is married.

The various relationships which Bernie has had with students on campus have made him conscious of the many problems of student government. He is well aware of the need for a stronger student association in connection with administration and faculty policies concerning you and I as students.

Bernie's campaign theme is Stronger Student Government for Evansville College. Incorporated in this campaign will be:

(1) A student demand for more information concerning the nummer in which the various funds, derived from activity fees, are spent. And how balances in these accounts are handled.
(2) Revision of the various committees, as to their duties and responsibilities.
(3) The posting of final grades by all instructors.
(4) Stronger representation of the student body in faculty meetings which formulate policies concerning the individual student.
(5) Greater publicity of S.G.A. activities.
(6) More careful consideration in the scheduling of classes among the various departments.

The problems connected with school spirit are also of prime interest to Bernie. As a member of the basketball team, he fully realizes that the student body is in need of a stronger tie between themselves and members of the various teams. It is through this understanding that he hopes to achieve a solution to the "hot and cold" pep clubs of the past. A strong student spirit unit will untimately lead to stronger sports.

These are Bernie's views and qualities. His maturity and leadership abilities, I believe, well qualify him for the position of S.G.A. president. That is how I'm voting May 8th.

Get Out The Vote!

Along with spring comes not only spring rains and flowers, but also SGA elections. Each year the campus is split into at least two rival factions.

These two groups spend much time in the decision as to whom their candidates shall be. After they have made their final choices, campaigning begins.

Members of the two factions use all their spare time in campaign plans and thinking of ideas for eyecatching posters. The two groups try to convince the rest of the campus that their candidates are the best.

This year, two slates are being presented for election. Bernie Connolly, Bob Wilson, Rosemarie Wiseman and Roberta Becker have been chosen by Phi Zeta, INCA, Chi Omega and Beta Sigma Omicron.

Gene Blackman, Charles Hildreth, Janet Lex, and Suzette Spiegel, on the Philo, Delta Kappa, Alpha Omicron Pi, Phi Mu slate are their opposition.

Both slates are equally well chosen. The party that wins is not the important factor in this election. What is important is that we all go to the polls on election day and vote for the best candidates!

Room for Improvement?

Dr. Myron F. Wicke, associate director of secondary and higher education of the Methodist church, made an intensive study of the educational program here last week. Dr. Wicke visited classes, attended committee and faculty meetings, and held interviews with student leaders and administrative officers of the college. From the facts that he gathered last week, he will make an objective study of our educational program and recommend improvements where needed.

It is encouraging to note that the administration is conscious of the fact that Evansville College may have some shortcomings.

What will be in Dr. Wicke's report and how much emphasis the administration places on this report is open for speculation. It will be interesting to observe.

No doubt Dr. Wicke did find room for improvement here; on the other hand, he couldn't help but rate this school highly in some departments and phases of our college program. To cite but one example: seven pre-med students applied and seven were accepted to medical school this year. That's a pretty good recommendation for the biology department.

We will leave the bad points concerning our college to Dr. Wicke and his report, hoping that this report will better some of our weak points.

A Job Well Done...

During this quarter the Fine Arts Committee has sponsored three movies to raise funds for two scholarships. The scholarships are half time, worth $210 each for a year.

The scholarships are for high school seniors interested in fine arts, dramatics, and speech. Their purpose it to enable students interested in those fields, but who have limited financial means, to achieve a college education.

On the Fine Arts Committee are members of the Evansville College student body and faculty, all of whom are very interested in those three fields.

We feel that all members should be commended for their fine work in helping someone else to gain a college education. We hope that whatever project or projects they sponsor next year succeeds.

Roberta Becker is chairman of the committee and Dr. Woody Werking faculty vice-chairman.

Talkin' It Over

Talking over a potential victory in the forthcoming Student Government Association are Charles Hildreth, Delta Kappa; Suzette Spiegel, Phi Mu; Janet Lex, Alpha Omicron Pi; and Gene Blackman, Philo. They are hoping to be elected to the offices of vice-president, secretary, treasurer and president. Mr. Blackman, Mr. Hildreth, and Miss Lex are juniors and Miss Spiegel is a sophomore this year.

I Like Gene...

by Don Bernhardt

I like "Ado."

Yes, I'm supporting Gene "Ado" Blackman for SGA president because I'm positive he is capable of handling the executive position, and will work laboriously to fulfill its all important tasks.

A 24-year-old air force veteran, "Ado" served as an aerial photographer for three years before entering Indiana State in 1950. At State he excelled in scholastic work besides starring as a tackle on the crack 1950 freshman team.

In 1951 he transferred to Evansville and since has compiled a remarkable record on campus. He pledged Pi Epsilon Phi fraternity in the fall of '51 and has maintained executive positions, displaying his natural leadership with it since that time. He is Philo treasurer and also supervises the finance department of BAK.

An accounting major and formerly a student assistant to Trygve K. Aageson, professor of accounting, Gene directs another business group as president of the Accounting Club. He is an appointee of Pi Gamma Mu honorary social science fraternity.

Possessing ability, leadership, determination, and a scintillating personality, the Philo candidate is frequently called upon to address downtown organizations.

Not only is Gene blessed with these sterling qualities, but he also is unmarried and has unlimited time to devote to the fullfillment of his duties. He said that if elected, he intends to make the student government strong and effective as the past two governments have been.

He mentioned the fact that Ralph Weber, present SGA president has carried out all his major campaign promises including the change in the method of selecting Campus Notables, the Card Playing Issue, the promotion of the Used Book file, and the Posting of Grades by the faculty members.

"I sincerely intend to emulate the example set by this year's SGA, and will be unbiased in striving to make the group more effective in elected," stated Gene.

He continued, "I believe the SGA should function for the students – to give them a voice in all matters concerning them directly. I hope to incorporate a "oneness" that will make this coming year's student government body one of the most effective at Evansville college."

And I honestly believe "Ado," with his intrinsic character and vast potentialities, is too valuable to the student body to let graduate from college without bearing some of the student problems upon his stern shoulders.

"I like 'Ado'!"

Green Wins First In Poetry Contest

Robert T. Green's poem, "War Was a Hill To Take," won first prize in the annual poety contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Jim Bodishbaugh's poem. "City Night," won second. Martha Ann Powell won honorable mention.

Following is Mr. Green's prize-winning poem:

WAR IS A HILL TO TAKE

Forward. Take the hill. That is the mission. Take the hill.
They rise, move out, and now all fear is gone for only men know fear. These are not men, only the shapes of men, grotesque in battle dress;
trained killers, automats — cogs of a death machine
grinding up the hill.
The side of the hill is a symphony of screaming wounded, the crash of guns — and death.
Calloused feet go onward
trodding over the wounded, dying, dead;
they top the hill. The sky outlines struggling men,
clubbed rifle butts and thrusting bayonets.
Hill secured, the living dig their holes.
A string of bloody guts, still warm are tangled in the branches of a tree steaming in the chill night air.
A weary man stumbles over a dismembodied arm,
Curses, kicks it to the side, begins to dig his hole where he will sleep bedfellows with a gun.

Words To Live By

The point is this: he who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully. Each one must do as he has made up his mind, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to provide you with every blessing in abundance, so that you may always have enough of everything and may provide in abundance for every good work.

II Corinthians 9: 6-8

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

Did you dig the crazy ex-student who sashayed around the Union building in a pair of tennis shorts last week? Caused a mild sensation. The only place he didn't go was the cafeteria.

Miss Kirk caught a glimpse of he happy lad. So did I. We looked at each other and nodded. We remembered Tojo.

His real name is Eugene Cox and he hasn't been on campus for almost four years. When he was here there wasn't a dull moment. Most of his moments occurred in the TUB. At present Eugene is in the Air Force with a corporal's rating.

Mr. Prickett

Brrr!

Know who holds the early swimming record for this year? J. Moening, J. Rose, C. Daum and P. Dewig. They went 4-23. Kerchoo!

In the Patio of an early evening or late afternoon (depending on whether you all are from southern Indiana or youse guys are from norethern Indiana) Everett Winter, Bill Harris, Earle Robinson hold forth at the piano. Vocals sound nice, especially when Mr. Herbert provides a bass and the boys can break out in Inkspots style.

Who'd a thought it — Alf Spillman walking across campus asking a buddy, "Who's the person they call the mentor?"

Fore??

There's a sign on front campus outlawing ball playing, but it doesn't say a thing about gilf.

Pat Martin had a new hairdo 4-21. Made her look as though she's gained a half-pound. That was the same day Joan Stocke, Phi Mu alum, was so very, very proud. She carried a cup of coffee the length of the Indian without spilling a drop.

Wedding Bells

Practice makes perfect, or there's nothing like being prepared. Marlene Ahrens was wandering around campus last week carrying a copy of "The Modern Bride." Marlene, AOPi, and Don Nelson, PEP, are planning to be married in the summer.

There's another campus twosome that have been unionized — so goes the rumor. He pays for her coffee now.

Everybody backs off and gives Frank Collins lots of room when he trims his fingernails. He uses a junior-sized meat cleaver remniscent of the one Frankie Adams used in "The Member of the Wedding."

From organic chemistry: "Formol titration does not mean performing a chemistry experiment in a tuxedo!"

Modern Marco Polo

Even after five years I discovered something new — a men's rest room in the Engineering Building near room 238.

Spring fever, says a learned campusite initialed R.T.D., is caused by dilation of the blood vessels. The blood supply remains constant. Therefore one doesn't have enough blood to give ooomph. He didn't say what he uses for an excuse during the other four seasons.

Ho-Hum

Don't know whether it was spring fever, but John Archer waited an hour the other day for a ride home. Home is three blocks from campus.

And then there's Bod Roland and his flowerpots. He asked Joe Dodge and me to help him move a couple. Flowerpots? O.K. They're small, we thought. Not Bobbie's — three feet wide and three feet high of concrete thiiis thick.

Roth Assumes Duty Of AER President

As determined in a recent election, Don Roth, junior, will assume the duties of president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio fraternity.

Roger Garrett, another junior, was chosen vice-president of the organization for the coming year. Barbara Moore, freshman, will act as secretary, while Dave Harold, sophomore, will serve as treasurer.

Mr. Roth is the current president of Radio Council and is an announcer-disc jockey for station WEOA. In addition, he belongs to Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and is a member of the Acacia fraternity. Other elected officers have served in various capacities and positions on WEVC. James Shutt, speech instructor, is the sponsor of the local chapter.

Scholarship Movie Series To Finish With French Film

With hopes of raising the total of this year's new art scholarship fund to $420, the Fine Arts Committee is working hard to promote a large attendance for their final movie, "God Needs Men," which will be shown Thursday, May 7.

Total cash to date is $350.

Religious Type

In order to create added interest and publicize the movie, which is religious in content, committee member Dr. F. Woody Werking has sent upwards of 200 letters containing leaflets to clergymen in the area.

The movie is a prize-winning French production filmed with modern technical equipment. "God Needs Men," subtitled "Island of Sinners," is based on a novel by Queffelec. An English translation, "Island Priest," can be obtained at Central Library, according to Dr. Werking.

Two Winners

Originally, the scholarship goal was set at $210, enough for one recepient. However, when judging was held to decide who was to receive the money, the committee came up with two winners, necessitating a change upward in the goal.

Connie Miller, a senior at Central and Sylvia Loeffler, a Reitz senior, will divide the scholarship. If the extended goal is reached, each will receive an amount equal to the original planned fund.

Union Leadership Conference Next Week

The annual Union Leadership Conference will be Wednesday, reported Miss Doris Kirk, Union Director.

The conference is for 1952-53 Union Management Board chairmen. Also the newly elected 1953-54 Board chairmen, their vice-chairmen and four core committee members will be present. The purpose of the conference is to prepare and familiarize these students with their leadership and committee activities for the next school year.

A dinner meeting at 6 p.m. in Cafes A and B of the Union cafeteria will precede individual committee meetings.

Two after-dinner guest speakers are included in the program. Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, EC president, will discuss the importance of a union building on college campuses. The other speaker, Mr. John O'Haver, is assistant director of the Purdue Union Building. His topic for discussion will be "Student Leadership."

Dramatics Fraternity Names Five Pledges

Five pledges to Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity, were named during the Thespian spring production, "The Druid Circle."

Ben Reading, Bill Plane, Bob Rundell, Bess Mullettt and Anne Stocks have been named to the group. These students have gained entrance to the honorary fraternity by earning points in dramatics, either in actual acting or backstage work.

LinC Goes to Bed!

Final copy and pictures for the 1952-53 yearbook were completed last Wednesday and turned over to the printer. This year's LinC, conventional in pattern, has been developed into something new as far as student appeal, stated Paul Dewig, LinC editor.

This year, the staff has taken advantage of the student fee and advertising to present a book we hope the students will like," concludede Mr. Dewig.

WILL THIS SUIT FIT YOU?

If you can make the grade, you can fly the latest, hottest, fanciest jobs in the air—and do it within one year.

IT TAKES a good, tough, serious guy to wear the gear of an Aviation Cadet. But if you can measure up, here's your chance to get the finest in aviation training—training that equips you to fly the most modern airplanes in the world and prepares you for responsible executive positions, both in military and commercial aviation.

It won't be easy! Training discipline for Aviation Cadets is rigid. You'll work hard, study hard, play hard—especially for the first few weeks. But when it's over, you'll be a pro—with a career ahead of you that will take you as far as you want to go. You graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year. And this is only the beginning—your opportunities for advancement are unlimited.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate! In addition, you must be between 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

YOU CAN CHOOSE BETWEEN PILOT OR AIRCRAFT OBSERVER If you choose to be an Aircraft Observer, your training will be in Navigation, Bombardment, Radar Operation or Aircraft Performance Engineering.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

HERE'S WHAT TO DO:

1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will arrange for you to take a physical examination at government expense.
3. Next, you will be given a written and manual aptitude test.
4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

'The Dancer' Heads List in Roses Run

Although the Kentucky Derby is apparently a one horse race, with Alfred Vanderbilt's Native Dancer getting most of the support, the 79th running of the classic event promises to provide as much excitement as any of the other races.

Native Dancer, top horse last year as a two-year old, is unbeaten in 11 outings and will go to the post tomorrow as the odds-on favorite. However, Correspondent, with Jockey Eddie Arcaro aboard, will have plenty of suport.

The Dancer doesn't have the early speed to match that of Correspondent or Tahitian King, but observers believe that the former can better go the distance of a mile and one-quarter.

A probable field of 12 horses will go to the post at the Churchill Downs event in the long run for the roses, captured last year by Hill Gail.

Pingmen Open ICC Play

Second row: Rudy Steiler, Jerry Neiswanger, Paul Kinney, Ron Miller, William Tucker, John Happel, Malcolm Montgomery, Jim Hood, Dick Bost, and Sam Hancock.

The Aces play Ball State tomorrow, to begin conference play, followed by games with Camp Breckinridge and Indiana State.

Cardinals Here In Conference Tilt; Aces Win

Rained out in two previous attempts to break into conference play, the Aces' diamond crew is scheduled to begin ICC action tomorrow against tthe Cardinals from Ball State at College field. The first pitch is set for 2 p.m.

Traveling south, the Pingmen will invade the Screaming Eagles of Camp Breckinridge, victorious in two outings against the Evansville Braves in exhibition games. The Eagles boast many professional baseballe players, including ex-Ace Joe Unfried.

Indiana State will come to Evansville Wednesday to make-up the postponed game of April 24 in another ICC game.

The Aces turned back the University of Dayton last Saturday 4-2, as Jim Nichols turned in a neat one-hitter — a single in the eighth inning — spoiling the moundsman's no-hit bid. Results of Tuesday's encounter with Western Kentucky State are listed in Late News Breaks.

Hill's Billies Take Second Half Title

Because of the three way tie for first place in the Bowling League, a play off was held last week. Hill's Billies, Phi Zeta Blockbusters, and Bartle's Barters competed to determine the second half winner who will take on the first half winner for the league championship.

In the first set of games, Hill's Billies won two games while dropping one to Bartle's Barters. In the second set, Hill's Billies took all three from the Blockbusters. Because there was no need to play the remaining set, the Blockbusters and Bartle's Barters dropped the games.

Audition Date Set for Cheerleaders

On Friday, May 15, tryouts for IC cheerleaders will be in the Auditorium, at 10 a.m.

At least three, if not more, of the new cheerleaders will be selected out of the final five.

Haug Announces Plans For Intra-mural Play

Spring sports competition will be inaugurated in the newly formed intramural league, according to Bob Haug, league chairman.

Golf, tennis and softball are included on the preliminary list of fresh-air athletics. All competition will be on a team basis. Softball and tennis will be played afternoons after school with golf matches taking place on Saturdays.

ACES LOOK SHARP

If you read this column last week, you noticed that I criticized the Purple Ace Nine for lack of spirit and not having the burning desire to win. The Aces made me eat my words Saturday afternoon at the College field. They defeated the University of Dayton 4-2 in a well played game. They were determined to win from the start. Jim Nichols, the Purple Ace fire-baller, threw a nifty one-hit game. He missed a no-hitter when Second Baseman Bob Basel dumped a single to center in the eighth frame. The Aces made five errors, but their defense was phenomenal in spots. Ralph Weber made a spectacular Stan Musial catch in the third inning to rob Bayton of a sure bingle. The Aces had some solid backing for their Saturday game.

EVANSVILLE'S FIELD HOUSE

Adolph Rupp, popular basketball mentor from the University of Kentucky, was the principal speaker at Courier Charities fifth annual most valuable player award banquet last Friday. He is a solid backer of Evansville's getting a new 12,000 seating capacity field house. He stated that those who believe that a 12,000 seating arena would be too big for Evansville just have to believe that the world is coming to an end in 20 years. Rupp told Coach Arad McCutchan when Evansville got their 12,000 seating gym they would have some great teams here. He also said that he would bring his Kentucky Wildcats here if this happened. It would really be nice to sit in a huge field house watching Evansville College roll over the Kentucky Wildcats. Think it over; it sounds good to me.

EXTRA INNINGS

The Philadelphia Phillies are running hot. They had won eight straight games when this was written. Robin Roberts, their ace fire-baller, has won 3 games and lost I of the eleven games they have played. It looks like another great season for him. He has been pitching with only two days rest.

BEWARE RAM O WAR

Saturday, May 2, is Derby Day at Louisville. It will be the 79th running of this classic. It looks like Native Dancer, the favorite, will be the winner. However, don't rule out Eddie Arcaro who will be up on Correspondent. He likes to have that horseshoe of roses around the neck of his mount. It is a $100,000 race, but the big payment, in the long run, will be sore feet, for sure; big heads, maybe; and empty pocket books, possibly. Longshot special: Watch out Dancer — here comes RAM O WAR.

Ace Golfers Top St. Joe

Led by Bill Herrel and Jim Hartman, the Purple Ace linksmen blasted St. Josephs College 15½-2½ Monday afternoon at the Country Club. Coach Paul Beck's number one and number two men tied for medalist honors by posting 75 stroke totals.

The match left the golfers with a 3-3 record. The squad has defeated Western Michigan State, Indiana State, and St. Joe. They have fallen at the hands of Purdue, Western Michigan State, and Western Kentucky State.

Meets with Southern Illinois University were scheduled for Tuesday at the Country Club and this afternoon at Carbondale, Ill. A match with Camp Breckinridge is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Tennis Squad Will Play In Conference Tourney

Arad McCutchan, tennis coach, announced a line-up revision for the Western Ky. match played Tuesday. Bob Friberg still holds his position as No. 1 man. The rest of the line-up includes: Jack Combs, Rich Korressal, John Conaway and John Meisenheimer.

Matches with Ball State and St. Joseph have been canceled by the tennis team in order that they may participate in the ICC tennis tourney.

Alpha Phi Mu Renames Plaque To Honor Hurst

Alpha Phi Mu, women's honorary scholastic sorority, has recently changed the names of its scholastic award.

The sorority recognizes the freshman woman with the highest scholastic average during the fall and winter quarter by adding her name to a plaque. Last year's winner, Sharon Hurst, died at the end of her freshman year. In her memory, the present members have renamed the plaque The Sharon Hurst Memorial Award.

The award will be made on May Day by the president of Alpha Phi Mu.

As last year, the organization plans to sell corsages to students for their mothers who will be visiting the campus on May Day. They are planning to begin taking orders for the flowers next week.

Freshman girls who maintained a 2.5 scholastic average during the first two quarters of this year were entertained by sophomore actives at a coke party last Tuesday afternoon. They will aid the actives in their May Day project.

This year's officers of Alpha Phi Mu are Shirley Balding, president; June Wallace, vice-president; Rosemarie Wiseman , secretary; and Janet Bailey, treasurer.

To Buy or Not To Buy- TV Set That Is

Students will have to do without television in the Union Building until next fall. The fund of $510.88 accumulated from the three annual Kampus Kapers will be put away until then because students could not agree whether it should be bought now or later.

After several meetings of campus organizations, designated to survey the television situation in Evansville and recommended whether to buy the set now or later, failed to come to an agreement, the question will be settled next fall.

The actual vote was four to four, four to buy now and four to wait until better reception is available in this locality. A complete vote would have constituted thirteen votes but several of the organizations were unable to attend the meetings, thus the final vote was deadlocked.

Job Interviews End For Year

Interviews for job placements by the Personnel Bureau of Evansville have ended for this school year, according to Mr. Everette Walker, director.

Among the eleven companies sending representatives to interview students were three Evansville firms: Marchant Calculators, International Harvester, and the Evansville Store.

Others included the Inland Manufacturing Company, Dayton, Ohio; Central Foundry Division of General Motors Corporation, Danville, Illinois; Travelers Insurance Company, Indianapolis, Indiana; Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio; Radio Corporation of America, Bloomington, Indiana; Magnavox Company, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Goodyear Aircraft Corporation, Akron, Ohio; and Vita-Craft Corporation, Chicago, Illinois.

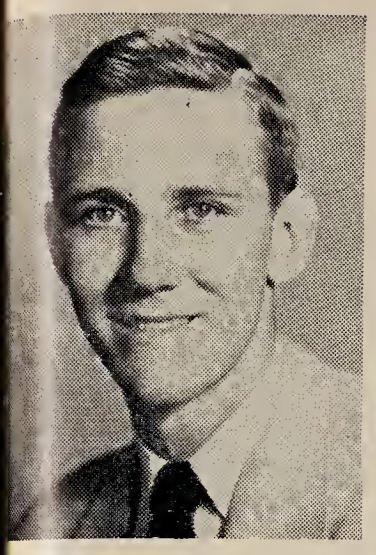
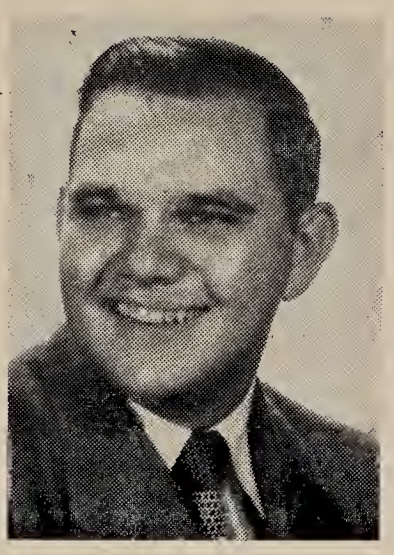
SGA Election Today in Union Building



Bernie Connolly



Bob Wilson

Editorial

We have many elections of various types at Evansville College during the school year; class, the various queen elections, Union Board, special elections, all kinds . . .

Today we have three: Women's Council officers, May Queen and SGA. The big one, we believe, is SGA.

The four SGA officers elected today will represent the entire student body during the coming school year. They will serve as your mouthpiece, your liason, in student -faculty -administration relationships.

It is no small task; it is not to be taken lightly and, above all, it is most definitely NOT A POPULARITY CONTEST!

The Crescent, for obvious reasons, endorses no particular candidate or group of candidates. We have endeavored to report the campaign accurately and objectively. If we have failed, it was unintentional.

We do, however, ask two things concerning today's election: (1) that every student go to the polls and VOTE and (2) that you vote, THINK. Weigh the different candidates' qualifications carefully before going to the polls.

And we repeat . . . This is NOT a popularity contest.

Last Union Movie Next Thursday in Great Hall

The last in a series of films that has been sponsored by the program committee of the Union Board will be shown in the Great Hall, Thursday, May 14, at 8:00 P.M.

The name of the film is "Chicken Every Sunday" and stars Dan Dailey and Celeste Holm.

The movie program was on trial this year and its continuance was to be based on its success. According to Rosie Wiseman, chairman of the program committee, they will be continued next year.

Blackman Outlines Party Platform; Connolly Presents 5-Point Campaign

Today is the day for the election of officers for the Student Government Association for the school year 1953-54.

Polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the committee rooms one and two on the second floor of the Union Building.

All students carrying at least 12 hours of classes or more, or sufficient hours to graduate, are eligible to vote.

Two groups are sponsoring candidates. Pi Epsilon Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Phi Mu, and Delta Kappa are backing Gene "Ado" Blackman for president; Charles "Chuck" Hildreth, vice-president; Suzette Spiegel, secretary; and Janet Lex, treasurer.

Phi Zeta, Beta Sigma Omicron, Chi Omega and INCA are supporting: Bernie Connolly, president; Robert Wilson, vice-president; Roberta Becker, treasurer; and Rosemarie Wiseman, secretary.

Gene Blackman, member of Pi Epsilon Phi , proposes the following platform:

1. A plan to install a suggestion box for all student complaints and suggestions which will be given immediate consideration at all SGA meetings.

2. A drive to continue and improve the present intramural program.

3. Make the used book file more effective by moving it from its present location to the book store.

4. Revive school spirit by establishing an active pep club.

5. Give assistance in every way possible to enlarge and improve the present social functions of the student body.

Bernie Connolly, Phi Zeta, presents the following five-point platform:

1. Organization of a committee to study the problem of class scheduling, improving on the sequence of courses so that a student majoring in any field can take all the courses in the proper order.

2. The establishment of a used book store which will be conveniently located. All books currently in use will be bought and sold by utilizing a claim check system. His party also proposes to make a study to see if the faculty could not be required to use a text book for a given period of time.

3. To provide periodic financial reports to give the student a clearer picture of how his money is being used by the school.

4. Give the student representation in faculty meetings during discussions which involve the student body as a whole.

5. Give the student an outlet for his questions, criticisms, and suggestions through daily office hours with the officers of SGA and to hold quarterly convocations to discuss SGA problems with the student body.

CORRIGENDUM
CULCULLUS NON FACIT
MONACHUM.

First I must apologize to my readers for the typographical error in response to Mr. Prickett's "Anything at All." The sentence should have read "We should not be a mind of blinkers." This idiomatic expression is typically British — meaning "potted thinking."

Again, my learned friend appears to deviate from the facts of honest reasoning. I would attribute this to his journalistic trend — Anything at All, which, without prejudice or rancour falls in the category of yellow paper journalism — commonly encountered in large city dailies — ARGUMENTUM AD POPULUM.

It is unfortunate that my learned friend has never been beyond the fringes of his immediate surroundings and therefore thinks the world is no where-else but here. If, however, he was acquainted with information from internationally known papers like the New York Times, he would without doubt have read of the scandalously mismanaged Peanut Schemes in East Africa under the Point IV Program. These were to exploit the African rather than to help him and today we have uprisings as the Mau Mau — IGNORATIO ELENCHI.

The above was one of the factors including friendly arguments about democracy in the USA, Dr. Malan's Union of South Africa, Australia, etc., and the multifarious injustices toward colonials and orientals, which today have lead bitter relationship by the orients toward the accidents. I am diffident to understand how one like my learned friend whose ideas are rather stereotyped with jingoism could demonstrate sentiment unchecked by reasoning.

I would challenge Mr. Prickett to refute any of the following:

(I) that if I do travel down South of the Ohio River (unarmed) and find myself through ignorance in the wrong pew, I will not be shot by a police man under the guise of homocide in self defence;

(2) that in Dr. Malan's Union of South Africa I will be given corporal punishment in waiting for a train at the "wrong end";

(3) that I would be barred (as a tourist) from landing in Australia; and finally about 60 yards from the college, "THE COLLEGE CORNER" would turn me down in horrible shame and cruelty. If I am wrong in any of these, I shall be only too glad in tipping my hat and saying: CAPUT REVELO ET VINCO ACCLINEM, I.

Again, I repeat, we must not be a mind of blinkers.

Abdul B. Kamara,

Cures for Spring Fever

Are you suffering from an acute case of spring fever? Several members of The Crescent staff have been noticing students loitering under the shade of trees in the vicinity of the horse shoe with that far away and aloof look in their eyes. That makes for trouble.

It's particularly dangerous for seniors; they may fail to snap out of it in time to prepare adequately for their final exams and miss the opportunity of donning their commencement gowns and etc.

Here's a good cure for seniors. Pick up your battered text book and just think how hurt you'd be if you had to come back next fall to pick up another subject, say at eight o'clock in the morning. Go to the library immediately, senior!

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors will have a little more difficulty curing themselves, for they must weather two or more attacks yet.

They must apply a little psychology to help them overcome their cases, for example, the principle of mind over matter.

Just say to yourself, whew! It's cold out here; get your textbooks and retire from the pleasant atmosphere of spring to the library or to a more remote corner in one of the other campus buildings, sans the twitter of birds, etc.

However, if you fail to revive immediately, you may not be among your classmates when it comes time to don your cap and gown. Fair warning! A hint to the wise "es bastante."

Clinic Develops Reading Skills

By JIM SCHREIBER

Until recently the average adult would have laughed had anyone suggested that there was anything for him to learn about reading. In all probability, he would reply with assurance, "I learned to read in the primary grades."

But did he? The complaints of college students who come to the Reading Clinic, room 149 in the office building, dramatize the fact that many men and women still meet with reading difficulties. They feel the need to develop new reading skills or to perfect old ones. For this purpose, the college reading clinic was established in 1946.

No Fee Charged

Regularly enrolled students at the college are charged no fee for the course in reading development. The course includes not only corrective exercises and the development of speed and comprehension, but also vocabulary development and the ability to interpret various kinds of data.

Twenty-three students were enrolled in the course during the winter quarter. To cite extreme cases, one pupil began by reading 97 words per minute, increasing to 292 while also gaining five per cent comprehension.

Doubled Efficiency

Another student started reading at 277 words per minute, building this up to 638, an increase of 130 percent. The average speed for the entire class inw rols per minute was 329, or a gain of 81.2 per cent over the initial 181 words with the comprehension perecentage being 76.7 per cent. This class meets two days a week, for a regular class period.

Evansville College View Book To Be Published

A picture book, the first comprehensive view book sponsored by Evansville College in many years, will be out about May 20, according to Mr. Ralph Olmsted, business manager of the college.

This book was started by Mr. Harold Van Winkle, former public relations manager who wrote the copy and took many of the pictures, and has been completed by Mr. Olmsted.

The book is built around the College seal. It is about 24 pages in length. There are pictures showing the significance of each of the seven candles in the seal.

Bill Parish and Sharon Greubel represent the average college students and appear on every page as well as on the cover. There are 100 pictures in the book.

There will be 5000 copies printed with the majority of them distributed to the high school students in the Tri-State. In this way will they become acquainted with the meaning of the College seal and with various phases of classwork, worship, and social activity.

College students may pick up copies of the picture book in the Public Relations office.

Guest Columnist

Joe Emerson

(Editor's Note: Joe Emerson, a senior, is a pre-theology major. Mr. Emerson is a member of the Thespians and has appeared in many of that groups' recent productions. He is also a member of the Delta Kappa fraternity and has been a staff writer on The Crescent.)

When they asked me to write the guest column this week they told me that I could choose my own topic. I could write anything I wanted to because no matter what I wrote I had to sign my name and everyone would know who the author was.

They told me I could start a crusade to rid the country, the state, the city, or even Evansville College of some great evil. To this I have the perfect answer. I want to graduate!!! It is rather late for me to start any kind of a crusade. Besides if I did start one, I would have one volunteer for the cause — myself. I am rather tired of getting out on limbs and daring other people to saw it off. (It just doesn't pay. Students here are apathetic to anything.)

The other choice they gave me was to write about something that I knew more about than anyone else on campus. This posed an even greater problem. I searched very carefully for the right subject, the subject on which I could expound and enlighten the less fortunate people on campus. After careful research, I arrived at another horrible conclusion. I could not find a subject on which to write that someone on campus didn't know more about.

I wonder how many other people on campus are in the same boat. I also wonder how many people who are in the same boat realize it. Even more so, I wonder how many people in that boat will admit to it. I read somewhere that a lot of people could say what they think and still keep quiet. The truth of that statement becomes even more obvious to me as I write this column.

You do not have to look far to find classic examples of people running off at the mouth with nothing to say. We all seemed quite pleased with the accomplishment of Senator Wayne Morse as he spoke on the floor of the Senate of the United States for 22 hours and 26 minutes about the Tidelands Oil problem. Quite frankly, I don't think he knew that much about the bill but he set a new record for speech length so we should all take off our hats to him. Naturally it is beside the point that it cost you and me between $9,000 and $10,000 to write it in the congressional record alone.

The senate isn't the only place where people spout off without knowing what they are talking about. Believe it or not even at Evansville College you can find some living examples. For fear of hurting feelings or pride I will not attempt to name them.

One more piece of advice before I quit: PEOPLE WHO THINK BY THE INCH AND TALK BY THE YARD SHOULD BE KICKED BY THE FOOT.

If you don't believe people run off at the mouth without having anything to say re-read this column. It is the perfect example. Oh yes, Mr. Editor I think I neglected to give this a title. Just call it, "Anything At All."

SGA News

At the SGA weekly administrative board meeting, last Wednesday, the board unanimously adopted a plan to increase the pay of both the editor and business manager of The Crescent next year.

The plan, which would place the business manager on a strict commission basis and the editor on a salary plus commission basis will be given a one-year trial before being permanently adopted.

It was the feeling of the Publications Committee that such a plan would provide more incentive for the business manager and consequently better the financial condition of the weekly publication.

Paul R. Kinney, present business manager of The Crescent will complete the details of the plan with Mr. Ralph Olmsted, business manager of the college.

Mr. Kinney stated that based on this year's Crescent income the business manager would receive approximately $170 and the editor approximately $150. At present the editor receives $100 per year and the business manager $75.

Registration Scheduled For May 11-22 Inclusive

Registration of students now on campus who plan to attend summer school will take place May 11-22 inclusive. Pre-registration for students who plan to attend the Fall Term of 1953-54 will be held during the same time, according to Mr. G. R. McCoy, registrar.

Mr. McCoy states that students should see their advisor or counselor at once and arrange for preliminary registration. Registration forms must have the approval of the advisor or counselor.

WEVC Broadcasting Daily On Lengthened Schedule

Choir on Final Leg Of Spring Tour

On Sunday the A Cappella Choir will journey to Indianapolis via Bedford for the last of its out-of-town appearances this season.

The "bus-weary singers" will stop at the Methodist Church in Bedford for the morning worship service where they will sing and also hear Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, president of the college, give the sermon.

After lunch at the church, they will depart for Roberts Park Methodist Church in Indianapolis. There an evening concert will be given. Overnight accommodations will be provided in Indianapolis homes. Monday evening they will sing at Trinity Methodist Church in New Albany before heading for Evansville.

The choir recently made a hit on its Chicago trip when it sang in Orchestra Hall for the Sunday Evening Club. Besides appearances at several Chicago churches, stops were made at North Judson and Washington. North Judson folk entertained the group overnight.

Selective Service Exam Date Set by Hershey

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, last week reminded college students that applications for the May 21 Selective Service College Qualification Test must be submitted to the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., not later than midnight, May 11.

The May 21 test is primarily for students prevented by illness or other emergencies from taking the test April 23, but General Hershey emphasized that this did not bar any qualified students from taking the test if his application is mailed before the deadline.

He also stressed that students who have a certificate of admission for tthe April 23 test which they failed to use on the assigned date must submit new applications if they wish to take the May test. The old certificates, he pointed out will not admit a student to the May test.

General Hershey said the May 21 test will be the last this school year.

The student may obtain a new application from any Selective Service local board. The application blanks should be submitted as soon as possible to the Educational Testing Service, Pinceton, N.J. administrators of the test, who, in turn, will mail the admission certificates to the student.

Retires After 27 Years

'Neely' Retires After 27 Years; Returning to Tennessee Farm

By BILL ADKINS

"Janitor Retires." Enough words, perhaps, to close the career of some custodians — but not the man of the keen analytical mind and the "mother wit." Not Neely.

Neely Strayhorn was a good janitor. He was punctual and dependable, but he was more than that. His personality emerges as part of the folk-lore of the Evansville College story. He is an institution.

Back in 1926, when the Administration building stood alone on the campus, Neely made his appearance. For 27 years he watched the college grow, both in buildings and people. When the maintenance staff was expanded Neely was moved to the Music Buildings, where he remained until his retirement.

Now he is gone, and a part of the college — an indefinable part — is gone with him. Neely knew more students than anybody, and the students knew him just as well. His friends number into the thousands.

Neely will go back to Tennessee, back to his farm near Jackson. His familiar "How Ya Doin" will give sign to his old cronies that he is back to stay.

Perhaps he will just run his farm the ordinary way, raising cotton and enjoying southern cooking. But there is a possibility that Neely will go from moy rags to riches. His acres have recently been the site of geological explorings, and, although nothing has been found to date, the possibility of discovering oil is strong.

Stories and data about the big, easy going man are legion. It is said that, although he never entered a classroom while class was in session, he could tell within two weeks whether or not a newly arrived member of the faculty was worth his salt. He analyzed the new profs with a sharp eye and ear to observations by students. His opinion was usually right.

During the depression when the banks were closing all over town, Neely acted fast to avoid a financial crisis. He rushed to the bank where his stored funds were in jeopardy, took out his money, and invested in a brand new Buick. For years, Neely drove the best car on the entire campus.

Last week, at a banquet in his honor, Neely received a watch from the maintenance staff and his old friends on the faculty. Later, the Music department presented him with a chain to go with the watch. Neely has the watch and chain to remind him of Evansville College, but the college has a fine memorial to Neely —his multitude of friends.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

SHEEDY shed crocodile tears till he had alligator bags under his eyes, because he got the gator from his girl. "I'm going to hide from you and your horrible hair," she said "until you go gator bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Keeps hair well-groomed from morning 'till night. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul slithered down to a nearby toilet goods counter for Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's swamped with purse-lipped females who want him to crocodile their telephone numbers. So water you waiting for? Buy a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, or ask for it on your hair at any barber shop. Then your social life will stop dragon, and you'll scale the heights.

STIELER SPARKS ACES

Coach Don Ping's Purple Ace nine split evenly with the Ball State Cardinals last Saturday at the college field. Ball State won the first encounter 4-2, while the Aces retaliated in the second game and defeated the Cardinals 6-1. Rudy Stieler, the bespectacled Purple Ace twirler, tossed a nifty four hit game. He has an unorthodox delivery, but it appeared to be effective. He gave up one run, four hits, and four free tickets to first base in the seven frames he worked. The Aces hit well behind him. They failed to connect consistently in the first tilt. Jim Hood hurled a respectable game, but he came out on the losing end, 4-2.

GUERIN GOES TO SLEEP

The Dark Star wasn't so dark Saturday, May 2, at Louisville in the 79th running of the Kentucky Derby. He was shining as he came across the finish line a head in front of Native Dancer, the only horse in the race. In my opinion, Native Dancer should have been the winner. His jockey, Eric Guerin, just went to sleep at the reins. He should have pushed his mount before he did. He could have won the race easily. Ten yards past the finish line Native Dancer was a length ahead. It sure hurts when the best participant in anything has to suffer a loss due to the mental error of someone else. Native Dancer will be your Preakness winner May 23, if Guerin can stay awake.

Jim Nichols, Purple Ace fire-baller under-went major surgery Monday, May 4, at Deaconess Hospital. Jim suffered a herniated intervertebral disc which was removed in a successful hemilaminectomy. The surgery was performed and completed by Dr. William Fisher with assistance from Dr. Puch. Jim will be hospitalized from 10 days to two weeks. Everyone should make a note to stop down and see him. It's always nice to have visitors when you're flat on your back.

PAPER CUPS IN ST. LOUIS

The St. Louis Browns and the New York Yankees had a battle royal last week. Clint Courtney, the Brown's catcher, slid into shortstop Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees and upset him. Billy Martin, the Yankees' banty-rooster, took a swing at Courtney and the riot began. When it was all over, Umpire Bill Stevens escaped with a dislocated shoulder, and the field was covered with beer bottles aimed at the umpires and players. When you go to St. Louis now, you will have to drink that fine beer from one of those nasty paper cups. Beer bottles are no longer issued for tossing purposes.

GAME OF THE WEEK

Next Tuesday afternoon the WAA softball team will play the Men's Faculty squad in one of the highlights of the May Day program. Mr. Ralph Coleman, manager of the faculty crew, has announced that Everett "Dizzy" Walker has received the starting mound assignment and Dr. Leland "Yogi" Moon is slated to catch. Reba Hardison and Mary Jean Lockwood will form the battery for the gals' squad. Don't miss it.

Purple Tennis Team Journeys To Ball State Today, ICC Tourney Tomorrow

Arad McCutchan, tennis coach, left this morning with five members of the squad on a two day trip to Ball State college for a match with the Cardinals this afternoon and the ICC tennis tourney tomorrow.

The tennis tournament was originally scheduled for today and tomorrow at Butler University but it was decided that the tourney could be played in one day if it was transferred to the Ball State courts. The match with Ball State was then rescheduled for today so the squad could make the trip in one swing.

Heddon in Charge

Frank Heddon, Butler tennis coach, is in charge of the tourney and is to be assisted by A. L. Phillips, Ball State tennis coach. Drawings for the tourney were to be made Wednesday.

All players in the tournament will be allowed to play both singles and doubles.

The match with Ball State will be played this afternoon at 2:30 on the Ball State College courts. This will not only give the squad another match but it will enable the team to get the feel of the foreign courts before the tournament begins on the following day.

Five Make Trip

Players making the trip will be Bob Friberg, Jack Combs, Rich Koressal, John Meisenheimer and John Conaway.

The tennis squad was scheduled to play Tuesday afternoon at Kentucky Wesleyan. Scores were not available in time for this issue. The Wesleyan squad will play a return match here next Tuesday, May Day.

Racqueteers in ICC Tourney

Aces Play in First Triangular Contest With State, Butler

Coach Paul Beck and the Evansville College link squad will travel to Terre Haute today to participate in a triangular meet on the State Course with Indiana State and Butler University. The meet will be the first triangular event of the season for the Aces.

The linksmen will play a re-match with Western Kentucky State's golf squad Monday on the home course. Western previously defeated the Aces 192 in the Aces fourth outing of the season.

In a "twin bill," the Ace link squad split even with the Southern Illinois fairway boys, winning the first match 13-5 and losing the second, 9-3 on consecutive days.

The Aces, who now have a record of four wins and four losses, have defeated Western Michigan, Indiana State, St. Joe, and So. Illinois University. Their losses were to the hands of Purdue University, Western Michigan, Western Kentucky, and So. Illinois.

A match with Camp Breckinridge was scheduled for May 6, but results were not available at this writing.

The link squad will participate in an ICC tourney next week at La Porte. The event will take place Friday at the Beechwood Country club.

Bowlers Receive Honors at Banquet

The bowling banquet was held Tuesday evening at The Homestead, to honor the campus bowlers. Jim Jensen, secretary of the bowling league, presented the awards. High individual average awards went to first place winner Ralph Coleman and Sgt. Elsal Bartle, the runner-up. High individual series winner was John Eger, with Don Hulsey taking second. Lt. Col. James Brantner took high individual game, with Gene Blackman his runner-up. The most improved player awards went to Kay Bondus and Mr. Walker.

The winner of the final play-off, Stieler's Stealers, was presented with a trophy, and each individual received an award. They were Miss Ida Stieler, Mrs. Roxie Coleman, Ralph Coleman and Mr. Walker. Frank Blum won the booby award for the most unorthodox style of bowling.

Aces Split Opening ICC Battle With State's Cards; Play Today

Evansville College's Purple Aces split their opening ICC Baseball double header with Ball State's Cardinals last Saturday on the college field. The Cardinals copped the initial tilt, 4-2 in nine innings but the Aces came back to win the abreviated contest, 6-1.

The Cardinals reached Ace hurler Jim Hood for 11 safties in the opener, bunching the bingles in the third, fourth, and fifth frames for their four runs to send the Aces reeling to their 14th defeat. The Pingmen could pound out but five hits off State's Bill Bryan, the winning hurler.

Four Hitter

Freshman Rudy Steiler hurled four hit ball for the Aces in the second tilt, and the Aces played errorless ball behind him. Coach Ping's crew went to the front in the first inning and was never headed. Norm Heard had a perfect day at the plate in the second game as he connected for two singles and a triple.

A May 5 game with Camp Breckinridge was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Indiana State invaded Evansville to make up a postponed encounter Wednesday but results were not available at deadline.

The Aces will play Kentucky Wesleyan today at Owensboro in the first of a home-and-home series. The second game, to be played on the Aces diamond, is scheduled for May 14.

Aces To Travel

Murray State will play host to the Aces next Tuesday in a single game at the Murray field.

Hurler Jim Nichols, who suffered a back injury recently, will be lost for the remainder of the season. The fire baller, top moundsman on the Ace crew, underwent surgery last week to remove a disc from his spine.

LinC Is Most Elaborate Yet Tried: Cronin

"This is the most elaborate LinC ever tried," was the statement of Ralph Cronin, Keller-Crescent sales representative, at the time of his first look at the layout for the 1952-53 LinC. The budget, pages, and details of the 1953 LinC, all top previous records.

Included in this edition of the LinC are more than 500 pictures, over 50 of which are devoted to athletics, stated Paul Dewig, LinC editor.

The advertising section of the LinC is as pictorial as the other divisions of the book, continued Mr. Dewig. There are 20 pages in the advertising section.

"Many new ideas were incorporated in this annual to break up the monotony of usual annual coverage," added Mr. Dewig.

Offices List Necessary Senior Graduation Duties

The registrar's office, business office and bookstore have notified seniors of necessary arrangements to be made before commencement.

From the registrar's office comes word that all scholastic requirements must be satisfied by May 22. The business office must account for all unpaid accounts by the same time.

Starting last week the bookstore staff began the job of measuring seniors for caps and gowns. "Academic regalia" is required for participation in the commencement and baccalaurate services. Rental fee for the caps and gowns is $2.50. An additional 35 cent deposit is made to cover the tassel on the "mortar board."

In the business office, the seniors must pay the diploma fee and settle any other financial obligations to the college. This must be taken care of before May 22.

Watson, Stocks To Be LinC Heads; Combs To Edit Paper

Five applicants have been accepted for top positions on The Crescent and the LinC next year, according to Miss Emmy Seegmueller, Journalism instructor.

Replacing Ralph Weber as editor of The Crescent next year will be Jack Combs. Active on the campus, Mr. Combs, is a member of Pi Epsilon Phi social fraternity, has been a letterman on the tennis team for two years and is captain of the squad this year. He was vice-chairman of the All Campus Dance committee.

Memorial Grad

His qualifications for the position of editor include work on the staffs of the school paper and the yearbook at Memorial High School. He has been a member of the Crescent staff for two years. During this time he has served as assistant page editor, as sports editor, and is currently news editor.

Miss Watson, a member of INCA and Alpha Epsilon Pho, honorary radio fraternity, is public relations director for WEVC. She was a member of the 1953 LinC staff and served as business manager for the publication.

From Indiana University

A transfer student, she was on the staff of the Indiana Daily Student at Indiana University. At EC she has been on the Crescent staff for four quarters, serving as a page editor during that time.

Miss Stocks, a member of INCA and active in the Thespians, has worked three quarters on the LinC staff. An art major, she has worked on minor publications for the art department and was art editor for the '53 LinC. She drew cartoons for many of the advertisements which ran in the Crescent during the winter quarter.

The new business manager for the Crescent will be Richard Nicholson. Mr. Nicholson was editor of the Senior edition at Reitz and has been on the Crescent staff a year. He is currently sports editor.

Carroll M. Rickard has been named business manager for the '54 LinC. On this year's LinC he assisted Paul Ewig and sold space to advertisers.

Getting Ready To Go

Getting ready to go on next years publications of the Crescent and LinC are the new editors and business managers. On the left is Jack Combs who will succeed Ralph Weber as editor of The Crescent. Next is Dick Nicholson, who will work with Mr. Combs as the new business manager of the Crescent. The two young ladies in the picture are Anne Stocks and Gloria Watson, co-editors of next year's LinC. Kronsbein Speaker For Convocation

Dr. John Kronsbein, head of the college engineering department will be the speaker at the freshman convocation, Tuesday, May 19 in the College Auditorium.

Dr. Kronsbein, former faculty advisor of Acacia Fraternity, received his PhD. degree while studying in Leipzig, Germany. His work in the engineering field has not been limited to activities at the college. He is now helping Deaconess Hospital with work on Isotope laboratories and he was former head of Hoosier Cardinal Research Division. He is a member of 11 professional societies including the Institute of Physics, and the Mathematical Association of America.

Dr. Kronsbein has attended four European Universities and studied at Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Physics.

Robertson Elected To Lead Womens Council Next Year

Last Friday women students elected Women's Council officers for the coming school year. Norma Jean Robertson was elected president to succeed Carolyn Neucks.

Margaret Broadhead and Carolyn Ruschmeier were elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

In a meeting two weeks ago women students nominated candidates for the offices. The constitution at that time required nominees for those positions to be seniors at the time they took over their duties. But at the mass meeting that clause was revised to state that the nominees may be either juniors or seniors during the year they are officers. All three of the newly elected officers will be juniors next year.

The cabinet also includes three vice-presidents. Jackie King, who was president of the freshman Gamma Delta organization, automatically becomes second vice-president through her freshman office. As second veep she will assume duties as student sponsor of next fall's Gamma Delta.

The two other vice-presidents are appointed by the president with the advice of her cabinet.

Wilson, Wiseman, Becker Also Win SGA Positions

By GLORIA WATSON

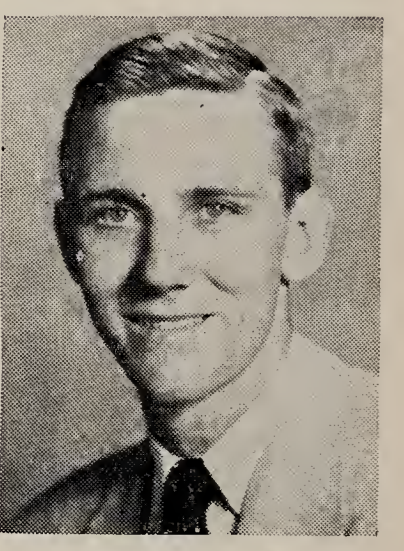
Bernie Connolly, with the majority of the 575 otes cast in last Fridays election, became the president of the Student Government Association for the 1953-54 school year.

Mr. Connolly and the other three victors ran on the Phi Zeta slate. Bob Wilson, representing the Independent Campus Association, won honors as vice-president. Rosemarie Wiseman, Chi Omega, will handle secretarial duties, while Roberta Becker, Beta Sigma Omicron, will care for monetary matters.

As usual, in every SGA election, noise, color and speechmaking prevailed on election day. Two caliopes clammored for attention at the 10 o'clock period while colored hats, bands and parades added to the excitement of the day.

Rivals Await Results

Soon after the polls had closed at 3 p.m., members of the rival parties formed informal groups on the steps of the Union. They remained this way during the hour and 15 minutes that lapsed from the time the polls closed till the time that the new officers were announced.



Bernie Connolly

In an interview with Mr. Connolly soon after the results had been announced, the new SGA president commented: "In speaking for the four officers, we want to thank everyone for voting. We think we really had a fine turnout. Next year we intend to follow through with our platform and serve the students in every way."

Active President

Mr Connolly is a member of Phi Zeta fraternity, a Cadet Captain in the ROTC and a member of the Accounting Club. He is also a member of the varsity basketball and golf teams. In his freshman year he was treasurer of his class.

Mr. Wilson, INCA's candidate in the election, is a junior majoring in music. He was graduated from Bosse and served as president of his freshman class at Evansville College. Mr. Wilson is in the ROTC and is a member of the band.

Miss Wiseman is a member of Chi Omega, the Crescent staff, and is president of the Union Board for next year. She is active on Union committees and serves as a student assistant to Miss Kay Bondus in the Union.

Beta Sig Winner

Miss Becker is a member of Beta Sigma Omicron, social sorority, and Sigma Alpha Iota, music fraternity. She was recently named a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Unievrsities and also a Campus Notable.

ROTC Review On May 25, 26

The second annual Federal Inspection of the Evansville College Air Force ROTC unit will be here on May 25 and 26.

The primary purpose of the inspection will be to examine the training facilities, both in the classrooms and on the drill field. There are some 280 cadets enrolled in the ROTC program at Evansville College this year.

Col. Roy N. Hillyer, Jr., Lt. Col. Robert E. Phillips, and Major Curtis Fritsch, from headquarters AFROTC at Montgomery, Ala., will inspect the different phases of training. They will also review the entire cadet corps on parade May 26.

The entire cadet corps will participate in the Armed Forces Day parade this evening in downtown Evansville. The parade is scheduled to start at 8:30. All reserve units in the city will participate in addition to numerous regular army units from surrounding camps and numerous bands and equestrain units.

SCA Outing Set For May 15-17

The Student Christian Association will hold their annual retreat at Camp Carson May 15 through 17, for all members and prospective members.

The purpose of the retreat is to instill general fellowship in Christian young people, and for making plans for next year's fellowships.

Meetings of the new and the old officers have been set to plan for next year, to review what they have done, and to see what needs to be accomplished.

The students will take their food and cook their own meals, with the help of Janice Morgan and her mother.

Dr. and Mrs. V. W. Maves will accompany the group, to help, guide, and to act as chaperones. Every hour has been planned for the group with such as camp fire circles, recreation, group singing, and discussions.

The students will leave Friday and will come home Sunday night.

Annual Men's Roundup Slated for Wednesday

Athletic events and a fish fry will feature the annual Men's Roundup next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the East Side Park.

Highlighting the athletic events will be a baseball game and a horseshoe and washer contest.

A complete menu will be offered at the fish fry which is slated to begin at 5:30 p.m. Tickets for the event are 60 cents and can be purchased in the Administration Building or in the Union Building. Tickets must be purchased in advance in order to prepare the correct amount of food.

Now The Work Begins

Last Friday the Phi Zeta-Chi Omega-Beta Sigma Omicron-"Independent" coalition made a clean sweep of the annual race for the four Student Association offices.

That dormant Evansville College school spirit was really in evidence during a day that featured a band, a caliope, blaring loudspeakers, and even a fire truck. Both sides tried to outdo the other in one of the noisiest SGA elections ever witnessed.

Both sides worked hard to gain votes last Friday and the weeks preceding.

Almost 84 per cent (575) of all eligible voters went to the polls during the six-hour voting period — a commendable turnout, we believe.

Although for the past few years there has been an unwritten understanding that the official returns will not be announced, it is known that the voting for the presidential and treasurer offices was very close.

Friday was an interesting day; without a doubt the most colorful day on the school calendar, at least from a student viewpoint.

But the ballyhoo is over now, and, for four students at least, the work is about to begin. The winning candidate, of course, deserve every student's congratulations. And, more, important, they deserve the co-operation and support of the entire student body during the coming school year.

If Mr. Connolly and his three subordinates were sincere about their campaign pledges, and we have no reason to doubt that they were, it will take the support of every EC student next year to make those pledges a reality.

Please Be Careful

It won't be long now — 15 more school days — until we can all relax from the nine month, study-packed schedule of another school year.

No doubt many of you have planned in advance for this particular time of the year. Perhaps it's a trip out West, or to the East coast, but in any event it's planned to be a happy and memorable occasion.

Whether or not it will be one is to be determined by you. One main reason for warning you so far in advance is based upon your present driving habits, that is, from what we see on and in the vicinity of the campus.

One member of The Crescent staff reported that an irate campus driver, evidently in much of a hurry, passed him on his right one morning during a heavy rain. Such a driver, beyond a doubt, must have earned his license by doing dare-devil stunts for some county fair or other.

Try to remember, when you get on the highway, that there are thousands of motorists just like you; you are all intent on reaching some destination in the shortest possible time, but all of you may not get there. If you don't believe that, pick up the nearest telephone, dial the Automobile Club of Southern Indiana, Inc., and they will present you with statistics which will make you shudder.

Now we don't like the read, hear, or be told of ill fortune befalling anybody, particularly those that we are more closely associated with. Thus we offer this bit of advice: Find out the condition of the highways you intend to travel prior to leaving. The same organization mentioned above will inform you of all major highways, U.S. and State, undergoing repairs, and advise you as to the best and most safe routes.

Study your road maps for danger areas. Leave in plenty of time, to prevent having to take any chances, or, as the more common expression puts it, flirting with death.

Lastly, even though we doubt seriously that any of you partake, don't mix ethyl and alcohol; it just won't work. Well, adios, have a happy time.

Jobs Plentiful For Graduates Says Durkin

Unemployment is at a postwar low and the job outlook for college graduates this year is excellent, according to a release from Martin P. Durkin, Secretary of Labor.

Opportunities in specific fields, including engineering, natural sciences, teaching, federal civil service, health professions, business and law and social work are outlined in the release.

Engineers Wanted

During the forthcoming period of partial mobilization, an average of 30,000 new engineers per year will be needed.

Military service coupled with the decreasing number of engineering graduates will continue to make the shortage of qualified engineers acute.

Chemical, electrical and mechanical engineers will continue to find employment mainly in manufacturing industries, while federal, state, and local governments will employ the largest number of civil engineers.

Demand for personnel in most of the natural sciences has also increased sharply during the past two years.

Chemists, Note

Chemists will find employment opportunities greatest in such manufacturing industries as chemicals, petroleum, rubber, food, and paper, although they will also be needed to supply a demand in education, consulting laboratories and government work.

Opportunities for physicists are good in nuclear physics, electronics, quantum theory, atomic and molecular physics. Private industry, government and educational institutions each employ roughly similar numbers of physicists.

Experienced geologists and geophysicists are needed especially in the petroleum and mining industries.

Many Teachers Needed

Graduates in education will find the field wider open than last year. Around 35,000 college students will meet the requirements for grade-school teaching in June, but many times that number are needed.

This year, there will be vacancies in such secondary education subjects as home economics, girl's health and physical education, agriculture, industrial arts and physical sciences.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission reports needs in scientific and tech- College Crescent 5-11-53 G-1 nical positions. Information about examinations currently open may be obtained from college placement officers, from Civil Service Commission offices, and from first-and second-class post offices.

Shortage of Nurses

In the health professions, need for personnel has increased sharply during the mobilization program. There is a critical demand for nurses, more to fulfill civilian needs than military.

Industry is actively recruiting college graduates trained in business administration. Those specialized in management and in such business techniques as accounting, advertising copywriting, market research, sales, statistics, insurance underwriting, and personnel management are particularly sought.

An expanding field and one which offers a variety of specialization is that of social work. There is a great need for trained personnel to handle case work, group activities and work connected with community organization for social welfare.

As you walk along the halls and paths of Evansville College, does it ever occur to you that most of the faces are familiar ones. How differently you would feel, if instead of moving among friends and acquaintances, you walked among strangers. That's what you might be doing had you chosen a larger school. This aspect of larger schools is one which is rarely mentioned when "advantages verusu disadvantages" are being discussed.

Yet sometimes to the student this "all alone feeling" is harder to cope with than the most difficult assignment. Here at E. C. when a class is in session we know most of our classmates and all of our teachers. So large are the classes in some universities and colleges that teachers rarely recognize their current pupils.

Studnts in the larger schools find their friends in clubs, dormitories, sororities and fraternities which helps to rid them of loneliness. But even then they are only "part of a part," while here at E. C. every student is a "part of the whole." It's possible here to know everyone in the Union or in classes but a boy told me that he spent the firsst two weeks in a big state University without actually talking to anyone except his roommate., whom he saw only at night. Such a thing seems unbelievable to us when we say "hi" to almost every student on campus that passes.

Perhaps, too, we should stop and think of the better chances we have here in forming good student government. In larger schools, elections are difficult because the candidates cannot be known by a majority of the students. Here we have every opportunity to know our officers. We should never have an indifferent election.

Visitors are always impressed when they learn that we are governed by so few rules, a fact which we students never consider. Larger schools by necessity, have long lists of rules, which tend to give the student body a feeling of restriction. Our rules are not rigid and each of us is more or less on his honor. Even though free movement is as fundamental as free thought, this enjoyable advantage is one we rarely recognize. Think on it and you'll have no desire to abuse such a flexible code and be grateful that our "powers that be" are willing to grant us this freedom.

To be sure small colleges can't offer all the curriculum that the large schools afford without becoming large schools in the process. Those of us who do find our fields well covered here should realize our great luck in being part of a friendly well disciplined school.

"Be yours the things ye would; be our the things that are more excellent."

Best thing about Friday's SGA election was the vote turnout. Must have set a record. Only a few more than 100 students failed to vote. Always some dumbos in every crowd. Just can't help it.

What a time the SGA officers will have next year. Virtually everyone on campus will have a rightful license to gripe, gripe, gripe, gripe.

Bourbon Burps

You know something Bob Harris and Emilee Manning have a secret posshun. S'truth, but not for each other. They want to drink champagne -that pale colored bourbon with the burps.

Jim Nussmeier, Louis' older brother, sold flowers on campus, too, but he wasn't the impressario—our liddle Looie is. (Impressario — I saw the Grand last week.)

Didjaknow that last week Carrol Fickard yelled, "Vote for Conolly" on the Union building steps so loudly his false tooth fell out? Didjaknow that Sharon Greubel's horse tail wouldn't fit under her campaign hat so she lifted the lid and let the horse tail wave gaily in the breeze.

Didjaknow that Janet Lex brought her whole family over to watch the big show at 10 a.m.?

Notice the addled AOPi (Carolyn Ruscmeier) who was waving "Vote for Connolly" streamers in front of the Union about 9 a.m.? She jerked them off a loyal, paid-up Phi Zeta.

The ROTC parade practice Friday, complete with honorary colonel and wing commanders was very smart. Such an improvement over the first one several years ago. The boys don't do the things to those uniforms the honorary officers do.

Ellohay, Dulabay

At long last I've discovered why Abdul B. Kamara, the Pride of Sierra Leone, grumbles in class. He's trying to play Atlas and carry the weight of the world on his shoulders. All that noise is from his creeking joints.

His letter last week was the first time I've ever been written at in two languages—quite the envy of the Crescent staff.

The Crescent slipped in your firsst letter, Abdul, and a typographical error appeared. But really, who would have expected you to use a bit of British slang? Thine ancestors are probably tossing in the grave.

Those Reitz high boys are absolutely ingenious. Phil Seibert redecorated his chemistry apron with a relief shute.

Have you ever seen so many sweet old girls as were wandering around the flower show a week ago Thursday? Yesterday's IT girls. Most of them seemed highly interested in the SGA election goingings on.

Union Building Story . . . Part 1

Union Building Budget Explained To Students by Kirk, Bondus

By Ed Fly

There is a profound misunderstanding of the amount of money required to operate the Union Building over a period of one year, according to Miss Doris Kirk, director of the Union Building, and Miss Kay Bondus, her assistant.

The basis of their opinions are derived from a considerable amount of complaining, among students, that the $5.35 per quarter, taken from their $12.50 student's activity fee, is too large a sub to be designated for the express purpose of running the Union Building.

Self-Supporting

Before going further into the problem, it might be wise to explain on what basis the Union Building operates. Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, president of the college, had to promise the trustees of the college before the building was started, that it would be self-supporting; therefore, it gets no direct support from the college.

Both Miss Kirk and Miss Bondus doubt seriously that the majority of students who enjoy the facilities of the Union Building realize the cosst of the most bare necessities. These amenities are usually taken for granted. For example, the lounge is available to students for studying, relaxing or merely a puace to gather with friends and enjoy chatting together.

Then, there is the browsing room for the book lovers, and the music room for those who prefer to spend their leisure time listening to their favorite records. Also, there are several meeting rooms at the disposal of studnts as well as the check room.

All of these things are free, but the Union Building fund must bear the expense of keeping them up. Waxing the floors, lighting and heating the rooms, and providing cold drinking water are items that prove to be quite an expense in the space of one year.

Next week, Income and Expenditures of the Union Building will be discussed in the second of three articles.

Professors Attend Seminar in Chicago

Howard Hill, associate professor of drama and speech, and Daniel Boughner, professor of English, recently attended a two-day communication arts seminar in Chicago.

Twenty-nine delegates, representing 19 different U. S. colleges, took part in the various discussions concerning communication arts. Spillane on Warpath In "Kiss Me Deadly"

"KISS ME DEADLY"

MICKEY SPILLANE

Mike Hammer is on the war path, as usual. The ever present "blood and guts" Hammer with his unflinching desire to scourge the underworld, embarks on a typical Spillane murder chase.

Friends and enemies alike warned Mike to drop his fued with the dred Mafia, the sinister international crime network which spread its web of fear and terror over everyone who came into contact with it. But regardless of warnings and threats, Mike sets out to avenge the death of a beautiful blonde.

Single-handed he defiies both the police and the FBI, determined to even his score with the head man of the Mafia. Deprived of his gun by the Federal man, battling thugs from Manhattan penthouses to the Bowery, maddened by the evil about him, he pits himself against a notorious collection of organized criminals and pursues justice to a dramatic climax.

Passion, crime and suspense are once again the chief theme of a confused plot. Mike's character in relation to his intense hatred of crime is extremely laudable and "Kiss Me Deadly" like the rest of Mr. Spillane's mysteries seem to preach a sermon against the insidious effects of crime and evil.

Mike deals with the crooks in his own brutal way "the only thing they understand is a gun in their bellies that's going off and splashing their guts around." Mike's motto is "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," and he proceeds to put an age old adage to useful purpose.

In the brutal lingo of the underworld, Mr. Spillane characterizes Mike Hammer as a shining crusader fighting a death duel with crime.

"Kiss Me Deadly," like the rest of Mr. Spillane's mysteries follows a set pattern. Mike gets involved with a beautiful girl, who is brutally murdered. He sets out to avenge her death and immediately is the chief suspect of violent crimes in a puzzled plot.

Whatever the merits of the novel, Mr. Spillane weaves another web of crime and violence and terminates his tale of suspense with with an O. Henry ending.

CITY-NIGHT

The lonely emptiness of city at night—
Paper, chewing gum wrappers, cigarette butts—
Hither, thither—
At the mercy of fickle airs.

Muffled horns, echoing throughout canyons of wrought concrete—
Street lights—
Asphalt, glistening in the darkness—
Gleaming divided ribbons
Fading away into the night.

The ell, the subway—
Wending their ways through the silence,
The glittering blackness, the emptiness of a city at night.

People stacked tier upon tier—
Yet an eternity apart—
Atoms of matter revolving
In a kaleidoscope of life and death.

TRIPLE THREAT MAN!

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

AIRCRAFT OBSERVER

The Brains of the Team

Teamwork can work miracles. In a football game the man who sparks these miracles is the quarterback. He's the man who calls the signals. There's a man who calls the signals for an Air Force flying team, too!

They call him an Aircraft Observer.

Do YOU have what it takes to become an Aircraft Observer?

It isn't easy. It's tough. You have to be a MAN to qualify as an Aircraft Observer. But when you are one, brother, you're SOMEBODY! The success or failure of a mission involving over a million dollars worth of flight equipment depends on you.

THE AIRCRAFT OBSERVER IS THE SOMEBODY WHO:

As Bombardment Officer, is number one man on a bombing run, the man who controls the plane in the target area!

As Navigation Officer, is the pilot's guiding hand on every flight!

As Radar Officer, is master of a new science and operator of the device that sees beyond human sight!

As Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer, is the one who "keeps the plane flying", the man who knows his plane inside and out, who keeps it fit for the skies and sees that it stays there!

If YOU can accept a challenge like this, you'll take your place beside the best—you'll find your future in the clouds!

TO BE QUALIFIED you must be single, a citizen, between 19 and 26½ years old, have had at least 2 years of college and be in tip top physical shape. If this describes you, then YOU, too, can qualify. Today!

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL GET! The world's best training. Good food and plenty of it. Uniforms, flight clothes, equipment. Medical and dental care. Free insurance. Flight training in Uncle Sam's greatest aircraft.

AND THEN, AFTER GRADUATION, you'll win your silver wings, and earn more than $5000 a year as an Air Force Lieutenant. You'll enjoy an adventurous, exciting career with a hand-picked crew of real men. You'll be THE BRAINS OF THE TEAM, A TRIPLE THREAT MAN . . . as a Bombardment Officer, as a Navigation Officer, as a Radar Officer, as an Aircraft Performance Engineer.

THE SOONER YOU APPLY, THE SOONER YOU FLY!

GET THE DETAILS: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to Director of Training, Headquarters, USAF, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch. If you are in a school that has an Air Force ROTC program, see your Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

Hootin' It Up

with Dick Nicholson

ENTHUSIASM NEEDED

Wanted! 600 people to watch the Aces basball or tennis or golf games. 600 voters went to the EC polls last Friday to vote in the SGA elections and enthusiasm and noise was at its level best. I wonder what would happen if even half that many would get up enough energy to take the long walk over to the baseball diamond and watch the Ace baseball team in action? If the Ace nine can win before a handful of disinterested fans, I wonder what they could do before a crowd that was really whoopin' it up in true Brooklyn spirit. By the way, the Aces have won their last three games, all on fine hurling by the EC pitchers. Jim Nichols, tthe number one moundsman for Coach Don Ping's nine is recuperating from that long word he underwent. At least that's what Johnny "Hootin it up" Evers said was the matter with him.

HURRAY, A WIN

Glory be and halelujah! The Evansville College tennis team won a match. According to net coach Arad McCutchan that is the first win ever recorded by a college racquet squad. He knows it's the first since the war and thinks it's the only one eer. Says that before the war they didn't have a regular tennis team, but whenever they could get a match with a rival school, a group of boys would just form a team of their own. And the present team is getting better all the time. Jack Combs won a series from an opponent earlier in the year for another first in a long time, and Bob Friberg advanced to the finals in the ICC tournament last Friday and Saturday. Maybe in a few years the Aces will have a winning season.

HE WON

Local sportswriter Dan Scism of the Evansville Courier has a good reply to all the belly-achin die-hards who won't concede to the fact that Native Dancer did get beat in the Kentucky Derby. It was the fastest time the Dancer had ever turned in, but Dark Star was just the better horse in the 79th running at Churchill Downs, regardless of what you think, John. Oh, to have had 50 on the Star.

A NEW SHIFT?

The Evansville Braves have shown plenty of power as of late, but all those homers have come on the road. I wonder how many they will hit in spacious Bosse Field. Ernie White, former Brave boss, pulled the shift of shifts recently. His shif twould make the Ted Williams shift look anemic. Ernie pulled his right fielder from the outfield to directly behind the catcher. His catcher had a sore shoulder and couldn't throw, and the reserve catcher had a torn finger nail and couldn't throw either, so in a desperation move, Ernie developed one for Ripley. The opposition had pilfered nine bases but with the new aid to the catcher, they didn't even attempt to steal one. And the two outfifilders didn't let any balls get through them either.

Former Evansville Braves are doing all right for themselves. Del Crandall, who just returned from the Far East has replaced Walker Cooper in the Milwaulkee line-up and has been hitting consistently. Long ones, too. Johnny Logan has been hitting for the distance also. And Don Liddle, pride of Mt. Carmel, Ill., hurled a two hitter in his major league debut as a starter.

A NEW CHAMPION?

Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano square off tonight in a title bout for the heavy-weight championship of the world. "Old Man" Walcott is attempting to do something not even the best of them could do. And some of the experts are giving him a better-than-average chance of becoming the only heavyweight to ever regain a lost crown.

However Marciano, who can hit like a mule's kick, has too much youth and power for the ageless wonder and will probably catch up with him before the 10th round. Jack Dempsey said that Marciano can hit as hard as he or Joe Louis when they were in their prime. But Dempsey added that if Walcott decides to dance the 15 rounds out, he probably will regain his title. not a chance).

Play at LaPorte Today; Herrel Leads Aces in Three Victories

Coach Paul Beck and the Evansville College golf squad left last Wednesday night for La Porte, Ind., where they will participate in the Ice tournament to be held at the Beechwood Country Club.

The Aces, represented by Bill Herrel, Jim Hartmann, Bernie Connolly, Kenny Graul, and Ray Stein, were to shoot a practice round on Thursday at the Club in preparation for the grueling 36 hole medal contest on Friday. All the ICC schools — Indiana State, Butler, Valparaiso, St. Joseph, Ball State, and Evansville College — will play in the match. The Aces already hold victories over Indiana State and St. Joe.

Indiana State is the defending champion of the event, with Valparaiso's Crusaders the host school. Al Holmes, the No. 1 man on the Crusaders squad, will be back to defend his honors as the medalist of the tourney. Scores posted throughout the season, according to ICC releases, indicate a close contest.

The Aces ended their regular season play last Monday with a 12½-5½ victory over Western Kentucky State. The Aces, shooting one of their best matches of the season, avenged an early season loss to the Southern school. Bill Herrell turned in a 71 for the best output of the day, with Jim Hartmann recording a 73 and Ray Stein posting a 74. Kenny Graul shot an 80.

The Aces also downed Camp Breckinridge earlier in the week, 15-6, with Bill Herrel again leading the Aces to victory with a 74.

The linksmen defeated Indiana State 6½-5½ in a triangular meet at Terre Haute last Friday but came out on the short end of the same score with Butler. Butler and Indiana State fought to a 6-6 draw. It was the only triangular match of the year for the Aces.

The Aces ended their regular season play with an 8-5 record. However, the Aces avenged all their losses except an early season loss to Purdue, whom they did not replay.

The double threat of Friberg and Combs dropped Fields and Hackworth 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. In the other doubles match Jackie Ward and Ed Johnson of Wesleyan fell to the combination of Koressel and Meisenheimer 6-2, 6-2, respectively.

In ICC Tourney

Last Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, the team competed in the Indiana Collegiate Conference tournament on the Butler University campus in Indianapolis. Squads representing Indiana State, Ball State and Valporaiso in addition to the host school were entered in the competition. St. Joe was also scheduled to participate but cancelled her entries.

The sole Evansville victor in these matches was Friberg who overpowered Olson of Ball State in the first sets 6-3, 6-3. He then outscored Valpo's Woldt 6-1, 6-2, to advance to the finals in singles play where he was defeated by Dankert, Butler's No. 1, 6-0, 6-3. The results of the other singles are as follows: Frayman (B) def. Combs 6-0, 6-1; Hillbradt (V) def. Koressel 6-3, 6-2; Mussman (B) def. Meisenheimer 7-5, 6-2 and Clayton (B) def. Conaway 6-4, 6-3.

Lose Doubles

In the double pairings Needham and McCabe from Ball State had little trouble taking 6-1, 6-0 games against tthe Friberg-Combs dou. In the second doubles encounter, Lee and Mussman of Butler teamed up to whip Koressel and Meisenheimer 6-3, 6-0.

Pingmen Victorious In 3 Consecutive Battles; Play Two

Boasting a string of three consecutive victories, the Purple Ace diamond squad is scheduled to meet St. Joseph's college in a doubleheader tomorrow afternoon on the college field at East Side park.

The Purple Aces sport consecutive wins over Ball State College, Indiana State Teachers College, and Kentucky Wesleyan. The string dates back to May 2 when the Aces defeated Ball State in the second game of a twin bill to notch their first victory of the year in the Indiana Collegiate Conference play.

After rain had postponed a game at Camp Breckinridge Tuesday, May 5, the charges of Coach Don Ping made up on a previously rained out encounter with Indiana State the following day. Once again the Pingmen were victorious, this time by a 2-1 score.

Last Friday the Aces journeyed to Owensboro to meet Kentucky Wesleyan. There the Purple squad notched their third consecutive triumph by a 5-3 margin.

Tuesday the Aces were scheduled to meet Murray State's Throughbreds at Murray, Ky. In an earlier meeting at Evansville the Throughbreds copped a 6-4 decision. The results of this game were too late to be included in this writing. Also too late to be included was the score of yetterdays scheduled clash with Kentucky Wesleyan.

After tomorrows scheduled double bill with St. Joe., tthe Aces will meet the Screaming Eagles of Camp Breckinridge Tuesday on the college field. The powerful army squad is bolstered by a former Purple Ace outfielder Joe Unfricd, and former Cincinnati Redleg hurler Ronnie Kline.

May Day Special

In a tremendous pitchers duel Tuesday the faculty eked out a tight 25-17 decesion over the WAA.

Handling the pitching chores for the victorious faculty were Everette "Dizzy" Walker and Ralph "Fireball" Coleman. Dr. Leland "Yogi" Moon directed the traffic from behing the plate.

LinC Release Date Set for June 20

Due to circumstances beyond control, the 1953 LinC will not be ready for distribution until June 20, according to Paul Dewig, editor.

Plans for distribution have not been completed yet; but as it appears now, LinC's for persons living in Evansville will be picked up at the LinC office beginning June 20. Persons who do not reside in Evansville should check the student directory to see if their correct addresses are listed.

If the listed addresses are incorrect or missing, students are asked to contact Gloria Watson, business manager, and give her their correct addresses.

Mailing lists for out of town students will be made up from the 1952-53 student directory. Arrangements for making payments should also be made at that time.

VanKueren Receives Honoray Phi Zeta Membership Award

Dr. Ernest Van Kueren, former Phi Zeta sponsor, was presented an honorary membership to Phi Zeta fraternity in the McCurdy Rose Room Saturday night.

The former head of the Evansville College English department was the after dinner speaker at the fraternities annual Spring formal dinner-dance. Union Shows Hoosier Art Pictures by prominent Indiana artists, from the permanent collection of Tri Kappa Sorority are now on exhibit in the Union Building gallery.

The exhibit, which travels to cities where chapters of the sorority are located, is made up of pictures purchased yearly by the group from the Hoosier Art Salon.

Subjects of most of the paintings are typical Indiana scenes. Many have settings in famous Brown County, one of the art centers of the state.

Included among the artists represented in the exhibit are Hoosiers John William Vawter, Edward Nicholson and Georges LaChance.

Mr. Vawter has been a staff artist for Life magazine and has illustrated some editions of Riley's poems.

Mr. LaChance's picture "The New Day," depicting a typical early morning chore in the life of an Indiana farmer, was a prize winner in the 1948 Hoosier Salon and was also first choice by Tri Kappa.

The exhibit will remain up until May 30.

Selections suhmitted in the nationwide college competition were "This Can't Be Love," and "Claire de Lune." Mr. Pemberton's arrangement of "This Can't Be Love" was lauded by contest judges Stan Kenton, Ray Anthony, and Billy May, all Capitol recording artists, and Ceorge T. Simon, editor of Metronome.

Crescent Mail Coll...

To the Editor of the Crescent:

At Monday's Student Council meeting we turned the reins of the Student Association over to the newly elected SGA officers, and in doing so officially ended our term of office. For the next year, Bernie Connolly, Bob Wilson, Rosie Wiseman, and Roberta Becker will perform the duties we have performed this year.

We, of course, wish them the best of luck in the coming school year. We wish, too, that they receive the splendid support and cooperation that we have received from so many this year, students and faculty members alike.

Our thanks goes out to several groups and individuals who helped make the work connected with our offices more a pleasure than a task.

Foremost among them, of course, are the nine Student-Faculty Federation committees who, we feel, have done a magnificent job this year. Special committees — Homecoming, Dad's Day, the Card Playing committee, the Campus Notable and Leader Nominating committee, and the Fund Drive Investigation committee—also contributed greatly in expediting our job.

Individuals who rate especial applause from us and the entire student body are the three deans, Mrs. Chalotte Stephens, dean of women; Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college; and Dr. James Morlock, dean of men. Their expert guidance and support was an infinite help.

Student Walter Prickett also gave unselfishly of his time and ability to aid us in Student Association this year; chairman of two special committees, Walt carried the ball for us many times.

Our thanks, too, to Miss Doris Kirk and Kay Bondus in the Union. And to many, many others.

With the same kind of support and cooperation, we're sure that Bernie Connolly and his fellow officers will make Evansville College's Centennial year a very successful one.

Signed,

Editorial

What's Wrong Here?

Two weeks ago the Evansville College student body showed an excessive amount of interest in the SGA election for the 1953-54 school yead. Almost everyone knew the candidates on both the slates and worked for one or the other of the groups.

On the other hand, during football, basketball, and baseball season, only a few loyal sports fans and some others (girl friends or relatives of the athletes) showed up to root for the home team. Our plays put on by the Thespians were poorly attended. The Fine Arts Committee offered some very fine movies at lower than popular prices and few saw them.

Why is it that one day a year there is an extreme amount of enthusiasm and the rest of the school year it is nil? Student government is an important thing, but the enthusiam evinced is out of proportion to the amount shown at other activities throughout the year.

The lack of inerest in these things by the student body could be one reason why we have average teams. The aspersions cast upon the value of athletics by a few faculty members (a minority) are low blows and help to create disinterest. Everyone wants a winning team, yet we are not there to offer our team support. Every actor, athlete — everyone — performs a little better if he has an audience — a dynamic and enthusiasitc one.

We need more school spirit. No one seems to know exactly why we are so lacking in it. No one seems to know how to increase it.

No one wants a losing team. Let's start now by giving golf, tennis and the baseball teams a lot of support. Let's give next year's activities a shot in the arm by attending every time we possibly can. After all, our student activity tickets entitle us to a share of the sports events and plays. Let's protect our investment by taking an interest in it.

SGA News

At the weekly Administrative Board meeting last week, the revised constitution of the McCurdy Alumni Memorial Union Building was unanimously approved by the board. The constitution underwent minor changes this year.

At the same meeting, it was reported that the proposal which originated in the Student Council that all instructors post grades at the end of each quarter was discussed at the last faculty meeting. No action was taken on the proposal; it was, however, favorably received according to one board member who was present at the faculty meeting. The proposal was presented by the faculty Curriculum Committee.

Begin New Jobs

Roberta Becker and Rosemarie Wiseman, newly elected SGA treasurer and secretary respectively, were present at the meeting which was a sort of indoctrination meeting for newly elected officers.

At the Student Council meeting Monday, Bernie Connolly, president, Bob Wilson, vice president, and Misses Wiseman and Becker became further acquainted with the routinc of SGA. The new officers will remain in office until the SGA election next spring.

The SGA officers of last year will help familiarize the new SGA officers with as much of the regular routine as possible in order to help them to get off with a quick start, and prevent them from wasting too much time on trivial things.

Reports Received

Mr. Connolly received an accomplishment report from each of the Student-Faculty Federation committee chairmen present at the meeting; he will turn over to next year's committee chairmen when they are selected next fall.

The possibility of purchasing a Magnovox radio-phonograph plus 125 classical and semi-classical records at a tremendous saving to the college was discussed. It was decided that the senior class be given first option to make the purchase as a possible class gift to the college.

(Editor's note: John Thole, a refrigeration engineering major, is a member of the Phi Zeta fraternity. Mr. Thole is a co-op student, dividing his time between Evansville College and International Harvester. He is president of the Newman Club and a student member of ASRE.)

ONE OF THE MOST important parts of a college education is the "de-burring" process commonly referred to as social or extra-curricular activities.

These social activities rank second in importance only to learning how to think logically, which is the prime objective of education. The stress placed on these extra activities by large and small organizations alike, is manifest in their application blanks which always include questions concerning activities, clubs, and leadership. The reason for their interest is not difficult to understand if we recognize first that these activities require cooperation with other people and that no concern can function efficiently without this cooperation just as no machine can perform efficiently if there is a great deal of friction inherent in its design. We can not expect to possess a knack of getting along with people if we have never taken time to develop such an important trait.

We, as students, are required to take course after course to train our minds and provide us with a background of facts which in a few years will almost fade completely from our recollections. But we are not required to participate in any social activities, which would mean more to us in the long run than half the courses for which we receive credit.

The difficulty, however, does not lie with the college requirements but with us as individuals. For in drawing up the college requirements it was assumed that all people, including students, were basically social beings. We all were, to start with, but some of us got lost. This is not difficult to do in the early days of college life, with the urgent desire on the part of the new student to make a good showing. He does not want to duplicate the mistakes made in high school of letting work pile up and "snowing" him under. Therefore the student resorts to the laboratory, library, and midnight oil with a vengeance.

This situation is particularly true of science and engineering students. If a student could do this studying for his first quarter in school and then broaden his interest by participating in some organizations there would be no problem. But as Newton's First Law states in part . . . a body at rest remains at rest, and a body in motion continues to move . . . so it is with people.

We dig for ourselves nice comfortable ruts and hate to change our habits, but making a lifetime social adjustment is worth any effort.

A mountaineer assisted a callow youth into the doctor's office. "Can you fix up my son-in-law?" he asked. "I shot him in the leg and wounded him some."

"Shame on you," said the doctor, "shooting your own son-in-law."

"Oh, he warn't my son-in-law when I shot him."

Evansville College Scholarships Won by 63 High School Seniors

Sixty-three high school students of the tri-state have been awarded scholarships to Evansville College, G. R. McCoy, chairman of the scholarship committee, has announced.

Centennial scholarships were presented to eighteen students. These are for $300 in tuition for the freshman year and $150 in tuition for each of the next three years.

100 Years

They are named Centennial scholarships in recognition of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of Moore's Hill College (now Evansville College) in 1854.

Basis for the presentation of the scholarships was the student's rank in the graduating class, recommendation by the principal of the high school, and the results from tests and conferences taken on campus.

23 More

Twenty-three students were awarded Academic scholarships. The four year scholarships of $600 each are awarded to students ranking in the upper 10 per cent of the graduating class and by recommendation from the high school principal.

The remaining twenty-two students were presented with Achievement scholarships of $100 each for the school year of 1953-54 at this college. They were awarded to students having the highest test scores on the Cooperative Scholarship Tests recently given to high school seniors in Indiana.

Of the sixty-three scholarships, twenty-four were presented to students of Evansville high schools: seniors of Bosse High School received ten; Central High School students were awarded seven; a Lincoln High School student received one; and seniors of Reitz High School won six.

The remaining thirty-nine scholarships were presented to students of the tri-state.

Light, Heat, Water, Supplies, Salaries Run High in Union

(Author's Note: The first article in a series of three, discussing the problems and cost of operating the Union Building over a period of one fiscal year, appeared in the last issue of The Crescent. Miss Kirk feels that most students are unaware of the expense involved in this task; these articles are written in hopes of enlightening students on the campus of this task.)

By ED FLY

July will be the end of the college fiscal year; therefore, the figures presented will be for the fiscal year 1951-1952, in order for you to determine the approximate income and expenditures of the Union Building.

From each student's activity fee of $12.50, the sum of $5.35 is placed in the Union Building fund. Last year the Union Building received $14,641.45. Where did it go? Here are the figures as given to me by Miss Bondus. Custodial and building supplies, only $1,150.77. That is, items such as mops, brooms, floor and furniture polish, soap, light bulbs, etc.

Light, heat and water, $3,141.79. The above does not include utilities for the cafeteria and grill. Utilities for the cafeteria amounted to $2,-237.13 and for the grill $1,387.31.

In addition to the cost of custodial supplies and utilities, must be added the custodial salaries which amounted to $7,860.34. This represents a total of $15,747.34. Thus, it is evident that the $14,641.45 will not adequately bear the cost of operating the Union Building.

Next week, the cost of maintaining the building, insurance, equipment and repairs and additional salaries will be explained to conclude this series of Union articles.

Words To Live By

"You have heard that it was said 'You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I say to you, love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven; for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust."

Matthew 5: 42-45

Bill Knapp will assume the duties of president of the local chapter. Assisting him will be John Koehler as vice-president. Bob Wilson will act as secretary, with Jerry Jewell serving as treasurer. John Wilson, Duane Scott and Bill Plane were elected historian, warden and alumni secretary respectively.

The new rushees of the organization include Claude Hayes, Paul Hagan, Bill Puckett and Bob Rundell. These pledges will be formally inducted into the fraternity Sunday, May 24. Duane Scott and John Koeler are jointly supervising the initiation which will climax with a banquet at The Homestead.

Phi Mu Alpha was organized on campus in 1950 with Nicholas Cannici, assistant professor of clarinet, as advisor.

Classroom Nuptials, Campus Funerals? -Just Practicin'

By BILL ADKINS

And how are you feeling today? Frisky, happy, peppy, disgustingly over par? We can't help you. Or maybe you're overworked, dragging and just about dead. Hang on until Wednesday, friend, and you may have a chance to be a guinea pig in some very interesting "lab" work.

Students studying for the ministry, under the guidance of Dr. Mearl P. Culver, are currently going through the motions of actual church ceremonies in a short of theological seminar every Wednesday. Included in the dry runs are practice funerals. That's where your fit in, our expiring companion.

Feeling suddenly better? Well, keep in shape until the end of the quarter, because you may need all your energy to escape ambitious coeds with that well known I-wanna-be-a-bride gleam in their eyes. Yes, even if they can't practice last rites over your inert form, these neophyte ministers may hasten your demise with another of their practice ceremonies — the one where they play Lohengren's biggest seller.

Practice weddings aren't for real, you nervously venture — and you're right, objectively speaking. But Dr. Culver's protegés put their hearts into their work and the realism achieved could be enough to stir some campus maiden into drastic action. Yep, those school chimes, seemingly harmless until now, might be Wednesday wedding bells for the unwary.

If you feel like you will live to a hundred, and are too repulsively ugly to attract any normal American gal, you may feel safe to look in on the proceedings over at the chapel on Wednesday. If you do, drag along a new statue, or building or motorcycle to be dedicated. Our friends of the future clergy have been boning up on the proper way to dedicate things, and would welcome a chance to dedicate any of your larger possessions just for the experience.

On the other hand, you might view the proceedings from another angle—the serious angle. Mock weddings are no doubt fun, but the end product will be a bunch of ministers who know what they are doing.

Who would want to face the bride's mother without some good strong preparation?

Did You Know..

Everybody knows there's a radio station on campus, but DID YOU KNOW . . .

that WEVC is 91.5 on the FM dial?
that the station broadcasts from 10:30-11:30 in the morning?
that the biggest record "up there" is 15 inches?
that three studios and an engineer's room make up the station?
that no commercials are allowed on WEVC?
that Bish Thompson gave the station 40 classical and semi-classical record albums?
that SCA furnishes the closing nightly prayers at 8 p.m.? that when the red light is lit, the station is on the air?
that it is entirely staffed by EC students?
that the Navy, Air Force and Army present weekly programs?
that the station plays new Columbia record releases before they hit the local platter shops?
that one studio boasts a fresh green and white paint job?

I don't want to murder the guy that invented the cigaret (a la a song of several years back) but if I ever find the joker who substituted sweet soda for branch water it's gonna be a different story.

It is spring but three male biology majors don't know it. They were jammed into the front seat of a new green Plymouth while lonesome little old Diane Bentley occupied the back seat in lonely splendor. Somebody better tell those birds about the bees.

Electric Light

Doctor Dan Boughner claims he can always tell when Pupil Fred Barkmann knows the answer to a question — Pupil's face makes like an electric light.

If they looked nice parading for May Day, the ROTC members were promised an excuse from drill last Friday. Just before the parade began Cadet Major John Beard reminded the troops with: "If you guys pass out, look sharp doing it!" Anyway the show went off without a hitch and they got their excuse. The boys must have looked just as sharp for the Armed Forces Day Parade judging from the compliments of those who saw the parade.

John Hughes has a brilliant idea for his future. He wants to join the diplomatic corps so he can be sent abroad.

Cute Legs

Maybe you weren't at the Honors Assembly on May Day and didn't get to see Jack Combs introduced as, "He with the cute legs."

Along with having personal chess sets in the Patio, avid chessers have another pass time — playing Jim Fulkerson while Jim says, "Look maw, no eyes." He doesn't watch the board and take on two at a time. The only trouble is he still beats his opponents even playing that way.

Rumors are getting thicker that a steady campus twosome since winter has been unionized — but even their best friends still don't know for certain.

Campus traffic got the best of John Beard and his Chrysler. He's taken to riding a bicycle in from the southern border of Scott township. He does almost as good time on his bike at 6 a.m. as one can do in a car at 8 a.m. Johnny's practicing for biking around Europe this summer. Just knew that Prof. Woody Werking buying a car wouldn't keep bikes off the campus.

INCA To Have All Day Picnic at Lincoln City

As the final social function of the year for the Independent Campus Association, members will travel to Lincoln City State Park tomorrow for an all day picnic-swim.

This picnic is open to all independents. Members of Phi Zeta fraternity, Beta Sigma Omicron and Chi Omega sororities have also received invitations.

Members of INCA may attend the function free, while others must pay $1.00 to cover the costs. Persons desiring to attend the picnic are asked to contact Bruce Bahn or Gloria Watson for reservations and further details.

In case of rain, the picnickers will journey to an Audubon State Park shelter house. Barbara Moore and Ken Will are co-chairmen of the event.

Faculty sponsors of the four organizations are to act as chaperones and special guests.

Meisenheimer Receives Philo Strickler Award

A living memorial is being set up in honor of Dr. Alvin Strickler because of his activity on the Evansville Collge campus. Dr. Strickler will retire from the college faculty next year.

The Strickler Award is to be awarded each year to the outstanding junior chemistry major. The proposed award will be a year's subscription to the "American Chemical Society Magazine," and a plaque. However, this year only the subscription will be presented.

This year's winner is John Meisenheimer, who is also on the tennis team. The recipient was selected by the faculty of the chemistry department. Mr. Meisenheimer is majoring in chemistry engineering.

Softball, horse-shoe and washer contests, and a fish fry highlighted the annual Men's Roundup at East Side Park Wednesday.

WAS WALCOTT ROBBED????

As you all know, Rocky Marciano knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in a freak first round last Friday night. Walcott's manager and lawyer are protesting the fight. They have a legal protest coming. However, neither one of them have admitted their mental errors Friday night. If you don't happen to know, the Illinois Boxing Commission has a rule stating that if you are knocked to the canvas you have to stay there for the count of eight. This is for protection against injury. Walcott was decidedly knocked down, but he was far from knocked out. His manager was giving him the orders when to get up. His manager, Felix Bocchicchio, was at fault not getting him up in time. It seems to me that after 25 years of boxing, Walcott could take care of himself on when to get up. The referee was absolutely right in calling it a knockout. He was very technical about it, however. That is something you have to be in a World's Championship bout. It was a judgment decision on the part of the referee. He could have let the fight go on had it not been that a World's Championship was at stake. The only thing Bocchicchio and Walcott gained in their little caper was $250,000, a respectable sum. They sure didn't lend any credit to the boxing world.

ANOTHER TRY?

Walcott wants to try again with Marciano; this time for charity, preferably the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. I hope they let them fight it out again. Win, lose or draw, it will be for a worthy cause.

To sum it up: I feel just like Marciano does. Walcott should have done his fighting in the ring Friday night instead of in the papers Saturday morning. Their protest probably will be refuted, but I sure don't blame them for protesting it. Walcott wasn't hurt physically, but he was certainly hurt in spirit. He was working for a $250,000 guarantee and never in his life has a man done less for his money.

The radio announcer said it was a knockout in one minute and twenty-five seconds of the first round. They were very much wrong. It was two minutes and twenty-five seconds of the first round. This is not a record, Joe Louis stayoed Max Schmelling in 2:06 of the first round.

MILWAUKEE WILL FOLD

Milwaukee, the land of the foam, and the home of the Braves is really booming. The Braves are going hot right now, and everyone is getting on their band wagon. They are a much improved ball club, but they are still nothing to rave about.

When the season is over, you will find them in fourth or fifth place. It's for sure, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Brooklyn are better ball clubs. When it gets warmer, New York will pass the Braves. So don't build your hopes too high on the Braves. They won't make it this year. They will remain in first place, however, in the brewing art.

NATIVE DANCER WILL WALTZ IN PREAKNESS

The second leg of the triple crown classies will be run tomorrow. It is the Preakness held at Pimlico. I'm still going along with Native Dancer as I did in the Derby. He will make a waltz out of this race, and he will take some of the glow out of the Dark Star. You can bet your socks on one thing. If Native Dancer doesn't win, it will be some other horse besides Dark Star. Native Dancer will beat Dark Star two lengths even if they finish seventh and eighth. BEWARE OF RAM O'WAR.

ICC Baseball Race Draws To Close With Weekend Play Deciding Champs

The ICC baseball championship is still very much in doubt, and Evansville's game at Indiana State today and the double header at Butler on Saturday may very well determine which team shall wear the 1953 crown, according to ICC releases.

The defending champion, Valparaiso, has finished its season and must now await these results to see where it stands in the 1953 standings.

Butler, this year's chief contender for the crown, must play Ball State in addition to the two games with Coach Don Ping's nine.

St. Joseph's Pumas wound up their conference schedule last week, while Indiana State travels to Muncie on Saturday for its last league game.

All ICC teams have already completed their 1953 schedules in the other spring sports.

Aces Vie for ICC Crown

Coach Don Ping's Purple Ace diamond crew opens its final swing through ICC competition today at Indiana State with a chance of copping the ICC crown.

With a record of two victories and one defeat in ICC competition this season, the Aces could capture the conference championship, or at least a tie for the honor, by sweeping their three game swing through the northlands of the conference.

Visit Sycamores

This afternoon the Pingmen have a single game scheduled with Indiana State at Terre Haute. In an earlier battle at College Field the local nine defeated the Sycamores 2-1 behind the three hit hurling of sophomore Jim Hood.

Saturday the Purple Ace team will invade Indianapolis for a twin bill with Butler University. A clean sweep of these three ICC contests could give the Aces their second conference championship in three yars.

The current season is slated to end Wednesday at Carbondale, Ill., when the Aces will meet the Salukis' of Southern Illinois University.

Near .500 Mark

In overall competition the Aces record through the Murray game of last Friday is 4-5. The Purple squad was scheduled to play two games that were too late to be included in this writing. Tuesday the Aces were slated to meet the Screaming Eagles of Camp Breckinridge at College Field.

Wednesday afternoon the Aces were scheduled to make up a rained out game with Kentucky Wesleyan on the local diamond. The Aces previously topped the Owensboro squad 5-3 at Owensboro.

Prep Scoring Leaders To Enter Here; Tournament Highlights Coming Season

Evansville College basketball, which ended the 1952-53 season on the upswing, should continue with success during the coming 1953-54 season with several prominent local prep stars indicating intentions of enrolling at the college.

Coach Arad McCutchan's squad, which lost but two seniors via graduation, will be bolstered considerably by the addition of Jim Smallins and Bob Wessel. Smallins, Lincoln High's sharpshooting senior, led all scoring in Evansville this past season with 426 points.

Rubber Legged

Not as tall as some of his competitors, Smallins relies on his superior jumping ability to snatch rebounds from opponents. According to local basketball enthusiasts, Smallins is said to "wrap his elbow around the rafters" jumping for a stray shot.

Wessel, brother of John Wessel, one of McCutchan's varsity members, was second only to Smallins in scoring in the city and was selected to the Indiana High School All-Star team.

Four-Day Tourney

Highlighting the coming season will be an eight-team, four-day tourney at the Sportscenter in Owensboro. Seven teams have already entered the event, with some of the nation's top athletic teams participating. Tennessee and Maryland have entered, along with Kentucky Wesleyan, South Carolina, Denver, Arizona State, and Evansville College.

Coach McCutchan's crew, which was sparked to victory in their last games by Bob Walker and Roscoe Bivin, will be gunning for a victory in the tourney, adding prestige to EC basketball, which would lure other prep performers, according to the coach.

Changes Made in Softball; One Strike and Yer Out

"C'mon ya bum, put one right down the middle and I'll slam it clean out of the park." Sound familiar? It should, for it has long been a trademark of our great national pastime. However, this war cry has become but wasted energy on the Evansville College campus as far as physical education classes are concerned, because the softball is always "right down the middle" now.

In an effort to reduce the amount of wasted time spent on pitching the ball plateward, only to have the batter "take" so many pitches, Coaches Arad McCutchan and Paul Beck devised a "Tee" on which to mount the ball, thus eliminating the pitcher.

The "T" is a rubber hose mounted on a wooden base with the softball at the top. The batter takes his regular swing at the ball, but should he miss, he is automatically out. A foul ball automatically retires the batter also, and base stealing is outlawed. These are the only alterations on the original game, reports John Evers, student assistant to Coach McCutchan.

The new game is popular among classes, too, according to Mr. Evers. "Pitcher's battles" are the common thing, he added, with the average scores something like 24-17 or 28-24. However, once upon a time two teams were so evenly matched that they actually fought to a 4-3 decision. "Truly a rarity in the game," remarked Evers.

Women's Tennis Games Postponed One Week

Rain cancelled the women's tennis games scheduled for May 15. Now all games will be played during this week and next, according to Miss Ida Stieler, professor of physical education.

In the doubles games, Janie Haug and Marlene Day will face Peggy Henshaw and Diane Clark. Opposing Toni Reitz and Suzette Spiegel will be Marilyn Kleiman and Margaret Broadhead. The winners of the two games will vie for the championship.

Single games find Marlene Day against Pat Miller in the first match. Marilyn Leucht and Miss Haug are the second pair of opponents. Completing the list is Diane Bentley.

Aces Defeat Wesleyan 4-1 For Second Win in Row

Coach Arad McCutchan's tennis squad copped its second win of the season by overpowering Kentucky Wesleyan 4-1, May 12.

After a short rain, Bob Friberg defeated Jack Hamilton 6-1, 6-3 in the singles. Jack Combs came through with a win by clipping Harvey Hackworth 7-5, 3-6, 12-10. John Meisenheimer lost to Bill Fields 6-4, 9-7, 6-4 while Dick Koressel bested Ed Johnson 6-1, 8-6. John Conaway racked up the last win 9-7, 6-4. The doubles were rained out.

Again last Saturday, rain prevented the match with Indiana State.

Linkmen Finish Third in ICC Golf Tourney

In spite of a disqualification, Coach Paul Beck's golf team kept plugging to finish third in the Indiana Intercollegiate Athletic Association-Indiana Collegiate Conference tournament at Laporte last Friday.

Led by captain Bill Herrel, the Purple Ace fairway six finished behind winner Valparaiso and runner-up Butler at the completion of the 36 hole grind.

Led at 18

At the end of the first 18 holes, the College team led the field by two strokes. But during the final round, the tournament rules committee put a crimp in the Aces' progress by disqualifying junior Ray Stein. Stein picked up his ball from the edge of the cup following a putt to unintentionally ruin the squad's run for the honors.

Fifty four golfers representing 11 Indiana schools competed in the tourney, held at the Beachwood course in LaPorte.

ICC schools represented were Ball State, Butler, Indiana State, St. Joseph. Teams from the IIAA were Wabash, Indiana Central, Hanover, Taylor and Tri-State College.

Copped 8 Matches

The Aces finished the regular season's play with eight wins and five losses.

During the season they defeated Butler, Indiana State, St. Joseph's, Western Michigan, Western Kentucky, and Southern Illinois University. They also claimed two wins over Camp Breckinridge.

College Faculty Members Help Community Players

The Community Players of Evansville concluded their 52-53 season last Tuesday evening with John Van Druten's "Bell, Book and Candle."

Faculty members of Evansville College played important parts in the production. Howard A. Hill, assistant professor of speech and drama directed the production, and Miss Emmy Seegmueller, journalism instructor, played the female romantic lead.

Also bolstering the faculty participation in the production was Mrs. oGrdon Rettc, wife of the reading clinician at E. C.

Walt Prickett's column last week said "sexy." The show is all of that and more too. A smooth running story of a witch, minus witchly accessories, and her boy friend gives the audience suspense, laughs and a love interest.

Miss Seegmueller, on stage for almost all of the show, sets a good pace for the other four actors.

Van Drutens usual satire was a bit reserved in this show. He took jabs at only several matters or groups and these were in a subdued manner.

Crescent Staff Bids Adieu

This is the last of 25 issues of The Crescent which have been published during the 1952-53 school year.

The Crescent staff takes this means to extend its congratulations to the 1953 graduating senior class, and to bid adieu and a happy and safe vacation to each student, faculty or staff member of Evansville College.

Top Event Poorly Attended

A week ago Wednesday, a Men's Roundup was held on the EC campus for male students.

The roundup consisted of a student-faculty softball game, which the faculty won 4-3, a fish fry, and some horeshoe pitching.

The event was poorly attended — perhaps because of the scarcity of publicity, perhaps because ticket sales weren't pushed hard enough, or some other reason, we don't know.

Whatever the reason, we hope that the people in charge of this spring activity won't lose heart and cancel future roundups.

It is a time when male students and male faculty members can get together and really let their hair down and be buddies, in a manner of speaking.

Dr. D. W. Dunham and Mr. Gordon Stein fried the fish and did a professional job. Dr. James Morlock, dean of men, was general supervisor. Dr. Edgar McKown, dean of the college, and President Lincoln B. Hale were in attendance. Also coach Don Ping and Arad McCutchan, to name but a few of the faculty members who attended. All seemed to enjoy themselves.

Approximately 35 students attended the all-male outing and they too left with the feeling that their 60 cents (the price of a ticket to the picnic supper — fish, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, and soft drinks) was well-spent.

Hats off to Dr. Morlock, Dr. Dunham, and Mr. Stein and others for an enjoyable afternoon. With a little more support on the part of the ample students, the Men's Roundup could well develop into one of the top events on the EC social calendar.

Success Comes With Support

Twice during the past year, students at Evansville College displayed enthusiasm unmatched, and twice these events were a great success. Dispite a dismal overall season, the Ace gridiron team rose to the heights as they emerged victorious in the annual homecoming classic, with students showing that school spirit is not a thing of the past. During the recent SGA election, almost the entire student body took an active part in making the affair a success.

However, there were other times when scarcely a handful of students appeared at an athletic event; when parctically no one exercised his right to vote.

Next year holds much promise, both in athletics and social functions. The College will be celebrating its centennial anniversary, and the members of the centennial graduating class will want to make it a year of complete success.

In order to attain that goal, the support of the entire student boy will have to soar to the top. Combine the enthusiasm demonstrated at the recent SGA election for a common cause, and it would undoubtedly inspire those representing Evansville College to make the centennial a history making year.

Return to campus next year with your mind set that you will be remembered for superior achievement. Benjamin Bosse, a firm believer in support, correctly assumed that . . . 'When Everybody Boosts, Everybody Wins."

A Friendly Hello Costs Nothing

Yes, we are all as busy as can be, going and coming to and from class rooms, the library, the Union Building and other places on the campus, but the busiest person on the campus should have time to say hello. In fact, it can be said without stopping. Try it!

Sometimes it will perk you up and make you feel a little better. Of course there are days that you just start off on the wrong foot. Seems like everything's against you, but nine out of 10 times it's only you against yourself.

Another thing, everyone on this campus has problems. You are no different from anyone else and walking around with rocks in your jaw won't rid you of your problems, but sometimes a friendly hello will help you to forget them for a while, because it penetrates the gloom, only if momentarily, with a ray of sunshine.

When you walk on the campus to-morrow, try to leave your bad moods, personal problems, frustrations, etc., on the outskirts of the campus grounds. See if you don't feel better by doing it.

If, by chance, you happen to meet someone who appears to be a little disgruntled, do your best to cheer him or her up with a friendly and warm hello. If you know their name, call them by name; people love to hear their names called (with the exception of those being called for military service).

You might even go so far as to make a little game out of it. Let's call it "speak-to-me." Just go out of your way to make the most "determined-not-to-speak" people say hello in spite of themselves. It's fun; try it.

If we can get everybody on the campus to join in this little game, it won't be long before we will have everybody speaking to everybody and remember, it doesn't cost a cent.

Have We Forgotten?

Going to the race in Indianapolis tomorrow? Driving up? Have a nice trip, but remember — the speedway in the capitol city is strictly for one way traffic, has no side roads for cars to dart from and the turns are all banked. Indiana highways are something else again.

Warnings and advice to holiday motorists are overworked and usually have little effect when they appear in print, so read this and then drive as you please. Common sense will dictate how.

Racing fans will take to the road May 30, along with a multitude of drivers. Among these other motorists will be many who are pursuing the original purpose of the day which the 500 classic has come to symbolize.

From the now rather hazy years of World War I came the custom and the date. From the hearts of Americans has come the meaning.

Memorial day was originated back before the twenties. In its infancy it was dedicated to the dead of World War I. Graves of A. E. F. soldiers were covered with wreaths and flowers by relatives and friends. Bugles played taps as heads bowed.

Today there are graves of other dead. Another World War swelled the cold bellies of cemeteries and the current and most sensless of all conflicts has contributed needlessly but substantially to the number of war epitaphs.

Bugles still send the same notes over the graves. Flowers and wreaths still decorate the mounds of dirt and the stone poetry. A tribute to the thoughtfulness of the American people? Maybe. Holidays tend to become a habit after so long a time. Motions are made, perhaps with real understanding of why; perhaps because they are dictated by custom.

The lifeless occupants of dirt covered coffins cannot protest against careless tribute, nor can they tell whether or not their earthen roofs have been decorated. You can.

Publications Heads Plead for Staff Photographers

Editors of next year's Crescent and LinC are putting in early pleas for staff photographers.

Photographers for both the Crescent and the LinC are needed for the coming school year, announced Jack Combs, Crescent chief for next year, and Anne Stocks and Gloria Watson, co-editors of the LinC.

According to the new publication heads, persons fulfilling the positions of staff photographer should not expect to become millionaires; but these snapshot shooters will be paid. Also classroom credit is given.

Students aecepting the job of photographer are expected to take pictures whenever asked to do so. The LinC photographer will be responsible for taking only aetivity shots of and around campus. Senior pictures will be taken by a professional photographer.

A camera will be available for the photographer. If anyone is interested, he is asked to contact any one of the editors, or the Crescent or LinC offiees.

(Editor's note: Carroll Rickard, a business major, is a member of the sophomore class. Mr. Rickard is a veteran Marine. He is president of Tau Kappa Alpha, national forensics society, served as chairman of the membership committee of INCA, and is a member of International Relations Club. Mr. Rickard was recently elected president of the Independent Campus Association for next year.)

Tau Kappa Alpha is a national honorary society devoted to all forms of forensic activity. Membership qualifications are high and those who qualify for a TKA key often find it to be of great benefit in the professional world.

Students are required to participate in some college sponsored speech activity for two years and to obtain grades ranking in the upper one third of their class in order to qualify for membership. Three pledges were initiated this spring. They were Bob Harris, Joe Emerson, and Bill Lord. Mr. Howard Hill was elected to honorary membership.

Debating, as an extra-curricular activity, has been discontinued at Evansville College until Mr. Shutt reorganized the debate activities last fall. The season had a good beginning with two trips to Purdue University, the first to participate in discussion and the second to take part in a debate tournament. Evansville was represented by Jo Anne Frohbieter, Carolyn Lockwood, Bob Cravens and myself. Mr. Shutt chaperoned the group and acted as discussion judge. On both occasions Purdue lavishly displayed its eagerness and adeptness at playing the role of host and the entire group had a very enjoyable trip culminated by an excellent banquet.

The ensuing event on our season's agenda also proved an interesting experience for the group. A panel of four TKA pledges were invited by the Evansville JC's to appear on a half hour program over WEOA and give a debate discussion type presentation of the National Debate topic.

As a grand finale to our season's activities we were invited to send representatives to the Hoosier forensic conference at Indiana University on February 27 and 28. At the same time we were notified that we were invited to appear on WLW's Salute to Evansville College on March 1.

Eva Schrankel and Ben Arnon made the trip to I.U. to participate in discussion events. Jim Schreiber and Ben Arnon did public speaking while Myra Kasey, Janice Morgan, Bob Harris and I represented Evansville in the field of debate.

At noon on the 28th the group left for Cincinnati where it was joined by Dr. and Mrs. Morlock and Mrs. Shutt. Among the other attractions of Cincinnati we enjoyed dinner at the Colony Club and the next morning a lavish breakfast-courtesy of our hosts.

The program opened with our school song followed by a brief history of the college. Bob Harris represented the school as an outstanding student. Dr. Morlock did an excellent job of briefly summing up the schools objectives and philosophy of education. The program was terminated by a 15-minute discussion of the farm subsidy program by the debate squad.

The members of Tau Kappa Alpha have enjoyed an active and interesting season and, thanks to an increase in appropriations, we expect an even bigger season next year.

Union Building Story... Part 3

Total Expense of Maintenance Must Be Met by Union Building

(Editor's Note: This is the last of a series of three artieles written about the problems of the Union Building. The first artiele covered the problems involved and the attitude of students enjoying the facilities of the building; the second artiele explained the income and expenditures of the various departments of the Union Building.)

By ED FLY

Well, now, let's see, we've already spent a little more than $1100 above what we received from the student's activity fee. That's the $5.35 the students are griping about, but we're not through spending yet. There are more salaries to be paid, not including the grill and cafeteria, which amount to $10,249.77.

Here's where it went: Miss Doris Kirk, Miss Kay Bondus, Mr. Xavier Herbert, three assistant students, check room attendants, night-game room attendant and other students providing extra help on an hourly basis.

Insurance, Repairs, High

Then there was insurance, which amounted to $762.80, maintenance and repair costs amounted to $337.90, which could have been considerably reduced had students been a bit more careful with their cigarettes (that is, by not burning holes in the upholstery) and kept their feet off the glass top of the coffee table in the lounge.

The wrought iron chairs in the patio would not have needed repairing so often either if students had refrained from using them for rocking chairs. Miss Kirk wished for these things to be mentioned, of course, in order to enable the students to see how some of their $5.35 was used.

The overall profit of the entire UB, which included the cafeteria, grill, game room and rentals, after all expenses had been paid including, salaries, food, laundry, insurance, etc., made a profit of $1,365.90. Deducting this profit from the over all expense of the building, $27,097.81 There exists what is known as a "depreciation of equipment fund" for the grill and cafeteria. This fund is set up to cover the cost of breakage and loss of plates, glassware, cooking and eating utensils and etc.

Replacement Taken From Profits

However, the Union Building has no such fund therefore, the cost of replacing drapes, carpets, chairs, and upholstering etc. must be taken from the profits made by the building.

If the Union Building requires the sum of $27,097.81 to operate for the period of one year, do you think it fair that we students should grumble about our $5.35 which we contribute each quarter? I"ll answer that. UH-UH!

—Anything At All—

by Walt Prickett

Unless there are some very unforscen events in the future, this will he the last item from my little typewriter (you see I do know what you've been saying) to be in a newspaper's columns.

Before anybody starts making cracks on the "Man Who Came To Dinner'" line let me end a controversy: I've just been enrolled in EC for five complete school years and one summer school.

Mr. Prickett

And then there's the attractive little AOPi pledge who is very much afraid people will find out that she didn't make contact with the chair her escort was manipulating.

Chorus Rasslers

Now that its spring a person's blood gets thin or something. All nice young men's fancy is supposed to be turning to what girls have been thinking of all winter, etc. But did you notice Joe Emerson in the Indian leading a hymn sing May 20? Helping out on the chorus were Bill Lord, Sue Chenoweth, Pat Martin, Dave Pellow, Ned Conder and Marilyn Kleiman. They faded out a little on the verse, but they sure had the choruses down. Rassled those choruses two time out of three. It almost got away from them, but everyone ended on the same note.

John R. Haas looked like he got taken into camp Monday. His story is the old one of a long hoy and a short pond. Seems he tried to bulldoze out the bottom of Pfafflin's Lake with his nose.

Prof. Willis has done it again. (Picturesque speech). His latest in explaining something about sound production, "That would make a noise like two bullfrogs out of tune."

Those Water Guns

Something for the boys was Prof. Barbara Atkins getting water gun shot in the Indian the other day. When Jack Alexander got shot between the eyes, it was the first time I ever saw anybody touch his toes doing a back hend.

The fancy ROTC dress parade was different from the first one two years ago. That one was held on the back campus behind the tennis courts. A hand was imported from an Illinois air hase. A little dog got on the field and chased the first trombonist around the field. Secms the pup wanted to hang on the trombone slide.

Reminisin'

They tell me you're getting old when you can remember when Mr. Richard Rosenkranz introduced his famous song, "We Are The United Nations," and President Hale only had one secretary, Marge Webster. She married Prof. Keith Slater who left campus for industry several years ago. Or when students took 15 hours of any one science instead of five hours in three separate courses. Or when the Union building was in the TUB.

Can you remember when no fraternity on campus had a house? Remember when Paul Dewig drove an Overland convertible? And Emmy S. drove a jeep?

"THIS SIX BOTTLE CARTON OF DOUBLE-COLA IS MIGHTY HANDY AND ECONOMICAL WHEN UNEXPECTED GUESTS DROP IN!"

A Review of the Highlights . . .

Came September '52 and it all began. On Tuesday, September 16, 330 freshmen strong got their first taste of college by sstanding in line in thc F building. Their eventual hope and goal was to enroll. Registration cards baffled them.

The following day brought forth 600 experienced students who had done it all before. To them, registration was a ritual. One divided his time between standing in line and filling in cards (both sides where provided). He then proceeded to the C-building where the cards were either passed or rejected. From there, paths parted, veterans went one way and scholarship students another, but all met at the cashier's window. Such was fall registration.

100 Pledged To Sororities, Frats During Year

Rush activities for the past year resulted in the pledging of thirty-three women to the social sororities on campus and sixty-seven men to thc social fraternities.

Pictured above are members of the various men's fraternities awaiting their new pledges at the end of the winter rush season.

Following the pledging were the hell week activities. During this time, the pledges were put through a rigorous schedule of duties and assignments.

Winter rush for women opened with a rotation party, was followed by a round of informal parties and ended with the formal dessert parties.

Concluding rush for the year, or rather beginning rush for next year, will be the panhellenic party for all high eschool girls planning to attend Indiana colleges and universities Saturday June 6.

Sidelined

Although losing the services of Aee hurler Jim Nichols, Coach Don Ping's diamond crew won games at a .500 clip throughout the first ten games of its season.

Nichols, sophomore hurler who paced the team in his freshman year, underwent major surgery May 4 at eDaconess Hospital for a herniated invertebrated disc. The successful hemiaminectomy was performed by Dr. William Fisher.

Despite the loss of Nichols the Purple Aces broke even in their first ten contests. The Aces boast vietories over the University of Dayton, Ball State, Indiana State and Kentucky Wesleyan twice. Thcy have suffered defeat at the hands of Western Kentucky twicc, Ball State, and Murray twice. The Aces also lost an exhibition game to Camp Breckinridge, 8-2.

Thespians Spend Busy Year Here

Reviewing the 1952-53 Thespians season will recall six productions by the students of dramatics. The first play of the season, "Grammerey Ghost" was presented in October with Joe Emerson, Pat Martin and Bob Rundell in the lead roles.

November fcatured the productions of five one-aet plays in the Theater-in-the-Round in the Fine Arts Building. The 27th eonsecutive presentation of 'Eager Heart," the traditional Christmas mystery was presented in Deeember.

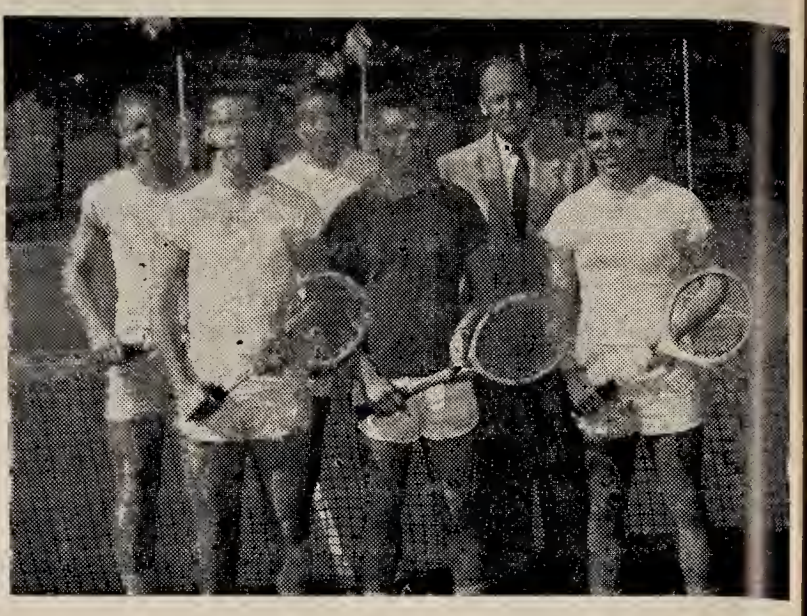
working under Howard A. Hill. In March they didd "Huckleberry Finn" for the Children's Theater Organization. Bob Rundell and Pat Martin again fronted the stage in the main roles.

Bill Lord and Joe Emerson co-directed and acted in the April production of "Thc Druid Circle." May plans included the traditional Thespian banquet with members of Alpha Psi Omega. Anne Stocks, Ben Reading, Bob Rundell, Bess Mullet, Jackie Varon Schmidt and Bill Plane were initiated into the national dramatic honorary.

At May Day, Senior Drama Awards were presented to Betty Drennan, Joe Emerson, Bill Lord, Pat Martin and Jaekie Varon Schmidt.

Tennis Team Hits Win Colnmn...



The 1953 tennis team became the first Evansville College tennis squad to win a match in five years.

This year's racket squad turned the trick against Kentucky Wesleyan of Owensboro, winning 5-2. The racketeers played only two schools this year getting beat by Western Ky. twice and winning from Wesleyan three times.

Big Man, Big Year...

Evansville College basketball had its ups and downs during the 1952-53 season, showing much disappointment in spots and much promise at other times.

The play of Jack Nash, one of two seniors on the squad and Kiwanis Award winner, sparked the Aces to a much improved record over the previous year.

Bright spots in the season included the play of promising Bob Walker and Roscoe Bivin, and wins in their last four games. Walker tallied over twenty points in all the last four contests.

Miss Shirley Balding as basketball queen was one of the eight members of this year's group of royalty. She and Miss Sue Spiegel, Homecoming queen were chosen in all-campus elections.

The Crescent staff picked Miss Joanne Moore as their candidate for the title of Hoosier Princess. Miss Moore also was eleeted by the freshman class to reign over the Icebreaker Danee in the fall.

At the Phi Zeta's annual Sweetheart dance Miss Diane Bentley was chosen to wear the crown. At the AFROTC Military Ball Miss Terry Elfreich was announced Honorary Cadet Colonel.

Recently senior men elected Miss Billie Jean Miller to reign over the festivities of May Day. The eighth queen of the year will be announced tonight at the Junior-Senior Prom.

Political Scene...

New Card Playing Rule, New Group, Top E.C. Politics

News from the EC political front this year was highlighted by the addition of a new group on campus — INCA. The Independent Campus Association came into being chiefly through the efforts of Dr. F. Woody Werking, faeulty sponsor, and proved to be one of the strongest groups on campus by the end of February.

That is when the INCA barketball queen candidate,, Miss Shirley Balding (pictured right), gained a victory via strong support from her organization.

Another highlight in EC politics this year was the easing of the card-playing rule in the Union; playing now starts in the Patio at 12 noon compared to the old 2 p.m. time.

In the annual SGA eleetions, Phi Zeta affiliations made a clean sweep of things by pushing Bernie Connolly,, Bob Wilson, Rosie Wiseman, and Roberta Becker to victory in a race for the four coveted student positions. Campaigning on a 11 point platform,, Mr. Connolly and his fellow offieers seemingly face a busy year in Evansville College's upcoming Centennial Year. Voting for the annual election was eonsidered medium to heavy, a total of 575 students making the trip to the polls.

Anthony Topped E.C. Social Season

The above young lady poses for calendars and brightens the lives of bandleaders. The distracted gentleman is a bandleader getting his life brightened.

He is Ray Anthony, who, when not otherwise pleasantly occupied, plays his trumpet and fronts the top band in the nation. The blonde (a Miss Monroe) was not present when Mr. Anthony played for the AFROTC Military Ball this year. Consequently, the musicians were able to concentrate on their work. The result was an evening (and part of a morning) of much dancing and much fun.

Miss Terry Elfrich was named honorary Cadet Colonel, and reigned over the festivities which resulted in morning-after sore feet for over exuberant bunny hoppers.

Our President, His Dream...

Hale Keeps Pressing for College of Future

Dr. Lincoln B. Hale, president of the college, has been away from the Evansville College Campus a good deal this year, but not because he has given up on his ambition to see Evansville College develop into a full-scale reality similar to scale model pictured below.

Quite the contrary; many of Dr. Hale's miles of travels have been devoted to making that ambition a reality. Most probably the next addition to the Evansville College of the Future will be a women's dormitory although other quarters say a library.

Whatever change is made, however, one thing is certain. Evansville college has come a long way since the founding of Moore's Hill College almost 100 years ago.

In a Moore's Hill Male and Female College June 1859 advertisement, it was stated that: "This location is free from the vices and evil associations incident to larger places." Also: 'Janitor's fee 50 cents per term."

Quite a few changes have been made since that 1859 advertisement. Now we have no janitor's fee, but if we accept the advertisement as fact, it follows that we have "the vices and evil associations of larger places."

Survey Completed By Research Class

The Marketing Research Class has completed a survey that was made for the Public Library System of Evansville, according to an announcement by Mr. Claude Slusher.

The purpose of the survey was to learn the opinions of the people of Evansville as to the facilities, services, and locations of the public libraries. Also, to learn if the residences are interested in having a television set for educational programs, a frequent discussion on current books,, a smoking lounge that will have current reading materials, and a snack bar. All of these improvements applied to Central Library only.

Charles Shaw Responsible

Charles Shaw was responsible for the developing of the sample technique used. He was assisted by William Barnett, Clem Skelton, Bob Haug, and Bill Hamilton. Every third house within 143 blocks was to be interviewed, giving approximately 1000 personal interviews. To complete the sampling method designed, 225 telephone numbers were selected for telephone interviews.

John Beard was responsible for the tabulating forms and recording of all data that had been collected on the questionnaires. The development of the questionnaires began in the Principles of Advertising Class Winter Quarter and was completed by the Research Class.

Copies in Library

John Moening is now in the process of preparing a written report showing the findings of this survey. Sometime during the month of June, copies will be placed in the campus library and a copy will be given to each public library.

The Brains of the Team

Teamwork can work miracles. In a football game the man who sparks these miracles is the quarterback. He's the man who calls the signals. There's a man who calls the signals for an Air Force flying team, too!

They call him an Aircraft Observer.

Do YOU have what it takes to become an Aircraft Observer?

It isn't easy. It's tough. You have to be a MAN to qualify as an Aircraft Observer. But when you are one, brother, you're SOMEBODY! The success or failure of a mission involving over a million dollars worth of flight equipment depends on you.

THE AIRCRAFT OBSERVER IS THE SOMEBODY WHO:

As Bombardment Officer, is number one man on a bombing run, the man who controls the plane in the target area!

As Navigation Officer, is the pilot's guiding hand on every flight!

As Radar Officer, is master of a new science and operator of the device that sees beyond human sight!

As Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer, is the one who "keeps the plane flying", the man who knows his plane inside and out, who keeps it fit for the skies and sees that it stays there!

If YOU can accept a challenge like this, you'll take your place beside the best—you'll find your future in the clouds!

TO BE QUALIFIED you must be single, a citizen, between 19 and 26½ years old, have had at least 2 years of college and be in tip top physical shape. If this describes you, then YOU, too, can qualify. Today!

HERE'S WHAT YOU'LL GET! The world's best training. Good food and plenty of it. Uniforms, flight clothes, equipment. Medical and dental care. Free insurance. Flight training in Uncle Sam's greatest aircraft.

AND THEN, AFTER GRADUATION, you'll win your silver wings, and carn more than $5000 a year as an Air Force Lieutenant. You'll enjoy an adventurous, exciting career with a hand-picked crew of real men. You'll be THE BRAINS OF THE TEAM, A TRIPLE THREAT MAN . . . as a Bombardment Officer, as a Navigation Officer, as a Radar Officer, as an Aircraft Performance Engineer.

THE SOONER YOU APPLY, THE SOONER YOU FLY!

GET THE DETAILS: Visit your nearest Air Force Base or Air Force Recruiting Officer. Or write to Director of Training, Headquarters, USAF, Washington 25, D.C., Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch. If you are in a school that has an Air Force ROTC program, see your Professor of Air Science and Tactics.

Ace Nine Ends Conference Action

Hardwooders Post 10-15 Record; Led By Nash, Combs

Coach Arad McCutchan's hardwood five, bolstered by a large crop of freshmen talent, won two of their last four games of the season to finish fourth in the ICC.

With only two seniors on the Ace squad, McCutchan, planning for future seasons, used his underclassmen freely, with experiments paying off toward the last of the season. Freshman Bob Walker and sophomore Roscoe Bivinis sparked the Aces during the final stages of the season and into the NAIA torunament where they fell before Indiana State in the finals of that tourney.

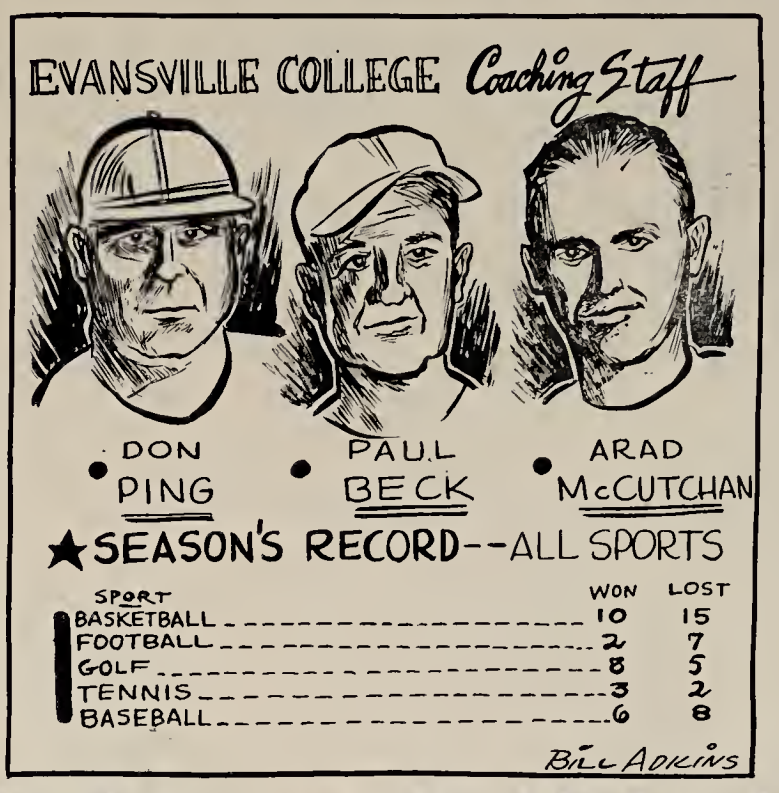
Senior Keith Combs set a new EC record early in the season when he connected on 15 charity tosses, topping the old mark of 12. Combs' performance came in a one point loss to Murray State's Thoroughbreds.

The high spot in the Aces season was a four game win streak as the netmen topped St. Joe, Ball State, Ky. Wesleyan, and Indiana State conquction was against Illinois Normal decisively. The Aces high point produced the final game for the Purple. The Ace five poured in 95 points, allowing their opponent 92.

The Aces finished the regular season with a 9-14 record and added win in the NAIA tourney before falling to Indiana State for a final record of 10-15.

McCutchan's crew averaged well over 70 points a game, but a leaky defense cost the Aces many games. The Aces outscored their opponents from the floor in many of the games only to lose at the gratis bar.

Senior Jack Nash lead total scoring for the Aces as he tallied 274 points for a 11.9 average per contest. Combs scored 203 points for runner-up honors. The Aces registered 41 field goals against Normal for tops in that department.



Grid Season Highlighted By Homecoming Victory

Coach Don Ping and his Purple Ace eleven were not so successful the past football season as the Ping coached teams of the past have been. The Aces ended the season with a 2-7 record, the worst season of the Ping regime.

The Aces won 2 and lost 3 in the Indiana Collegiate Conference competition. They dropped their first encounter with Morehead 14-0. Butler then defeated the Aces in a last minute thriller at Reitz Bowl, 25-20. Western Ky., with Little All-American Jim Feix leading the way, romped over the Purple 39-0. Indiana State journied to E-town and raced over the Aces 40-7.

The Valparaiso game, the homecoming classic, was next: the highlight of the season. The Aces defeated Valpo 13-7 to snap a Crusader 21 game streak. The Aces then traveled to Murray where they dropped a thriller, 14-10. Evansville's next and last win came at the expense of St. Joe, the Aces defeating the Pumas. 41-20.

The Aces ended their season on the road as they lost to Eastern Ky. and Ball state by scores of 35-0 and 26-7 respectively.

John Moss was voted the Kiwanis award winner for the past season and Charles Shelton was named captain for the coming season.

Netters Complete Season with Wins

The Crescent Sports staff extends a "hat off" and a Bull Halsey's "well done" on the recent completed tennis season. Members of the team coached by Arad McCutchan are Bob Friberg, Jack "Poncho" Combs, John Meiscnheimer, Diek Korressel, and John Conway.

The Purple Aces netmen defeated Kentucky Weslcyan, their country cousins, four times while losing to the Western Ky Hilltoppers twice. This ends the first complete and suecessful season for the Purple Ace netmen.

Aces Fall to State, Win, Lose to 'Dogs'

Coach Don Ping's diamond crew, with one game unplayed at this writing, possess a 6-8 season record, having lost to Indiana State and split with Butler University in a double header during last week's activities. The Aces defeated Butler 3-2 in 12 innings as hurler Jim Hood went all the way for the Aces to gain his second ICC victory of the season. The Bulldogs romped over the Aces in the second encounter 11-1.

Avenging an earlier season loss to the Aces, Indiana State romped over the Pingmen by a 13-5 margin last Friday after the Aces had defeated the Syeamores 2-1 in a pitcher's battle with Jim Hood again gaining the victory.

Ping's crew finished ICC play with a 3-3 record, the other Aces conference victory coming at the expense of Ball State, the Aces splitting a double header with the Cardinals.

Walt Tucker topped the Aces batting in conference play, posting a .313 mark. Norm Heard followed with 5 hits in 18 attempts for a .273 average. Keith Combs led in hits with six, and Heard, Ralph Weber, Dick Bost, and Byron Brenton each scoring 3 times for top honors.

Linksmen End Season with 8-5 Record, Third in ICC Tourney

The Evansville College golf team ended the season with an 8-5 record. The highlight of the season was the third place finish in the ICC golf tournament. First place was missed by an unavoidable miscue which disqualified one of the Ace golfers.

Coach Beck's linksmen, headed by Captain Bill Herrel, who consistently fired par golf, defeated Butler, Indiana State, St. Joseph, Western Michigan, and Southern Illinois in season play. The Aces defeated Camp Breckenridge's Screaming Eagles twice in non-league competition.

The Aces avenged every loss inflicted by opponents during the season with the exeeption of an early season defeat at the hands of Purdue University, who they did not replay.

The Crescent Sports staff wishes to congratulate Coach Beek, Captain Bill Herrel, Bernie Conolly, Kenneth Grall, Charles Cullom, Ray Stein, Jim Hartmann and Bill Wittgen on a very successful season.

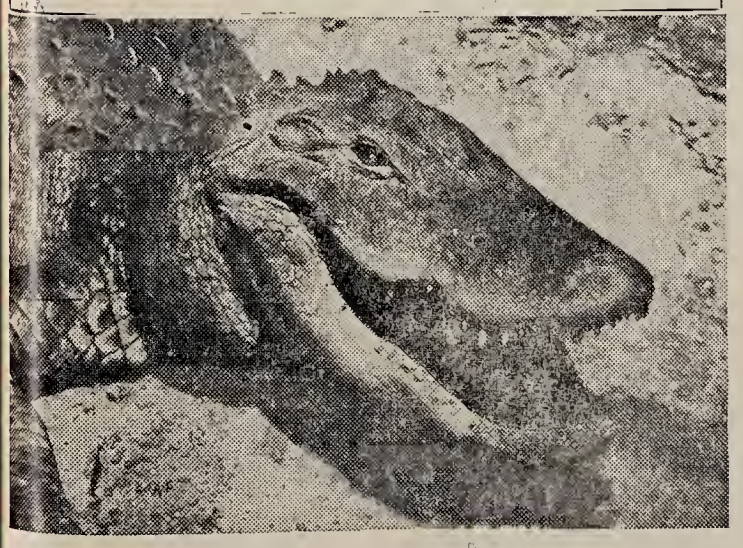
J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test



SHEEDY shed crocodile tears till he had alligator bags under his eyes, because he got the gator from his girl. "I'm going to hide from you and your horrible hair," she said "until you go gator bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic. It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Keeps hair well-groomed from morning 'till night. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul slithered down to a nearby toilet goods counter for Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's swamped with purse-lipped females who want him to crocodile their telephone numbers. So water you waiting for? Buy a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, or ask for it on your hair at any barber shop. Then your social life will stop dragon, and you'll scale the heights.

Dewig About LinC

By PAUL DEWIG

Guess by now I'm one of the most hated men on campus, that is with the publication of the late delivery of the 1952-53 LinC. By way of excuses 1 really could expound for hours, but that would not solve the difficulty, all that I can do is apologize to the student body.

With this the last edition of the Crescen, there are a few ends that mus be tied up before summer vacation. Those students who had their pictures taken and paid out their hard-earned 2 bucks may pick up their 5 x 7 prints in the LinC office today and all next week.

The organization composites will be returned about June 25 and will be sent to the presidents of the various organizations.

We of the staff have had our difficulties, but that's all part of the job. We wish at this time to thank those of the student body and faculty who have shared in the publication of the yearbook.

Those of us who have worked with it feel that this is the yearbook of yearbooks and that it will take something to beat it. A two color section, padded cover, more complete campus coverage, more pages and pictures, and many surprise items that have to be seen, not explained, together these things comprise the 1953 LinC. We like it . . . and feel sure that you will too.
